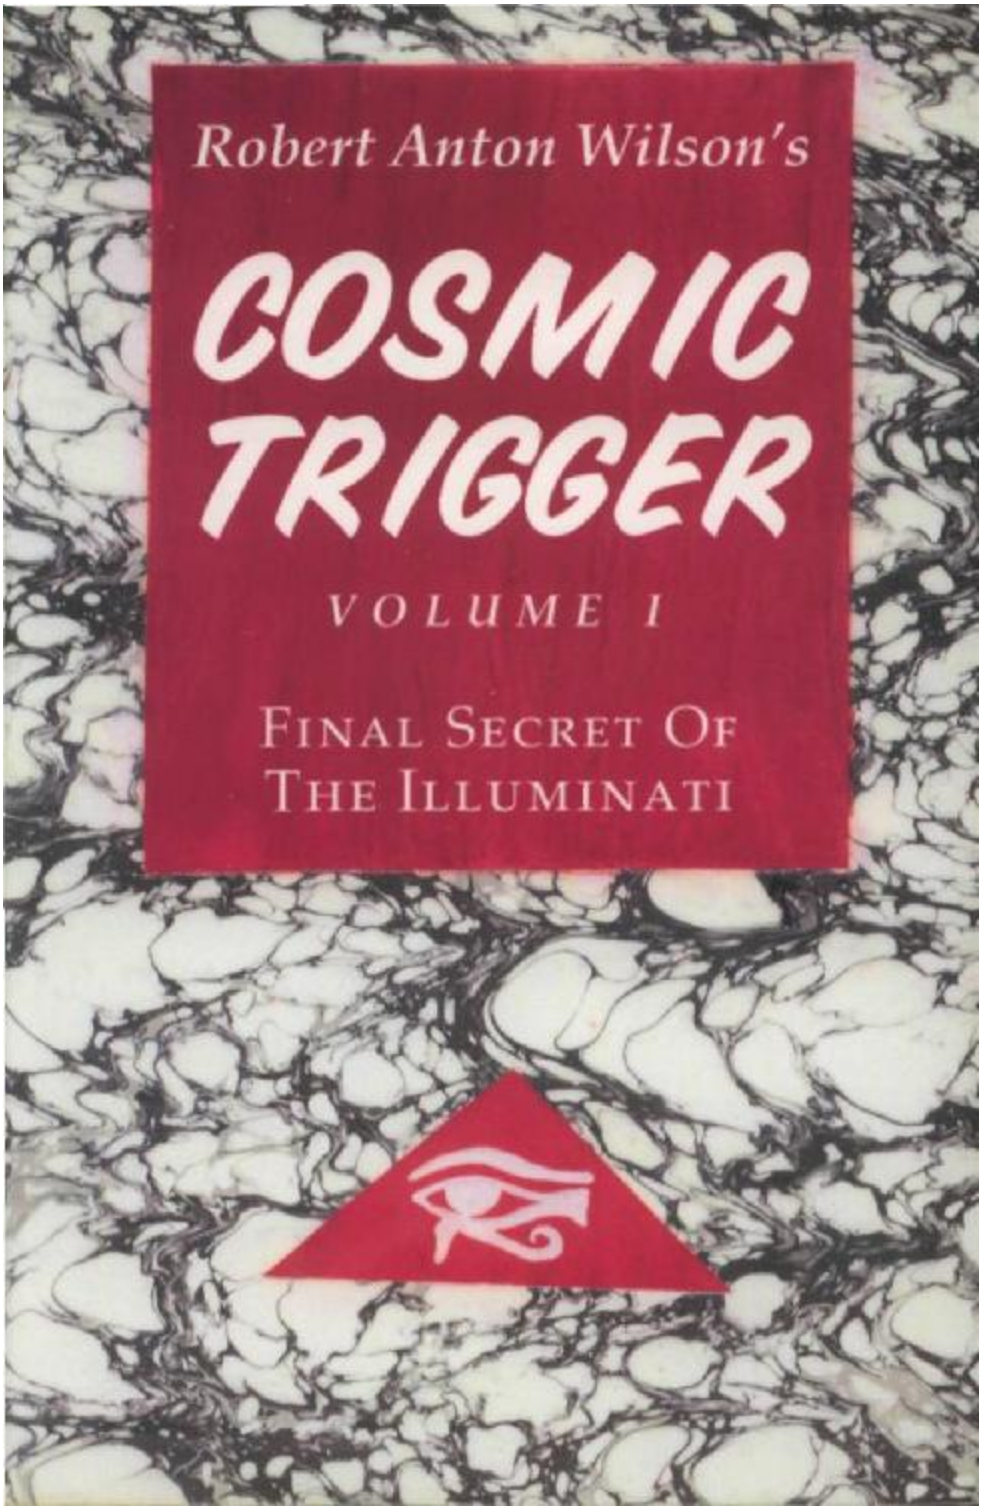
ROBERT ANTON WILSON'S

COSMIC TRIGGER

VOLUME I

FINAL SECRET OF THE ILLUMINATI



Robert Anton Wilson's
COSMIC TRIGGER
VOLUME I
FINAL SECRET OF THE ILLUMINATI

Psychology/Social Philosophy U.S. Price $14.95

COSMIC TRIGGER I

FINAL SECRET OF THE ILLUMINATI

"Cosmic Trigger deals with a process of deliberately induced brain change ... This is called 'initiation' or 'vision quest' in many traditional societies and ... [a] dangerous variety of self-psychotherapy in modern terminology. I do not recommend it for everybody ... The main thing I learned is that 'reality' is always plural and mutable." —From the Preface

"Wilson managed to reverse every mental polarity in me, as if I had been pulled through infinity. I was astonished and delighted."
— Philip K. Dick, author of Blade Runner

"Erudite, witty and genuinely scary ..." — Publishers Weekly

"Robert Anton Wilson is one of the leading thinkers of the modern age."
—Barbara Marx Hubbard, Committee for the Future

"Dazzling ... the most thrilling tilt-a-whirls and daring loop-o-planes on the midway of higher consciousness." — Tom Robbins

What great physicist hides behind the mask of Wilson?" — New Scientist

"The man's either a genius or Jesus." — Sounds (London)

"We've needed this for a long time ..."
— Henry Miller, author of Tropic of Cancer

NOVELIST, TEACHER AND FORMER PLAYBOY EDITOR Robert Anton Wilson is the author of Cosmic Trigger II: Down to Earth; Cosmic Trigger III: My Life After Death; The New Inquisition; Reality Is What You Can Get Away With; the Illuminatus! trilogy (with Robert Shea); Prometheus Rising; Wilhelm Reich in Hell; Sex & Drugs and many other works.

Cover Art by S. Jason Black

ISBN 1-56184-003-3

ISBN 1-56184-003-3 90000 >
9 781561 840038

NEW FALCON PUBLICATIONS

COSMIC

TRIGGER

I

FINAL SECRET OF

THE ILLUMINATI

OTHER TITLES FROM N E W FALCON PUBLICATIONS

Tale of the Tribe

Prometheus Rising

By Robert Anton Wilson

Undoing Yourself With Energized Meditation The Psychopath's Bible

By Christopher S. Hyatt, Ph.D.

Eight Lectures on Yoga

The Pathworkings ofAleister Crowley

By Aleister Crowley

Neuropolitique

The Game of Life

By Timothy Leary, Ph.D.

Zen Without Zen Masters

By Camden Benares

Condensed Chaos: An Introduction to Chaos Magick By Phil Hine

The Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic

By Israel Regardie

Psychology & Religion for the Millennium and Beyond By J. Marvin Spiegelman, Ph.D.

Astrology & Consciousness

By Rio Olesky

Metaskills: The Spiritual Art of Therapy

By Amy Mindell, Ph.D.

The Montauk Files

By K.B. Wells, Jr.

The Alchemy of Opposites

By Rodolfo Scarfalloto

The Journey to No-Self

By Patrick Drysdale

Sparks From the Fire of Time

By Rick & Louisa Clerici

Bio-Etheric Healing: A Breakthrough in Alternative Therapies By Trudy Lanitis

Phenomenal Women: That's US!

By Madeleine Singer

And to get your free catalog of all of our titles, write to: New Falcon Publications (Catalog Dept.)

1739 East B r o a d w a y R o a d , Suite 1-277

Tempe, Arizona 85282 U.S.A.

And visit our website at http://www.newfalcon.com

T i s an ill wind that blows no minds.

—Malaclypse the Younger, Principia Discordia

O T H E R BOOKS BY ROBERT A N T O N W I L S O N

1972 P l a y b o y ' s Book of F o r b i d d e n W o r d s 1973 *Sex, D r u g s a n d Magick: A J o u r n e y B e y o n d Limits 1973 The Sex M a g i c i a n s

1974 T h e Book of t h e Breast (now Tshtar Rising') 1975 ILLUMINATUS! (with Robert Shea)

The Eye i n t h e P y r a m i d

T h e G o l d e n A p p l e

L e v i a t h a n

1977 *Cosmic Trigger I: Final Secret of t h e I l l u m i n a t i 1978 *Neuropolitics (with T. Leary & G. K o o p m a n) 1980 The Illuminati P a p e r s

1980-1 The S c h r o d i n g e r ' s Cat Trilogy T h e U n i v e r s e Next Door

T h e Trick T o p H a t

T h e H o m i n g P i g e o n

1981 M a s k s of t h e Illuminati

1983 Right W h e r e Y o u Are Sitting N o w 1983 The E a r t h Will S h a k e

1983 " P r o m e t h e u s Rising

1985 The W i d o w ' s Son

1986 T h e N e w Inquisition

1987 N a t u r a l L a w or D o n ' t Put a R u b b e r on Y o u r Willy

1987 "Wilhelm Reich in Hell

1988 "Coincidance: A H e a d Test

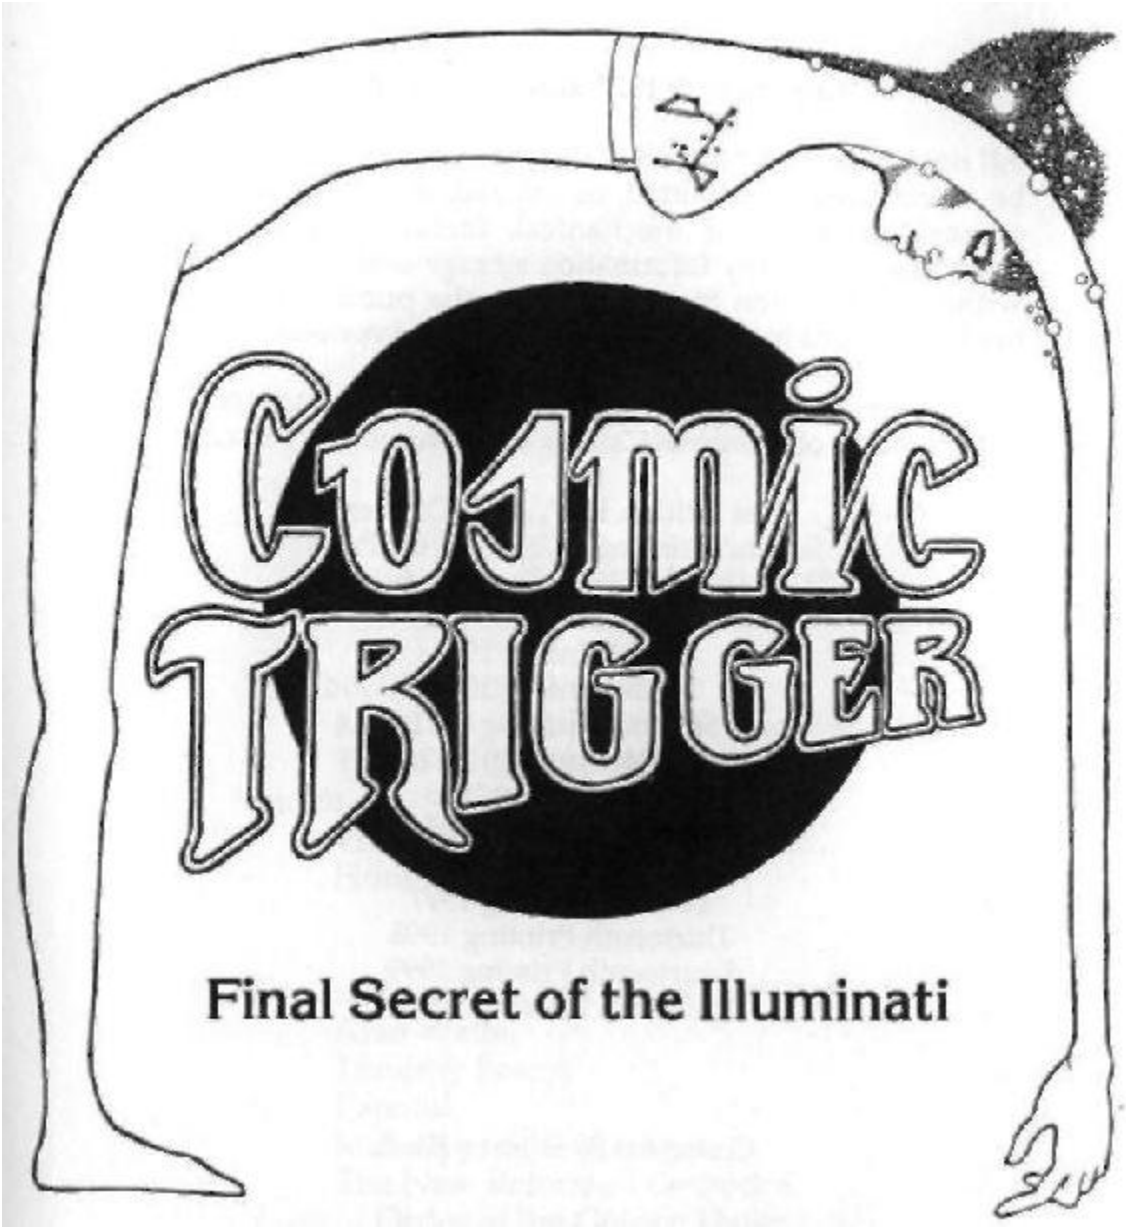
1988 N a t u r e ' s G o d

1990 " Q u a n t u m Psychology

1990 "Cosmic Trigger II: D o w n to E a r t h 1991 C h a o s a n d B e y o n d

1993 "Reality Is W h a t Y o u C a n G e t A w a y W i t h 1995 "Cosmic Trigger III: My Life After D e a t h 1997 T h e Walls C a m e T u m b l i n g D o w n 1998 E v e r y t h i n g Is U n d e r C o n t r o l 2000 T a l e of t h e Tribe

" P u b l i s h e d b y N e w Falcon P u b l i c a t i o n s



by Robert Anton Wilson

Illustrated by John Thompson

N E W FALCON PUBLICATIONS

TEMPE, A R I Z O N A , U . S . A .

Copyright © 1977 Robert Anton Wilson All rights reserved. No part of this book, in part or in whole, may be reproduced, transmitted, or utilized, in any form or by any m e a n s , electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without permission in writing from the publisher, except for brief quotations in critical articles, books and reviews.

International Standard Book Number: 1-56184-003-3

Library of Congress Catalog Card Number: 77-89428

First Edition 1977, A n d / O r Press

Second Printing 1978, A n d / O r Press

Third Printing 1978, Simon & Schuster

Fourth Printing 1986 (Falcon)

Fifth Printing 1987

Sixth Printing 1989

Seventh Printing 1991

Eighth Printing 1992

Ninth Printing 1993

Tenth Printing 1995

Eleventh Printing 1996

Twelfth Printing 1997

Thirteenth Printing 1998

Fourteenth Printing 1999

Fifteenth Printing 2000

Cover Art by S. Jason Black

The paper used in this publication meets the minimum require-ments of the American National Standard for Permanence of Paper for Printed Library Materials Z39.48-1984

Address all inquiries to:

N E W FALCON PUBLICATIONS

1739 East Broadway Road #1 PMB 277

Tempe, AZ 85282 U.S.A.

(or)

320 East Charleston Blvd. Suite 204 PMB 286

Las Vegas, NV 89104 U.S.A.

email: info@newfalcon.com

website: h t t p : / / www.newfalcon.com

This b o o k i s d e d i c a t e d t o Ken C a m p b e l l a n d t h e Science Fiction Theatre of Liverpool, E n g l a n d a n d to

T h e T e m p l e of t h e H i d d e n G o d , H o u s t o n , Texas

A p p r e c i a t i o n for Light a l o n g the W a y : A l a n Watts,

T i m o t h y Leary,

Parcifal,

M a l a c l y p s e the Y o u n g e r ,

T h e N e w Reformed O r t h o d o x

O r d e r of the G o l d e n D a w n ,

Dr. Israel Regardie

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FOREWORDS by Timothy Leary, Ph.D.

PROLOGUE: Thinking A b o u t the Unthinkable 3

OceanofPDF.com

PART ONE: The Sirius Connection 17

INTRODUCTORY FABLES 19

From the Sufi

From the ancient Babylonian

From the Zen tradition

The Door to Chapel Perilous 20

Did a leprechaun leave the Simonton pancakes? 27

The Kennedy Assassination and the Net 31

A visit to Millbrook 33

The Queen of Space 40

The 23 Enigma 43

The heresy hunt begins 47

Multiple realities 50

The Murder of Christ: a Re-run S3

Jim Garrison and the Illuminati 61

Operation Mindfuck 64

The Horrible Secrets of the Wicked Aleister Crowley 66

A Discordian signal from Aldous Huxley, deceased 71

The Net or the Network 74

The Lady of Guadalupe 76

Sirius Rising 79

The Holy Guardian Angel 88

Beings of light, talking dogs, more extraterrestrials and other weird critters 91

Starseed 93

Magick, Technology or Both? 96

Those mysterious Sufis 98

A message from Cosmic Central 102

Some Egyptian gods intrude on the narrative and Our Lady of Space speaks again 106

AvisittoCMF 114

The prospects of immortality 120

Stopping the biological clock 126

Appearances and Disappearances 130

A lesson in Karma 133

Witchcraft 135

Nikola Tesla, secular shaman 137

Other starry signals 140

The footsteps of the Illuminati 142

Dope and divinity 146

The horrors begin 148

Ishtar's Walk: a guided tour of Hell 152

Mystery Babalon 159

Leary emerges from darkness and Sirius rises again 166

The Horus Hawk and Uri Geller 170

The Mothman Prophecies 177

Doggiez from Sirius 178

OceanofPDF.com

PART TWO: Models and Metaphors 181

FURTHER FABLES AND ALLEGORIES 183

From the Sufi

From the Jewish

From the German

The Sirius Evidence 184

ERP and Bell's Theorem 189

Tunnel-Realities and Imprints 197

The Octave of Energy 210

The law of acceleration 214

OceanofPDF.com

PART THREE: Trigger 219

A FINAL FABLE 221

From the Egyptian

Sirius Rises Again 221

Blood of the Gods? 223

The Dark Companion 227

Via Dolorosa 229

AFTERWORDS by Saul-Paul Sirag 241

NOTES 251

INDEX 257

PREFACE TO THE NEW EDITION

Cosmic Trigger was originally published by And/Or Press about ten years ago, and by Pocket Books shortly thereafter.

Although some of my novels have sold far better, in two dimensions at least it is my most "successful" book in human terms.

1. From the date of first printing to the present, 1 have received more mail about Cosmic Trigger than about anything else I ever wrote, and most of this mail has been unusually intelligent and open-minded. For some reason, many readers of this book think they can write to me intimately and without fear, about subjects officially Taboo in our society. I have learned a great deal from this correspondence, and have met some wonderful new friends.

2. On lecture tours, I am always asked more questions about this book than about all my other works together.

This new edition presents an opportunity to answer the most frequent questions and to correct the most persistent misunderstandings.

It should be obvious to all intelligent readers (but curiously is not obvious to many) that my viewpoint in this book of one of agnosticism. The word "agonstic" appears explicitly in the Prologue and the agnostic attitude is restated again and again in the text, but many people still think I "believe" some of the metaphors and models employed here. I therefore want to make it even clearer than ever before that

I D O N O T BELIEVE ANYTHING

This remark was made, in these very words, by John Gribbin, physics editor of New Scientist magazine, in a BBC-TV debate with Malcolm Muggeridge, and it provoked incredulity on the part of most viewers. It seems to be a hangover of the medieval Catholic era that causes most people, even the educated, to think that everybody must "believe" something or other, that if one is not a theist, one must be a dogmatic atheist, and if one does not think Capitalism is perfect, one must believe fervently in Socialism, and if one does not have blind faith in X, one must alternatively have blind faith in not-X or the reverse of X.

My own opinion is that belief is ihe death of intelligence. As soon as one believes a doctrine of any sort, or assumes certitude, one stops thinking about that aspect of existence. The more certitude one assumes, the less there is left to think about, and a person sure of everything would never have any need to think about anything and might be considered clinically dead under current medical standards, where the absence of brain activity is taken to mean that life has ended.

My attitude is identical to that of Dr. Gribbin and the majority of physicists today, and is known in physics as "the Copenhagen Interpretation," because it was formulated in Copenhagen by Dr. Niels Bohr and his co-workers c. 1926-28.

The Copenhagen Interpretation is sometimes called "model agnosticism" and holds that any grid we use to organize our experience of the world is a model of the world and should not be confused with the world itself. Alfred Korzybski, the semanticist, tried to popularize this outside physics with the slogan, "The map is not the territory." Alan Watts, a talented exegete of Oriental philosophy, restated it more vividly as "The menu is not the meal."

Belief in the traditional sense, or certitude, or dogma, amounts to the grandiose delusion, "My current model" — or grid, or map, or reality-tunnel — "contains the whole universe and will never need to be revised." In terms of the history of science and of knowledge in general, this appears absurd and arrogant to me, and I am perpetually astonished that so many people still manage to live with such a medieval attitude.

Cosmic Trigger deals with a process of deliberately induced brain change through which I put myself in the years 1962-76. This process is called "initiation" or "vision quest" in many traditional societies and can loosely be considered some dangerous variety of self-psychotherapy in modern terminology. I do not recommend it for everybody, and 1 think I obtained more good results than bad ones chiefly because I had been through two varieties of ordinary psychotherapy before I started my own ii adventures and because I had a good background in scientific philosophy and was not inclined to "believe" any astounding Revelations too literally.

Briefly, the main thing I learned in my experiments is that "reality" is always plural and mutable.

Since most of Cosmic Trigger is devoted to explaining and illustrating this, and since I have tried to explain it again in other books, and since I still encounter people w h o have read all my writings on this subject and still do not understand what I am getting at, I will try again in this new Preface to explain it ONE

MORE TIME, perhaps more clearly than before.

"Reality" is a word in the English language which happens to be (a) a noun and (b) singular. Thinking in the English language (and in cognate Indo-European languages) therefore subliminally programs us to conceptualize "reality" as one block-like entity, sort of like a huge N e w York skyscraper, in which every part is just another "room" within the same building. This linguistic program is so pervasive that most people cannot "think" outside it at all, and when one tries to offer a different perspective they imagine one is talking gibberish.

The notion that "reality" is a noun, a solid thing like a brick or a baseball bat, derives from the evolutionary fact that our nervous systems normally organize the dance of energy into such block-like "things," probably as instant bio-survival cues.

Such "things," however, dissolve back into energy dances — processes, or verbs — when the nervous system is synergized with certain drugs or transmuted by yogic or shamanic exercises or aided by scientific instruments. In both mysticism and physics, there is general agreement that "things" are constructed by our nervous systems and that "realities" (plural) are better described as systems or bundles of energy-functions.

So much for "reality" as a noun. The notion that "reality" is singular, like a hermetically sealed jar, does not jibe with scientific findings which, in this century, suggest that "reality" may better be considered as flowing and meandering, like a river, or interacting, like a dance, or evolving, like life itself.

Most philosophers have known, at least since around 500

B.C., that the world perceived by our senses is not "the real world" but a construct we create — our own private work of art. Modern science began with Galileo's demonstration that color is not "in" objects but "in" the inter-action of our senses with objects. Despite this philosophic and scientific knowledge of neurological relativity, which has been more clearly demonstrated with each major advance in instrumentation, we still, due to language, think that behind the flowing, meandering, inter-acting, evolving universe created by perception is one solid monolithic "reality" hard and crisply outlined as an iron bar.

Quantum physics has undermined that Platonic iron-bar

"reality" by showing that it makes more sense scientifically to talk only of the inter-actions we actually experience (our operations in the laboratory); and perception psychology has undermined the Platonic "reality" by showing that assuming it exists leads to hopeless contradictions in explaining how we actually perceive that a hippopotamus is not a symphony orchestra.

The only "realities" (plural) that we actually experience and can talk meaningfully about are perceived realities, experienced realities, existential realities — realities involving ourselves as editors — and they are all relative to the observer, fluctuating, evolving, capable of being magnified and enriched, moving from low resolution to hi-fi, and do not fit together like the pieces of a jig-saw into one single Reality with a capital R. Rather, they cast illumination upon one another by contrast, like the paintings in a large museum, or the different symphonic styles of Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven and Mahler.

Alan Watts may have said it best of all: "The universe is a giant Rorshach ink-blot." Science finds one meaning in it in the 18th Century, another in the 19th, a third in the 20th; each artist finds unique meanings on other levels of abstraction; and each man and woman finds different meanings at different hours of the day, depending on the internal and external environments.

This book deals with what I have called induced brain change, which Dr. John Lilly more resoundingly calls "metaprogramming the human bio-computer." In simple Basic English, as a psychologist and novelist, I set out to find how much rapid reorganization was possible in the brain functioning of one normal domesticated primate of average intelligence — the only one on whom I could ethically perform such risky research — myself.

Like most people w h o have historically attempted such iv

"metaprogramming," I soon found myself in metaphysical hot water. It became urgently obvious that my previous models and metaphors would not and could not account for what I was experiencing. I therefore had to create new models and metaphors as I went along. Since I was dealing with matters outside consensus reality-tunnels, some of my metaphors are rather extraordinary. That does not bother me, since I am at least as much an artist as a psychologist, but it does not bother me when people take these metaphors too literally.

I beg you, gentle reader, to memorize the quote from Aleister Crowley at the beginning of Part O n e and repeat it to yourself if at any point you start thinking that I am bringing you the latest theological revelations from Cosmic Central.

What my experiments demonstrate — what all such experiments throughout history have demonstrated — is simply that our models of "reality" are very small and tidy, the universe of experience is huge and untidy, and no model can ever include all the huge untidiness perceived by uncensored consciousness.

I think, or hope, that my data also demonstrates that neurological model agnosticism — the application of the Copenhagen Interpretation beyond physics to consciousness itself — allows one to escape from certain limits of mechanical emotion and robot mentation that are inescapable as long as one remains within one dogmatic model or one imprinted reality-tunnel.

Personally, I also suspect, or guess, or intuit, that the more unconventional of my models here — the ones involving Higher Intelligence, such as the Cabalistic Holy Guardian Angel or the extraterrestrial from Sirius — are necessary working tools at certain stages of the metaprogramming process.

That is, whether such entities exist anywhere outside our own imaginations, some areas of brain functioning cannot be accessed without using these

"keys" to open the locks. I do not insist on this; it is just my own opinion. Some people seem to get through this area of Chapel Perilous without such personalized "Guides." I know one chap w h o did it by imagining a super-computer in the future that was sending information backwards in time to his brain. More clever people may find even less "metaphysical" metaphors.

Ten years after the point at which this book ends, I do not v care much about such speculations. O u r lonely little selves can be "illuminated" or flooded with radical science-fiction style information and cosmic perspectives, and the source of this may be those extraterrestrials who seemed to be helping me at times, or the Secret Chiefs of Sufism, or the parapsychologists and/or computers of the 23rd Century beaming data backward in time, or it may just be the previously unactivated parts of our own brains. Despite the current reign of our New Inquisition, which attempts to halt research in this area, we will learn more about that as time passes. Meanwhile, agnosticism is both honest and becomingly modest.

In this connection, I am often asked about two books by other authors which are strangely resonant with Cosmic Trigger — namely VAUS by Philip K. Dick and The Sirian Experiments by Doris Lessing. VAUS is a novel which broadly hints that it is more than a novel — that it is an actual account of Phil Dick's own experience with some form of "Higher Intelligence." In fact, VAUS is only slightly fictionalized; the actual events on which it is based are recounted in a long interview Phil gave shortly before his death (See Philip K. Dick: The Last Testament, by Gregg Rickman.) The parallels with my own experience are numerous — but so are the differences. If the same source was beaming ideas to both Phil and me, the messages got our individual flavors mixed into them as we decoded the signals.

I met Phil Dick on two or three occasions and corresponded with him a bit. My impression was that he was worried that his experience was a temporary insanity and was trying to figure out if I was nutty, too. I'm not sure if he ever decided.

I interviewed Doris Lessing a few years ago for New Age magazine. She takes synchronicities very seriously, but was as agnostic as I am about the possibility that some of them are orchestrated by Sirians.

I heartily recommend all three volumes — VAUS, The Last Testament and The Sirian Experiments — to readers of this book.

Unless you are locked into a very dogmatic reality-tunnel, you will have a few weird moments of wondering if Sirians are experimenting on us, and a few weird moments can be a liberating experience for those w h o aren't scared to death by them.

What is more important than such extra-mundane vi speculation, I think, are practical and pragmatic questions about what one does with the results of brain change experience. It is quite easy, I have discovered by meeting many New Age people, to use the techniques in this book and go stone crazy with them. Paranoid and schizophrenic cases are quite common among those w h o experiment in this area. Less clinical, but socially even more nefarious, are the leagues of self-proclaimed gurus and their equally deluded disciples, w h o have discovered, as I did, that there are many realities (plural), but have picked out one favorite non-Occidental reality-tunnel, named it Ultimate Reality or True Reality, and established new fanaticisms, snobberies, dogmas and cults around these delusions.

There is a great deal of lyrical Utopianism in this book. I do not apologize for that, and do not regret it. The decade that has passed since the first edition has not altered my basic commitment to the game-rule that holds that an optimistic mind-set finds dozens of possible solutions for every problem that the pessimist regards as incurable.

Since we all create our habitual reality-tunnels, either consciously and intelligently or unconsciously and mechanically, I prefer to create for each hour the happiest, funniest and most romantic reality-tunnel consistent with the signals my brain apprehends. I feel sorry for the people w h o persistently organize experience into sad, dreary and hopeless reality-tunnels, and try to show them how to break that bad habit, but I don't feel any masochistic duty to share their misery.

This book does not claim that "you create your own reality" in the sense of total (but mysteriously unconscious) psychokinesis. If a car hits you and puts you in the hospital, I do not believe this is because you "really wanted" to be hit by a car, or that you "needed" to be hit by a car, as two popular New Age bromides have it. The theory of transactional psychology, which is the source of my favorite models and metaphors, merely says that, once you have been hit by a car, the meaning of the experience depends entirely on you and the results depend partly on you (and partly on your doctors). If it is medically possible for you to live — and sometimes even if the doctors think it is medically impossible — you ultimately decide whether to get out of the hospital in a hurry or to lie around suffering and complaining.

Most of the time, this kind of "decision" is unconscious and mechanical, but with the techniques described in this book, such decisions can become conscious and intelligent.

The last part of this book deals with the worst tragedy of my life. I want to say, without self-pity (a vice I despise) that my years on this planet have included many other terrible and punishing experiences, starting with two bouts of polio when I was a child and including dozens of other things I don't want to complain about in public. When I write of creating a better and more optimistic reality-tunnel, of transcending ego games, and of similar matters, it is not because I have lived in an ivory tower. It is because I have learned a few practical techniques for dealing with the brutal conditions on this primitive planet.

People at my lectures and seminars usually ask me if I am still optimistic about civilian space programs and life extension. I am more optimistic than ever. Despite the seemingly terminal case of rigidicus bureaucraticus at NASA, I have reason to believe certain European countries will soon jointly launch the kind of space migration effort advocated here; and Reagan's SDI, for all its jingoism, means that more money will be spent on basic research than at any previous time in history.

On the life extension front, there have been several best sellers on the subject since this book first appeared; there is interest even in the most intellectually backward part of U.S.

society (namely, the Congress); and scientists in the longevity field whom I have met recently all cheerfully say they are getting more money for research than in the 1970s. The breakthrough cannot be far away.

Finally, as a matter of some entertainment value, not all the mail I have received about this book has been intelligent and thoughtful. I have received several quite nutty and unintentionally funny poison-pen letters from two groups of dogmatists — Fundamentalist Christians and Fundamentalist Materialists.

The Fundamentalist Christians have told me that I am a slave of Satan and should have the demons expelled with an exorcism. The Fundamentalist Materialists inform me that I am a liar, charlatan, fraud and scoundrel. Aside from this minor difference, the letters are astoundingly similar. Both groups share the same crusading zeal and the same total lack of humor, viii charity and common human decency.

These intolerable cults have served to confirm me in my agnosticism by presenting further evidence to support my contention that when dogma enters the brain, all intellectual activity ceases.

Robert Anton Wilson

Dublin 1986

FOREWORDS

b y T i m o t h y Leary, P h . D .

Robert A n t o n Wilson is a man whose time has come.

It is true of all good tilings—they are a long time coming.

Intelligence on this planet has evolved in metamorphic stages—long periods of quiescent preparation, then sudden, slam-bang flashes of change.

The personal evolution of Robert Anton Wilson has followed the same r h y t h m . It's always like that with sages, evolutionary operatives, Intelligence Agents.

It has been axiomatic since Haeckel that ontology recapi-tulates phylogeny-that the individual in Hir* development repeats, step-by-step, the evolution of the species.

We now understand the mystery and paradox of the great alchemists, philosophers, mystics, sages. They pre-capi-tulate. They prospectively live out in their own nervous systems the future of evolution, the stages which await in the future of the species. Their nervous systems get into communication (via reverse transcriptase) with DNA. They learn how to decode the genetic blueprint. They experience what is to happen in the future. This, surely, is the royal road to wisdom, the highway of evolution—the two-way traffic between the Central Nervous System (CNS) and the DNA archives, via RNA messenger molecules.

Consider Lao-tse. In the 6th Century B.C., SHe realizes Einsteinian relativity, senses that all is flow and evolutionary change; anticipates (in the / Ching) what computer designers will understand 2,500 years later—that energy comes in the binary code of yin-yang (off-on); forecasts (in the Ching trigrams) what micro-geneticists will discover 2,500 years later—the triplicate function of amino-acid binding.

Now reflect on the poignant destiny of Lao-tse. SHe

*Editor's note: Dr. Leary prefers the forms SHe (she or he) and Hir (his or her) to the traditional habit of referring to the general human being as masculine.

knows that SHe will not be around in biological form when Watson and Crick decipher the DNA code. The time-lag problem is solved by transtime neurogenetic signalry. Symbolism.

The Intelligence Agent called Lao-tse teaches the / Ching codes to domesticated primates, injects some fortune-telling hocus-pocus and thus sends down the 2,500-year CNS-RNA-DNA teletype channel this basic code. SHe knows that t h e Confu-cians will distort the signal with Boy Scout moralisms (duti-fully preserved in the inane Baynes-Wilhelm commentaries), knows that countless charlatans will peddle vulgar / Ching fortunes for a nickle in Oriental bazaars. But SHe k n o w s , also, t h a t when external technology catches up, 20th Century Intelligence Agents will receive t h e dot-dash trigram message and realize that binary codes and triplicate trigrams are genetic guide posts explaining the direction and molecular structure of evolution, from the terrestrial, E E , earth, to the extraterrestrial, E, heaven.

Now consider the Buddha.

Also in the 6th Century B.C., SHe realizes that consciousness creates reality; that all is may a, i.e. an internal dance of neurons, an external dance of protons. SHe advises detachment from tribal imprints (local reality-tunnels), announces the octave nature of evolution (again knowing it will be corrupted by moralists into the 8-fold path of domesticated virtue and marketed eventually as the 8 x 8 chessboard). SHe knows that Mendeleyev and the octave division of quarks await 100 generations in t h e future.

We are awed by this unbroken chain of generational signalry. In each of the 100 generations since Buddha, a few Intelligence Agents are born and spend their brief lives, detached from the hive, poring over the octaves. In response, we assume, to some RNA suggestion about the sequence of the eight periods of evolution—from heavy to light, from slow to fast, from water to fire, from terrestrial to post-terrestrial, from Kun EE to Chien E, from earth metals to noble gases.

Next, consider the plight of G.I. Gurdjieff, w h o , 40 years before the Apollo Lunar Landings and 50 years before the space shuttle, writes Beelzebub's Tales to His Grandson, predicting the post-terrestrial future of the species.

Recall the last lines of Aleister Crowley's Confessions, where he sadly recognizes that scientific experiments of the next generation will manifest precisely what his magical rituals could only internalize and ceremonially anticipate.

This book, Cosmic Trigger, and its author, Robert Anton Wilson, can best be understood as modern links in this unbroken chain of alchemical philosophers and Intelligence Agents who have systematically learned how to dial and tune their own nervous systems and (via internal biochemical auto-experiments) learned how to converse, via RNA, with their own DNA, decipher the genetic Rosetta Stone and get direct experiential knowledge of the evolutionary process.

Wilson describes 30 years of experimentation on and with his own brain. Most important, he recounts his attempts to correlate inner, subjective vision with the external, objective language of the energy sciences.

And here is the issue, the classic challenge of philosophy: to expand inner neurological reality and to link it with the outer realities measured by scientists. Intelligence evolves when the occult and magical become the objective-scientific.

I recall clearly my first conversation with Robert Anton Wilson in 1964. He was the first and lonely journalist who had actually read my writings and understood the steady development of my own research—from interpersonal psychology to interstellar neurogenetics.

Wilson's ability to open himself up and receive signals both from within his own expanding neurology and from t h e broadcasts of scientists defines him as one of the key personalities of modern neurological philosophy. He is becoming a major literary figure.

There are two words which always define a great writer-philosopher:

encyclopedic

and epic.

Each civilization, we are told, produces at its high-water mark one or more encyclopedic works which summarize the knowledge, technology, culture, philosophy of the epoch.

Such books are like neurogenetic manuals which summarize and explain a primitive planetary culture to an Intelligence Agent from another world. Dante, Boccaccio, James Joyce, Hesse. As American civilization moves from its adolescence into the final terrestrial stages of technological centralization preceeding Space Migration, it is beginning to produce such encyclopedic writings. For example, Thomas Pynchon's Gravity's Rainbow, the Illuminatus trilogy of Wilson and Shea, and the book y o u hold in your hand.

Please consult this book if and when y o u wish a modern, personal summary of such basic concepts as: the Illuminati conspiracy, the Sirius p h e n o m e n o n , UFOs, mind-changing drugs, new experiential perspectives on Lee Harvey Oswald, Jim Garrison, Hugh Hefner, t h e 24 clones of T i m o t h y Leary, the meaning of the number 2 3 , Aleister Crowley, Aldous Huxley, Carl Sagan, Gurdjieff, Alan Watts, William Burroughs, immortality, Nikola Tesla, modern quantum theory, the physics of consciousness, the eight evolving circuits of the nervous system, e t c .

In each of these academic references there is an anecdo-tal flash so that these important names and topics become alive on the page. This is good writing.

Cosmic Trigger is also an epic work.

An epic is a story of exploration, voyaging, adventur-ous search for meaning.

Cosmic Trigger is an odyssey recounting the personal quest of the author. He explores the labyrinthine regions of his own brain with drugs and many other neuro-activating methods. He experiments with magick, ritual, ESP, isolation.

He continually consults his most treasured traveling compan-ions—his beautiful red-haired wife, Arlen, and his sparkling, wise children.

Wilson realizes (as do all alchemists) t h a t he must evolve as the work develops. He knows that the m o t t o solve et coa-gule means that he, t o o , must accept personal dissolution, that he must vary his own temperature and pressure, test his own sanity in the crucible of change. He gives up a deluxe-sexy j o b and retreats to social isolation. He plunges unflinchingly into outcaste poverty. He becomes that most recklessly heroic person—the self-employed intellectual! He turns his back on faculty salary and establishment grant and lives by his wits and wisdom. Reading this book, we share his grinding Blakean poverty, his highs and lows.

Cosmic Trigger sparkles with h u m o r , openness of mind, courage, understanding, tolerance. It is the epic adventure of a man w h o invites us to grow and change with him.

We thank y o u , Robert Anton Wilson, for this timely and timefull treasure.

Los Angeles, California

Summer, 1977

Prologue:

Thinking About

the Unthinkable

Everything you know is wrong.

—The Firesign Theatre

Thinking About the Unthinkable As the late, great H.P. Lovecraft might begin this narrative: It is now nearly 13 years since t h e ill-fated day when I first began investigating the terrible legends surrounding the enigmatic Bavarian Illuminati, an alleged conspiracy that some people believe rules the world. Like a Lovecraft hero, I em-barked on my research with no suspicion of the perils awaiting me: I thought I was just investigating a notable case of political paranoia and expected to find only some insight into the psychology which causes otherwise sane individuals to sub-scribe to such absurdly ridiculous conspiracy theories.

Eventually, in collaboration with Robert J. Shea, I wrote a three-volume satirical novel on the conspiracy, Illuminatus!

Completing such an exhaustingly long book should have terminated my interest in the subject, b u t my researches continued nonetheless, evidently propelled by some mysterious mo-mentum. (Rising organ music, please.) I had become psychic-ally hooked to t h e Illuminati. Like a tarantula in the bed-sheets or the laugh of a woman you once loved, the accursed Illuminati simply could not be forgotten or ignored. This was most annoying to the Skeptic, who is one of the 24 selves w h o live within me and the only one who usually possesses veto power over all t h e others.

Eventually, my interest in the Illuminati was to lead me through a cosmic F u n House featuring double and triple agents, UFOs, possible Presidential assassination plots, the enigmatic symbols on the dollar bill, messages from Sirius, pancakes from God-knows-where, the ambiguities of Aleister Crowley, some mysterious hawks that follow Uri Geller around, Futurists, Immortalists, plans to leave this planet and the latest paradoxes of quantum mechanics. It has been a prolonged b u t never boring pursuit, like trying to find a co-bra in a dark room before it finds you.

Briefly, the background of the Bavarian Illuminati puzzle 3

is this. On May 1, 1776, in Bavaria, Dr. Adam Weishaupt, a professor of Canon Law at Ingolstadt University and a former Jesuit, formed a secret society called the Order of the Illuminati within the existing Masonic lodges of Germany.

Since Masonry is itself a secret society, the Illuminati was a secret society within a secret society, a mystery inside a mystery, so to say. In 1785 the Illuminati were suppressed by the Bavarian government for allegedly plotting to overthrow all the kings in Europe and the Pope to boot. This much is generally agreed upon by all historians. Everything else is a matter of heated, and sometimes fetid, controversy.

It has been claimed t h a t Dr. Weishaupt was an atheist, a Cabalistic magician, a rationalist, a mystic; a democrat, a so-cialist, an anarchist, a fascist; a Machiavellian amoralist, an alchemist, a totalitarian and an "enthusiastic philanthropist."

(The last was the verdict of Thomas Jefferson, by the way.) The Illuminati have also been credited with managing the French and American revolutions behind the scenes, taking over the world, being the brains behind Communism, continuing underground up to the 1970s, secretly worshipping the Devil, and mopery with intent to gawk. Some claim that Weishaupt didn't even invent the Illuminati, but only revived it.

The Order of Illuminati has been traced back to t h e Knights Templar, to the Greek and Gnostic initiatory cults, to Egypt, even to Atlantis. The one safe generalization one can make is that Weishaupt's intent to maintain secrecy has worked; no two students of Illuminology have ever agreed totally a b o u t what the "inner secret" or purpose of the Order actually was (or is . . .) . There is endless room for spooky speculation, and for pedantic paranoia, once one really gets into the literature of the subject; and there has been a wave of sensational "ex-p o s e s " of the Illuminati every generation since 1 7 7 6 . 1 If you were to believe all this sensational literature, the damned Bavarian conspirators were responsible for everything wrong with t h e world, including the energy crises and the fact that y o u can't even get a plumber on weekends.

For instance, the first explosion of anti-Illuminati hysteria in this country, in the 1790s, was stirred up by fanatic Feder-alists and centered on the charge that Thomas Jefferson and the Democratic Republican party were pawns of t h e European 4

Illuminati. The second major cluster of excited exposes came in the 1840s, and was circulated by the Anti-Masonic Party, who believed t h a t the Illuminati still controlled the Masons and had infiltrated our government at all levels. In both of these instances, the Illuminati were portrayed as radical democrats or outright anarchists in the tradition of the ultra-left wing of the French Revolution. Current anti-Illuminati literature, which is mostly distributed through the anti-Sem-itic, paramilitary Right, portrays the Illuminati as the masters of both international Communism and international banking.

A separate and weirder strain of anti-Illuminati theory, occasionally interacting with this political conspiracy literature, portrays the Illuminati as Nazis, black magicians, astral mind-fuckers and Satanists.

But these are only the major themes of the anti-Illuminati symphony. There are countless individuals who have tooted some be-bop riffs—e.g., Philip Campbell Argyle-Smith, editor of a bizarre journal called High IQ Bulletin, claims that the Illuminati, known as " J e w s " on this planet, are actually invaders from Vulcan. I have also seen a book (author and title now forgotten, alas) which argued that the Illuminati are a Jesuit conspiracy which infiltrated Masonry and then took over the world, using the Masonic front to keep anybody from guessing that the real control actually comes from the Vati-can, heh-heh-heh. Typical of the ingenuity of such conspiracy theories, the facts which most glaringly contradict it (namely, t h e anti-Masonic fulminations and excommunications by all the Popes for the last century, and the tons of anti-Catholic propaganda circulated by Masonic lodges) are explained as " p a r t of the cover-up."

And, of course, anti-Illuminati diatribes of all schools somberly agree that "accidents have a way of happening to those who find o u t too much about the Bavarian Illuminati."

(Let's have t h a t rising organ music again, and an eldritch laugh, like The Shadow's on the old radio series.) Once when I was appearing on a radio show on KGO-San Francisco, where listeners call in and talk to the guests, a woman phoned to say I knew so much about t h e Illuminati that I must be one of t h e m .

I became whimsical. " M a y b e , " I said, " t h e secret of the 5 Illuminati is that y o u d o n ' t k n o w you're a member until it's too late to get o u t . "

This was too metaphysical for "aller. " F u r t h e r m o r e , " she said triumphantly, pursuing her own script, " y o u ' r e the people who control the Federal Reserve and the Morgan and Rockefeller banks."

"Well," said the Writer of Satire, temporarily displacing the Skeptic, "I certainly w o n ' t deny that. It can't help but improve my credit rating."

That woman is probably still telling her friends how she got one of the Illuminati to confess right over the radio.

Actually, I no longer disbelieve in the Illuminati, but I d o n ' t believe in them yet, either. Let us explain t h a t odd remark quickly, before we go any further in the murk. In researching occult conspiracies, one eventually faces a crossroad of mythic proportions (called Chapel Perilous in the trade).

You come out the other side either a stone paranoid or an agnostic; there is no third way. I came out an agnostic.

Chapel Perilous, like the mysterious entity called " I , " cannot be located in the space-time continuum; it is weightless, odorless, tasteless and undetectable by ordinary instruments.

Indeed, like the Ego, it is even possible to deny that it is there.

And yet, even more like the Ego, once y o u are inside it, there doesn't seem to be any way to ever get out again, until you suddenly discover that it has been brought into existence by thought and does not exist outside thought. Everything you fear is waiting with slavering jaws in Chapel Perilous, but if y o u are armed with the wand of intuition, the cup of sympathy, the sword of reason and the pentacle of valor, y o u will find there (the legends say) the Medicine of Metals, the Elixir of Life, the Philosopher's Stone, True Wisdom and Perfect Happiness.

That's what the legends always say, and the language of m y t h is poetically precise. For instance, if you go into that realm without the sword of reason, you will lose y o u r mind, but at the same time, if y o u take only the sword of reason without the cup of sympathy, y o u will lose y o u r heart. Even more remarkably, if y o u approach without the wand of intuition, you can stand at the door for decades never realizing you have arrived. You might think you are just waiting for a bus, or wandering from room to r o o m looking for y o u r cigar-ettes, watching a TV show, or reading a cryptic and ambiguous book. Chapel Perilous is tricky t h a t way.

I entered Chapel Perilous quite casually one day in 1971

while reading The Book of Lies by the English mystic Aleister Crowley.2 Crowley aroused my interest because he had indu-bitably been a high adept of b o t h yoga and occultism, was regarded as a Black Magician by many and as the Magus of the New Aeon by some, and had a contradictory reputation as heroic mountain climber, poet, bisexual pioneer Hippy, alchemist, sadistic prankster, worker of wonders and charlatan.

I was especially charmed by the persistent legend that Crowley had once turned poet Victor Newburg into a camel, and the testimony of many t h a t he had smashed a glass across a room by staring at it, in a demonstration at Oxford. All of Crowley's books are witty, paradoxical, brilliant, obscure and deliberately enigmatic in varying degrees, b u t The Book of Lies is by all odds the most mystifying of all, and hence a favorite of mine since I love to solve puzzles and mysteries.

Facing the title page of The Book of Lies is a nonchalant announcement informing the reader, "There is no j o k e or hidden meaning in the publisher's imprint." This seems to be a veiled warning about what will follow, but is actually the first lie in the book; occult historian Francis King has carefully determined the date on the imprint is inaccurate by at least a year. This type of perverse artistry is typical of Crowley's dealings with the reader, and I have enjoyed myself over the years deciphering his similarly gnomic jokes in other books.

I always return to The Book of Lies, however, because Crowley claimed t h a t somewhere in that book he had revealed the inner secret of freemasonry and Illuminism, coded so t h a t only those with "spiritual insight" would be able to decipher it. In 1971,1 had already read the book many times without finding the secret, b u t I was still trying, since Crowley is regarded as a ringleader of the Illuminati conspiracy by many writers3 and, indeed, used the title " E p o p t of the Illuminati," along with a few dozen other honorifics, when he was in the mood to put on some swank.

Suddenly, in a "blinding flash" or at least a mini-Satori, I knew Crowley's secret. It was in Chapter 69 and deals with 7 Tantric Sex. It will be explained, y o u may be sure, at the appropriate place in our narrative. The effect on me was t h a t I entered a belief system in which the anti-Illuminati authors I had studied so extensively were no longer seen by me as simple paranoids. They were looking at something quite real, I now felt, and were only misinterpreting it a little bit. They were those without the pentacle of valor w h o stand in terror outside the door of Chapel Perilous, trembling and warning all who would enter t h a t the Chapel is really an Insect Horror Machine programmed by Death Demons and dripping fetidly with Green G o o .

I immediately determined upon a course of n e u r o p s y - chological experiments which would, I thought, demonstrate objectively whether or n o t I had really guessed the true secret. The principal results of these experiments are presented in this book. The outstanding result was t h a t I entered a belief system, from July 1973 until around October 1974, in which I was receiving telepathic messages from entities residing on a planet of the double star Sirius.

I also began to find—sometimes by the most implausible coincidences—various documentary leads firmly tying the long, mysterious history of Illuminism to occult beliefs about Sirius. These "lucky c o i n c i d e n c e s " - o r synchronicities as they are called in Jungian psychology—are commonplace among those who get involved with occult secret societies in general and Chapel Perilous in particular. As Neal Wilgus notes in The Illuminoids,

From the beginning The IUuminoids was shaped by coincidence, from the discovery of Daraul's Secret Societies... to the publication of Shea and just as Wilson says other references did for him.4

Wilson's niuminatus A book by another Wilson-Colin Wilson's The Occult-was also discovered at just the right moment and often "fell open at the right page"

That last sentence is a fitting overture to the ambiguities we shall soon confront. Not even I am sure whether the last clause refers to me or to Colin Wilson.

After October 1974 (due to a meeting with Dr. Jacques Vallee,an extraordinarily erudite astronomer, cyberneticist and UFOlogist), I began to develop new belief systems to explain 8 my Sirius experience, n o t necessarily involving the breathtak-ing assumption t h a t I was literally receiving actual transmissions from an ESP-broadcaster in the Sirius star system.

Dr. Vallee has been concerned with UFOs since the early 1960s, when he saw two of the beasties. Over the years Vallee has broadened his investigations to include "psychic" experiences t h a t relate in one way or another to the UFOs, such as my Sirius experiences. He believes t h a t this whole area of other-wordly communications has been going on for centuries and will probably not turn out to be extraterrestrial. The extraterrestrial content of the experience these days, he says, is just an adaptation to 20th Century beliefs. The p h e n o m e n o n took other and spookier forms, his data indicate, in other epochs.

This made perfect sense to me, since I had originally gotten in touch with " t h e e n t i t y " by means of Crowleyan occultism. The extraterrestrial explanation was n o t the real explanation, as I had thought; it was just the latest model for the Experience, as angels had been a model for it in the Middle Ages, or dead relatives speaking through mediums had been a model in the 19th century.

Then, on Sunday, March 13, 1976, a dispatch from Reuters News Service appeared in newspapers around the world.

I read it in the San Francisco Examiner-Chronicle and it was like opening a door in my own house and Fmding Ming the Merciless shooting it out with Flash Gordon.

The dispatch concerned Robert K.G. Temple, a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of England, a scientist of dignity and status, who was propounding a theory wild enough to come from t h e pages of von Daniken himself. Temple claimed t h a t Earth had been visited by an advanced race from a planet in the system of the double star, Sirius, around 4 5 0 0

B.C. Temple based this assertion on the fact that definite and specific knowledge of the Sirius system can be found in the mythology of the Babylonians, the Egyptians, and some surviving African tribes-knowledge which modern astronomy has only rediscovered with the fantastically delicate instruments of the last two decades.

Now, anybody would be taken aback to see an astronomer of Temple's status expressing such a Hearst Sunday Magazine theory, but I was beyond surprise; I was discombobu-lated.

I mentioned t h e Reuters dispatch a few days afterward to a friend, Saul Paul Sirag, a monstrously erudite physicist who usually knows more about any other science y o u mention than most of the experts in that field.

"Oh, Temple's data aren't all n e w , " Saul Paul said. "Anthropologists have known for years that several African tribes have very advanced knowledge about t h e Sirius system. For instance, some of them knew about the companion of Sirius—a dwarf star—long before we discovered it with our telescopes."

"And how do the anthropologists explain t h a t ? " I asked.

"They d o n ' t , " Saul Paul said with a Groucho Marx grin./

" I t ' s regarded as a m y s t e r y . " Saul Paul, who was a theologian before he became a physicist, is also the author of a hilarious theologicalpsychedelic novel called Jumped by Jesus. He is an even more advanced case of Aggravated Agnosticism than your humble narrator, and loves data that w o n ' t fit into anybody's theories.

I quickly obtained a copy of Temple's book from England, and was staggered by i t . 5 Temple's evidence, which we will summarize later, could be interpreted to indicate the arrival of people from Sirius w h o had come here in a physical space ship around 4 5 0 0 B.C. According to Temple, information about this had been passed on through various initiatory orders in the ancient Mediterranean and in Africa to the present time. But the evidence could also be interpreted to mean that methods of interstellar telepathy between Earth and the Sirius system had been discovered back then and t h a t many have been tuning in on that channel ever since. In o t h e r words, through Crowley's secret teaching, I might have tuned in on a nearly 6,500-year-old cosmic dialogue, after all.

Chapel Perilous, as I said before, is tricky that way.

When y o u think y o u ' r e o u t of it, you're just in a n o t h e r hall of illusions painted to look like the safe forest outside; and when you think y o u ' r e inside again, you'll suddenly discover y o u ' r e actually walking on the road back h o m e . As the traditional Zen saying sums it u p :

First there is a mountain,

Then there is no mountain,

Then there is.

10

In this context, we don't expect a n y b o d y to believe in the Sirius transmissions just because the author seems like an honest guy. Richard Milhous Nixon once seemed like an honest guy, at least to the folks who voted for him. We are emphatically not competing for the True Believer Market with Nixon (or Erich von Daniken). We hope to show, with objective and documented evidence, that something is going on.

Something more physical and palpable than hallucination.

The semanticist raises his eyebrows and mutters that t h e expression "something more physical and palpable than hallucination" does not convey a very precise idea; one might as well talk of something more tangible and objective than rev-ery. We will become more specific as we proceed, but at this stage we must define our god-awful ignorance explicitly before we dare to propound our speculations. It is important to state unambiguously that our data are not in conflict with "science," as the naive will imagine—in fact, we will provide several scientific explanations for all of it, in Part Two—but it is, grotesquely and awkwardly, in total conflict with common sense. It is perverse, paradoxical and preposterous. One might say, " I t ' s damned funny," and if a child asked innocently, " D o you mean 'funny-haha' or 'funny-peculiar"1" I'd have to answer, " B o t h . "

Let us illustrate with an example of the kind of mystery we will be c o n f r o n t i n g - t h e Case of the Pancakes from Outer Space. Like a pig with wings, this is definitely funny; we leave it to the reader to decide whether to consider it funny-haha or funny-peculiar.

Joseph Simonton of Eagle River, Wisconsin, claims that a flying saucer landed in his back yard one day and an extraterrestrial got out and gave him some pancakes.

There were no other witnesses to this remarkable occurrence, so it is certainly tempting to say that Simonton must have been hallucinating. There is no reason to think t h a t he was consciously perpetrating a hoax, however. He has n o t tried to commercialize on his encounter in any way and seems to be baffled by the whole experience, j u s t as you would be.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, a skeptical astronomer, w h o explained other UFOs as "swamp gas," was sent by the Air Force to investigate the Simonton mindfuck. Dr. Hynek took some of 1 1 the damnable pancakes back to the Dayton Air Force base, where the UFO investigation is headquartered, and scientists there determined that the pancakes were perfectly normal and contained nutritious wheat germ, perhaps indicating that the Space Brothers are Ralph Nader fans. Dr. Hynek himself says he thinks that Simonton was telling the t r u t h , i.e., he believed in his experience.

Dr. Jacques Vallee also investigated this case and says that he t o o is convinced t h a t Simonton is honest.

Simonton himself has no idea why he, of all the people on Earth, was singled out for this perplexing gift.6

If Simonton merely hallucinated the whole episode, where did the accursed astral pancakes actually come from?

Answer me that, O ye skeptics. On the other hand, if the flying saucer was really there in the yard, why in t h e name of all the pot-bellied gods of Burma did the extraterrestrials decide on this occasion to present a human being with a gift of pancakes! The story is equally biazarre and unsatisfying however we interpret it.

Simonton's adventure is more characteristic of UFO contacts than readers who are unfamiliar with t h e subject will realize. The newspapers and TV generally cover only a tiny fraction of UFO reports and usually publicize only t h e contactees who establish quasi-religious movements around themselves, based on doctrines of peace and pop ecology allegedly transmitted by the UFOnauts. Such messianic accounts are comfortable reading, since most of us secretly would like to believe that benevolent Space Brothers are trying to save this planet from the various disasters that seem to threaten it, but they are a minority. The Simonton pancakes are much more typical.

One classic Contact involved two Naval Intelligence officers of high probity. There was also a "coincidental" (but highly mysterious) radar blackout of the whole area—almost as if Chapel Perilous in this case was using a technology that renders itself invisible to radar. The officers seemed to have contacted a benevolent being from the planet Uranus. The naive believer in loving Space Brothers will rejoice at such a yarn, especially since t h e communications received included the usual peace propaganda. The more analytical will detect 12 the pig-with-wings element in the facts that (a) Uranus is almost certainly incapable of supporting life and that (b) the communicating entity gave a name which sounds suspiciously like a joke at the expense of any student of Cabala who studies the transcript. The name was " A F F A , " which in a Cabalistic language called "angelic" means nothing or the void. The Contact, in this case, was 99% "telepathic," as in my Sirius experience, but the officers were given a view of what looked like a real spaceship outside their window at the climax of the experience. And t h a t was the point in time when the radar blackout "coincidentally" occurred in the area.7

Others have had classic "hallucinatory" or " p s y c h o t i c " experiences with the Space Brothers, such as meeting Jesus on a flying saucer or being taken a hundred light years and back in a half-hour; so that the hurried investigator would be inclined to dismiss such yarns as imaginary. Unfortunately, these people often have ambiguous but definite evidence that something happened—independent witnesses saw a UFO at the same time, or there were weird mechanical failures in the neighborhood: Once two people involved in different Contacts hundreds of miles away from each other and a year apart told the same absurd details. Each alleged a visit to a planet named "Lanalus," where all the natives are humanoid and go naked. This yarn was told by b o t h a West Virginia salesman and a Washington, D.C. law student, independently of each other.8 In such a case the most ardent reductionist can't reduce what happened to less than a hallucination shared by telepathy, which is staggering in itself. (How many independent witnesses have to be involved before any event can no longer be dismissed as shared hallucination? As Berkeley, Hume and others have indicated, it is logically impossible to prove that our everyday experience isn't all fantasy. Since only telepathy can explain the shared space-journey in this particular case, data may be called shared hallucination by the determined skeptic even when witnesses are independent of each other. T h a t way lies solipsism, if n o t paranoia.) To claim t h a t both witnesses were liars would be convenient, of course, b u t one has the uneasy feeling t h a t it is a weird coincidence for two liars to independently invent the same lie. You could reject any data that way, including any 13 laboratory experiments y o u d o n ' t like. For instance, those who reject even telepathy have reached the point where they are impugning either the honesty or the sanity of several thousand scientific researchers on all major continents over a period of decades. Such expedient ways of disposing of data are shared only by the most ardent anti-Evolutionists among the Fundamentalist sects.

Please note t h a t we promised several scientific explanations of our data, not one explanation. There is, at this point, no single theory that will account for all of the Damned Things we are going to bring forth and parade for y o u r inspection. To give y o u some perspective in advance, let us list a few of the ideas that have passed through this investigator's mind in the course of his journey into and out of Chapel Perilous.

Either...

(a) the evidence assembled here can be explained by Bell's Theorem, a breakthrough in physics suggesting a basic indivisibility of all things. Bell also allows for three submo-dels we shall be discussing: (1) the observer-created universe; (2) parallel universes; (3) information-without-energy; and/or

(b) some human beings of highly evolved psychic powers ("the Illuminati") are playing head-games with other human beings, sometimes passing themselves off as (c) or (d) below; and/or

(c) we really are being contacted, experimented upon or otherwise manipulated by Higher Intelligences from Outer Space, probably from Sirius (or the Illuminati are creating a simulation of such extraterrestrials);

and/or

(d) we have always shared this planet with another intelligent species, which can either remain invisible or manifest to us in any form it chooses. UFO researcher J o h n Keel calls these hypothetical entities "ultraterrestrials." Earlier ages called them fairies, angels, demons, t h e weird people, etc.

and/or

14

(e) we are all evolving into the use of new neurological circuits, which will make us superhuman in comparison to our present average state. The activation of these new circuits creates a great deal of temporary weirdness until we learn to use them properly. This is the theory of such scientifically oriented yogis as Sri Aurobindo and Gopi Krishna, and of Dr.

Timothy Leary.

and/or

(f) a combination or permutation of the above is going on simultaneously.

Some of our data fit one of the above theories better than another; some fit equally well into two or three theories; some d o n ' t fit any theory yet. The multi-theory approach (or, as it is called in physics, the multi-model approach) is the only way to deal adequately with all the facts. Any single-theory approach is premature and causes a truncation of our intelligence; it forces us to ignore or belittle parts of the data that might be crucial.

The multi-model approach began in sub-atomic physics and is chiefly due to Nobel laureate Niels Bohr. In dealing with certain mysterious entities on that quasi-astral plane, physicists had found hard evidence t h a t these entities were particles. Good. Unfortunately, other evidence, equally persistent, showed that the entities were really waves. Not so good. Some physicists held to the particle theory, and insisted that all evidence supporting the wave theory would eventually be explained away. Others, however, accepted the waves and rejected the particles. Still others, somewhat face-tiously, began talking of "wavicles." Bohr suggested that the search for one correct model was medieval, pre-scientific and obsolete. We can best understand sub-atomic events, he said, if we accept the necessity of allowing for more than one model. As Marshall McLuhan has pointed out, in The Mechanical Bride and other works, the multi-model approach has now influenced all the sciences and even appears in modern art (e.g., cubist paintings show several views at once; Joyce's Ulysses describes the same day in various styles—epic, dramatic, journalistic, subjective, naturalistic, etc.). McLuhan has even proclaimed, in his usual apocalyptic style, that the multi-model 15 approach is the most important, and most original, intellectual discovery of the 20th century. Count Alfred Korzybski said that it marked the transition from Aristotelian civilization (dogmatic, monistic, authoritarian) to non-Aristotelian civilization (relativistic, pluralistic, libertarian).

For convenience, all of the models discussed above and to be discussed as we proceed can be summed into two meta-models. (1) It is all done by our own nervous systems. As we advance toward Higher Intelligence, our brains can increasingly affect the universe, by q u a n t u m inseparability, creating first coincidences, then Jungian synchronicities, then seemingly external Superhuman Beings, who are really masks of the greater selves we are evolving into. (2) It is not all done by our nervous systems. As we advance toward Higher Intelligence, our brains can increasingly contact other Higher Intelligences. By Bell's q u a n t u m monism, this includes contact with advanced adepts w h o are both human and inhuman, terrestrial and extraterrestrial, and located temporally throughout what we call past, present and future.

But such philosophical questions can best be postponed until after we have examined the chrono-log of my own adventures in Chapel Perilous. Remember: it is tricky in there.

Some of the time we will not seem to be passing through the Gates of Mystery but merely wandering about in a F u n House at a rather seedy Amusement Park.

16

Part I:

The Sirius Connection

PART I : THE SIRIUS CONNECTION
IN THIS BOOK IT IS SPOKEN OF THE SEPHIROTH & THE PATHS, OF SPIRITS & CONJURATIONS, OF GODS, SPHERES, PLANES & MANY OTHER THINGS WHICH MAY OR MAY NOT EXIST. IT IS IMMATERIAL WHETHER THEY EXIST OR NOT. BY DOING CERTAIN THINGS CERTAIN RESULTS FOLLOW; STUDENTS ARE MOST EARNESTLY WARNED AGAINST ATTRIBUTING OBJECTIVE REALITY OR PHILOSOPHICAL VALIDITY TO ANY OF THEM. CROWLEY

The Sirius Connection:

INTRODUCTORY FABLES

(Let's stretch those mental muscles a bit, fellers.) From the Sufi:

Mullah Nasrudin once entered a store and asked the pro-prietor, "Have y o u ever seen me before?"

" N o , " was the prompt answer.

" T h e n , " cried Nasrudin, " h o w do y o u know it is m e ? "

From the ancient Babylonian:

It was the sad time after the death of t h e fair young god of spring, T a m m u z . The beautiful goddess, Ishtar, w h o loved Tammuz dearly, followed him to the halls of Eternity, defy-ing the demons who guard the Gates of Time.

But at the first Gate, the guardian demon forced Ishtar to surrender her sandals, which the wise men say symbolizes giving up the Will. And at the second Gate, Ishtar had to surrender her jeweled anklets, which the wise say means giving up Ego. And at the third Gate, she surrendered her robe, which is the hardest of all because it is giving up Mind itself.

And at the fourth Gate, she surrendered her golden breast-cups, which is giving up Sex Role. And at the fifth Gate, she surrendered her necklace, which is giving up the rapture of Illumination. And at the sixth Gate, she surrendered her ear-rings, which is giving up Magick. And finally, at the seventh Gate, Ishtar surrendered her thousand-petaled crown, which is giving up G o d h o o d .

It was only thus, naked, that Ishtar could enter Eternity.

From the Zen tradition:

A monk w h o had meditated long in search of Illumination finally received a great flash of insight. Rushing to his 19 roshi (Zen Master), the m o n k cried out, "I have it! I have it!

That rock there is inside my head."

" Y o u must have a big head," the Master replied, " t o hold a rock t h a t size."

The Door to Chapel Perilous

I was born into a working-class Irish Catholic family in Brooklyn at the brutal b o t t o m of the Great Depression. As a child, I seem to have had no odd psychic abilities anH T remember no weird experiences. The only religious event of my childhood—my first Holy Communion—was a total failure; I experienced none of the rapture and contact with God which the nuns had promised me.

At 14,1 became an atheist, and in college I majored originally in Electrical Engineering, switching later to Mathematics when I realized my basic temperament was analytical rather than practical. In my twenties I underwent three forms of psychotherapy in order to clear up the remaining conflicts between my atheistic hedonism and the Catholic indoctrina-tion of my childhood.

Once at the age of 18 I had a strange experience of coming unstuck in time, like Billy Pilgrim in Vonnegut's Slaughterhouse Five. Again, at 2 4 , 1 had a kind of spontaneous Satori, a sudden awakening to the immanent divinity of all things. I regarded both of these experiences as hallucinatory and was so ashamed of them that I never discussed them with any of my three psychotherapists.

Then in 1962, at the age of 3 0 , 1 began to experiment with mind-altering drugs. This area is only a little less controversial than nuclear power plants, to p u t it mildly, but let us remember that there are three schools of scientific thought about those chemicals.

I. Some regard these potions as psychotomimetic: t h a t is, the altered consciousness they produce is considered an imitation (mime) of psychosis.

II. Some regard them as hallucinogens: that is, the new mental state created by ingestion is considered a hallucinatory experience, but n o t quite a psychosis.

III. Some regard them as psychedelics (a word coined by Humphrey Osmond, M.D.) or as metaprogramming substances (coined by J o h n Lilly, M.D.); that is, the new state is considered one in which we can reorganize or re-imprint our nervous system for higher functioning.

Science will eventually determine which interpretation is most correct through future research. This decision will unfortunately not be reached by any a m o u n t of verbal debate or throwing the dissenters into jails, no matter how loud t h e denunciations or how many heretics are imprisoned. This is very inconvenient for the government, which always wants to settle every issue by outlawing disagreement, b u t t h a t is not how science works.

I originally got interested in mind-altering drugs due to an article in the most conservative magazine in the U.S.A., the National Review, edited by Roman Catholic millionaire William Buckley, Jr. Later, of course, Buckley and his magazine would attack drug experiments with neo-Inquisitorial fury, but back in innocent '60 or ' 6 1 , they naively printed an article, by conservative historian Russell Kirk, reviewing Aldous Huxley's The Doors of Perception, in which Huxley recounted how he had transcended time and space and experienced "Heaven."

Huxley did it under the influence of mescaline, a drug derived from the "sacred cactus," peyote, used in American Indian rituals. Russell Kirk thought this was good scientific evidence to support religiosity in general against the "liberal humanists," whom he regards as the prime villains in history.

Kirk said, among other things, that "only the most dogmatic old-fangled materialist" would reject Huxley's report a priori without duplicating the experiment. Being a dogmatic old-fangled materialist at the time, I resented this and argued about it a lot inside my head over a period of months. It seemed that, as a materialist, I had to accept one aspect of Huxley's book that Kirk had not noted: the strong implication that consciousness is chemical in nature and changes as its chemistry changes. That was provocative.

21

The Materialist had his first drug trip on December 2 8 , 1962, in an old slave-cabin in the woods outside Yellow Springs, Ohio. With my wife, Arlen, and our four small children, I had rented the cabin from Antioch College for $30 per month and had an acre of cleared land to grow food on, 30 acres of woods to seek Mystery in. Farming was only partly supporting us; I was working as Assistant Sales Manager for a microscopic business, the Antioch Bookplate Company in Yellow Springs. But we had found (we thought) a way to escape the regimented urban hive without starving to death.

Before eating the first peyote b u t t o n , the Materialist asked his supplier (a black jazz musician), "Is this stuff dangerous at all?"

"The fuck," he said. "The Indians been eating it every full m o o n for thousands of years."

"Oh, yeah, that's right," the Materialist said, remembering also Huxley's glowing description of his first trip. I quickly ate seven b u t t o n s and for the next 12 hours whirled through an unrehearsed and incoherent tour of t h e vestibule of Chapel Perilous—a most educational ana transcendental experience.

A few years later, it would have been different, of course. The Materialist would have said, "But the newspapers claim that people sometimes go crazy on this stuff and flip out for m o n t h s . "

And the Supplier would have said, " T h e newspapers also say our troops are in Vietnam to help the Vietnamese. Man, d o n ' t believe any of the crap they say."

And, being of a curious and experimental nature, I would have gone ahead anyway, but with a lot of doubt, and that could easily have turned into anxiety or outright panic. We later saw exactly that happen to others, after the press really got into gear on this story and built up the hysteria to fever-pitch.

As it was, the Materialist simply suffered the usual delusion of the first trip: he thought he was reborn. After all, back then, he had Russell Kirk and the National Review—the.

certified sages of sanctified conservatism—on his side.

When, in the following weeks, it became sadly obvious that I was not entirely reborn, and that many neurotic, depressive 22 and egotistic programs still remained in my central computer, I was somewhat disillusioned. But the trip had been 50 interesting and ecstatic . . . Like the Lady of Spain in the poem, I tried "again. And again. And again and again and again." By mid-1963,1 had logged 40 trips to inner space and it was obvious that peyote was, indeed, a magical chemical, as the Indians claim, but that one had to be a shaman to know how to use it profitably.

We d o n ' t propose to enthuse a b o u t those 40 peyote voyages in technicolor prose. There was more than enough of that kind of writing in the 1960s. In Dr. Timothy Leary's terminology, each trip involved a transmutation of consciousness from the "symbolic" and linear terrestrial circuits of the nervous system to the somatic-genetic future circuits.* The Materialist learned to experience rapture and bliss, to transcend time. In each trip, the Body was Resurrected, Osiris rose from his t o m b ; I was godly and eternal for a while. Each time, the yo-yo effect (as Dr. Richard Alpert calls it) occurred within a day or so: I came down again. The next trip brought me back up, of course, but then, once more, I came down again; up-and-down, up-and-down—the yo-yo effect. It was alternately inspiring and exasperating.

But a change in my mind (my "neurological functioning,"

Dr. Leary would say) was, slowly and subtly, beginning to happen.

The Materialist frequently had the hallucination of telepathic communication with plants, b o t h when flying on the wings of peyote and when he was straight. Hallucination was the judgment of his engineering-trained rational mind; it seemed real as all get-out each time it happened. But the Materialist knew too much to take it seriously . . . and he continued to k n o w too much until later in the '60s, when Cleve Backster's research with polygraphs produced some hard evidence that human-plant telepathy may be occurring all the time, usually outside the conscious attention of the human participant.

Several times the Materialist contacted an Energy or an Intelligence that seemed to deserve the description superhuman. It was obvious to me that I could easily, with a less skeptical cast of mind, describe these trans-time dialogues as meetings with actual gods or angels. (Quanah Parker, the great Cheyenne war-chief, who was converted to pacifism by a peyote trip and later founded the Native American Church, used to say, " T h e white man goes into his church and talks to Jesus. The Indian goes into his tipi, takes p e y o t e , and talks with Jesus.") I regarded the entities contacted as X's—unknowns—and tried, in each experiment and in reflections between experiments, to find a psychological, neurological, or even parapsychological explanation.

*Dr. Leary's circuit theories are explained in Part T w o , "Models and Metaphors."

The strangest entity I contacted in those twenty-odd m o n t h s of psychedelic explorations appeared one day after the end of a peyote trip, when I was weeding in the garden and a movement in the adjoining cornfield caught my eye. I looked over that way and saw a man with warty green skin and pointy ears, dancing. The Skeptic watched for nearly a minute, entranced, and then Greenskin faded away, "just a hallucination . . . "

But I could not forget him. Unlike the rapid metaprogramming during a peyote trip, in which you are never sure what is "real" and what is just the metaprogrammer playing games, this experience had all the qualities of waking reality, and differed only in intensity. The entity in the cornfield had been more beautiful, more charismatic, more divine than anything I could consciously imagine when using my literary talents to try to portray a deity. As the mystics of all traditions say so aggravatingly, "Those who have seen, know."

Well, I had seen, but I d i d n ' t know. I was more annoyed than enlightened.

But that was not to be my last encounter with that particular critter. Five years later, in 1968, the Skeptic read Carlos Castaneda's The Teachings of Don Juan, dealing with traditional Mexican shamanism and its use of the sacred cactus.

Castaneda, an anthropologist, saw the same green man several times, and Don Juan Matus, the shaman, said his n a m e was Mescalito. He was the spirit of the peyote plant.10 But the Materialist had seen him before he ever read a description of him. That was most perplexing to the Materialist.

A fairly plausible explanation is that Mescalito is an archetype of the collective unconscious, in the Jungian sense. He 24 has been reported by many others besides Castaneda and me, and he always has the same green warty skin and is often dancing.11

However, might we dare consider that Mescalito may be just what the shamans (who know him best) always say he is—one of the "spirits" of the vegetation? Too silly an idea for sophisticates like ourselves? Paracelsus, the founder of modern medicine, believed in such spirits and claimed frequent commerce with them. So did the German poet Goethe and the pioneer of organic agriculture, Rudolph Steiner—and the ideas of Goethe and Steiner, once rejected as t o o mystical, are currently being seriously reconsidered by many ecologists.1

Or consider Gustav Fechner, the creator of scientific psychology and psychological measurement. Fechner lost his sight and then regained it, after which he asserted that with his new vision he saw many things normal people do n o t s e e - including auras around humans and other living creatures, and vegetation spirits j u s t like Mescalito. George Washington Carver also claimed a link with spirits in the vegetation, and so did the great Luther Burbank. Thomas Edison became so convinced of their literal existence t h a t he spent many years trying to develop a photographic process t h a t would render them visible.13

Marcel Vogel (whose corporation, Vogel Luminescence, has developed the red color used in fluorescent crayons, and the psychedelic colors popular in 1960s poster art) has been studying plant consciousness and vegetative " t e l e p a t h y " for ten years now. In one experiment, Vogel and a group of psychologists tried concentrating on sexual imagery while a plant was wired up with a polygraph to reveal its electro-chemical ("emotional"?) responses to their thoughts. The plant responded with the polygraph pattern typical of excitement. Vogel speculates that talking of sex could stir up in the atmosphere some sort of sexual energy, such as the " o r g o n e " claimed by Dr. Wilhelm Reich. If this is true, the ancient fertility rites in which humans had sexual intercourse in freshly seeded fields might indeed have stimulated the fertility of the crops, and the shamans are not as naive as we like to t h i n k . 1 4 persistent signal sent by the molecular intelligence of the vegetative world. Naturally, the ability to decode such orgo-nomic or neuro-electric signals would be eagerly sought by all shamans in societies dependent on agriculture. In other words, according to this model, Mescalito is a genetic signal in our collective unconscious, but activated only w h e n certain molecular transmissions from the plant world are received.

Mescalito could be both an archetype of Jung's Collective Unconscious and an anthromorphized human translation of a 25

This shamanic kind of selective attention, or special perception, has been duplicated in the modern world by Dr. Vogel, w h o has given many demonstrations beiore audiences, in which he accurately reads vegetative signals from plants. It is no more spooky than the selective yogic trance of the average city-dweller, which allows him to walk in mindless indifference through incredible noise, filth, pandemonium, misery, neurosis, violence, psychosis, rape, burglary, injustice and exploita-tion, screening it all o u t and concentrating only on robot-repetition of his assigned role in the hive-economy. One can train oneself to receive or ignore a far wider variety of signals than the neurologically untrained realize.

A third model would be that Mescalito and all his kith and kin (the fairies and "little people," etc.) are all extraterrestrials who have been experimenting upon us for millenia. This does not necessarily mean t h a t they come here in spaceships.

Consider the following speculations:

1 . Clarke's Law (by science-fiction writer Arthur C.

Clarke): "Any sufficiently advanced technology is indistinguishable from magick."

Imagine a technology a hundred years beyond ours. A thousand years beyond ours. A million years beyond ours.

And then remember t h a t many stars, which might have planets and civilizations, are literally billions of years older than our sun. There might be races in this galaxy advanced as much as 10 billion years beyond our technology.

An old Arizona j o k e asks, "How many Apaches are hiding in this r o o m ? " The answer is, "As many as want t o . " Advanced communication technologies would be far m o r e subtle than the stalking techniques of the Apaches. If Clarke is right, even on a materialistic level, the only answer to " H o w many Advanced Civilizations are monitoring the events in this r o o m ? " must be "As many as want t o . "

2 . Wilson's Corollary to Clarke's Law (by R.A.W.): Any sufficiently advanced parapsychology is even more indistinguishable from magick.

Consider the slow advance of parapsychology, despite en-trenched opposition, during the past 70 years. Project it forward another hundred years. A thousand. A million. And imagine races in this galaxy 10 billion years ahead of us in this area.

Extraterrestrials with advanced psionic knowledge may have been experimenting on us and/or aiding our evolution and/or playing ontology games with us for millions of years, projecting any form they desire from Mescalito to the Lord God Jehovah, without ever leaving their home planets. If a salesman in West Virginia and a college student in Washington, D.C. can b o t h share the same "hallucination" of faster-than-light UFO abduction to a planet called Lanalus where everybody goes naked, then maybe there is one interstellar broadcaster of such educational dramas.

Maybe.

Did a leprechaun leave the Simonton pancakes?

The greenish-skinned, pointy-eared man I saw in 1963 has appeared in the folklore of m a n y cultures who do not even use p e y o t e . He has been seen most frequently, in recent years, as a humanoid extraterrestrial in various flying saucer reports by alleged Contactees. And, in t h e late 1960s, he began to appear regularly on TV, known as "Mr. Spock" on the Star Trek show, and has remained on the tube ever since, despite frequent network attempts to cancel the show and get rid of him. The fans always insist on bringing him back, and now in 1977, as I write, "Mr. S p o c k " is scheduled to appear either in the first Star Trek movie or a revival of the series on TV. He is an image, or as Jung would say, an " a r c h e t y p e " t h a t that cannot be erased from the human mind.

By coincidence, in his guise as Spock, this pointy-eared godling has given us a slogan that has become widely used in 27

Mescalito takes many forms in many myth-systems. Here he is as sketched from descriptions by American Indian shamans, as Peter Pan in a commercial advertisement, and as Mr. Spock on Star Trek. He is one of the most widely-reported denizens of Chapel Perilous and is known in dozens of shamanic traditions.

correspondence among Immortalists-scientists dedicated to the search for longevity and eventual physical immortality.

The slogan is, of course, "Live long and prosper." We have seen that slogan on letters from the Cryonics Society of Michigan, the Bay Area Cryonics Society, the Prometheus Society and other ImmortaUst groups. This " c o i n c i d e n c e " will appear, possibly, to be more than a coincidence when we have examined further data . . .

The Irish form of Mescalito is the leprechaun, noted for playfulness, trickery, and—oddly—for leaving behind gifts in the form of food, j u s t as the alleged " U F O n a u t " left J o e Si-m o n t o n a gift of pancakes.

It needs to be emphasized that whether we are talking of an experience involving Mescalito or one involving a kitchen chair, all of our perceptions have gone through myriads of neural processes in the brain before they appear to our consciousness. At the point of conscious recognition, the identified image is organized into a three-dimensional hologram which we project outside ourselves and call " r e a l i t y . " We are much too modest about our own creativity if we take any of these projections literally. We see the sun "going d o w n " at twilight, b u t science assures us that nothing of the sort is happening; instead, the earth is turning. We perceive an orange as really orange, whereas it is actually blue, the orange light being the light bouncing off the real fruit. And, everywhere we 28 look, we imagine solid objects, b u t science finds only a web of dancing energy.

The great and venerable Sufi sage, Mullah Nasrudin, once raced through Bagdad on his donkey, galloping as fast as the poor beast could travel. Everybody got excited and people rushed into the streets to find o u t why the philosopher was in such a great hurry.

"What are y o u looking for, Mullah?" somebody shouted.

" I ' m looking for my d o n k e y ! " Nasrudin answered.

Like most Sufi jokes this seems calculated only to annoy us, like a Marx Brothers routine that doesn't quite succeed in being funny. Actually, Nasrudin was much given (perhaps overmuch) to acting out his parables, and he was merely dramatizing the most common error of seekers after the Cosmic Secret.

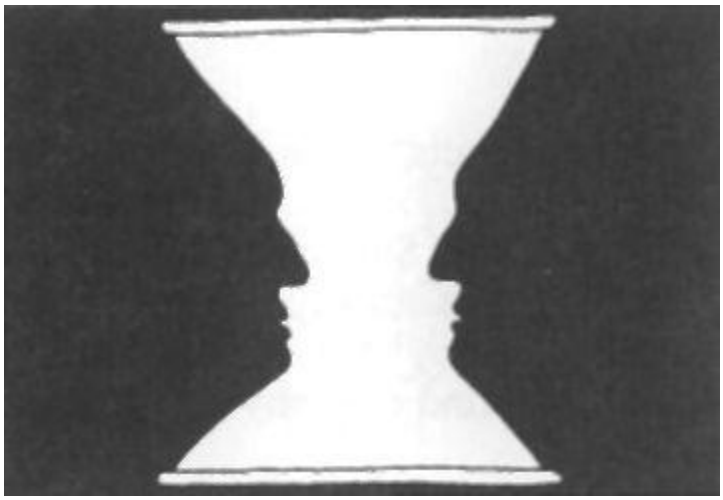
We look for the Secret—the Philosopher's Stone, the Elixir of the Wise, Supreme Enlightenment, " G o d , " or whatever the final answer might be —in all directions, north, east, south, and west, and all the time it is carrying us about. It is the human nervous system itself, the marvelous instrument through which we create order o u t of chaos, science out of ignorance, meaning out of mystery, "Mescalito" (or a chair) out of whirling energy.

Dogen Zenji, an 18th century Zen master, used to ask trainees, "Who is the Master who makes the grass green?"

Again, the answer is as close as our visual cortex.

Psychologists have performed thousands of experiments revealing the presence of " t h e Master w h o makes the grass green," which Dr. J o h n Lilly calls the metaprogrammer in the nervous system. Two actors rush into a Psychology 101 class and one makes a stabbing motion at the other, w h o falls. Almost all the students " s e e " a knife in the stabber's hand. Later, it turns out the actual implement was a banana. Apparently, the stabbing motion itself creates the knife: the nervous system " k n o w s " that nobody stabs anybody with a banana, just as it still " k n o w s " (despite 300 years of science) that the sun "goes d o w n " in the evening.

Or: a picture is flashed on a screen for one second. It shows a white man struggling with a black man, and the white man is wielding a razor. Again, the nervous system " k n o w s "



You can see this at least two ways. Our inability to see the world more than one way normally is due to cultural conditioning—according to modern behavioral scientists—or to the fact that we are all asleep, according to the mystics.

what it is programmed to see. The majority of students, even those w h o will swear until blue in the face that they are not racists, will see the razor in the black man's hand: our national stereotype. And we still see the orange as orange, even though we know it isn't.

Of course, we all realize that other people are frequently inclined to what Freud called "projection"—seeing what they expect to see. That our own experience of reality might be equally self-created—that, as Nietzsche said, "We are all greater artists than we realize"—is hard to believe, and even harder to remember moment-by-moment, even after we have had enough experience to believe it.

Learning to remember the invisible donkey w h o carries us about—the self-programmer—is the first step in awakening from conditioned, mechanical consciousness to true, objective consciousness. Whether or n o t there are fairies, elves and extraterrestrials hiding behind every bush, awakening reveals that the universe is full of invisible intelligence. It is very hard for us to learn to contact that intelligence w i t h o u t clothing it i n projected humanoid forms . . .

* * *

In early stages of work on consciousness, the Master Who Makes The Grass Green (the Metaprogrammer) insists on 30 converting everything into humanoid Gestalts. That's because, at that level, it is still a human chauvinist.

The Kennedy Assassination and the Net

While I was conducting peyote research in Yellow Springs, Ohio, weirder business was afoot in New Orleans, Louisiana.

Two young men w h o had served in the Marines together were

"coincidentally" living in The Quarter, a few blocks apart, without meeting again. The more famous of the two was named Lee Harvey Oswald and, during the summer of 1963, while I was having my first encounters with the leprechauns, Mr. Oswald ordered a Carcano rifle through the mail. What Oswald did with that rifle is still a matter of much controversy and endless conspiracy-mongering. The other young man was named Kerry Thornley and was in the process of creating a new religion called Discordianism, which later became a central theme in the novels and plays collectively called Illuminatus. How all that happened is the oddest part of our whole narrative.

Later that fall, Oswald's wife separated from him and went to live with Mrs. Ruth Payne in Fort Worth. Mrs. Payne was the sister of my family doctor.

When this connection came to light, after the enigmatic events in Dealy Plaza on November 22, the Materialist regarded it as an amusing coincidence. I h a d n ' t gotten heavily enough into Jung y e t to call it "synchronicity."

(As for Kerry Thornley, I didn't meet him until 1967, whereupon I embraced Thornley's religion of Discordianism, and also became a close friend. And then some conspiracy buffs announced that Thornley was part of the Kennedy assassination team—that he was, in fact, the "second Oswald."

A "second Oswald" theory was suggested by Prof. Popkin in the book called The Second Oswald. But we'll come to t h a t later.)

It was also in 1963 that Alan Watts, Zen philosopher-clown, came through southern Ohio, to visit his sister in 31

»

Dayton, and visited our farm. Jano (Mrs. Watts) was with him, and it was probably at t h a t time that she first used her term, " t h e Net," in my hearing. The Net, according to J a n o , is a web of coincidence (or synchronicity) which connects everything-in-the-universe with everything-else-in-the-universe.

For instance, I originally introduced Alan Watts to J a n o , around 1960. Their relationship became his last, longest and happiest marriage. And Alan's middle name was Wilson, which y o u may have noticed is my last name.

Many other scientists have agreed with Carl Jung's opinion that the number of startling coincidences in " t h e N e t " increases sharply around anybody who becomes involved in depth psychology or in any investigation t h a t extends the perimeter of consciousness.* Arthur Koestler has written about this at length, in b o t h The Roots of Coincidence and The Challenge of Chance.15 Dr. J o h n Lilly has whimsically suggested that consciousness research activates the agents of "Cosmic Coincidence Control Center." Let us hope he is joking.

In New Orleans, Oswald and Thornley went a b o u t their different lives, and in Ohio the Narrator went a b o u t his, and the Net was gradually drawing us all into what, in Illuminatus, we have called Operation Mindfuck.

When J o h n Fitzgerald Kennedy was blown apart by Oswald and/or persons u n k n o w n , something died in t h e American psyche, as Jules Feiffer among others has noticed.

Kennedy was not a universally beloved President, of c o u r s e - nobody ever has been, n o t even Washington—but he was young (or youngish), handsome, cultured, brave (everybody knows the PT-109 story) and virile. There was a c o m m o t i o n of primitive terrors loosed upon t h e national psyche by t h e Dealy Plaza bullets; Camelot died; the Divine King had been sacrificed; we were caught suddenly in the midst of a Frazer-Freud re-enactment of archetypal anthropological ritual.

The national psyche veered dizzily toward Chapel Perilous.

The first conspiracy surfaced, if memory is accurate, in the National Guardian, a left-wing newspaper, only weeks

*Seemingly. Maybe such people merely become more aware of the coincidences in the Net. Since synchronicity is meaningful coincidence, and meaning is subjective, this may be a question objective science can't answer.

after the assassination. The Skeptic read it with interest, and it did not convince me.

When the Warren Report came out finally, the Skeptic also studied that with some care. It also did not convince me.

In fact, I was often amazed t h a t so many people did have so many strong opinions on the subject. I began to understand why the Sufis are always attacking "opinions." Everybody nowadays thinks they must have an " o p i n i o n " on everything, whether they know anything about it or n o t . Unfortunately, few people k n o w the difference between an opinion and a proof. Worse y e t , most have no knowledge at all about the difference in degree between a merely legal proof, a logical or verbal proof, a proof in the soft sciences like psychology, and a proof in the hard physical-mathematical sciences. They are full of opinions, but they have little ability to distinguish the relative degree of proof upholding all these various opinions.

We say "seeing is believing," but actually, as Santayana pointed out, we are all much better at believing than at seeing. In fact, we are seeing what we believe nearly all the time and only occasionally seeing what we can't believe.

A visit to Millbrook

The next link in the Net was a meeting with Dr. Timothy Leary, the man w h o either brainwashed a whole generation with mind-warping drugs (opinion of his enemies) or discovered how to free the mind of humanity from culturally conditioned limitations (opinion of his friends).

I m e t Leary through Ralph Ginzburg, w h o in 1964 offered me a j o b as Associate Editor of Fact magazine. Although I was in love with our little Ohio farm, and my children protested bitterly against going back to New York, Ralph dangled a tempting $8,000 per year, and between the farm and a j o b in town I was never making more than about $4,500. I bought some polite city clothes, gave away my last peyote buttons, and returned to the urban hive. The Shaman redomesticated 3 3 himself, so to speak.

I wanted to interview the controversial Dr. Leary for Fact, but Ralph, with that strange prescience which marks his career, said that the psychedelic drug excitement was all over (1964) and n o b o d y was interested any more (1964) and T i m o t h y Leary would soon be forgotten (1964). Still, I wanted to meet Dr. Leary. l finally finagled a free-lance assignment from Paul Krassner of The Realist and made the journey (soon to be repeated by countless psychologists, cler-gymen, rock stars, Oriental gurus and young seekers-after-Wonder) up the Hudson to the Millbrook Ashram.

This was still early on in the history of what Charles Slack later called " t h e Madness of the Sixties." T i m o t h y Leary, although already an arch-heretic fired from Harvard for original research and poor usage of the First Amendment, was not yet into his Oriental trip; he was studying t h e Tibetan Book of the Dead that summer, but he was otherwise still heavy into Scientific Clinical Psychology. Not once during the day the Reporter spent with Dr. Leary did Tim say "when I used to be a psychologist," as he was occasionally given to saying later on in the frantic '60s.

So many accounts have been written of the Millbrook Ashram that we w o n ' t go into all the incredible details. There was a black guy standing on the roof of the Main Building, playing beautiful jazz trumpet all by himself, as we drove u p , and the famous psychedelic collages were hanging on walls in virtually every room, b u t by and large it was much like any place where scholars hold learned seminars. If G. G o r d o n Liddy was already hiding in t h e bushes, peeking through his binoculars for Sex Orgies and other heinous crimes, he must have been very bored that particular day.

Tim seemed, on first meeting, a typical middle-aged academic type, although more athletic than most. We mention this because he looked m u c h younger in later years. When we discuss metaprogramming theory later, and Paul Segall's investigations of amino acids related to psychedelics and aging, we will find some evidence that Dr. Leary's youthful image may have a biochemical explanation.

Besides being an athletic young-middle-aged man, Tim was singularly free of the space-time compulsions of normal 34

Americans. He sometimes stands as close as a Mexican when he talks to y o u , and he is apt to look straight at y o u without the usual American eye-shifting. If this makes y o u nervous, he backs off and allows you to relax; b u t , basically, he is most comfortable himself within the intimate relationship. And, of course, the famous Leary grin was already part of him.

"The best results come when y o u fuck someone you really love, during the acid t r i p , " he said t h a t day. "That's when the nervous system is most open, mosi unconditioned, and ready to take a completely new i m p r i n t . "

Tim was delighted t h a t the Reporter understood enough psychology to translate terms like "zero-sum g a m e , " "reinforcement," "transaction," etc., and he was especially pleased t h a t , unlike any other interviewer he had ever met, this Reporter was familiar with his book Interpersonal Diagnosis of Personality, a*<d wanted to question him a b o u t how the space-time transformations of the psychedelic voyage correlate with his space-time definitions of personality types in t h a t work.

"LSD takes y o u out of the normal space-time ego," he said concisely. "I always go through a process in which the space game comes to an end, the time game comes to an end, and then the Timothy Leary game comes to an end. This is the peak, and at this point a new neurological imprint can be made, because all the old imprints are suspended for a while t h e n . "

The Reporter asked about the impression that he had encountered on peyote and others had encountered on LSD, that one is actually out of the body at that crucial moment.

"Until I can design an experiment to really test that one o u t , " T i m o t h y said, "I j u s t d o n ' t know. It's merely subjective at this p o i n t . "

Indeed, the Reporter's most persistent impression throughout the day was that Timothy Leary was a man who hated, loathed and despised anyone who would commit t h e epistemological sin of "speculating beyond the d a t a . " Every question asked him was answered either with a summary of experimental results or with a promise that he hoped to find a way to check it experimentally as the work proceeded.

Leary emphasized, as he did to all reporters, t h a t the psychedelic drug experience is a synergetic p r o d u c t of three non-35 additive factors: (1) the dosage of the chemical used; (2) the set— the subject's expectations, emotional status games, personality profile, etc.; and (3) the setting— the actual events in space-time. This Reporter understood him perfectly and quoted him accurately; we have often wondered why other reporters understood him so poorly and misquoted him so outrageously. The synergetic theory of "dosage, set and sett i n g " may be Dr. Leary's outstanding contribution to the science of psycho-pharmacology (we will talk later about his contributions to other sciences), but journalists in general understood him about as well as one who might write t h a t Einstein discovered e = something-or-other.

Mostly, we talked about game theory t h a t day. Timothy h a d , indeed, been playing baseball on the Millbrook lawn when we arrived, and baseball thereupon haunted o u r conversation on the metaphoric level. He had thrown o u t the concepts of "psychologist" and " p a t i e n t " back in ' 5 7 , replacing them with "research t e a m , " because he was convinced that the hierarchy implied in "psychologist" (top dog) and "pa-t i e n t " (bottom dog) predetermined certain conclusions. Now he wanted to examine all interpersonal relations in terms of the Morgenstern-von Neumann game model.

(According to economist Oscar Morgenstern and mathematician J o h n von Neumann, in their epochal Theory of Games and Economic Behavior, most human transactions can be analyzed mathematically by treating them as if they were games. Leary had written his Ph.D. on group therapy—at a time when one of his faculty advisors indignantly told him,

"Young man, group therapy is a contradiction in terms!"— and had analyzed personality as a group process defined by rules of interpersonal politics; more simply, he refers to these stereotyped group processes of reality-definition as games.)

"What are the players actually doing in space-time?"

Leary asked rhetorically t h a t day. "Who's at bat? Who's pitch-ing? What are the rules of the game? How many strikes before y o u ' r e out? Who makes the rules? Who can change the rules?

These are the important questions. Anybody around here caught talking a b o u t 'sickness' or 'neurosis' or 'ego' or 'in-stinct' or 'maturity' or any of that metaphysical jabberwocky gets thrown the hell o u t . "

Leary went on to reject virtually all psychological terminology as pre-scientific and vague. "We've got a contract among ourselves," he said, " t h a t we're going to talk sense, and that means specifying where the bodies are in space-time and what sort of signals they're exchanging."

This was the basic methodological position of post-Einstein physics b u t Leary was carrying it as far as it could be taken. Nobody was " s a n e " or "insane," " r i g h t " or " w r o n g , "

"hallucinating" or "not-hallucinating"; all those words were value-judgments, relative to the observer's prejudices. What was happening in interpersonal relations, described objectively and relativistically, was various parties or coalitions bargaining for control of neuro-muscular space (ethnological territory) or the right to define the game for all other players (ideological territory).

Leary's arch-rival at Harvard, Dr. B.F. Skinner, had been a pioneer of the Behaviorist approach, which rejected the intuitive and poetic psychologies of Freudians and Jungians as unscientific. While Leary agreed with this, he felt that Skinner himself had taken an equally wrong turn, using as model the push-pull (action-reaction) mechanisms of Newtonian physics.

"Psychology doesn't become scientific by copying the physics of past centuries," Leary said to me. "We've got to learn to use the best models in the physics of this c e n t u r y . " Such models, he felt, would be relativistic, describing differing reality-coordinates experienced by different bodies as they exchanged signals in space-time.

So many people were bemused or bewildered by Leary the Guru in the n e x t few years that this background of his work was never fully understood.

During the prisoner rehabilitation project of 1 9 6 1 - 6 2 , for which Dr. Leary was commended by t h e Massachusetts Department of Corrections, Timothy refused to let any co-workers speculate on whether their cons were getting "sicker" or " b e t t e r . " "Where are their bodies in space-time? What signals are they exchanging?" he would ask again and again. He had developed a seven-dimensional game model and insisted on analyzing all behavior in terms of the (1) roles being played; (2) rules tacitly accepted by all players; (3) strategies for winning (or for masochistic winning-by-losing); (4) goals of the 37 game, purpose served; (5) language of the game, and the semantic world-view implied; (6) characteristic space-time locations, and (7) characteristic movements in space-time.

"If you can't describe those seven dimensions of a group's behavior, y o u d o n ' t understand their game," Leary told the Reporter. "Most so-called 'neurosis' is best analyzed as somebody programmed to play football wandering around in a baseball field. If he thinks football is the only game in the universe, the other players will seem perverse or crazy to him; if they think baseball is the only game, he'll seem crazy t o t h e m . "

The Tibetan Book of the Dead, Leary added, was " t h e manual for one type of consciousness-altering g a m e . " It was useful for LSD-reprogramming sessions because LSD "suspends imprinted neurological games" and allows us to "imprint new games."

(Roubecek, a Czechoslovakian psychiatrist, had proposed in 1957 that "LSD suspends conditioned reflexes." Leary was the first to suggest t h a t LSD acts below the conditioning level and directly changes basic imprints, i.e., neurogenetic limits usually not changed by either conditioning or counter-conditioning.)

"You're really talking about using these drugs to change the whole personality," the Reporter said at one p o i n t . "Ego and mind and emotions and a l l . . ."

" Y e s , " Tim said. "That's the whole point. LSD with the right set and setting can change anything we consider ourselves. Therefore, it's the most potent brainwashing agent in the world. That's what my Two Commandments are all about."

Leary's "Two Commandments for the Neurological Age," published in several of his books and articles of the '60s, are:

" 1 . Thou shalt n o t alter the consciousness of thy neighbor without his or her consent.

" 2 . Thou shalt not prevent thy neighbor from altering his or her own consciousness."

Leary wanted psychedelics regulated and controlled by medical and psychological clinicians, according to a professional code of ethics which would protect the subjects. (In fact, he didn't even like the word "subjects," and preferred, in egalitarian fashion, to call the trippers in each experiment "research associates.") He was convinced that the drugs would be abused and misused if control were placed in the hands of the government. Some of the recent revelations about C.I.A.

research dramatize what Leary fears.

An ideal re-imprinting clinic, as Leary visualized it, would work like this. Assume y o u have a personality problem t h a t you want to change. Maybe you're a foot fetishist, or you drink too m u c h , or y o u feel you can't learn mathematics, or you're incompetent with tools, or whatever. You go to the clinic and discuss the problem with a Behavior Change expert.

S/He explains the theory behind psychedelic imprinting and gives you a batch of literature, clearly stating the pros and cons of the theory (i.e., including articles by those who claim it doesn't work or is t o o dangerous). You think it over for a week. If y o u decide the theory looks good, y o u make another appointment and, if the staff has decided y o u are a safe subject (not pre-psychotic or otherwise vulnerable), the program for the trip is worked out jointly between y o u and the Behavior Change expert assigned to y o u r treatment. The program will probably include music and ritual—but may be as simple as just relaxing y o u r tense muscles one by one. At the peak, the imprint is made. You emerge with a new reality: what was invisible or impossible before is now part of y o u r self and your perceptual field.

Leary used this technique with the prisoners in the convict rehabilitation project and claims to have cut the recidivism (new crime) rate by 80 per c e n t . 1 6 Leary had defined success or failure in terms of where the bodies were in space-time two years after release from prison. At t h a t time, he noted gladly, over 80% of them were still outside prison, whereas the majority of released convicts are back inside prison within two years. Dr. Walter Huston Clark, in 1976, noted that the bodies of most of Leary's convicts known to him were still outside prison in space-time after 15 y e a r s . 1 7

Dr. Richard Alpert used the same methodology to treat a compulsive homosexual who wished to become capable of sexual relations with women. Three sessions only were required—one of them spent in creating the program in collaboration with the patient. Two LSD trips with (a) pornography and (b) a female sex therapist imprinted the new reality; the 39 man became mostly heterosexual. No Behavior Modifier working without LSD has claimed such a transformation in less than several m o n t h s of conditioning.18

Please note, one more time, t h a t Dr. Leary never claimed such outstanding results could be obtained w i t h o u t t h e proper set, the proper setting, and full cooperation and communication between the person seeking Behavior Change and the clinician(s) on the case. Within these parameters, and guided by his "Two C o m m a n d m e n t s , " he claimed highly beneficial results could be obtained. He specifically warned t h a t ignoring these parameters was a kind of mind-rape which could be severely traumatic to t h e subject, being experienced as both coercive and terrifying.

"The most important rule," he told the Reporter vigorously, "is that the tripper decides what behavior change is desired. Nobody else has the right to decide for h i m . "

That day in 1964,1 found this Einsteinian and anarchistic variation on Skinner's 1984-ish Behavior Mod b o t h exciting and hopeful. I decided t h a t Dr. Leary would definitely need to be watched; here was a man, I said to myself, who will do important work in the next ten years. I had no intuition at all that Dr. Leary would actually spend four of those years fighting to stay out of jail and the other six struggling to get out of jail.

The Queen of Space

A few weeks after my meeting with Dr. Leary at Millbrook, my family had our first UFO experience. Post hoc, ergo propter hoc?

We were living in northern New Jersey (and I was com-muting daily to my j o b at Fact magazine). Our house was at the b o t t o m of a hill and one Saturday morning, while I was h o m e , the kids came running in to tell me t h a t a flying saucer had just landed up near the t o p of the hill. I went to the back yard to find a neighboring family equally excited.

Altogether, six adults (the Author and his wife plus four 4 0 from the neighboring clan, which was Appalachian and huge), together with seven children (ours and theirs), had seen what looked like a silvery, saucer-shaped craft landing. Everybody was taking turns looking at the landing site through a pair of binoculars. When it was my turn, I saw what looked like a Bucky Fuller geodesic dome (where none had been before), and no human (or humanoid) figures. Others saw a more saucer-shaped craft and some saw humanoids in silvery costumes.

Then " i t " (whatever it was) took off. (It definitely was not a geodesic dome.) Watching it take off, I decided it was probably only a helicopter.

That afternoon, my son, Graham, encountered an "extraterrestrial" in the woods behind our house, at the foot of the hill. She was a female, with silvery skin, and she told Graham (he was five at the time) t h a t he should become a physicist when he grew up.

Prof. Jacques Vallee, who has analyzed all such Contact stories that have occurred since 1890 with a computer to find statistical patterns, informs us t h a t this is drearily typical. The majority of child contactees, Vallee has discovered, report female extraterrestrials. (The majority of adults report males, in two standard types—small green men or giant blue men.) In fact, Dr. Vallee has found 44 parallels (similarities of image, word and detail) between the average experience of child Contactees and the miracles attributed to the Blessed Virgin Mary in Catholic c o u n t r i e s . 1 9 "The UFO and the BVM," he has said, only half jokingly, "seem to be the same p h e n o m e n o n . " The Lady most often appears to children, whether She comes in a "space s h i p " or "from Heaven"; She is accompanied by flashing white lights, usually; and, at Her best, She is capable of suspending the laws of physics in clear view (or telepathically shared hallucination) of huge crowds.

I have asked Graham, who is now studying to be a physicist in accord with the Lady's urging, to retell the tale again, to check the accuracy of my memory. Graham especially emphasized the odd silvery costumes of the humanoid figures seen on the mountain before the Lady appeared. An old friend, Marilyn Pooler, of Las Vegas, w h o was living in that part of New Jersey at that time in 1964, "coincidentally" arrived to visit us in Berkeley two days after the above account was written. Quite spontaneously, with no knowledge of Graham's experience, she told of two seeming extraterrestrials she had seen, about the same time in 1964 —late summer—ap-proximately 30 miles from our h o m e . She is one of the many Contactees who suffered amnesia and can recall only seeing the critters without further details. Twenty minutes later, she awakened as if from trance, and they were gone. Both wore silver uniforms.

Catholics now call the BVM " O u r Lady of Space." She is, of course, another archetype from Jung's collective unconscious, and was around long before Christianity. The Egyptians called her Nuit and connected her specifically with the star Sirius. But depictions of her go back at least to cave statues dated c. 30,000 B.C. Robert Graves, in his famous (and highly controversial) The White Goddess, tried to prove that worship of Her was h u m a n i t y ' s oldest religion, and originally involved the use of the psychedelic mushroom, Amanita muscaria.

American Indian shamans knew her, too, and call her Peyote Woman. She is the female version of Mescalito.

She also appears, amusingly enough, in The Wizard of Oz, as the Bubble Witch. In the film of that novel, each of her appearances begins with a bright silvery globe descending from the sky, after which She appears where the globe lands.

This is the way child Contactees generally report Her, according to Vallee, and the silvery globe was also around in some of Her miracles, under the guise of the B.V.M., at Lourdes and Fatima.

In one of Her miracles at Fatima, She caused the sun to plunge directly toward Earth, in the shared experience or hallucination of over 100,000 witnesses. If y o u believe the sun really did plunge toward the Earth you are naive (in my estimation). But if y o u accept t h a t 100,000 persons can telepathically share the same hallucination, you must then answer the Big Question (or perhaps I should call it the Wig Question): how much of consensus-reality is similarly created?

4 2

The 23 Enigma

I spent five years (1966-71) as an Associate Editor at Playboy. You all want to k n o w , of course, does Hef really fuck all the Playmates, and is he really homosexual? (These are the two most common legends about the Playboy of the Western World.) We have no real inside information—but our impression is t h a t Hef has made love to a lot of the Playmates, though by no means all of them, and t h a t he is not homosexual.

Sorry.

My j o b was editing the letters in the "Playboy F o r u m , " and also writing the italicized replies in which the Playboy position was stated. This position is straight old-fashioned mind-your-own-business J o h n Stuart Mill libertarianism, and (since that is my philosophy as well as Hefner's) I enjoyed the work immensely.

More important to our narrative, William S. Burroughs introduced me to the 23 Enigma while I was at Playboy.

I had said, on first seeing the unpublished manuscript of Naked Lunch in 1956, "This man is the greatest prose stylist since James J o y c e . " (I am still rather proud of being the first to make that comparison.) I d i d n ' t meet Burroughs until around 1966, and found Bill a much m o r e charming and ordinary individual than his books suggest—one had been prepared for a mad genius and found instead a rather prosaic, almost academic, quite gentlemanly genius. Here's his story of the 23 mystery:

In the early '60s in Tangier, Burroughs knew a certain Captain Clark w h o ran a ferry from Tangier to Spain. One day, Clark said to Burroughs t h a t he'd been running the ferry 23 years w i t h o u t an accident. That very day, the ferry sank, killing Clark and everybody aboard.

In the evening, Burroughs was thinking about this when he turned on the radio. The first newscast told about t h e crash of an Eastern Airlines plane on t h e New York-Miami route. The pilot was another Captain Clark and the flight was listed as Flight 23.

(Aha! Now y o u understand the line, "Captain Clark wel-comes you aboard," which appears, always with sinister over-tones, in various of Burroughs' surrealistic novels.) Burroughs began keeping records of odd coincidences.

4 3

To his astonishment, 23s appeared in a lot of them. When he told me about this, I began keeping my own records—and 23s appeared in many of them. (Readers of Koestler's Challenge of Chance will find t h a t there are a great many 23s in that encyclopedia of odd coincidences also.)

This, of course, illustrates Jano Watts' concept of " T h e Net"—the lines of coincidence-synchronicity t h a t connect everything-with-everything. It is also an analogy (and maybe more than an analogy) with what physicists call QUIP—the Quantum Inseparability Principle. QUIP, which is accepted by some and denied by other physicists, holds t h a t every particle does affect every other particle, everywhere.

A plausible extension is given by Dr. Fritjof Capra, a young Berkeley physicist w h o experienced quantum inseparability during an altered state of consciousness. In The Tao of Physics, Dr. Capra defends the "Bootstrap T h e o r y , " which holds, in effect, that everything is the cause of everything, every which way in t i m e . 2 0

Quantum inseparability and the Bootstrap Theory are differing ontological flavors of what are called "non-local" models in modern physics. Non-local models are n o t limited by Einstein's speed-of-light barrier; they allow, for instance, that the future may determine the present as much as the past does, as in the famous limerick,

There was a young lady named Bright

Whose speed was much faster than light;

She departed one day

In a relative way

And returned on the previous night.

The latest convert to the non-local or non-chronological model is the famous astronomer-cosmologist Sir Fred Hoyle, who explicitly advocates a non-local trans-time theory of causality in his latest book, Ten Faces of the Universe.21

Non-local theories, like Jung's synchronicity, take us out of the Newtonian action-reaction machine and bring us eerily close to the logic of / Ching and Taoism, in which the seemingly random tossing of three coins may reveal an archetypal pattern of both personal and cosmological significance.

With t h a t kind of rationale (or rationalization) I accepted the 44

23 enigma as a signal that I should a t t e m p t to decipher.

After a while my passion for jotting down every significant 23 that came my way began to annoy my Beautiful Red-Headed Wife, Arlen.

" I t ' s all in y o u r m i n d , " she told me on several occasions.

"You're just noticing the 23s and ignoring other numbers."

Of course. But she was annoyed by being implicated in the 23 mystery even before she met me. Our two oldest daughters (by her previous marriage) were born on February 23 and August 23 respectively.

Once t h e Numerologist went to see the Academy Award film, Charly, with a friend who was particularly dubious about this 23 obsession. The story of the film concerns a low-grade moron (IQ around 70) w h o is transformed by neuro-surgery into a superhuman genius (IQ 200+). In the crucial operation scene, the number on the operating room is visible, and it is, of course, 2 3 . The friend sat bolt upright.

"Jesus H. Particular Christ," the friend said hollowly,

"How d o you d o i t ? "

Most of the 23 data were incorporated into Illuminatus, to which the reader is referred. Here are a few examples:

"Mad Dog" Coll was shot on 23rd Street when he was 23 years old; a year later, Dutch Schultz (who paid for the Coll assassination) was himself fatally shot on October 2 3 , 1935. Marty Krompier, king of the Harlem numbers racket, was non-fatally shot on the same October 2 3 , 1935. ("It's got to be one of them coincidences," he told police.) Schultz's killer, Charlie Workman, served 23 years of a life sentence and was then paroled.

When the d o n k e y metaprogrammer has noticed a few oddities of this sort, the key signal becomes prominent everywhere. I soon noticed the 23 axioms that open Euclid's Geometry; the fact t h a t the mad bomber in the film, A irport, has Seat 2 3 ; t h a t in the old stage productions of A Tale of Two Cities, Sydney Carton is the 23rd man guillotined in the gory climax (some lexicographers believe this is the origin of the inscrutable slang expression " 2 3 S k i d d o o ! ") ; 2 3 , in telegrapher's code, means " b u s t " or "break the l i n e , " while Hexagram 23 in the / Ching means "Break A p a r t . " I was even thrilled by noting t h a t in conception Mom and Dad each 45 contribute 23 chromosomes to the fertilized egg, while within the DNA coil of genetic metaprogramming instructions there are unexplained bonding irregularities every 23rd angstrom.

The 23 enigma and its recurrence in the story of Dutch Schulz's death was reported by the author in Illminatus.

Aleister Crowley's Cabalistic Dictionary later excited weird speculations about 23 perhaps being somehow involved with reproduction by defining 23 as the number of "parting, remo-val, separation," " j o y , " "a t h r e a d , " and "life."

Run the following, from Professor Hans Seisel of the University of Chicago, through y o u r most skeptical filter: My grandparents on my mother's side lived in Gablonz, Mozartstrasse 23; we lived in Vienna at Rossaurelaende 23; our law office at Gonzaga-gasse 23; my mother at Alserstrasse 23, tuer (apartment) 23, and so it w e n t . . .

Professor Seisel's mother, while visiting Monte Carlo, purchased a book, Ilya Ehrenburg's Die Liebe derJeannie Ney, in which the heroine wins a great deal betting on number 23 at roulette. She decided to experiment; 23 came up on the second t r y . 2 2

This is archetypical. We shall see, as we advance, t h a t the peculiar entities in charge of Dr. J o h n Lilly's hypothetical Cosmic Coincidence Control Center pay special attention to those w h o pay attention to them.

Meanwhile the Numerologist had a new rationalization for his obsession: the famous story of h o w Dr. James Watson, coming down a spiral staircase at Oxford, suddenly flashed intuitively on the spiral shape of the DNA. All the micro-photographic evidence at t h a t time seemed to contradict his theory, but Watson irrationally trusted his intuition and kept working on that model. Eventually he won the Nobel Prize for proving that the DNA is a double helix (two spirals inter-woven). 23 was my spiral staircase, my intuitive signal.

The heresy h u n t begins

One day in 1966, Tim Leary popped into t h e Playboy office and the Numerologist and the Mad Scientist lunched 47 together. I had recently found quite a few references to

" L e a r y " and " L S D " in Finnegans Wake and asked Tim what he thought of that. He replied that Leary is a c o m m o n Irish name and LSD in Ireland means "pounds, shillings, p e n c e . "

Then we got into serious rapping and talked a b o u t LSD in cancer research. Tim was very excited and hopeful about various successful applications of LSD in treating terminal cancer patients.

The Numerologist mentioned a TV show a b o u t the Spring Grove research on LSD and alcoholism. "Did y o u notice Dr. Unger hugging that one tripper?" Tim asked. " T h a t ' s the sign that he's been to Millbrook. Any therapist who hugs an LSD tripper has studied with u s . " He seemed to regard this as at least as important as any of his theoretical-methodological contributions to psycho-pharmacology. Actually, the taboo against touching the lowly patient was breaking down in psychotherapy generally throughout the '60s; but T i m o t h y , typically, was more enthusiastic and exuberant about it than anyone else.

A few nights later, the Playboy Editor ran into Tim again, at Hefner's wild jet-set mansion. Tim was boozing it up and had his eyes on a Bunny he obviously intended to prong as soon as possible, so the Editor had no lengthy conversation with him.

* * *

Of course, the Vietnam war had begun to heat up by this time, and the government's insistence on lying about everything connected with the war had begun to erode the social fabric of the U.S. Systematic lying creates what communications scientists call a "disinformation situation," in which everybody eventually begins to distrust, demonize and diabol-ize everybody else.

Paul Watzlavik, among others, has performed classic experiments in which totally sane people will begin to behave with all the irrationality of hospitalized paranoids or schizophrenics—just because they have been lied to in a calculated and systematic way. This sort of "disinformation" matrix is so typical of many aspects of our society (e.g., advertising and organized religion, as well as government) t h a t some psychia-48 trists, such as R.D. Laing, claim it is the principal cause of psychotic breakdowns. When the politics of lying becomes normal, paranoia and alienation become the " n o r m a l i t y " of the day. The government, as the principal liar of the 1960s, was, of course, m o r e deluded than anyone else, since its reality-map had become a classic disinformation system. The establishment began looking around for the villains to blame for the escalating social disintegration. Tim Leary got elected, by unanimous acclaim, Villain # 1 .

The "war on d r u g s " - i . e . , a war on research-began. That is to say, it was called a war on drugs, b u t the total effect of all the hysteria and witch-hunting was that the number of drug users steadily escalated each year, especially among the young, the ignorant and the ill-prepared, with predictably un-inspiring results. The only experiments that were stopped were those by intelligent scientists w h o were beginning to learn something new about the nervous system when they were ordered to desist. Ironically but typically, Dr. Leary, who had warned about all this in his Senate testimony in 1966, was blamed for it by the same government t h a t caused it to happen.

Here's some of Dr. Leary's 1966 Senate testimony: Senator Edward Kennedy: You feel that there ought to be control over at least importation?

Dr. Leary: The sale, manufacture or distribution, yes.

Kennedy: ... You have testified. Now why do you think they should be?

Leary: I feel that activity, particularly commercial activities involving the manufacture, sale and distribution of these substances should be controlled because you do not know about quality, you do not know about safety, you do not know what you are buying. Obviously you have to have laws, just as you have laws about the amphetamines...

Kennedy: You said you do not know about the quality. What is it about the quality that you are frightened about?

Leary: We do not want amateur or black market sale or distribution of LSD.

Kennedy: Why not?

Leary: Or the barbiturates or liquor. When you buy a bottle of liquor—

Kennedy: This is not responsive. As to LSD . . . why do you not want the indiscriminate manufacture and distribution? Is it because it is dangerous?

Leary: Because you do not know what you are getting.

Kennedy: Is it because it is dangerous?23

And so on. Leary continually tried to point o u t t h e horrible black market that would be created by across-the-board criminalization of LSD, and Kennedy continually heckled him and tried to trip him into an "incriminating" admission. The government went ahead and illegalized LSD research. The black market sprang up on a nationwide scale almost immediately. Nobody knew what they were buying, and bad trips multiplied horrendously, especially among those w h o had the bad fortune to be arrested during the moments of imprint vulnerability, in which case they quite naturally imprinted help-lessness, terror and paranoia. The same results were obtained in the C.I.A.'s clandestine experiments, in which the subjects did not know what was being done to them. Those w h o began to suspect, correctly, t h a t they were being experimented u p o n by persons who were lying to them also imprinted paranoia. All of this could have been prevented if Leary's work on set, setting and dosage had been correctly understood.

Alas, Leary's ideas never did get across in the mass media. There, he was portrayed as a madman who wanted everybody to take LSD and, later, as the Criminal Genius behind the black market which he had tried so hard to prevent.

Nor was it ever publicized that in Leary's research with LSD there had been exactly zero bad trips, zero psychotic breaks, zero suicides.

Multiple realities

One of the writers in the Playboy promotion d e p a r t m e n t was taking a trip every weekend, on something his black 5 0 market dealer told him was LSD. (Real LSD was illegal by then.) One day, this writer, whom we shall call Joseph K., told me that he had received telepathic messages from outer space on several of his recent trips. The Materialist did n o t perfectly hide his instant skepticism, and Joseph K. clammed up immediately. We never heard another word from him on t h a t subject, and he later quit Playboy and went off to try to write in Hollywood.

At the time, I had put "all that mystical s t u f f behind me and was playing the game of urbane, sophisticated, successful Playboy Editor. Weirdness was something that, like poverty, only happened to other people. I was targeted directly at Hedonic Gratification, mostly due to a new drug that had entered my life, the seductive lady known as Maria Juana, goddess of sex, rapture and doing-your-own-thing.

By the time of the Democratic Convention Horrors of 1968, the Materialist was smoking pot fairly regularly—like everybody else in Playboy's editorial department, and at every other magazine we knew, and throughout the communications industry.

One night t h e Hedonic Materialist was happily spaced out on the weed and alone at home—the kids were asleep and Arlen (paradoxical for a Playboy editor's wife) was out at a Women's Liberation meeting. I abruptly made a neurological discovery. Most of the phenomena of self-hypnosis are quite easily replicable on grass, without the tedious training involved in ordinary hypnosis. Instead of being an unplanned voyage into unexpected sensory thrills, p o t became a deliberate program of sensory enrichment. One could turn music into colors, into caresses, into tastes; one could grow to gigantic size, or shrink down inside one's own cells and molecules; one could tune one's nervous system like a combination microscope-TV set.

Several extraordinary months of experiment soon revealed t h a t one could do much of this w i t h o u t pot (although it remained easier with pot, of course), and the shaken Materialist began at long last to understand what Freud meant by projection and Buddha by maya. It became clear as vodka t h a t whatever " r e a l i t y " means philosophically, our everyday experience (the common-sense definition of "reality") is 51 almost entirely self-programmed. This cinematic editing occurs so rapidly that we are normally not aware of doing it; thus we add many things t h a t aren't there at all (Freud's projection) and leave out millions of things that are there (Freud's censorship). Confusing the finished product with an accurate reflection of externality is exactly what Buddha meant when he said normal consciousness is delusion (maya).

One soon discovered that pot could be a tool by which one might adjust the nervous system as casually as o n e ad-j u s t s the picture on a TV set. I had achieved what t h e semanticist Korzybski calls "consciousness of abstracting," awareness of the usually-unconscious mechanism by which each of us makes the world over in his/her own image.

The Neurologician now took up yoga, quite unmystically and with hardly a grain of piety. I understood t h a t yogic training—whatever else it might comprise—is a m e t h o d of free-ing the nervous system from conditioned perception. Combining pot and yoga, I quickly demonstrated to myself by direct experience that the nervous system can be freed from virtually every perception and reflex that makes up our ordinary spectrum of possibility.

Our old friend, Alan Watts, a most skeptical theologian and experimental mystic, was doing similar research in those years, and coming to similar conclusions. During one of his visits to Chicago, he said to another Playboy editor, "But, my dear man, reality is only a Rorschach ink-blot, y o u k n o w . "

Alas, to those who haven't done the research personally on a neurological level, this is hardly comprehensible; t h e editor remained cynical. Later Paul Krassner, editor of The Realist, p u t the same thought more colorfully: "Reality is silly-putty."

Those without direct experience could not understand; they quickly concluded that a certain segment of the intelligentsia was going mad . . .

This is why pot-heads develop a certain inevitable alienation from society. They begin to feel like one-eyed men in the Kingdom of the Blind.

The Murder of Christ: a Re-run Along about this point in my career as an amateur yogi, Tim Leary came to Chicago with his "Death of t h e Mind" road show and I must admit I did not find him nearly as impressive as earlier. He walked on stage barefoot, burned in-cense, did a lecture on Buddha illustrated with psychedelic slides and weird lighting effects, and more or less came on like an Oriental Billy Graham. It seemed that a brilliant scientist had turned himself into a second-rate messiah, but a day or so later I m e t Tim on the street outside the Playboy building and we lunched together again. Tim was more turned-on, vi-brant, j o y o u s and grandiose than ever, but he also had even more sense of h u m o r than previously and kept poking fun at his own Guru act. Neither of us said it aloud, but it was understood t h a t much of Tim's current persona was just agit-prop for the one cause he really believed in: the possibility that LSD, wisely used by professionals, could reprogram enough nervous systems to accelerate consciousness and intelligence before we laid ourselves and our planet waste.

Somehow, we got talking about Dr. Wilhelm Reich, and I compared Tim's growing legal problems with Reich's. Dr.

Reich had been the first Freudian to take Freud's discoveries literally and say explicitly that most neuroses are caused by Judaeo-Christian sex-repression. Worse, Reich had insisted that these neuroses are direct causes of racism, sexism, rape, violence and warfare. Sexual repression, he concluded, is Public Health Problem Number One and should be fought as vigorously as polio or cancer. Reich began promulgating this heresy back in the 1920s. He also began actual research on couples having sexual intercourse in the 1930s (30 years before Masters and Johnson). For these and other radical stances, Dr. Reich was expelled from the International Psychoanalytic Society, thrown out of the Communist and So-calist Parties in Austria, driven from Germany by the Nazis, smeared by the press in Sweden to the extent that he could no longer work in that country, defamed by the American Medical Association after coming here and finally died in Federal prison in 1957. All this had convinced many persons, including m e , t h a t scientific freedom was no more secure in the 20th Century than in the Dark Ages, if a scientist became too 53 revolutionary in his tlrinking.

The Reich case did not frighten Timothy.

" I ' m in great health in all respects," he self-diagnosed, with t h e wide and genuine Leary grin. "I fully expect to live past the hysteria and persecution, till everything I've claimed is confirmed and accepted, till it's used every day in every clinic in the world, till it becomes dull truism." T h e n he grinned even more broadly. "But then I'll be espousing some new heresy, I hope, and be in hot water again."

This may prove to be an accurate forecast.

It is rather peculiar to look back, in 1977, at a book like David Solomon's anthology, LSD24, published in 1964—only 13 years ago. Here we find scientists such as Dr. Humphrey Osmund, Dr. James Terrill, Dr. Charles Savage, Dr. Donald Jackson, Dr. Sanford Unger (whose willingness to hug patients is mentioned above), Dr. Jonathan Cole, Dr. Martin Katz, Dr. Eric Kast, etc., reporting beneficial and interesting changes in consciousness (and behavior) induced by LSD in a proper set and setting. Here we find philosophers like Aldous Huxley and Alan Watts contemplating the potentials of these chemicals with optimism and hope. We also find Dr. Leary writing the introduction to the volume and treated as a much-respected colleague by most of the scientific contributors.

In short, the whole volume seems to have fallen o u t of a time-warp from another universe.

Was all this published only 13 years ago? Weren't all the contributors thrown in jail at once? What kind of world was it back then, when LSD could be discussed scientifically, objectively, rationally?

As Dr. Leary writes in The Curse of the Oval Room, Very few Americans, even in these post-Watergate days, understand how Nixon set up his very own Special Secret elite police. Under the guise of "drug control" this Orwellian coup was accomplished with the approval of middle-aged liberals. It was so simple.

The Narc budget jumped from 22 million to 140 million. . . . Constitutional rights were suspended and martial law (no-knock, stop-and-frisk, curfew, etc.) was imposed selectively on one easily identifiable segment of the population.... Fear descended on the land. The spokesmen for the counter-culture were 54 arrested, harassed, silenced. The press cooperated completely . . . 2 S

In the course of the terroristic campaign described by Leary, he himself was repeatedly arrested, convicted of own-ing two joints of marijuana (he claimed it was a frame-up, but the liberals weren't interested in his claims, since the cops are the new gods of corporate liberaldom), was sentenced to years, had the highest bail in U.S. history ($5,000,000), was kidnapped in Afghanistan in violation of 148 court rulings holding such body-snatchings illegal where extradition treat-ies are not in force, was put in chains for a while and then kept in solitary confinement for 19 m o n t h s , and was held incommunicado for 10 months with none of his friends allowed to send messages to him or receive messages from him.

All this happened in broad daylight, with the liberals and the ACLU unable to recognize that the Constitution was being mauled and mangled in a fashion similar to the famous " R e d Terror" of the early 1950s.

I had observed with horror the destruction of Dr. Reich by the forces of bureaucracy and bigotry in the 1950s. It was a kind of Awakening experience, the first dawn of the apprehension t h a t our government, like any other, is more bad than good. To others, this awakening came through the Vietnam War, or through working with blacks and Indians in the civil rights struggle and discovering that the misery of these minorities is not just a dramatic political "issue" but a very painful reality. To some, it only came with Watergate. To some, it hasn't come y e t . To me, as a Libertarian, it came when agents of the Food and Drug Administration dumped all of Dr.

Reich's books—30 years of scientific research—into the Vansi-voort Street incinerator in New York City, in 1957, and burned them.

Book-burning was a scene out of Nazi Germany, the horror of all the anti-Nazi movies the Libertarian had seen as a child, coming alive in his own country, in his own time.

The Libertarian wrote many defenses of Reich in those years, for small oddball political and occult journals—the on-ly ones who were willing to print articles claiming t h a t the U.S. government might possibly have played the Holy Inquisition role to a new Galileo. The only effect of all this earnest 55 writing was that I got to meet quite a few Reichians, and found them a dreary lot—emotionally addicted to paranoid, dogmatic and intolerant head trips (an imitation, unconscious but brilliantly accurate, of all the stress symptoms Reich himself had developed after seven years of hounding and harass-ment by Washington).

Now, as the 1960s moved past, I began to see the same kill-the-heretic script emerging again, with Tim Leary type-cast for the starring role. It was all as rote and repetitious as the yearly sacrifice of the virgin to the corn-crops. Reich had called this bloody ritual " t h e murder of Christ" and said it would be played over and over again as long as humanity remained "muscularly a r m o r e d " against the free play of love and sexuality. One began to think he might have been right about t h a t . . .

In 1966-67 I had a few articles of subversive intent published in a little magazine called The New Libertarian, and struck up a friendship (by mail) with the editor, Kerry Thornley. We began writing quite long letters to each o t h e r (Thornley being in Los Angeles and I in Chicago), astonished at how totally our political philosophies agreed—we were b o t h opposed to every form of violence or coercion against individuals, whether practiced by governments or by people who claimed to be revolutionaries. We were equally disenchanted with the organized Right and the organized Left while still remaining Utopians, without a visible Utopia to believe in. At times we discussed free-floating libertarian communes in international waters, which in my case gave birth to the anarchist submarine fantasy in Illuminatus, and, later, to enthusiastic support of the Space Migration plans of Leary and Prof. Gerard O'Neill.

Thornley mentioned in a letter that he had served in the Marines with Lee Harvey Oswald and that they had been buddies. I mentioned t h a t Oswald's wife had been living with my doctor's sister at the time of the assassination. We were amused and intrigued by t h e coincidence and d i d n ' t (yet) call it synchronicity.

Eventually, through Thornley and other California libertarians, I got initiated into the mysteries of Discordianism, t h e first true " t r u e religion," which Thornley and Gregory Hill 5 6 had invented in 1958. Discordianism is based on worship of the Greek goddess of chaos and confusion, Eris, also called Discordia in Latin. Since readers of Illuminatus already k n o w a great deal about this sublime faith, we will give only an ab-breviated summary here, quoting a "Manual for Discordian Evangelists" which Thornley wrote:

" T h e SOCRATIC APPROACH is most successful when confronting the ignorant. The Socratic approach is what y o u call starting an argument by asking questions. You approach the innocent and simply ask, 'Did y o u k n o w that God's name is ERIS, and that He is a girl?' If he should answer 'Yes,' then he is probably a fellow Erisian and so you can forget it.

If he says ' N o , ' then quickly proceed t o :

" T H E BLIND ASSERTION and say, 'Well, He is a girl, and His name is ERIS!' Shrewdly observe if the subject is convinced. If he is, swear him into the Legion of Dynamic Discord before he changes his mind. If he does n o t appear convinced, then proceed t o :

"THE FAITH BIT: 'But y o u must have faith! All is lost without faith! I sure feel sorry for y o u if y o u d o n ' t have Faith.' And then add:

"THE ARGUMENT BY FEAR and in an ominous voice ask, 'Do y o u know what happens to those who deny Goddess?'

If he hesitates, d o n ' t tell him that he will surely be reincarnated as a precious Mao Button and distributed to the poor in the Region of Thud (which would be a mean thing to say), just shake your head sadly and, while wiping a tear from your eye, go t o :

" T H E F I R S T CLAUSE PLOY wherein y o u point to all of the discord and confusion in the world and explain 'Well who the hell do y o u think did all of this, wise g u y ? ' If he says, 'Nobody, just impersonal forces,' then quickly respond with:

"THE ARGUMENT BY SEMANTICAL GYMNASTICS and say that he is absolutely right, and t h a t those impersonal forces are female and that Her name is E R I S . If h e , wonder of wonders, still remains obstinate, then finally resort t o :

"THE FIGURATIVE SYMBOLISM DODGE and confide t h a t sophisticated people like himself recognize t h a t Eris is a Figurative Symbol for an Ineffable Metaphysical Reality 57

STARBUCK'S PEBBLES

Which Is Real?

Do these 5 pebbles really form a pentagon?
Those biased by the Aneristic Illusion would say yes.
Those biased by the Eristic Illusion would say no.
Criss-cross them and it is a star.

An Illuminated Mind can see all of these, yet he does not insist that any one is really true, or that none at all is true. Stars, and pentagons, and disorder are all his own creations and he may do with them as he wishes. Indeed, even so the concept of number 5.

Can you chart the COURSE to Captain Valentine's SWEETHEART?

The real reality is there, but everything you KNOW about "it" is in your mind and yours to do with as you like. Conceptualization is art, and YOU ARE THE ARTIST.

Convictions cause convicts.

00054

When I was 8 or 9 years old, I acquired a split beaver magazine. You can imagine my disappointment when, upon examination of the photos with a microscope, I found that all I could see was dots.

7. Never write in pencil unless you are on a train or sick in bed.

A page from the now-legendary Principia Discordia. The Aneristic illusion is that order is real; the Eristic illusion is that disorder, or chaos, is real;

Illumination is the realization that it depends on the perceiver. See illustration on page 30.

and that the Erisian Movement is really more like a poem than like a science and that he is liable to be turned into a Precious Mao Button and Distributed to The Poor in The Region of Thud if he does not get hip. Then put him on y o u r mailing list."

Discordian atheology got more and more complicated as it was worked over and developed by Thornley, Greg Hill, and various others who were drawn into it—Bob Shea, another editor at Playboy; Camden Benares (author of Zen Without Zen Masters); poet Judith Abrahms; Dr. Robert Newport, a psychiatrist; and quite a few similarly whimsical souls. Eventually, Greg Hill produced a Discordian Bible called Principia Discordia. None of this was merely a parody of religion per se. It was an exercise in guerrilla ontology—an a t t e m p t to make Nasrudin's Donkey visible. A Marx Brothers version of Zen. Operation Mindfuck, we called it.

(We were all having a lot of fun with Discordianism.

None of us were aware, yet, t h a t Operation Mindfuck could get out of hand . . .)

One of the first Discordian catmas* was Kerry Thornley's Law of Fives, which holds t h a t all incidents and events are directly connected to the number five, or to some multiple of five, or to some number related to five in one way or another, given enough ingenuity on the part of the interpreter.

Usually, we would state this to novices without the crucial (italicized) final clause; it was up to them to discover the metaprogrammer and figure that part out for themselves.

I added the Law of 23s, derived from Burroughs, on the grounds t h a t 2 + 3 = 5, and Discordians were soon reporting 23s and 5s from everywhere in current history and the past.

You have achieved Discordian enlightenment when y o u realize that, while the goddess Eris and the Law of Fives are not literally true, neither is anything else. Out of t h e hundred million buzzing, bright, busy signals received every minute, the human brain ignores most and organizes the rest in conformity with whatever belief system it currently holds. One can select lawful-and-orderly signals and claim that all is projected by a Cosmic Intelligence as in Thomism, or select chaotic signals and claim God is a Crazy Woman as in Discordianism. The Brain will adjust incoming signals to either belief system . . .

Olher religions have dogmas, which are absolute beliefs. Discordianism has catmas, which are relative meta-beliefs.

or to dozens of others.

In the seminars on Exo-Psychology which I teach these days, I dramatize this point by having the entire class visualize the hall they came through in entering the seminar room.

Then I ask how many people visualize five distinct items, ten, fifteen . . . When we find the person with the largest number of distinct signals in memory storage, we list the elements of t h a t person's hall on the blackboard. We call this n u m b e r X.

Then we collect all the signals from the rest of the class t h a t were n o t on the list, X. The new list is always higher than 2X.

That is, if the memory champ of that class had 14 signals in the hall, the total class had 28 or more.

This illustrates that one way to double y o u r practical intelligence (awareness of detail) is to try to receive as many signals as possible from other humans, however wrong-headed their reality-map may seem, however dumb or boring they might sound at first. Our usual habit of screening o u t all human signals not immediately compatible with our own favorite reality-map is the mechanism which keeps us all far stupider than we should be.

The experiment also illustrates the Leary principle of neurological relativism. No two people ever report exactly the same signals. Whatever the "objective" hall might be (probably a dance of energy, if we trust modern physics), each person walking through it created a separate tunnel-reality, a hall that suited their own neurological habits. No two people were in the " s a m e " hall existentially.

It is, incidentally, great fun to argue the Discordian position against either a Thomist theologian or an old-fashioned deterministic Materialist. There is just as much evidence of chaos and play in the universe as there is of law and order; y o u just have to start looking for it.

Naturally, I did not suspect for a long time t h a t our Lady Eris, goddess of confusion, was just the Space Lady coming back to haunt me in a different guise.

6 0

Jim Garrison and the Illuminati Discordianism is in direct contradiction of the mono-theory-mono theist foundations of Western religion, Western logic and Western law, all of which assume that there is one correct model t h a t is true in all cases. People who are religious in the dogmatic Judaeo-Christian sense, logicians who haven't gotten to Godel's Proof yet, and lawyers of all sorts are the last persons on Earth to be able to appreciate the Discordian philosophy.

Nonetheless, in a totally Quixotic way, Kerry Thornley, dragging his Discordian history behind him, insisted on getting himself involved in the Kennedy Assassination Mania of the '60s, and went straight to a lawyer—New Orleans D.A. Jim

"The Jolly Green G i a n t " Garrison. He might as well have gone to a Thomist theologian.

Kerry decided in 1967, after reading Mark Lane's Rush to Judgment and a few other of the Kennedy assassination books, that perhaps his old friend Lee Harvey Oswald hadn't killed the President after all; maybe there really was a conspiracy. Kerry naively went back to New Orleans and had several long talks with District Attorney Garrison, w h o had opened a new investigation which seemed to be uncovering such a conspiracy.

Thornley and Jim Garrison did not make a good team together, to put it mildly. In fact, at their last interview, each told the other to go to hell. Discordianism and law do n o t mix. Kerry left New Orleans and angrily informed all his friends and correspondents that Garrison was an unscrupulous demagogue w h o was organizing a witch-hunt to excite the gullible and advance his own political career. Garrison's aides struck back with a series of ridiculous charges against Thornley.

Naturally, I got drawn into the controversy.

That was when I really began to understand how arbi-trary are the reality-constructs of the average human nervous system. The establishment press was 100% anti-Garrison and denied all of his charges. The underground press was 100% pro-Garrison and supported all of his charges. In Leary's language, all the signals that could be organized into a " g o o d "

Garrison Gestalt were transmitted freely and omnidirectionally in the underground press game, while all signals suggestive 61 of a " b a d " Garrison, or inconsistent with a " g o o d " Garrison, were smoothly, efficiently reserved for the Establishment press game.

"My G o d , " the Libertarian said to himself one day in early 1968, when this had become clear, " t h e left wing is as robotic as the right wing." (We apologize for our naivete in taking until 1968 to figure that out.) It certainly illustrated the first law of Discordianism:

"Convictions cause convicts." Whatever you believe imprisons you.

Thornley, as I had gotten to know him through the mails and then through visits, was a h u m o r o u s , agnostic, libertarian person who was dogmatic about only two things: anarchism and pacifism. It was against his personal ethic to destroy life in any form. It was impossible for one to consider him seriously as a participant in a conspiracy to m u r d e r a n y b o d y .

And yet, in the underground press, Thornley and the other Garrison suspects were pictured as a weird gang of homosexual Satanic C.I.A. Nazi fanatics. It was the McCarthyism of the '50s all over again, coming from the left this time.

("There seem to be a lot of different realities going around these d a y s , " Abbie Hoffman said during t h e Democratic Convention horrors of 1968; that may well be the only intelligent thing he ever said.)

From that time to this the Skeptic has made it a point to read one or two periodicals every m o n t h p u t o u t by some political or religious group he despises, just to see what sort of signals are being screened o u t by his habitual reality-maps.

It is most educational. (Aleister Crowley and Bertrand Russell, respectively the outstanding mystic and the outstanding rationalist of the 20th Century, have also recommended this practice. It is one of the best ways to discover how Nasrudin's donkey—the self-metaprogrammer—works.)

Meanwhile, Thornley discovered that Allan Chapman, of Texas, one of Garrison's aides, believed the J F K assassination was the work of the Bavarian Illuminati. Of course, I had been an expert on that subject (I thought) for a number of years, and Garrison's involvement in it encouraged me to enter the belief system that Garrison was a paranoid or a demagogue or 62 both. There simply were no real Illuminati; it was all a right-wing f a n t a s y - a sanitized version of the tired old Elders-of-Zion mythology.

Although the underground press was absolutely funda-mentalist in its allegiance to the Garrison Revelations, it was also intensely gullible and eager to believe all manner of additional conspiracy theories, the weirder the better. Most Discord ians, at this time, were contributors to underground newspapers all over the country. We began surfacing the Discordian Society, issuing position papers offering non-violent anarchist techniques to m u t a t e our robot-society. One was our " P U R S E " plan (Permanent Universal Rent Strike Exchange) in which everybody simply stops paying rent forever. (Can they dispossess us all into the Atlantic and Pacific?) Another was our

" P U T Z " plan (Permanent Universal Tax Zap), in which everybody stops paying taxes. Along with this we planted numerous stories about the Discordian Society's aeon-old war against the sinister Illuminati. We accused everybody of being in the Illuminati—Nixon, Johnson, William Buckley, Jr., ourselves, Martian invaders, all the conspiracy buffs, everybody.

We did not regard this as a hoax or prank in the ordinary sense. We still considered it guerrilla ontology.

My personal attitude was that if the New Left wanted to live in the particular tunnel-reality of the hard-core paranoid, they had an absolute right to that neurological choice.

I saw Discordianism as the Cosmic Giggle Factor, introducing so many alternative paranoias that everybody could pick a favorite, if they were inclined that way. I also hoped that some less gullible souls, overwhelmed by this embarrassment of riches, might see through the whole paranoia game and decide to m u t a t e to a wider, funnier, more hopeful reality-map.

The distinguished poet Ed Sanders, author of Fuck God Up The Ass and other immortal works, once sent me an urgent message, warning, "There's nothing funny about the Illuminati. They're real!"

I laughed immoderately, as the Fool always does before the doors of Chapel Perilous swing shut behind him.

63

Operation Mindfuck

The Discordian revelations seem to have pressed a magick button. New exposes of the Illuminati began to appear everywhere, in journals ranging from the extreme Right to the ultra-Left. Some of this was definitely not coming from us Discordians. In fact, one article in the Los Angeles Free Press in 1969 consisted of a taped interview with a black phone-caller who claimed to represent the "Black Mass," an Afro-Discordian conspiracy we had never heard of. He t o o k credit, on behalf of the Black Mass and the Discordians, for all the bombings elsewhere attributed to the Weather Underground.

Other articles claimed the Illuminati definitely were a Jesuit conspiracy, a Zionist conspiracy, a bankers' conspiracy, etc., and accused such worthies as FDR, J. Edgar Hoover, Lenin, Aleister Crowley, Jefferson and even Charlemagne of being members of it, whatever it was.

All this inspired Bob Shea and me to start work on the gigantic novel which finally emerged as the Illuminatus trilogy.

We made the Discordians the Good Guys and the Illuminati t h e Bad Guys in an epic of convoluted treachery that satirized all conspiracy theories of Left and Right.

A good omen early in the writing cheered us vastly. A search through the Discordian Archives revealed t h a t the earliest of Discordian holy books—How the West Was Lost, by Maladypse the Younger (Greg Hill)—was originally printed, after office hours, on the Xerox machine of D.A. Jim Garrison, in summer 1963. (Greg's girlfriend was Garrison's secretary.)

That would be about the time when Oswald was ordering the Carcano rifle and I was having my experience with the green man in the cornfield, and by this time we were all too sophisticated to dismiss such a pattern as "mere coincid e n c e . "

Synchronicity, by Goddess, was a f o o t . . . and the weirdness was increasing. For instance, we Discordians had a mystic sign, like the Masons and everybody else. Ours was blandly lifted from good old Tory warmonger Winston Churchill; it was the V-for-Victory Winnie had used all through World War II. Of course, to us, it had special Discordian meanings: the 64

V, being the Roman numeral for 5, illustrated the Law of Fives. The way the sign is made, with 2 fingers up and 3 bent down, exemplifies the hidden 23 within the Law of Fives.

The fact that this sign is also used by Catholic priests in bless-ing and by Satanists in invoking the devil illustrates the essen-tial ambiguity of all symbolism, or the Cosmic Giggle Factor.

Between the first edition of the Principia Discordia, run off on Jim Garrison's Xerox machine in 1963, and the fourth edition, published by Rip-Off Press in Berkeley in 1969, only 3,125 copies of that basic Discordian t e x t were ever distributed. Nonetheless, the V sign, somehow, got accepted by the whole counter-culture, especially circa 1966-70. One saw hundreds of thousands of protesters using it at the Pentagon demonstration in October 1967 and again at the Democratic convention of 1968. The odd part was that virtually nobody using it was aware that we Discordians had revived i t . . .

The Pentagon itself, of course, is a sacred Discordian shrine, b o t h because it is five-sided* and because the Byzan-tine bureaucracy there enshrined illustrates so wonderfully the basic Discordian sociological law enunciated by Kerry Thornley in The Gospel According to Fred: "Imposition of Order = Escalation of Chaos." I attended the Pentagon protest in October 1967—where the Yippies attempted to expel the Demon, Yog-Sothoth, by chanting, " O u t , demon, o u t ! "

- a n d all of it, especially the V signs, seemed as if the Discordian version of surrealism was becoming a new political reality.

OceanofPDF.com

The next year the Yippies ran a pig for President.

A psychologist named Richard Ryan, in New Jersey, read some of the Discordian literature and wrote to tell me another 23 mindfuck. Ryan had overheard a psychiatrist, in a mental hospital where they both worked, giving a royal ass-chewing to a nurse who'd made a mistake. "When I say 23 c c , " the psychiatrist had shouted, " I want 2 3 c c . - n o t 2 4 c c . "

Ryan heard this on his way to visit a ward with chronic schizophrenics. When he entered the ward, one of the schizzies said to him, in a tone of anxiety, "Yes, yes, 23 c c . "

All members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are honorary Discordian saints, belong-ing to the Order of Quixote, also known as the Knights of the Five-Sided Castle.

65

The Horrible Secrets of the Wicked Aleister Crowley One day in 1 9 7 0 , 1 had lunch with Alan Watts and his lovely wife, Jano.

Toward the end of t h e lunch, Alan asked me a b o u t my current writing projects, and I told him a little about Illuminatus, happening to mention t h e Eye in the Triangle, which is said to be the symbol of the Illuminati.

" T h a t reminds m e , " Alan said. "The best book I've read in years is called The Eye in the Triangle. It's about Aleister Crowley." He went on to recommend the book highly.

All I then knew about Aleister Crowley was vague and unfavorable. He was said to be a Satanist, a Black Magician, a sadist, a nut, a heroin addict and a sexual degenerate of monstrous proportions. I had somehow or other also heard that Crowley had climbed higher on Chogo Ri than any other mountaineer in history and had set several other climbing records, and that intrigued me. Few junkies have the stamina for such exertions, and one wondered a bit if some of Aleister's infamous reputation was exaggerated.

The Skeptic bought The Eye in the Triangle, which was by Dr. Israel Regardie, Crowley's secretary in t h e 1920s and now a Reichian psychologist in Los Angeles. Dr. Regardie emphasized the link between Crowley's Tantric magick* and Reich's bio-energetic psychology, and the Skeptic assumed therefore t h a t the "astral" energies used in Crowleyan magick were t h e same phenomenon as the "orgone energy" used in Reichian therapy. I'd soon plowed my way through all of Crowley's books still in print and began a correspondence with Dr. Regardie.

I also began experimenting with the methods of magick training given in Crowley's books. Many of these exercises were frankly borrowed from Hatha Yoga, in which I already had some experience; some were similar to the methods of tribal shamans, such as D o n Juan Matus, whose training of the anthropologist, Carlos Castaneda, is full of Crowleyan techniques; others came from Tibetan and Indian T a n t r a , the art of turning sexual ecstasy into mystic mind-expansion.

Crowley's spelling. (The k is to establish a distinction from ordinary "stage magic" or conjuring.) Pronounced mage-ick.

Some forms of the eye-triangle design. The first is the emblem of Crowley's magick society, the Ordo Templi Orientis. The second is the Great Seal of the United States, Illuminati documents and various Masonic buildings. The third appears in every Masonic lodge. Other forms are used by Vietnamese Buddhists, Theosophists, Rosicrucians, etc.

Crowley never refers to these Tantric practices directly in his books, but only obliquely via codes, puns, metathesis, acrostics, obscure symbolism and every manner of indirection.

I first began to understand this, as mentioned earlier, while reading Chapter 69 of The Book of Lies, which is called " T h e Way to Succeed-and The Way to Suck Eggs." As is usual with Crowley, the chapter number is related to the subject (usually Cabalistically, but in this case via sexual slang). The title is a typical Crowleyan pun (the way to suck seed .. .).

The chapter describes the descent of the dove on P e n t e c o s t - called " T h e Gift of Tongues" (!) by Christian t h e o l o g i a n s - b u t can also be read as a description of Crowley and his mistress (called Laylah in the t e x t) engaged in mutual oral sex.

Crowley was actually saying t h a t oral sex could be a method of m e d i t a t i o n . 2 6

Once one got the message, further browsing soon showed that countless other chapters were describing other sex acts as forms of meditation. The same technique appears again and again in almost all of Crowley's books.*

The idea behind Tantric sacramental sex (or sex-magick, as it is also called) is that postponing normal orgasm by various postures, meditations, incantations, and especially prayers, enables one to produce eventually a new kind of o r g a s m - the polyphase orgasm, Leary has called it. "The Ascent of the Serpent" is the traditional Hindu metaphor for this neurological explosion. The experience is much like nitrous oxide in t h a t it seems to condense an LSD trip into a few minutes, and like prolonged hatha yoga in that it seems to produce a permanent change in neuro-physiology. In Leary's terminology, this Tantric mutation gives y o u a fifth neurological circuit, where most humans have only four, and it can also launch you onward toward even higher circuits.

Marijuana, of course, also puts you on the fifth circuit—right-brain r a p t u r e - b u t only temporarily. It was one of Crowley's secret teachings, only passed on verbally to promising students, that the combination marijuana + tantra was the key

Although I obtained this knowledge by intuition, you don't have to take my word for it. Louis Culling, a disciple of Crowley, has described the Crowleyan methods of Tantra without codes or ambiguity in A Manual of Sex Magick, Llewellyn Books, St. Paul, 1972.

Aleister Crowley, the Great Beast 666.

to rapid mutation into a permanent Rapture Circuit.

It occurred to me t h a t I finally had the secret of the Illuminati. They were n o t the fantasy of right-wing paranoids.

" T h e Illuminati" was one of the names of an underground mystical movement using sexual yoga in the Western world.

The veils of obscurity and mystery around such figures as Giordano Bruno, J o h n Dee, Cagliostro, the original Rosicrucians (17th century), Crowley himself, and various other key figures in the "conspiracy," had nothing to do with politics or plots to take over the world. It was a screen to protect them from persecution by the Holy Inquisition in earlier centuries and from puritanical policemen in our time.

This historical pattern of persecution and cover-up has confused the transmission considerably. Some of the groups called "The Illuminati" at one time or another have n o t had this particular secret in their mind-programming syllabus.

Some groups not called " T h e Illuminati" have had it, to confuse matters further (e.g., t h e Brothers and Sisters of t h e Free Spirit, to which Hieronymus Bosch belonged and which greatly influenced his paintings, had the secret, as did some but not all of the Rosicrucian and Freemasonic orders). I have done what I could to clear up the historical picture in another b o o k . 2 7

The Crowleyan system, very briefly, is a synthesis of three elements:

1. Western occultism. The secret "illuminated" teaching out of 19th century Rosicrucianism, possibly going back through Renaissance magick societies, medieval witchcraft, the Knights Templar, European Sufis, etc., to Gnosticism, and thence back possibly to the Eleusinian Mysteries and Egyptian cults. Basically, as Crowley says, this m e t h o d consists of dangerous "physiological experiments"—using ritual, sometimes drugs, sometimes sex, to jolt the nervous system into "higher" functioning (new neurological circuits).

2. Eastern yoga, including meditation plus physical exercises to make meditation easier and more natural. Another system of activating higher circuits.

3. Modern scientific method. Crowley taught total skepticism about all results obtained, the keeping of careful objective records of each "experiment," and detached philosophical 7 0 analysis after each stage of increased awareness.

It is this synthesis of Eastern and Western occult traditions with modern scientific method that is probably Crowley's major achievement. His notorious anti-Christian philosophy—a blend of Nietzschean Supermanism and anarcho-fascist Darwinism—is quite distinct from his methodology.

Whether y o u like that philosophy or n o t (and the Libertarian does n o t) , y o u can still use the methodology of research Crowley devised.

A Discordian signal from Aldous Huxley, deceased As Shea and I went on working on flluminatus, the Materialist began his first experiments with Crowley's techniques of mutating consciousness.

In one experiment, I banned t h e use of the word " I " from my conversation for one week. Mad Aleister recommends what Skinner later called "negative reinforcement" in cases of relapse; he violently slashed his arm with a razor every time he slipped and said " I . " Your less hardy narrator substituted a less heroic control: I bit my t h u m b , hard, at each slip. By a b o u t the fourth day, I had a very sore t h u m b and an even more painful ego. The subjectivity and self-centeredness of normal human consciousness was hideously obvious to me. By the seventh day I had entered an altered state of consciousness and regarded ego as something of an inconvenient fiction.

In another experiment, the Shaman bought a deck of Tarot cards, announced that he was psychic, and started giving divinations. This rapidly forced me to use portions of my brain normally n o t used, and I became aware of neurological functions growing in a quite astonishing manner. Of course, I was here running head-first into t h e brick wall of my own ingrained Skepticism and it was two years before anything happened of a really dramatic nature. Meanwhile, I became alert to all sorts of signals previously invisible; my empathy with others was becoming intensified. I also learned a great deal about how easy it is to deceive those w h o want to believe; and this showed how easily I might be deceived if I wanted to believe.

The Shaman also experimented extensively with Crowley's method of achieving and transcending religious visions.

This is based on Hindu bhakti yoga and the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius Loyola, with a typically Crowleyan difference. In bhakti yoga, y o u form a love-bond with a particular divinity, dedicate every waking m o m e n t to Him (or Her) and invoke that Divine Being by every m e t h o d possible, especially vivid visual imagination. Loyola's m e t h o d is similar, except that y o u have no choice about which Divinity to invoke. Crowley's twist is to carry this through until y o u experience a real manifestation of the God (a " C o n t a c t " in UFO jargon), and then immediately stop, and start over with a different god. After y o u have run through three or four divinities in this manner, y o u will understand Nasrudin's Donkey (the neuro-programmer) and y o u will be increasingly skeptical about everybody's reality-maps, including y o u r own.

Other Crowley exercises the author tried are n o t described here, because they are too dangerous for ordinary or casual experimenters. Crowley always insisted t h a t nobody should try his more advanced techniques without (a) being in excellent health, (b) being competent in at least one athletic skill, (c) being able to conduct experiments accurately in at least one science, (d) having a general knowledge of several sciences, (e) being able to pass an examination in formal logic and (f) being able to pass an examination in the history of philosophy, including Idealism, Materialism, Rationalism, Spiritualism, Comparative Theology, etc. Without t h a t kind of general knowledge and the self-confidence and independence of thought produced by such study, magick investigation will merely blow your mind. As Brad Steiger has said, the lunatic asylums are full of people who naively set out to study the occult before they had any real competence in dealing with the ordinary.

The first results of the author's Crowleyan experiments were a vast increase in his already abundant skepticism—to the point where he was skeptical at last even of skepticism itself —and an ability to achieve ecstasy and contact mysterious 7 2

"entities" without psychedelic drugs.

Coincidences-in-23 also began to multiply more rapidly than the National Debt. For instance, my first meeting with Malaclypse the Younger (Greg Hill), creator of the great Principia Discordia, occurred on April 23, and, while we were discussing this, a glazier who was repairing a broken window in the apartment presented his bill. The bill was numbered 05675 (5 + 6 + 7 + 5 = 23) and the price was $7.88 (7 + 8 + 8 = 23). In commemoration of that Triple Whammy, we re-arranged the chronology to have Illuminatus begin on April 23.

The 23s accumulated faster. For the first time, the Shaman began to wonder: was this all t h e metaprogrammer (selective perception) or was there an element of PK (psychokinesis) about it? Was one unconsciously making it happen, the way a "poltergeist child" makes furniture fly around?

One couldn't yet take the second hypothesis seriously, b u t the fact that one was capable of wondering about it indicating the direction the experiments were taking.

Then came the Huxley synchro-mesh.

I was reading Laura Archera Huxley's This Timeless Moment and came to the last chapter, concerning Laura's attempts to communicate with Aldous after his death. About that possibility I was (and still am) a rather hardened cynic; I know too much about how mediums operate. In this case, Laura got her results from Keith Milton Rinehart, a medium who has performed credibly in scientific tests. Rinehart said to Laura that Aldous wanted to transmit "classic evidence of survival," which in parapsychology means something that could not be explained by the alternative theory of ESP—i.e., Rinehart reading Laura's mind. After a time, he announced that he had a signal: Laura should go to Aldous' private study, which she seldom entered, and there pick up the fifth book on a certain shelf, which she had n o t read. Rinehart said t h a t the message was on page 17, line 23.

The Numerologist sat up straight when he read that.

Laura got the book, and indeed it was one that she hadn't read—a collection of essays on modern writers. On page 17, line 2 3 , she found:

73

Aldous Huxley does not surprise us in this admirable communication in which paradox and erudition in the poetic sense and the sense of humor are inter-laced in such an efficacious form.28

The Net or the Network?

I must admit t h a t some eerie thoughts went through my head on reading that exquisitely worded sentence, somehow transmitted through Keith Milton Rinehart in his a t t e m p t to pick up a signal from the dead Aldous Huxley.

Among other things, the Shaman wondered for a crazy m o m e n t if the whole 23 enigma might not be a world-wide astral plot by Aldous and other humorous sages to produce cumulative evidence over decades t h a t they were, indeed, alive-though-dead and still communicating with us.

The resolute anti-Spiritualist need not bail out at this point, or throw the book away; after all, it was only a passing thought.

And the 23 Mystery was to get much more mysterious a few years later, as we shall see.

Meanwhile, the complexity of the synchronicity mesh (Jano Watts's " N e t ") was gradually dawning on me. Aldous Huxley's first book on psychedelics, through conservative historian Russell Kirk's review of it, originally got me interested in chemical neuro-programming. Aldous was a personal friend of Jano and Alan Watts, and of Tim Leary. Aldous died on the same day as J o h n F. Kennedy. Kerry Thornley, widely believed among Garrisonite conspiracy buffs to be " t h e second Oswald," named his son Aldous Wilson Thornley—after Aldous and me. And Aldous had originally been turned on to peyote by Aleister Crowley in 1929.29

Crowley, remember, styled himself Epopt of the Illuminati. His magazine, Equinox, bore the masthead on each issue: "A Journal of Scientific Illuminism."

The synchronized Net began to look even more like a conscious Network when I read Alan Watts's autobiography 7 4 in 1975 and discovered that he had been initiated into a magickal order, using Crowley-style sex-yoga, way back in the 1930s. Alan describes his initiator as "a rascal-guru in the tradition of Crowley and Gurdjieff," and gives his name as Mitrinovic.30

After t h e initiation, Watts became an Episcopal priest for a while, and did a great deal to re-introduce exotic ritual (magickal. . . ?) elements into the ceremonies, so much so that he was occasionally criticized for it. Later, he left the Church and became a leading popularizer of Zen Buddhism, Taoism, and Gnostic Christianity. He turned me on to Zen in 1957, to Leary in 1964, to Crowley in 1971.

"I am not a Guru or a philosopher or even a teacher," he told me earnestly on one occasion. "I am merely an entertainer."

One wonders whom Alan was entertaining? And was he part of a Net of coincidence or a Network of adepts?

And who was the mysterious Mitrinovic who initiated Alan? Was he a Sufi or one of the Illuminati—or are the Illuminati merely t h e European branch of the Sufis?

The latter t h e o r y - t h a t the Illuminati are Sufis-is claimed as historical fact by Sufi author Idries S h a h . 3 1

Indeed, Shah goes further and says that the Illuminati were originally a Sufi sect who discovered the Secret of Secrets coded into the famous lamp-and-light verse in the Koran, which they interpret symbolically. The verse reads: Allah is the Light of the heavens and earth. His Light is resembled by a lamp within a niche. The lamp is within a crystal, like a shining star. [Italics added.]

Aleister Crowley referred to the Illuminati also as the Argentum Astrum, or (Order of the) Silver Star. We will soon find reasons to think we can identify the star that is referred to in b o t h cases.

75

The Lady of Guadalupe

In 1971,1 quit my j o b at Playboy because doing the same thing, every day, five days a week, 50 weeks of the year, is a damned bore, no m a t t e r h o w interesting the work intrin-sically is. After five years, even at $20,000 per, you will become a zombi if you d o n ' t seek adventure and change.

The only reason most people remain in the same jobs, the same towns, the same belief-systems, year after year, decade after decade, is, of course, that cultural conditioning, in every tribe, is a process of gradually narrowing y o u r tunnel-reality. The way to stay young (comparatively; until t h e longevity Pill is discovered) is to make a quantum j u m p every so often and land yourself in a new reality-matrix.

I jumped from the Bunny Empire to San Miguel de Al-lende, a town in the mountains north of Mexico City which has been declared a national monument by the government and is deliberately kept as it was at the time of the 1810 Revolution.

Of course, one could not escape the Illuminati. I soon found that Father Hidalgo, who started the 1810 rebellion in San Miguel, was both a Mason and a Jesuit—the Church had not outlawed Masonry at t h a t time—and had decorated many churches around the area with the Eye-in-the-Triangle design.

I got interested in Father Hidalgo, w h o liked to quote the heretic, Voltaire, and who used the slogan, "Viva Nuestra Senora Guadalupe y mueron gubernacion mala" (Long live Our Lady of Guadalupe and death to bad government!). The Lady of Guadalupe is officially believed to be the Virgin Mary, of course, but many skeptical archaeologists regard Her as an old Aztec sky-goddess in very slight disguise (just as Saint Brigit is the old Celtic goddess, Brigit, in disguise). She has more miracles to Her credit than any other BVM manifestation; Jacques Vallee has found numerous parallels between Her and the modern U F O n a u t Space Lady w h o has appeared to many child Contactees in recent years. Most recently, in the 1920s, an anarchist attempted to destroy the "miracul o u s " painting of Her in Her basilica outside Mexico City by throwing a bomb at the painting. Everything around the painting was damaged, but the painting "miraculously" survived.

Or so the Church claims.

At this point, the Shaman had a good "astral" contact going with Nuit, the Egyptian goddess of the stars, using Crowley's methods of invocation (and following Crowley's injunction n o t to attribute "objective reality or philosophical validity" to any communication so received). He did not know, yet, that Nuit was especially related to Sirius by the Egyptians, but he did know, from Frazer and other anthropologists as well as from Carl Jung's books, that Nuit and the BVM were the same archetype under two different names.

He began addressing Her as Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe and trying to tune in to Father Hidalgo's relationship with Her.

She informed the questing Shaman, on one astral trip, t h a t She had cured him of polio in his childhood.

Checking back with his mother, the Skeptic discovered that indeed his mother had made special devotions to the Virgin at that time, to achieve his cure. Officially, of course, he was not cured by these medieval and superstitious offer-ings; but t h e t r u t h is even more amusing than that. I was cured by the Sister Kenny method—which at the time was being denounced as witchcraft and delusion by the American Medical Association. My parents had by " l u c k " or coincidence found a doctor who believed in and used the Sister Kenny technique . . .*

Meanwhile, Tim Leary's struggle to stay out of jail, which had begun when G. Gordon Liddy first busted him in 1964, had finally come to its inevitable end. Dr. Leary was placed in a cage on January 27, 1970. Nine months later —a few weeks before his fiftieth birthday, and already a g r a n d f a t h e r -

Timothy justified his "youth-culture" image by an athletic climb across a fifty-foot cable over the prison wall to freedom. He left behind a pious note to the prison staff: In the name of the Father and the Mother and the Holy Ghost—Oh, Guards—I leave now for freedom. I pray that you will free yourselves. To hold man captive is a crime against humanity and a sin against God.

Oh, guards, you are criminals and sinners. Cut it loose. Be free. Amen.

Most of the children who had polio in the 1930s, like the author, and were not treated by the Kenny method but by orthodox A.M.A. therapy, are still crippled.

I am quite mobile and need a cane only occasionally.

77

Within a few m o n t h s , Tim was again imprisoned, by the Black Panther Party in Algiers. A second escape brought him to Switzerland, and a new imprisonment. The search for freed o m was beginning to look barren. But, then, under a propaganda campaign by American intellectuals, led by playwright Arthur Miller and poet Allen Ginsberg, the Swiss government released Timothy, allowed him to remain in their territory, and refused to extradite him back to his cage in the California Archipelago. He was the first scientist since Kropotkin to make such a stylish escape from tyranny and still remain at large.

We were still in Mexico at the time, and I was writing two books under contract to Playboy Press. The whole family celebrated—in spite of Nixon and Kent State and Cam-bodia and everything, Tim Leary was free and there seemed to be some hope for this backward planet.

The Shaman's whole family had now become involved in yoga and magick; weirdness was commonplace. One day during the Mexican sojourn, the author was meditating and two of his daughters walked through the room w i t h o u t seeing him. We were all quite struck by this, at the t i m e , although I do not think I was literally invisible (as some of Crowley's disciples claimed occasionally happened to him during heavy meditation). Rather, I feel fairly sure that what happened was merely that I was so silent, externally and internally, that I was as easy to ignore as a chair. I was not giving off a human vibration.

More puzzling was an incident involving my youngest daughter, Luna—who had always seemed, from birth onward, to have more intuition, ESP and strange powers than all the rest of us together. Luna was meditating in a room with our son, Graham, and our second-oldest daughter, J y o t i . Suddenly there was a t h u m p which jarred Graham and J y o t i out of their trances. Luna, who had been on the right of t h e m , was suddenly on the left. Naturally, they entered the belief-system that Luna had levitated, or teleported herself.

Luna said she couldn't remember moving.

I d o n ' t know what happened; I wasn't there. B u t when I discussed it with Luna, she said, " Y o u believe in ESP, so it happens around y o u . You d o n ' t believe in levitation, so it 78 doesn't happen around y o u . " Then she laughed, and I f e l t - not for the first or last time—that Luna, whose favorite reading was still comic books, knew more about some things than I did.

I continued my devotions to Our Lady of Guadalupe, delighted t h a t I could again play the Catholic game (which 1 had left in high indignation at 14, when it conflicted with my sex drive), b u t now without taking it seriously. It was only one tunnel-reality and, with Crowley's metaprograms (invocations), I could just as easily change channels and tune in to an Egyptian god-system or to the Buddhist system. I could also analyze all of these from outside, by re-entering the Scientific Materialist system.

Synchronicity again appeared. One day in the San Miguel library, I m e t a woman who was also obsessed with Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe even though a non-Catholic. She was writing a book on the Lady's miracles and hoped to prove that the Lady was really an extraterrestrial. Although I never heard of this woman or her book again, the idea later popped up in one of the most influential Women's Lib books of the decade, The First Sex, by Elizabeth Gould Davis. It is now an article of faith with some Welsh feminist witches I m e t after moving to California.

In his book on the Israeli psychic Uri Geller, Dr. Andrija Puharich, a neurologist of some professional reputation which he is presumably not eager to destroy by going out on a limb, asserts that both he and Geller have frequently received communications from extraterrestrials.32 The learned community by and large assumes that Dr. Puharich has flipped out.

Dr. J o h n Lilly, internationally known psychoanalyst, neuro-anatomist, cyberneticist, mathematician and delphinol-ogist, gently hints that he has also received such communications. Academia, relieved that Dr. Lilly is only hinting and not saying it outright, happily ignores the potential b r e a k t h r o u g h . 3 3

Dr. Timothy Leary asserted interstellar telepathy in 1 9 7 3 . 3 4 Since Leary was already in disgrace and prison, nobody paid any attention.

R. Buckminster Fuller, the most renowned scientist-philosopher alive, was the next to state that he sometimes thinks he receives messages from interstellar t e l e p a t h s . 3 5

Despite Fuller's world-wide status, nobody seems to have heard this message from him.

Most recently, Dr. Jack Sarfatti, physicist, described his own extraterrestrial ESP flashes, in an article in the San Francisco magazine City. 36 Nobody paid any attention. Any grocer or state policeman w h o has such an experience will immediately be reported in tabloids or even on TV, but nobody seems to want to hear this from trained scientific observers.

Is it t h a t we are afraid we cannot dismiss them as n u t s so easily as we do the grocers and state troopers?

Suppose I were to tell y o u that over 100 scientists in the United States have by now had this experience? T h a t figure was supplied by Saul Paul Sirag. Sirag says t h a t so far most of these scientists are only willing to discuss the m a t t e r with trusted colleagues, but t h a t more of them lately are considering the possibility of coming out of the closet and talking a b o u t it in public.

Sirag adds that many of this group no longer believe the experience is literally extraterrestrial, although that is still one of the favorite models for describing it.

Let me record my own " C o n t a c t " experiences, from the beginning. Try to be open to the possibility t h a t I might con-ceivably be sane. The data developed gradually over the years from Jungian "synchronicity" t o " E S P " t o . . . something else.

For instance, in the summer of 1972, during a visit to Yellow Springs, Ohio —the town where I had tried to be a farmer for three years in the early '60s —I was doing a Tarot

"divination" for my oldest daughter, Karuna. All Tarot readings to this date, however pleasing to my subjects, had been inconclusive to the Skeptic; every hit could be explained as intuition, reading the subject's body-language subliminally, or just lucky guessing. This time, the Oracle told Karuna—somewhat surprised at his own audacity—that her previous boyfriend, R o y , would suddenly contact her. (She h a d n ' t seen him in a year.) The next morning, the phone rang, and the Shaman said at once, again surprised at his self-confidence,

"That's R o y . " It was.

A happy coincidence? My magick diary (Crowley insists on keeping such a record of all experiments) soon contained similar direct hits, on a weekly basis. The Oracle also developed what all occultists call "inner certainty"; that is, I knew when this faculty was operating and could be trusted. This sense of being tuned in is exactly as specific as the inner knowledge t h a t y o u are about to become ill and vomit, or t h a t a head cold is coming on, or t h a t y o u are reaching sexual climax and will ejaculate . . . it cannot be mistaken.

January 18, 1973 was my 41st birthday, and we were living on a farm again. Karuna, our oldest daughter, informed us in the morning t h a t , in addition to the sun being in Capri-corn (my sign), the moon was in Cancer (my wife's sign). Although I am extremely skeptical about astrology, I decided to keep careful records of anything significant that might occur that day. A few hours after awakening, we heard on the radio that Tim Leary (nearly two years after escaping jail) had been kidnapped in Afghanistan by American agents. I was plunged into depression, and realized for the very first time how much I cared for that brilliant but incautious man, whom I had actually m e t fewer than a dozen times in the decade. A few hours later, Luna, our youngest daughter, had her first menstrual period. "The blood of the l a m b , " I thought, wondering what Carl Jung would make of this bundle of synchronicity.

In the afternoon, still depressed a b o u t Leary's bad luck, Arlen and I were walking in the woods behind our farm. Suddenly, I had a flash of Timothy grinning. ("They'll put him in maximum security n o w , " Arlen was saying. "He'll probably commit suicide within a y e a r . ") Tim grinned more impudently.

" N o , " the Oracle said quite happily. " T h e very first p h o t o we'll see he'll have the old Leary grin flashing again."

I was totally convinced, precognitively, that Dr. Leary's neurological researches had brought him to the point where he had control over emotional programs and could transcend 81 suffering of all sorts. I "saw" it in a p h o t o of Tim, handcuffed but grinning.

Dr. Timothy Leary, who received the Star Seed Signals during the Dog days when Wilson was receiving the Sirius Transmissions.

A few hours later, we drove into a pizza parlor in Men-docino to celebrate my birthday. On the way, we bought an evening newspaper. There, on page o n e , was the Leary Grin.

And he was in handcuffs.

On June 6, 1973 (six m o n t h s after the above experience), the Neurologician took a programmed trip on something an underground Alchemist told him was LSD. The program was in two parts, basically: I remained in a dark r o o m , eyes closed, lying on a bed, during most of it. Part one was the playing back, on a tape recorder, of Dr. J o h n Lilly's "Beliefs Unlimi t e d " hypnosis-tape; this was repeated several times during the first three hours of the experiment. During hours 4 to 5, a tape of Aleister Crowley's Invocation of the Holy Guardian Angel was played.

Dr. Lilly's tape repeats over and over that there are no limits to y o u r mind and that anything y o u can imagine, y o u can do. The tape is a valuable aid to break down our conditioned expectations about the boundary between the possible and the impossible.

Lilly's tape is deliberately encouraging gullibility, of course; but it is quite easy to re-establish scientific skepticism about results obtained, after the experiment is over. Skepticism during the experiment prevents any interesting results.

The Crowley invocation, frankly, looks like pretentious rubbish if read silently. Read aloud, it vibrates, moans and sings with eerie power. It programs the shaman to alternately envision the "Holy Guardian Angel" as a solar-phallic lion of terrible energy; as an erotic sex-goddess; as the Great Wild Beast Pan; as a green and earthy mother-spirit; and finally as a Total Void at the heart of everything.

The Shaman achieved a rush of Jungian archetypes, strongly influenced by the imagery of Crowley's Invocation, but nonetheless having t h a t peculiar quality of external reality and alien intelligence emphasized by Jung in his discussion of the archetypes. I also "lived" through several "past lives"

—including additional details about one "past life" as a Grand-master in the Bavarian Illuminati, previously unearthed under hypnosis by New York hypnotist Jack Rowan, and also Sufi 83 saint-lives, medieval witch-lives, and, finally, an uprush of

" m e m o r i e s " of animal existence. I was an ape-creature, a rodent, a slug, a bug, a fish. I experienced a series of deaths-and-rebirths as animal, human, void, Star; molecular intelligence vibrating through time, and, at the peak, as union of Shiva and Kali, twin gods linked in eternal orgasm according to Bengali Hinduism. The Neurologician saw and understood quite distinctly that Shiva was also Brahma and Jehovah and Pan, etc., while Kali was also Nuit and Aphrodite and the Blessed Virgin Mary, etc. The universe was experienced as the living embodiment of this Divine Couple and not a dead machine.

The Yogi entered Samadhi and believed, at last, t h a t the wisdom of the adept is truly beyond the floating body-rapture of mere Hatha Yoga. Based on understanding of and participation in a planet-wide Consciousness, Samadhi opens the neuro-atomic memory which is in all living beings, and in that dancing quantum energy mistakenly called "dead m a t t e r . "

The Mystic understood Gandhi's insistence, "God is in the rock, t o o - i n the rock!" Hell, / was in the rock with God.

The Poet appreciated Eckhart's paradox, "Split a stick of wood, and the Christ is in there, t o o ! "

The Shaman laughed merrily at Crowley's joking serious-ness in telling one disciple, Frank Bennett, that the Holy Guardian Angel invoked in this ritual is merely " o u r own unconsciousness" and meanwhile telling another disciple, Jane Wolf, that the Holy Guardian Angel is "a separate being of superhuman intelligence." It is both/and; it is the "hornless o n e , " as Egyptian priests said. The Satirist even m o r e appreciated Crowley's boffo one-liner in Magick in Theory and Practise, where he speaks of sexual yoga

(in code as usual) as a form of sacrifice and says that he thus sacrificed "a male child of perfect innocence and high intelligence" 15 0 times a year since 1912. The sacrifice in sexual yoga is the semen, which is, indeed, a "male child" and does indeed contain, within the DNA code, a very high intelligence, the genetic blueprint of planet Earth.

The R o b o t staggered in bliss to his desk and t y p e d out,

" F e w of our ancestors were perfect ladies and gentlemen.

The majority of them weren't even mammals and looked like 84 alligators or Gila monsters." The normal paranoia in our culture (fear of animals) has not bothered me since then; I took a pro-life imprint and I am now as cuddly with snakes as with dogs or cats.

The Shaman lost all fear of death, knowing it to be literally impossible. He understood the wit of Yeats's fine line,

"Man has created d e a t h . "

The Skeptic was whacked o u t of his skull.

The next day, and in the following weeks, my yoga meditations were vastly enriched, and I occasionally went for days on end conscious of the two minds thinking, my mind and the "hornless" Mind, or, as Suzuki Roshi used to say, Little Mind and Big Mind.

On July 2 2 , 1 9 7 3 - s i x weeks after the t r i p - t h e Wizard was ready to try again, without the supposed LSD (which might have been mescaline, or STP, or PCP, or fly-paper for all we know). (Stay AWAY from black-market acid, my friend; d o n ' t let these experiments lead you astray. If y o u must experiment in this dangerous area, use organic plants whose purity is known, such as the peyote cactus or the psilocybin mushroom.)

This time, I used the Lilly tape and the Crowley invocation again, without drugs, but with prolonged and holy rituals or Tantric sex-trance involving the cooperation of t h e Most Beautiful Woman in the Galaxy.

The Investigator remembers thinking, during the six weeks between major experiments, t h a t whatever he had tuned in to was not "Cosmic Consciousness" but a kind of planetary consciousness; he wondered who coined the term,

"cosmic consciousness," and what it contained . . .

This time I moved in space-time fan-wise, unlike the backward-in-time movement of t h e drug trip. The Yogi became almost conscious of a kind of galactic star-network, an intelligence that seemed not fully formed but evolving. Somehow, this resonated in my mind with the Sufi teaching t h a t Allah is constantly recreating Himself every second. The trip was full of light and joy, the White Light of the Void jazz you've all heard, but dim, not fully achieved. The Researcher went off into sleep not quite satisfied.

The next morning, July 23, the Shaman awoke with an 85

Chapel Perilous, like the mysterious entity called "I", cannot be located in the space-time continuum; it is weightless, odorless, tasteless and undetectable by ordinary instruments. Indeed, like the Ego, it is even possible to deny that it is there.

Everything you fear is waiting for you in Chapel Perilous, but fear is failure and the forerunner of failure.

urgent message from Dreamland and scribbled quickly in his magickal diary, "Sirius is very i m p o r t a n t . " There was more, almost at the tip of my tongue, b u t I couldn't remember it.

During the A.M. I looked through my occult books, seeking references to the Dog Star, Sirius; although skeptical about astrology, I assumed that the Dream-message was some hint that the Sirius cycle should be part of my magick experiments in the future. Astrology seemed like nonsense to me, but I was willing to give it a try, in the open-ended manner of Dr.

Lilly's "Beliefs Unlimited" exercise.

In The Magical Revival by Kenneth Grant, who is one of the five claimants to being Crowley's successor as world leader of the Ordo Templi Orientis, I found:

Phoenix was Crowley's secret name in the Ordo Templi Orientis.... The Phoenix was also an ancient constellation in which Sothis, or Sirius, was the chief star . . . 3 7

In a later passage, even more strikingly, Grant makes this point about Crowley and Sirius:

Crowley identified the heart of (his magical) current with one particular Star. In Occult Tradition, this is "the Sun behind the Sun," the Hidden God, the vast star Sirius, or Sothis .. . 3 8

This was interesting, no d o u b t , b u t , since I had already skimmed parts of Grant's book, it d i d n ' t prove anything.

Nonetheless, it was definitely intriguing. The Skeptic went to town and browsed in the public library. Imagine my state of mind when I discovered t h a t this very day, July 23, when I had received the message "Sirius is very i m p o r t a n t , " is the day when, according to Egyptian tradition, the occult link (through hyperspace?) is most powerful between Earth and Sirius.

Celebrations of the Dog Star, Sirius, beginning on July 23, are the origin of the expression " d o g d a y s , " meaning the days from July 23 to September 8, when the last rituals to Sirius were performed.

The Skeptic was spaced-out for hours after reading that.

Was it possible . . . had he actually, through Crowley's invocation, turned on and tuned in to an Earth-Sirius channel used 87 by adepts since ancient Egypt?

Believe it or n o t , the very same day, July 2 3 , " t h e y , " or

" i t , " or whatever, delivered another jolt, just to underline the effect, perhaps. I picked up a book I'd started earlier in the week, Omar Garrison's Tantra: The Yoga of Sex, and found that, according to Bengali Tantrists, there is a five-day lag between the male and female sex-cycles, the female being 28 days and the male 23.39

Maybe my unconscious intuition, all through those years of noticing eerie 23s, had been groping to discover the Tantric 23-day male sex cycle.

Or maybe it had been struggling toward t h e annual July 23 Earth-Sirius synchro-mesh.

Maybe . . .

The Holy Guardian Angel

How the elephant got into my pajamas I'll never know.

—Marx, Animal Crackers

Once I began to perceive the mystic 23 as a central pivot of b o t h the Crowley-Tantra linkage and t h e Crowley-Sirius linkage, I was living in a belief-system where almost anything might happen and probably would.

("Perhaps the final secret of the Illuminati is that you don't know you're a member until it's too late to get out.") I re-examined my " m e m o r i e s " of having been in the Illuminati in the 18th century. According to data unearthed by hypnotist Jack Rowan in 1 9 7 1 , and again during my June 1973 invocation of the Holy Guardian Angel, I had been one

"Hans Zoesser" (1 7 4 0 - 1 8 1 2) , Grand Master of the Vienna lodge, and had participated in the initiation of Thomas Jefferson, no less, in Paris. The Skeptic didn't even believe in reincarnation, but neural storage certainly could remember key incidents in Zoesser's life as well as any in " R o b e r t Anton Wilson's" life.

Was the whole purpose of this four-dimensional coincidence-hologram to make " m e " realize t h a t both "Hans Zoesser" and " R o b e r t Anton Wilson" were fictions? Many people have had the experience of not knowing who they are or where they are; it usually happens in the first m o m e n t s after awakening in the morning. The Sufis say that y o u are closer to Illumination in that instant of micro-amnesia than at any other time.

Was this at last the illumination of the Illuminati—the experience of skepticism carried to the point where it abolishes itself and, since y o u can't believe anything fully, y o u are as free of skepticism as of any other philosophy and finally open to thinking the unthinkable?

Or was the final secret simply and bluntly that there really is an interstellar ESP channel to which y o u can tune in by metaprogramming y o u r nervous system?

At this point in the internal voyage the Shaman knows that he is far, far into the underground vaults of Chapel Perilous and that the way back to the robot-reality of the domesticated hive is not going to be easy. Or as a black pot-head once said to me (in an earlier period when I was playing Young White Hipster who hangs around with jazz musicians), "Man, you only k n o w y o u are laid, relayed and PARlayed, fucked, flustered and far from h o m e . "

It was necessary to conduct some experiments to determine that one was still able to communicate effectively with the hive—with those locked into what Blake called "single Vision and Newton's sleep." When it was established that such communication had not broken down, the Shaman and the Skeptic conferred at length, decided we were n o t actually going mad, and continued occult experimentation. The neuro-metaprogrammer adopted a belief system in which there was a real contact going on with Higher Intelligence—i.e., with the extraterrestrial from Sirius—or with the Holy Guardian Angel—or whatever it was . . .

Some of the intensified experiences were "merely subjective," b u t nonetheless tremendously important to the author, in ways t h a t even the Skeptic would admit were non-pathological. For instance, on one occasion, the entity spoke directly, in a melodious and angelic voice, to say, They live happiest who have forgiven most.

This is rather trite, one admits; all the major religions preach forgiveness. What was impressive was (a) the timing—the Struggling Writer was very pissed off, that week, at certain publishers who were slow in paying monies owed; and (b) the pragmatic emphasis, tailored to the Libertarian's hedonic philosophy at the time. It did not say, "Forgive, because 'God' demands it"; it said, "Forgive, and you will be happier." The Libertarian Hedonist tried it, and still is trying it, and it works. The fewer resentments y o u harbor, t h e happier y o u r life will be. Why are we all such fools as to ignore this obvious lesson, which a truly rational person would have figured out by the age of 8 or 9, if not sooner?

Other experiences were more objective. One d a y in 1974, when another publisher was late with monies owed, the Shaman decided to try a ritual of money-magick, to cause the check to arrive in Monday's mail. In the climax of the ritual, It spoke again, in the same richly solemn "angelic" voice, saying, " T h u r s d a y . " This was accompanied by a vision of the check in the mailbox. The Skeptic immediately communicated the prophecy to Arlen and to two neighbors, Charles Hixson and Stephen McAuley, who will confirm this.

The check did arrive on Thursday.

Mostly, the Holy Guardian Angel still communicated by synchronicity. I would look on page 23 of a new magazine, and there would be a line from a dream of the night before.

I must admit that most of these messages were nauseatingly moralistic and childishly optimistic by the standards of our cynical, swinish and despairing age. A lot of them involved the paradoxes of time.

Occasionally, the Angel would speak, to give me utterly trivial information. F o r instance, I'd meet somebody and the Angel would say, " G e m i n i . " I would ask, to check o u t the Angel's credibility, "Are y o u a Gemini?" The answer would be yes. These cases I firmly classified as my own mind expanding its ESP powers through the convenient fiction of an alien entity, and I disliked them intensely, as show-offy, corny and tending to turn me into a damned carnival act.

Then, abruptly, the entity would be quite exterior again, manifesting when I was depressed or worried, to pass on messages of cheer and love t h a t were too moving to be ignored.

I could not help but be grateful to it, whatever the hell it was.

Beings of Light, talking dogs, more extraterrestrials and other weird critters

The entity or entities contacted by me during July 1 9 7 3 -

October 1974 had most of the characteristics of the "being of light" described by persons who have been resuscitated after what is called near-death experience. Dr. Raymond Moody has collected 150 cases of this sort of vision, including many by persons w h o were declared "clinically d e a d " during the i n t e r l u d e . 4 0

Many cases showed real ESP—the revived subjects remember things they couldn't have observed while in the state of coma or clinical death, including things in other rooms of the hospital. Christians generally describe the "being of light" as Jesus, Jews as " a n angel," and nonbelievers agnostically say it is luminous, telepathic and intensely loving. The author found it to possess all of these qualities and also a damned peculiar sense of h u m o r . For instance, it talked apparent gibberish at times (just like the alleged extraterrestrials encountered by Uri Geller and Dr. Puharich). Most of the seeming gibberish concerned time, the future, and infinity, three phenomena on which everybody, including our greatest philosophers, seems to talk nonsense. But t h e entity always intently urged that I should try to understand time better.

I often had the feeling that the communicating entity was not incoherent at all but, rather, one's own mind could not grasp what it was trying to communicate.

This is typical of UFOs and of Fortean phenomena generally. Let us give some examples of the experience of others.

I. Consider the following illuminating dialogue between a " U F O n a u t " and a human being: UFOnaut: What time is it?

Human: Two-thirty.

UFOnaut: You he. It is four o'clock.

This incident occurred in France in 1954, and the UFO sped away immediately after the dialogue. The time actually w a s 2 : 3 0 . 4 1

Why did the " U F O n a u t " ask the time if It k n e w the answer already? Why lie a b o u t it, when the human had a watch and could detect the lie? Are we being invaded by the galactic equivalent of the Marx Brothers maybe? And why that damned 23 in 2:30?

Is somebody using Zen Discordianism to illuminate us?

I I . One day in 1908, a dog walked up to two police detectives on a street in Pittsburgh, said "Good m o r n i n g " politely, and then vanished in a puff of green s m o k e . 4 2

In keeping with modern cybernetic models of neurological processes, we can recount this story more objectively by saying that certain signals received by the nervous system of the detectives were organized by their metaprogrammer into an impression of a dog saying "Good morning" and vanishing in a puff of green smoke.

In keeping with the same cybernetic approach, it would not be perfectly objective to say that you are reading a book.

Rather, y o u are receiving signals which your metaprogrammer is organizing into the impression that y o u are reading a book.

I I I . In Brazil in 1 9 7 1 , two young men were riding in an automobile when they had the impression that a b u s was pulling up rather closely behind them. Then their metaprogrammers diverged. One man had the impression t h a t a flying saucer landed. He thought he was taken aboard and had t h e usual "trip to an alien planet." Next he found himself standing behind his car, which somebody had parked by the side of the road. The other man had the impression of a lapse of memory (or a j u m p in time?)

and simply found himself standing behind the car, with no recollection of w h o had stopped the car or how or when he had gotten out of i t . 4 3

There are at least three models for this experience.

One, a flying saucer grabbed both of them, experimented upon them, and then used a defective "memory-erasing ma-c h i n e , " which malfunctioned and only worked to erase the memory of one of the victims.

Two, there was some kind of abnormality in t h e Earth's electronic or magnetic field at that spot which administered a 92 traumatic shock. One victim had a hallucination of a flying saucer, and the other had a blackout.

Three, " T h e y " (sinister experimenters) were in that enigmatic bus t h a t came so close just before the mindfuck.

" T h e y " turned some kind of "mindfucking" machine on t h e two men . . .

More pancakes from outer space .. .?

Let's go back to those unfortunate detectives in Pittsburgh again and try it another way: An extraterrestrial scientist, with a parapsychology only a few million years ahead of ours, sent a thought-projection of a talking dog o n t o that street and then made it vanish in a puff of green smoke. He wanted to see h o w two trained detectives would react when their reality-mod el was abruptly contradicted. (This abrupt contradiction of a person's reality-model is known, in psychology, as cognitive dissonance. Those subjected to it tend to become either very flexible and agnostic or very rigid and schizophrenic.)

To paraphrase Charles Fort, we all like to think of ourselves as skeptical and hard to bamboozle, but if we contemplate a few more talking-dog and astral-pancake stories, the reader will find it hard to resist taking at least one peek around the room to see what Damned Thing might have gotten in during the last few minutes.

Starseed

The next step in whatever is wrong with me again involved T i m o t h y Leary.

I was conducting a series of experiments in July-August 197 3-following the Sirius Transmission—in which I attempted astral projection. I m e t all sorts of o d d and amusing entities on all sorts of astral planes, but none of those experiences ever developed into anything evidential. However, I was continually interrupted during my voyages by impressions of Leary doing similar experiments in his cell at Folsom. I also had visions of him flying over the walls of the prison.

9 3

I specifically mentioned these experiences of ESP-contact with Leary in an article on Tantric yoga, published in the Chicago Seed in September 1973.*

It was four years later, in 1977, that Lynn Wayne Benner, w h o was Leary's closest friend in Folsom, told me of the events of that August of 1973. According to Benner, Leary and he were not only doing the interstellar ESP experiments described below but also tried experiments at levitation, in which they attempted to fly over the walls of Folsom.

I wrote to the warden of Folsom in late August, and asked for permission to correspond with Dr. Leary. Bureaucratic red tape being what it is, this permission was delayed for several weeks.

Shortly after the telepathic flashes of Leary (July-August 1973) ended, Walter Culpepper, the attorney for P . R . O . B . E . - a Leary-created organization to abolish prisons—had a benefit for the Leary Defense Fund and P.R.O.B.E. Two rock groups played and then we were shown "At Folsom Prison With T i m o t h y Leary, P h . D . , " produced by Joanna Leary.

The film blew the Skeptic's mind. Timothy came on screen and immediately flashed the famous Love-Peace-Bliss grin at the camera—as if he were greeting visitors to his home.

We never saw a man look less like a suffering martyr. Tim took a chair and answered the interviewer's questions in a serious and thoughtful manner, explaining that he wasn't interested in drugs any more since they had only been "microscopes" to him: tools to reveal the focus and re-focus possibilities of the nervous system. He wanted to talk a b o u t something more exciting now— Outer Space. The interviewer kept leading him back to drugs, and Leary kept maneuvering back to Cosmic Dimensions.

I began to notice an odd thing: Timothy looked younger than he had in the 1960s.

Tim led the interviewer to ask about the strange design on his prison uniform. "This is Starseed," Tim said, proud as a new father. The emblem was that strange miniature infinity-sign, the nucleotide template formed as DNA imprints messenger-RNA to start a new growth program.

Copies of the Seed can be found in the collection of radical and underground political publications at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

Starseed, however, was not just any nucleotide template.

It was the one recently found on a meteor which landed in Orgeuil, France, when scientists examined the rock micro-scopically. It is the first chemical proof that the mechanism of chemical "intelligence"—the building of life-programs (RNA) out of information-codes (DNA)—exists elsewhere in the universe.

Starseed, Leary enthusiastically told the interviewer, proves that cellular intelligence is n o t exclusively earthly. It therefore increases the probable grounds to believe many forms of life and intelligence exist in space-time.

Other cons in Folsom, after Leary left, picked up the Starseed symbol, carved it on belts, painted it on sketch-pads, sewed it on clothing, and formed bull sessions to rap with Hal Olsen (life-termer, illustrator of Leary's Terra II) and Wayne Benner ("the Tuxedo Bandit" and one unit in Leary's four-person telepathy experiments) about the possibility of Higher Intelligence and the transcendental implications of modern science.

I meanwhile went on researching Sirius. I was quite moved, as y o u will readily understand, when I found the following in O.T.O. Grand Master Kenneth Grant's new book, Aleister Crowley and the Hidden God:

Crowley was aware of the possibility of opening the spatial gateways and of admitting an extraterrestrial Current into the human life-wave . . .

It is an occult tradition-and Lovecraft gave it persistent utterance in his writings—that some transfinite and superhuman power is marshalling its forces with intent to invade and take possession of this planet This is reminiscent of Charles Fort's dark hints about a secret society on earth already in contact with cosmic beings and, perhaps, preparing the way for their advent.* 4 4

This sounds more than a little sinister, and was especially eerie for me, since I had already incorporated into Illuminatus some other world is not attempting but has been, for centuries, in communication with a sect, perhaps, or a secret society, or certain esoteric ones of this earth's inhabitants."

Grant here quotes, in a footnote, from Fort's The Book of the Damned, "...

a variation on the Lovecraft mythos. Lovecraft has written several stories and novelettes in which the "Cthulhu c u l t " or some other secret society was aiding the schemes of hostile Aliens; I had attached this t h e m e to the Illuminati as a kind of deadpan put-on and laughed like hell at the thought that some naive readers would be d u m b enough to believe it. Now here it was being proclaimed by Kenneth Grant, w h o alleges that the Ordo Templi Orientis was formed in the 1890s by amalgamating P.B. Randolph's Hermetic Brotherhood of Light with the original Bavarian Illuminati. I t h o u g h t for the first time (as I was to think again, many times, during the Watergate Scandals), "My God, can't I invent any preposterous paranoid fantasy that doesn't have some t r u t h behind i t ? "

But Grant goes on to cheer us u p , if we are willing to trust him at this point:

Crowley dispels the aura of evil with which these authors (Lovecraft and Fort) invest the fact; he prefers to interpret it Thelemically, not as an attack upon human consciousness by an extra-terrestrial and alien entity but as an expansion of consciousness from within, to embrace other stars and to absorb their energies into a system that is thereby enriched and rendered truly cosmic by the process.

And then he adds, quite nonchalantly again, t h a t one star is especially important:

The Order of the Silver Star is thus the Order of the Eye of Set, "the Sun behind the Sun." . . . The Silver Star is Sirius.45

Magick, Technology or Both?

It is interesting, at this point, to attempt to argue, at least tentatively, that the phenomena we are discussing are reducible to Jung's categories of the "collective unconscious" and synchronicity. Certainly, these Jungian notions cover a great deal of whatever-the-hell-is-going-on, b u t they do not 9 6 cover all of it. Jung was brilliantly right in saying, in the 1950s, that the flying saucer phenomenon would become " a n important spiritual and religious transformation of humani t y . " 4 6 — a n d many UFOlogists, including Jacques Vallee and John Keel, have noted that the majority of Contactees eventually became embroiled in mystical or occult groups, sometimes even as the founders of Messianic new cults. But let nobody assume that the weirdness is, therefore, " m e r e l y " subjective.

UFOs have been reported by NASA mission in the following t a b l e . 4 7

Feb. 20,1962: John Glenn, Mercury capsule flight.

Three UFOs followed him.

May 24,1962: Scott Carpenter, Mercury VII. Photograph taken by Carpenter of UFO he saw.

May 30,1962: Joe Walton, X15. Photograph taken by Walton of five UFOs.

July 17,1962: Robert White, X15. White photographed several UFOs.

May 16,1963: Gordon Cooper, Mercury IX. Cooper saw a green UFO, also tracked by radar on the ground.

October 3,1963: Walter Schirra, Mercury VIII.

Schirra reported several UFOs.

March 8,1964: Russian Voshkod II. One UFO reported.

June 3,1964: Jim McDivitt, Gemini IV. McDivitt photographed several UFOs.

November 14,1969: Apollo XII. Conrad, Bean and Gordon reported a UFO that followed them from Earth to within 130,000 miles of the moon.

[This is only a partial list from The Edge of Reality, by J. Allen Hynek and Jacques Vallee, Regnery: Chicago, 1975.]

NASA cases fall in the category of craft that look and act like spaceships from elsewhere, as Dr. Hynek, w h o collected them from Air Force files, has indicated. The trouble is t h a t Hynek and Vallee, in the same book, have numerous 97 cases of things that behave in a way that no machine can possibly behave—jumping around at impossible accelerations or appearing and disappearing like a ghost in a horror movie. As Vallee, Keel and others have emphasized, the U F O is an adaptable beast, acting in a technological fashion when dealing with technologists and acting occult when dealing with occultists.

Brad Steiger proposes that the only safe generalization about UFOs is that they always fit into the cosmology of the human o b s e r v e r . . .

I even read a Freudian once, somewhere, w h o pointed out t h a t the UFOs come in two major t y p e s - r o u n d , discoid ones and long, cigar-shaped ones. The round ones, he said, were breast symbols and the long ones were phallic symbols.

Maybe.

Those mysterious Sufis

A man without God is like a fish without a bicycle.

—Found on the men's room wall,

Larry Blake's Pub, Berkeley, 1977

Before the summer of 1973 ended, the spookiness accelerated.

Illuminatus, still unsold two years after completion, was being proven partially true in the daily headlines. Shea and I had based our ultra-paranoid version of government on two main sources: (1) our own surrealistic imaginations and (2) letters to "The Playboy F o r u m " by individuals complaining t h a t the government was conspiring to destroy their civil liberties. The latter, of course, were subdivided, by ourselves and by Nat Lehrman and the executives of the Playboy Foundation, into two sub-classes: (a) the documented or documentable cases by sane individuals who really were catching hell from Nixon's counter-revolution and (b) the obviously paranoid who were imagining vast and incredible world-wide plots.

Only (a) got into the Forum or received financial aid from the 98

Playboy Foundation; (b), however, served the purposes of Illuminatus. If a story was paranoid enough, we adapted it into our epical satire, which was supposed to portray the most totally evil and devious government t h a t t h e most clinical paranoid could imagine.

Every day in 1973 t h e Watergate story made headlines.

Every day it appeared that the worst, the most absurd, the most incredible, the most depraved ideas in Illuminatus were the actual policies of the Nixon regime. We had tried to imagine Total Evil combined with Total Stupidity, but Nixon had actually lived out our fantasies.

The Shaman began to wonder: were all the paranoids right, or was his ESP more highly developed than he had ever dared imagine?

Meanwhile, I was getting poorer and poorer, and began to regret bitterly t h a t I had quit Playboy. I had been on unemployment for six months once, in my early 30s, and that was unpleasant. I always knew that I would be employed again, soon, and would be a great a u t h o r some day. Now, the Poor Fool found himself unemployed, not selling any of his writings for m o n t h s on end, and forced to apply for Welfare.

I was brutally turned d o w n , and spent nearly a whole day seriously considering t h e possibility that I, my wife and our four children might actually starve to death. It could happen; it did happen occasionally in this great and prosperous nation; and it was commonplace in Asia.

The Fool appealed and got on Welfare. It was not only bloody unpleasant but Goddamned frightening. A man in his 40s does not have t h e optimism of a man in his 30s. The Fool began to wonder if he would ever get off Welfare . . . if Illuminatus would ever be published . . . if he had finally arrived at the b o t t o m of the heap in America, the True Failure (Americanus Nondesirabilis).

I was continuing to investigate the Illuminati, now filter-ing the evidence through the hypothesis that they were a group of mystics w h o functioned as secret societies, not only because they were using sexual yoga (as I had deduced from Crowley's writings in 1971) but also because they had contact with Higher Intelligences elsewhere in space-time. Naturally, Metaprogramming Center found evidence to support this.

99

Akron Daraul, in his History of Secret Societies, traces the Illuminati back to the Ishmaelian sect of Islam, a quasi-Sufic organization which used sex-and-hashish to program higher states of consciousness. Louis Culling also traces Crowley's magick tradition back to medieval Sufis who were contemporaries of, and presumably influenced b y , t h e Ishmaelians. Francis King, the leading (non-paranoid) occult historian of our time, quotes official Ordo Templi Orientis documents, written either by Crowley or under Crowley's super-vision, which claim that t h e O.T.O. was founded by Mansur el Hallaj, a medieval Sufi s a i n t . 4 8

The Sufis have always claimed to be in communication with Higher Intelligences, j u s t like the early Gnostics, from whom many historians believe Sufism derives. A Sufi philosopher, Idries Shah, in a book of strange parables called The Dermis Probe, says his purpose is to illustrate "some of the peculiarities of thought in the country which is t o d a y ' s world, seen by its inhabitants and by those who call themselves visitors." (Italics a d d e d .) 4 9

As soon as the Fool entered the belief-system in which the Illuminati were Sufis living in the Western world and continuing this millennia-old contact with Higher Intelligence, the phenomenon intersecting his life adjusted itself to support this theory. He had a weird experience with a Sufi.

My son Graham went to Berkeley to visit with friends for the summer. He was supposed to phone h o m e once a week, but of course he d i d n ' t always do so. One day, I got a lecture engagement at the First Unitarian Church in Berkeley and Arlen asked me to try to find Graham and insure t h a t he was not in any trouble. Finding one 14-year-old boy in a city the size of Berkeley is n o t easy, but after my lecture I tried wandering around, hoping my ESP would click into action and direct me on the right p a t h .

Greg Hill, Bill Broadbent and I wandered into Tilden Park, watching some clowns perform. Graham was not in the crowd, so I wanted to move on. Bill insisted that we wait a while. The Shaman became interested in one particular clown, Parcifal, recognizing some of his stunts as Sufi exercises to activate higher-circuit consciousness.

The Sufis are notorious for disguising themselves as 100 clowns, but this was the first time I had actually seen it done.

"That guy's a Sufi," I said to Greg and Bill.

After the act, Greg went up to Parcifal and asked directly, "Are you a Sufi?"

"Are y o u also on the P a t h ? " Parcifal rejoined.

" N o , " Greg said, indicating me, "he said you're a Sufi."

Parcifal turned. "Are vow on the P a t h ? " he asked.

"Well, I'm on some Path or o t h e r , " I said. We got into a rap about Sufism and the Western occult tradition and how both link up with Gnosticism and the Egyptian mysteries.

Finally, the Father said, "I have to leave. I'm looking for my s o n . "

"You'll find h i m , " Parcifal said.

The F a t h e r walked about ten paces and saw Graham sitting in Hard castle's restaurant on Telegraph Avenue.

"We're going back to Telegraph," I told Bill and Greg.

The trip took a half-hour. When we arrived, Graham and two friends had just entered before us. Graham was not in Hardcastle's when I saw him there. The Oracle had seen ac-cross time as well as across space.

Graham, Greg Hill and Bill Broadbent will all confirm this story. Good old Martin Gardner, spokesman for the Fundamentalist wing of the Materialist church, will say they're all liars. So it goes.

That evening, the Numerologist looked up "Parcifal" in Crowley's Cabalah, just for the hell of it. Cabalah, of course, is all superstition and nonsense, but it is alleged, by those who believe in it, to be a decoding system for discovering t h e occult meaning of strange events. By Cabalah, Parcifal = 418

= " T h e Great Work Accomplished," i.e., the total awakening of all humanity.

When I tried to find Parcifal again, he had left America.

He was in Israel, other Sufis told me, operating a home for Jewish and Arab children orphaned in the continuous Israeli-Arab wars.

101

A message from Cosmic Central?

In October 1 9 7 3 , 1 finally received permission to begin corresponding with Dr. Leary at Folsom Prison. I started out with a letter about t h e general philosophical implications of tuning the nervous system to higher fidelity of signal-reception and very carefully did not mention my July 23 experience with Sirius. (I was fairly sure that my July-August impressions that Timothy was doing telepathic experiments had been accurate, but I had no idea yet that he was attempting interstellar telepathy.) Tim's answer was full of characteristic h u m o r :

The prison administration is perfect. They act as a Van Allen belt protecting my privacy, screening out distractions . . . The people they refuse visiting priv-ileges are exactly those people who come to exploit me or whose love for me is flawed.

(My gratitude toward the prison warden must not be misunderstood. They are too possessive and jea-lous—terrible states to be in. Their love and dependence on me are too restricting. They are terrorized that I might leave them . . . in the lurch, so to say.

This is unhealthy for them .. .)*

I wrote back, b u t remained mum about Sirius. Instead, just for the hell of it, I used my official Discordian Society letterhead.

The stationery bears the imprint of the Joshua Norton Cabal, this being a Cabal of the Discordian Society located in the Bay A r e a - o t h e r Cabals including the Tactile Temple of Eris Erotic in Los Angeles, the Colorado Encrustation in Den-ver, the J o h n Dillinger Died for You Society in Chicago, etc.

T i m o t h y , however, seems to have thought Joshua N o r t o n Cabal was the name of a living person. Actually, Joshua Norton—or Norton I, as he preferred—was a San Franciscan of the last century who elected himself Emperor of the United States and Protector of Mexico. Bay Area historians still argue as to whether Norton was a psychotic or a clever con-man; in any event, he was " h u m o r e d " by t h e citizenry of the time and, in effect, lived like an Emperor. As Greg Hill, co-founder of Discordianism, has written, "Everybody understands Mickey Mouse. Few understand Herman Hesse. Hardly anybody understands Einstein. And nobody understands Emperor Nort o n . " (The Discordian Society, we repeat again, is not a complicated j o k e disguised as a new religion but really a new religion disguised as a complicated joke.)

Because Leary had already escaped from one California prison, the authorities at Folsom originally placed him in "the hole," a solitary confinement cell in the basement of the maximum security building.

Timothy replied:

Dear Bob . . .

Quick response . . . to indicate that transmission is working well from this galaxy to yours.

Your stationery amazed me . . . could you explain any of it? Like ODD3140AM lbii? And who is Joshua Norton Cabal?

Actually the Warden here is very protective of me.

He is like a gruff Zen abbot. He doesn't want me to be bothered with visits or correspondence which would bring me down, slow up my scientific work etc. As long as I sit in my cell and write science fiction books . . . everyone is happy.

Yes, G.I. Gurdjieff is my direct successor. I have never doubted that his baraka was transferred to m e . . .

perhaps by some intermediary. I love Him and I resonate to his wisdom more than anyone else's.

Crowley . . . the coincidences-synchronicities between my life and His are embarrassing. Brian Barritt and I had a visionary experience Easter Sat-Sun in Bou Saada, the Algerian town where C. had his.

Etc.

The Libertarian wrote back discussing the odd links between Leary's work and that of Crowley and Gurdjieff, and mentioning the evidence that the latter two were both taught certain advanced techniques of consciousness-expansion by the Sufi lodges of the Near East. He also mentioned that Rasputin might have had the same sort of Sufi training during his wanderings.

Leary's reply blew his mind:

Dear Bob . . .

Loved your letter . . .

Are you in touch with teachings, methods, teachers, etc. that transmit Higher Intelligence. That you 103 are totally hooked into?

If so, would you tell me.

I don't believe in secrets...

I believe that Higher Intelligence can be contacted and have described how to do it and what They transmit, etc. Have you contacted Joanna. Ask Her to send you a copy of Terra II.

You mention that Crowley, G. and Rasputin may have had contact with some Sufi lodge. Do you think this "lodge" actually exists in the human sense of Masters in the Middle East who send G and C and R out as emissaries? This is the most exciting idea I've puzzled over for ten years.

I have seen what can be transmitted through one unit. The one that I belonged to. Where are the others? . . .

I am amazed that you haven't contacted Michael Horowitz.

Mike Horowitz, a thin, intense, brilliant guy, is Director of the Fitzhugh Ludlow Memorial Library in San Francisco—a psychopharmacological archive full of rare literature on drugs—scientific, propagandistic (government), literary, or j u s t journalistic. When the Investigator got in t o u c h with Mike Horowitz, he heard, for t h e first time, about the Starseed Transmissions.

Meanwhile, Dr. Leary was shifted from Folsom to Vacaville and communication with him temporarily shorted-out.

Once again, I had to apply for permission to correspond, fill out the right forms when they were finally mailed, and then wait for the new warden's decision. The Libertarian felt increasingly like one of the scholars of the Middle Ages, trying to keep up communication with a fellow investigator while the Holy Inquisition created as much static as possible.

It should be remembered, in evaluating the Starseed signals, that, a few m o n t h s before this experience, three government psychiatrists testified (at the escape trial) t h a t Dr. Leary was perfectly sane and possessed a high I.Q. Since so many ex-tremists of Left and Right have impugned Dr. Leary's sanity, it should also be entered in the record that Dr. Wesley Hiler, a staff psychologist at Vacaville, who spoke to Dr. Leary every day (often to ask Tim's advice) emphatically agrees with that 104 verdict. " T i m o t h y Leary is totally, radiantly sane," he told me in a 1973 interview.

As recounted in Terra II, during July-August 1973, Dr.

Leary had formed a four-person telepathy team in an attempt to contact Higher Intelligences elsewhere in the galaxy. (This was in the middle of the "dog d a y s , " when I was having my first (real or hallucinatory) Contacts with Sirius.) The persons involved were: Dr. Leary and his wife, Joanna; fellow prisoner Wayne Benner: and Wayne's girl-friend, a journalist who prefers to be known as Guanine.

The Starseed Transmissions—"hallucinations" or whatever—were received in 19 bursts, seldom in recognizable English sentences, requiring considerable meditation and discussion between the four Receivers before they could be summarized, eventually, into the following message:

It is time for life on Earth to leave the planetary womb and leam to walk through the stars.

Life was seeded on your planet billions of years ago by nucleotide templates which contained the blueprint for gradual evolution through a sequence of bio-mechanical stages.

The goal of evolution is to produce nervous systems capable of communicating with and returning to the Galactic Network where we, your interstellar parents, await you.

Life on planet Earth has now reached this halfway point, established itself, and evolved through larval mutations and metamorphoses to the seven brain stages.

At this time the voyage home is possible.

Assemble the most intelligent, advanced, courageous of your species, divided equally between men and women. Let every race, nationality, and religion be represented.

You are about to discover the key to immortality in the chemical structure of the genetic code, within which you will find the scripture of life. The time has come for you to accept the responsibility of immortality. It is not necessary for you to die.

You will discover the key to enhanced intelligence within the chemistry of the nervous system. Certain chemicals, used wisely, will enable your nervous system 105 to decipher the genetic code.

All life on your planet is a unity. All life must come home.

Total freedom, responsibility and interspecies harmony will make the voyage possible. You must transcend larval identities of race, culture and nationality.

Your only allegiance is to life. The only way you will survive is to make the voyage home.

The Japanese people are the most advanced race on your planet and will give protection to the company.

We are sending a comet to your solar system as a sign that the time has come to look to the stars.

When you arrive back home you will be given new instructions and powers. Your sperm ship is the flower of terrestrial life. As soon as the company is formed and the voyage begun, war, poverty, hatred, fear will disappear from your planet and the most ancient prophecies and celestial visions will be realized.

Mutate!

Come home in glory.

In the following m o n t h s , Comet Kohoutek, as predicted in the Transmissions, arrived in the solar system and sped in-ward toward the sun, while astronomers announced an unprecedented spectacle and Leary's disciples chortled at the confirmation.

Then the comet fizzled, leaving us wondering.

Some Egyptian gods intrude on the narrative and Our Lady of Space speaks again

In 1904, in one of the most extraordinary magickal experiences of his life, Aleister Crowley contacted a Higher Intelligence named Aiwass, w h o dictated to him The Book of the Law. In what follows, we will show some imagistic links between this Book and the Starseed Signals—but first, a few details about how Crowley received this strange d o c u m e n t : Aleister and his first wife, Rose, were in Cairo, Egypt, 106 when Rose began going spontaneously into trances and muttering "They are waiting for y o u , " and similar urgent b u t unintelligible phrases. Crowley did not like this at all, since it is typical of the uncontrolled, quasi-hysterical trances of spiri-tualist mediums (whom he despised) and lacked the elements of willed concentration and rational control that he demanded of his magick experiments. Nonetheless, despite his attempts to banish the p h e n o m e n o n , it kept coming back, and finally, in one of Rose's trances, Crowley set a series of tests for the alleged communicating entity. He asked Rose, for instance, to describe the aura of the being, and she said "deep b l u e " ; he asked the character of the being, and she said "force and fire"; he asked her to pick the being from drawings of ten Egyptian gods, and she picked Horus. She also identified Horus' planet (Mars), and so forth for a series of similar questions. Crowley then calculated the odds against her being right in all cases—for instance, guessing Mars had a 1/9 probability, there being 9 planets, picking Horus out of 10 drawings had a 1/10 probability, etc. The chance of her guessing right on the whole series by chance was, mathematically,

1/21,168,000. (The long-suffering skeptical reader may resist the "reality" of Horus by accepting the less bizarre theory that Rose was simply reading Aleister's mind.)

The next day, Crowley took Rose to the Boulak Museum and asked her to identify the communicant from the statues and paintings there. She walked past several depictions of Horus—the ever-cynical Aleister watching, he says, in "silent glee"—and then stopped at a stele showing a dark woman bending over a winged globe, a hawk-headed god and a human male. "This is the o n e , " she said, pointing to the hawk-headed god, Horus. The stele was numbered 666 by the museum officials, and t h a t was a synchronicity t h a t got Aleister's immediate attention. He had been using 666 as his own magick number for y e a r s . 5 0

Crowley decided to cooperate, and back at his hotel accepted a light trance in which The Book of the Law was dictated to him in a "rich b a r i t o n e " by an invisible being. The book opens:

Stele 666 from the Boulak museum, Cairo. The goddess is Nuit, the deity Horus, and the .human appears to be one Ankh-f-na-Khonsu, a priest, whose tomb this originally adorned. Note the winged globe and see the illustrations on page 112.

Had! The manifestation of Nuit.

The unveiling of the company of heaven.

Every man and every woman is a star.

Nuit, the Egyptian divinity of the stars, seems to tell us, in these opening verses, that we are Her children. She goes on to declare:

I am above you and in you. My ecstasy is in yours.

My joy is to see your joy. [Italics added.]

The union of mankind with the stars is precisely forecast: They shall gather my children into their fold; they shall bring the glory of the stars into the hearts of men.

And the sign shall be my ecstasy, the consciousness of the continuity of existence, the omnipresence of my body

For I am divided for love's sake, for the chance of union.

This seems a vividly poetic pre-statement of Leary's theory that Higher Intelligence is "divided," by sending out DNA seed to fertilize every womb-planet in the galaxy, "for the chance of u n i o n , " the return of these " c h i l d r e n " after they have evolved past the larval circuits into higher modes of consciousness.

I love you! I yearn to you! . . . Put on the wings, and arouse the coiled splendor within you: come unto me! [Italics added.]

The Star-Mother, Nuit, is definitely calling us home, to Galactic Center. The "coiled splendor" may even suggest the DNA helix within which, Leary and other investigators now think, is the secret of immortality. But shortly comes a more interesting text:

Is a God to live in a dog?

A reference to the great Dog Star, Sirius? Instructions on contacting this Intelligence are quite specific: To worship me take wine and strange drugs where-of I will tell my prophet & be drunk thereof!

The Immortality Pill is directly mentioned: Think not, 0 King, upon that lie: That Thou Must Die: verily thou shalt not die, but live.

109

In Chapter Three, Horus, the war-god, takes over and makes some ferocious predictions about the 20th century: Now let it be understood first that I am a god of War and Vengeance. I shall deal hardly with them . . .

I am the Warrior Lord of the Forties; the Eighties cower before me & are abased.51

Now, this is not terribly bad as prophecy of the 20th century, for a book produced in 1904—when the majority opinion of Europe was t h a t war had been banished from the civilized nations forever.

It seems clear that the Starseed Transmissions acquired a rather heavy T i m o t h y Leary flavor in passing through the Leary nervous system, j u s t as the Book of the Law took on an undeniably Crowleyan aroma in passing through Aleister's neurons; but the underlying message is hauntingly similar.

A few other oddities about the Book of the Law and the Stele of Revealing are worth noting. Crowley was an avid Cabalist and spent years examining the Cabalistic numbers for key words in the text. This is based on the traditional assumption that Cabalistic numerology is a code worked out millennia ago for communication between humans and Higher Intelligence. Be as cynical about that as y o u will, b u t consider the data: All the important words, Crowley gradually realized, had the value of 93 in Greek Cabala. (He thereafter referred to his magick work as " t h e 93 current," and Crowleyans to this day speak of their work as carrying on the 93 current.)

93 is also the cabalistic numeration of the word Thelema, the " w o r d " of the New Age, according to the communicating entity. The Abbey of Thelema, in Rabelais, had the m o t t o

" D o what thou wilt." The Book of the Law says, " D o what t h o u wilt shall be the whole of the law." Thelema, in Greek, means either will or the cdsting of a magick spell. Aiwass, the "Holy Guardian Angel" presiding over this Contact, also has the value 9 3 . And Agape (love), another key word in the text, is again 9 3 . The name of " G o d " in Genesis (Alhim) contains the value of IT to four places (3.1415); add Crowley's 93 and you get 7r accurate to six places (3.141593).

The second major number in the book is 4 1 8 , which "coincidentally" was the number of Crowley's h o m e in Inverness, 110

Scotland. Its standard Cabalistic meaning is " t h e Great Work accomplished," or the Illumination of all humanity. Crowley interpreted this to mean that his mission was not to illuminate a few, as other gurus have done and are doing, but to set in motion occult forces which would result in the illumination of all, by the end of this century; 4 1 8 is also the value of "Parcifal," the Sufi whose life so o<Mly interesected mine in that mad summer of 1973.

The Stele of Revealing contains, in addition to Nuit, Horus and Ankh-f-na-Khonsu, a mysterious winged globe. Dr.

Jacques Vallee, in The Invisible College, gives several other forms of the winged globe from Egyptian and Gnostic sources and points o u t t h e similarity to modern sketches of UFOs by witnesses or Contactees.

The winged globe, with an eye in it, appears in an ancient Assyrian seal found by astronomer Temple and reproduced in his Sirius Mystery. In this case, it is accompanied by Oannes, the water-god, w h o m Temple identifies as probably an extraterrestrial visitor from Sirius. Note the fish-tail on Oannes.

Now look at illustration on page 113, which is a drawing from the Dogon tribe of Africa, snowing N o m m o , whom they claim was a visitor from Sirius; note the similar fish-tail.

Dr. J o h n Lilly, who has duplicated much of T i m o t h y Leary's research and supplemented it with hypnotic methods and Sufi yoga, describes many encounters with what seem to be extraterrestrial intelligences in his Programming and Metaprogramming the Human Biocomputer. Dr. Lilly agnostically examines also the possibilities that these transmitters are time-travelers from the future, very advanced Illuminati Adepts alive now on earth, "angels" in the traditional sense, or projected aspects of his own mind. In The Center of the Cyclone he says clearly:

Such a network [of Adepts] exists and functions...

throughout this planet. I suspect it extends/farther than our earth, but this is yet to be publicly demonstrated unequivocally beyond the private experience of myself and others. [Italics a d d e d .] "

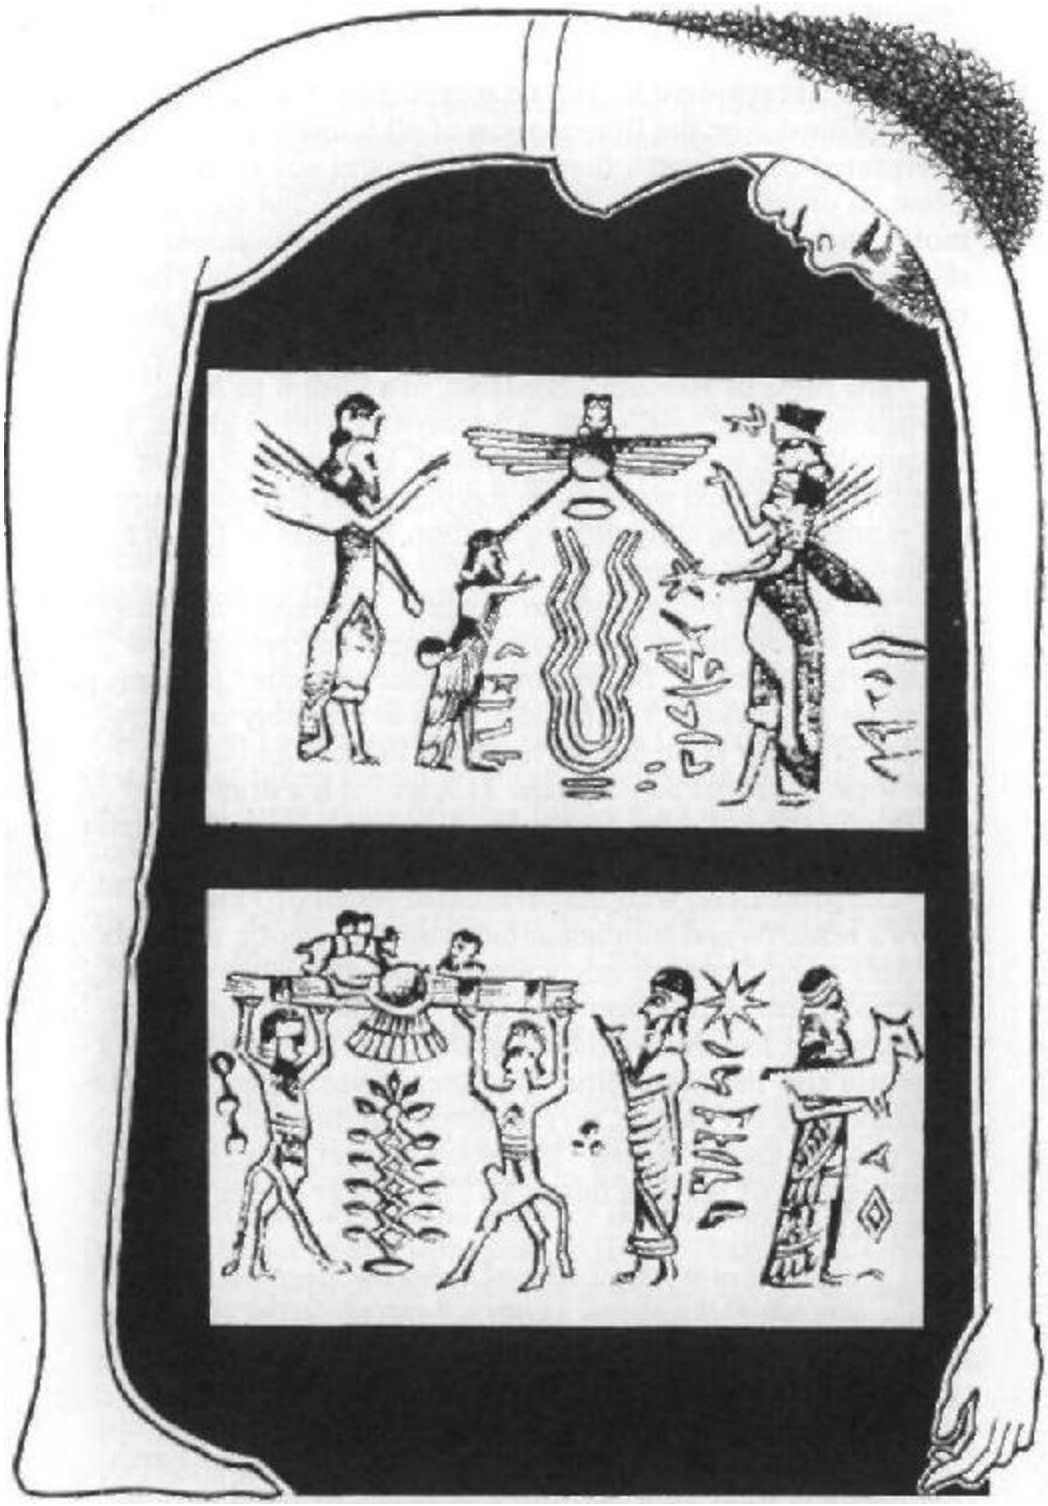
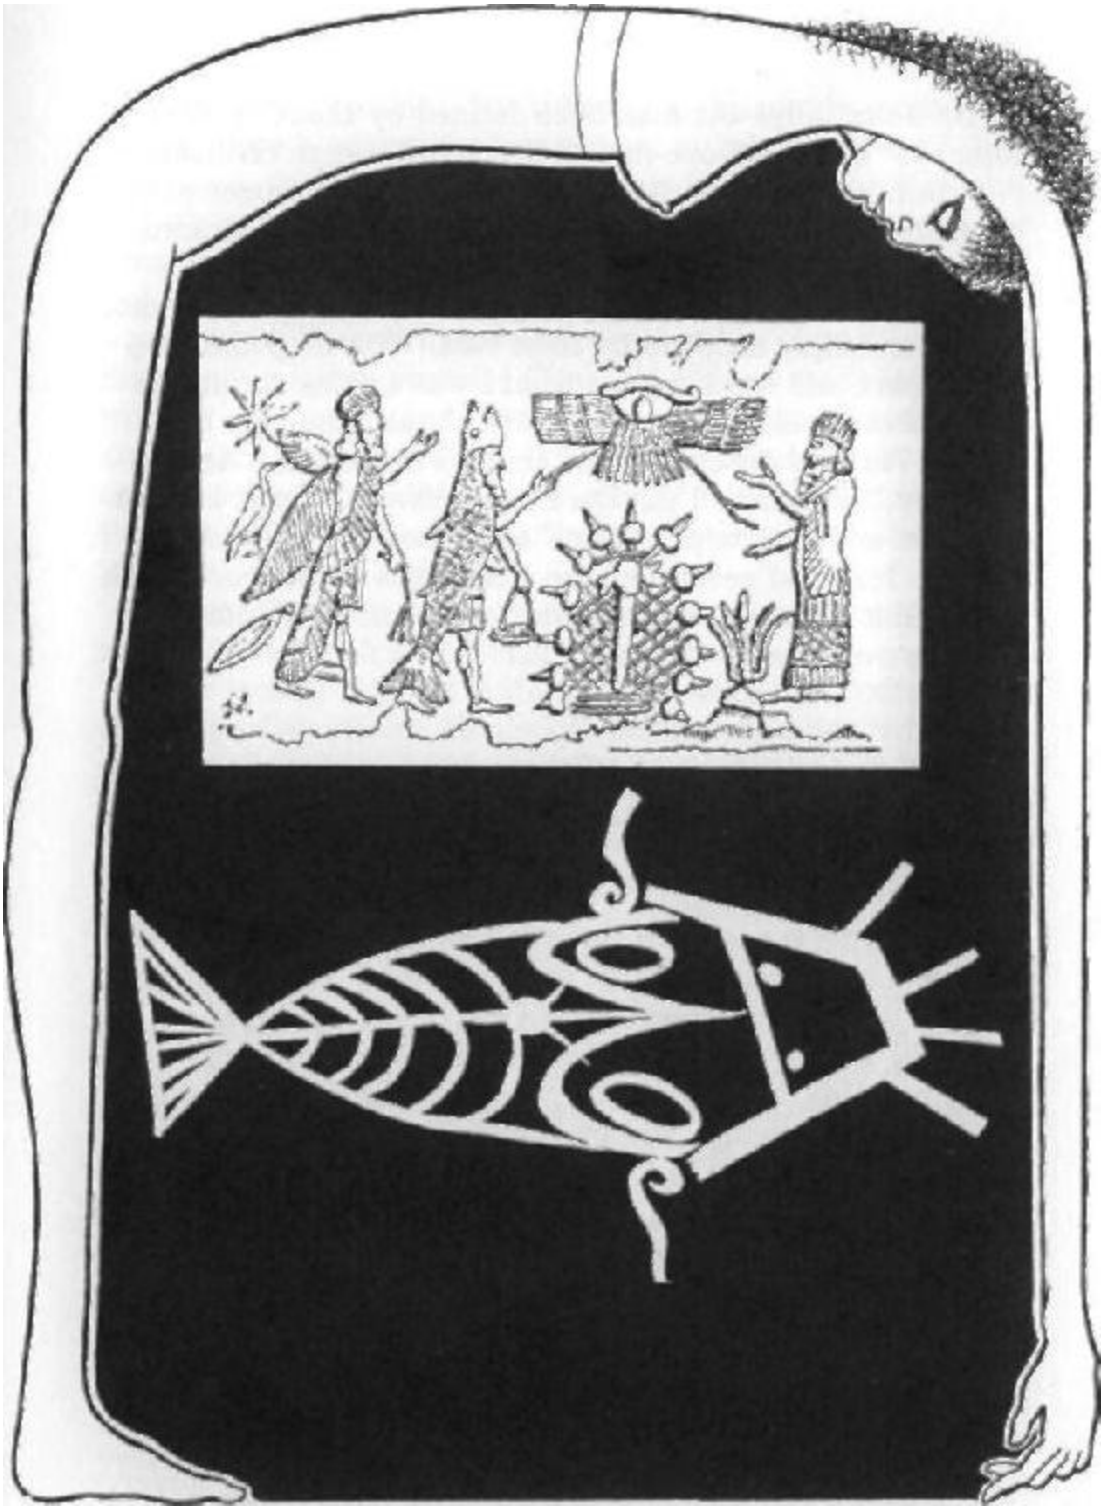
A network of adepts t h a t extends far beyond our Earth

. . . that was what your narrator was gradually coming to believe, and here it was being said, with only slight reservation, 111



The Winged Globe from the Stele of Revealing appears in many ancient Mediterranean initiatory cults. Here are two examples collected by Dr.

Jacques Vallee.



The design pictured at the top is from Assyria and is several thousand years old. That at the bottom is from the Dogon tribe and is contemporary. The Dogon say their fishtailed figure is from Sirius, and astronomer Temple claims that the Assyrian design shows the same extraterrestrial with a fishtail.

by Dr. J o h n Lilly—the man once defined by the New York Times as "a walking one-man syllabus of Western civilization."

But permission to visit Dr. Leary had finally been granted by prison authorities and I was to hear even more extraordinary theories from him.

(And just as I finished typing the above section, psychologist Jean Millay dropped by for a visit. With no prompting on my part, and not knowing what I was writing a b o u t , she spontaneously launched into a story about a time she had painted Nuit on the ceiling of a friend's bedroom. "And on her belly," she said, "I put the Eye of Horus." Look back at page 108 and note where Horus' head is on the Stele of Revealing. Jean had never seen the stele and was intrigued when I showed it to her. Cosmic Coincidence Control Center is working overtime on this case . . .)

A visit to CMF

Vacaville is one of those little California towns t h a t look as conventionally p r e t t y as a brand-new starlet j u s t getting the taste of producer's semen out of her m o u t h and flouncing merrily through a screen test. When y o u get there in the morning, on G r e y h o u n d , the birds are singing and the sun is high and golden, and everything is clean and bright and y o u can't believe y o u ' r e heading toward a combination prison-and-madhouse where men are caged like beasts.

The cab from the Greyhound station to the prison costs exactly a dollar and the cabbie calls your destination " C M F " when he speaks on the shortwave to his office. CMF-California Medical Facility—has a reputation in some quarters that Dr. Frankenstein's laboratory can hardly beat. Gay libbers, radical therapists, civil libertarians and other soreheads have commented, on occasion, t h a t the methods of psycho-surgery and aversive therapy t h a t have been used there to " c u r e " sexual deviates have more in common with Bull Conners' cattle-prods than with anything therapeutic; b u t that's the psychi-atric side of Vacaville, where they keep the people they think 114 they are trying to help. The other side, the purely punitive side, is more h u m a n e ; the inmates are merely caged until their time is u p , and then let go. Nobody is trying to " c u r e " them, and it's only a medium-security setup; getting shipped there, from another prison, is a reward for good conduct.

After going through the usual red tape, the Libertarian was shown into a visiting room considerably more decent than many prisons provide. Cons and visitors sat at tables, without screens or glass between them, and shared coffee and sandwiches from machines. It was n o t m u c h different from any school cafeteria in the land, except t h a t some men held their w o m e n ' s hands so hungrily t h a t y o u almost reeled from the pain of sexual frustration.

T i m o t h y Leary came in the door at the other end of the room with an Irish grin spread across his face.

He looked into the Author's eyes, with the inoffensive curiosity of an infant. He looked me up and d o w n , with the same innocent awe; I expected him to sniff me next, like a dog. Instead, he grinned again and said t h a t I was in great shape. From a n y b o d y else, that would have been mere politeness; from Tim Leary, after an intense inspection, it was a favorable diagnosis.

He led me to another visiting area, where we sat at a table with our sandwiches and coffee. He was commenting excitedly on my most recent letter to h i m , and insisting t h a t I must begin corresponding at once with an English poet named Brian Barritt. Leary is very sober indeed when explaining a technical point; the famous grin goes away entirely, and his concentration goes into intense commitment to total clar-ity. It was made obvious that neither Barritt nor I could af-ford to write a n o t h e r line until we had gotten our heads in synch, since we were exploring the same elephant from two sides.

The elephant was named Aleister Crowley, and Leary himself had been scrutinizing that odd Beast for the past few years also.

In Switzerland, during his exile, Leary was shown a deck of Crowley's Tarot cards. To test its divinatory power, he asked "Who am I and what is my d e s t i n y ? " Then he cut to a single card and got t h e Ace of Discs. This shows a large disc 115 bearing the Greek letters TO MEGA THERION* (The Great Beast), Crowley's name for himself. Leary interpreted this to mean that he is Crowley Reborn, and is supposed to complete the work Crowley began, preparing humanity for cosmic consciousness.

(The Confessions of a Hope Fiend, Leary's account of his jailbreak and his m o n t h s in Algiers with Eldridge Cleaver, is deliberately titled to recall Crowley's Diary of a Dope Fiend.) Dr. Leary of course did n o t take the doctrine of reincarnation literally. In his terminology, everybody who makes a strong impression on your nervous system reincarnates with you. In this sense, Leary feels that he reincarneates everyone from Socrates onward who has sent a time-binding signal that changed his nervous system on reception.

Dr. Leary was explaining this when David Hilliard wandered over to our table. David is a former Black Panther who once got busted for saying in public that Nixon should be assassinated. He was in Vacaville for "assaulting" a policeman.

Tim and David rapped about Eldridge Cleaver for a while, and David seemed rather embarrassed about Cleaver's treatment of Tim in Algiers.

"I didn't understand Eldridge until I got to F o l s o m , "

Tim said. "He's just the toughest guy in t h e cell-block, that's all. The King, y o u k n o w . "

Hilliard nodded with profound sadness. "We've all got the Oppressor inside ourselves," he said.

Tim introduced the Libertarian. "This is R o b e r t Anton Wilson, one of the wisest men on the planet E a r t h , " he said.

David and I shook hands. I felt somewhat overwhelmed by the introduction and wondered inanely if I should try to say something Wise to justify Tim's hyperbole.

I was remembering what Dr. Israel Regardie once said about Aleister Crowley: that the Beast got into most of his troubles by trusting t h e wrong people. When y o u turn on the higher neurological circuits, Regardie said, y o u are quite apt to imagine that everybody else is there with y o u . " S o m e of the Hindu gurus honestly believe everybody they see is in Samadhi with t h e m , " Regardie added, "and Crowley often had the same illusion."

•By Cabala, TO MEGA THERION = 666.

After we chatted some more with David Hilliard and he finally went off to see someone else, Timothy started to outline his ideas about the higher neurological circuits turned on by psychedelics. It was his opinion t h a t these circuits evolved for use in outer space, not merely for getting blissed-out on the earthside trip. All the shamans and mystics who opened these circuits knew they had something to do with cosmic energy, he said, but they didn't k n o w the why, the how, and the next step.

We potentially have eight circuits, he said. The first four are linear and designed for use on Earth. They underlie Euclidean space, Newtonian time, the whole " s q u a r e " mentality.

Imprinted with the local, "tribal" games or value-systems, these circuits narrow the polymorphous infant into an adjusted adult with one personality, one sex-role, one system of coordinates—"usually conservative and mildly paranoid, to mesh with the conservative and mildly paranoid local value-system." he said ironically.

The four later, still-evolving circuits activated by shamans and mystics are not just an " e s c a p e " from the anxiety of the dualistic ego, he said. " Y o u aren't supposed to just turn them on, go into bliss, and sink into a hedonistic silk-lined womb.

That's just the input stage, comparable to t h e adolescent drop-out into compulsive masturbation when the Sex Circuit first turns on.

" Y o u should then go on to find the program, the proper use of the new energies," Tim continued. " T h e pot-head w h o sits around blissed-out hasn't found out yet what pot is for, what rapture imprints do to all the earlier imprints. The acid-head or the guru who has turned on the ecstasy circuit and just blissed himself out is again just taking the input and n o t doing anything with it. Transcendental Masturbation.

"The real meaning of acid w o n ' t be clear until we live normally in free-fall," Leary insisted. "When the up-down dualism of the domination-submission circuit goes, the other dualisms start to go also. The first four imprints—statistically normal consciousness through most of our history—will crumble. Right now, the astronauts all show some kind of altered awareness, to a greater or lesser degree. Ed Mitchell 117 already realizes the linkage between his spiritual experience in space and the old occult and mystic traditions. T h a t ' s why he's formed the Institute for Noetic Studies and plunged into parapsychology and ESP."

The most important events of the next three decades, Leary predicted, will be the invention of an immortality pill and a pill that simulates the death experience w i t h o u t killing the person taking it.

Tim forecasted the longevity pill in Terra II, p u b - lished in January 1973, saying it would appear around 1980.

One m o n t h later, in February, Michigan State University released the information that they were researching a pill t h a t might extend life to 2 0 0 years. In April, Dutton published The Immortality Factor by Osborn Segerberg, Jr., which reviews current research on aging and predicts a life-extension pill by 2 0 0 0 or so.

Dr. Leary doesn't insist t h a t a literal immortality formula will be found that quickly, of course. Rather, he feels t h a t extension of life to around 400 years is most probable; t h e n , those who live a few centuries will acquire further medical technology expanding life into millennia, h u n d r e d s of thousands of years, millions . ..

"I expect to be alive when the solar system has burned up SVi billion years from n o w , " he said happily. " N o b o d y in this generation has to die, unless they want t o . "

A simulated death-pill, creating the neurological equivalent of death without actually killing the body, will also be along in a few decades, Leary also predicted that day in Vacaville. This will complete the work of LSD in re-imprinting old circuits through ritual death-and-rebirth in one b o d y . "I call it serial reincarnation," he said.

Interstellar ESP may have been going on for all our history, Tim went on, but we j u s t haven't understood. Our nervous systems have translated their messages into terms we could understand. The "angels" who spoke to Dr. Dee, the Elizabethan scientist-magician, were extraterrestrials, but Dee couldn't comprehend them in those terms and considered them "messengers from G o d . " The same is true of m a n y other shamans and mystics.

Leary spoke warmly of Carl Sagan, the astronomer, who 118 visited him at Vacaville. "A brilliant man, brilliant," Tim said. In fact Tim has recently renamed his own specialty Exo-Psychology in imitation of Dr. Sagan's coining of the term Exo-Biology. Both sciences a t t e m p t to deduce the characteristics of life and consciousness throughout the galaxy, based on mounting astronomical evidence t h a t Earth is more typical than atypical. The galactic intelligences who are more advanced than we are, Tim said, can be regarded as our own genetic future—the embodiment of levels of consciousness toward which we are still evolving.

But Leary was not keen about Sagan's Project Cyclops, an a t t e m p t to contact Higher Intelligence by building enormous radio receivers to scan the galaxy for meaningful signals. "Why passively wait for them to make the first m o v e ? "

Tim asked rhetorically. "Are we adolescents so unsure of ourselves t h a t we can't take the initiative? I want to go cruising," he said emphatically, emphasizing the sexual metaphor with a lustful grin.

Only once in five hours did Leary mention t h e fact that he was in prison. " I ' m so high," he said briefly, " t h a t I forget where I am. Then, occasionally, there are kinds of research I can't do here, and I realize I should really try to get o u t . " But he d i d n ' t enlarge on the subject; he got off on another scientific-mystic speculation about t h e Einstein space-time circuits and the neurological functioning of men and women living deep in space.

The Investigator has seen other people in the high-energy high-consciousness state that Dr. Leary lived in at Vacaville.

They were all Oriental gurus, expert in one or another of the Buddhist, Hindu, or Sufi training systems for expanded awareness. None of them had Tim's scientific background and, accordingly, their verbalizations were less startling; they spoke of vast undefined abstractions which have no operational meaning except in reference to their own mutated consciousness. Leary is trying to define these free mental states in precise neuro-genetic terms; but n o b o d y can understand him fully without sharing in both t h e higher states of awareness and the scientific systems Leary knows so well.

Toward the end of the visit, I showed Tim my equation B n = B 0 + P n + MS where Bn is new behavior, B0 is old behavior, Pn is a deliberate new program for self-change and MS is a metaprogramming substance such as LSD.

Leary approved of the equation warmly. " Y o u could write another o n e , " h e added, "with C n and C 0 . "

" F o r consciousness?" I asked.

"Exactly. And another one for In and I 0 . "

I thought of ideology and decided he couldn't mean that; he is aware that ideology and morality are the two chief causes of human suffering. " I n t e n s i t y ? " I hazarded.

Tim folded his hands in prayer and looked upward with exaggerated worship. "Intelligence," he said, naming his God.

The prospects of immortality

Some people want to achieve immortality through their works or their descendants. I prefer to achieve immortality by not dying.

-Woody Allen in the Immortalist magazine As soon as my first interview with Dr. Leary appeared in the San Francisco Phoenix, I was deluged with information about that group which Carl Spann calls " t h e Immortalist Underground." These are scientists, mostly young and mostly in the field of molecular biology or gerontology, w h o were turned on by Professor R.C.W. Ettinger's The Prospects of Immortality, published way back in 1964. This group believes, quite firmly, that the discovery of the DNA structure (the double helix) by Crick and Watson has opened the possibility of reprogramming biological processes and achieving literal immortality.

How close is immortality? We call a few witnesses:

"A decade or two from n o w , " Hubert Humphrey has said, " w e may look back to present-day attitudes toward death as 'primitive' and 'medieval' in the way we now look back upon a once-dreaded killer like tuberculosis." Senator Humphrey said this after visiting Russia and learning of their 120 research on i m m o r t a l i t y . 5 3

" N o less than three separate branches of science are doing research in prolonging life," says the Abolish Death Committee of Berkeley, "namely the sciences of cryobiology, biology and cybernetics . . . Which one will be successful?

No one knows. But because more than one science is hard at work on this problem, an early solution is forecast."

" I m m o r t a l i s m , " says Carl Spann, an Immortalist activist,

"is a tremendous step in the evolution of man. It's the development of an immortal state of consciousness . .. stoned people in a stoned world, high on life .. . Mortal man, like Nixon, is still committed to nation-states and power-bloc thinking which is ultimately globally destructive. Mortal man pollutes the planet because he w o n ' t be around to suffer the consequences.

"Getting stoned on d o p e , " Spann adds thoughtfully, "is a defense-mechanism against global insanity. And yet, marijuana, hashish, acid and the consciousness-expanding drugs have opened the way to the Immortal state of consciousness: Samadhi, satori, alpha and theta states, the whole enlightenment trip t h a t provides an escape from Mortal man's tight little illusions of himself."54

Way back in the Dark Ages, on September 24, 1964, the Abolish Death Committee from Berkeley staged a demonstration in front of a funeral parlor, carrying such signs as "Death is a disease and can be cured," " D o n ' t buy the lie," "Millions Now Living May Never D i e " (an old slogan of Jehovah's Witnesses, who probably never expected either scientific types or hippies to take them up on it), "Immortality NOW!" and

"Why die? You Can Be I m m o r t a l . "

Presumably, most of the 1964 audience who saw this on the TV news figured the demonstrators were all crazy.

In The Immortality Factor, by Osborn Segerberg, Jr., an amusing chapter called "Prognosis" deals with recent guess-timates by knowledgeable scientists about when extended life will become available. Arthur Clarke (who in 1947 correctly predicted the first unmanned moon-landing for 1959, but was too conservative about the first manned moon-landing and predicted it for 1978) guessed in 1962 that actual immortality would be achieved near the end of the 21st Century. Three 121 years later, in 1964, with more research accomplished, a group of 82 scientific experts was polled, and the majority of them were willing to predict "chemical control of the aging process" by the early part of the 21st Century.

In 1969, two similar polls of expert opinion found "significant extension of life s p a n " predicted by various scientists as occurring between 1993 (the low estimate) and 2017

(the high estimate). By 1 9 7 1 , Dr. Bernard Stehler predicted t h a t we would understand aging within 5 to 10 years and be able to reverse it in 10 to 30 y e a r s . 5 5

As Leary points out in Terra II, the greatest bulk of scientific work on this subject, with the most optimistic conclusion emerging, has been done since Dr. Stehler m a d e t h a t guess in 1971.

The Foundation for Research on Immortality, in Sacram e n t o , California, declared in a press release: " I t is becoming increasingly clear that we stand literally before an unprecedented shift in our evolutionary direction and p o t e n t i a l . . .

The pursuit of immortality as a personal goal is no longer just a religious aspiration but has become an actual possibility."

Pauwels and Bergier, who blew the mind of E u r o p e and America with their incredible Morning of the Magicians, pro-phesy in their newest b o o k , The Eternal Man, "Perhaps we are even now in the process of building a culture t h a t will know immortality on earth and in heaven .. . " 5 6

Robert Prehoda, M.D., says in his Extended Youth, " I t is possible that we may be able to slow down biological aging, doubling or tripling the average l i f e - s p a n . . . . If every case of aging can be corrected and prevented, we might all be potential Methuselahs, living 1,000 years or m o r e . " 5 7

Dr. Bernard Strehler, who has devoted most of his life to longevity research and predicts that we will have life extension in this generation, says also that his ultimate goal is immortality. "Man," he states flatly, "will never be contented until he conquers d e a t h . " 5 8

Novelist Alan Harrington has been calling for a national commitment to death-elimination since 1969, when he published his brilliant polemic The Immortalist (called " t h e book of the c e n t u r y " by Gore Vidal). "Mobilize the scientists,"

Harrington implores us, "spend the money, and h u n t down 122 death like an o u t l a w . " 5 9

Dean F. J u m p e r , in Man Against Mortality, suggests that humanity may have been specially designed to conquer death.

In the war between life and death, J u m p e r says, " m a n may be life's ultimate weapon. He may be designed to make himself and life immortal, the necessary skills and motivations having been built into him. " 6 0 (Italics added.) Achieving immortality not just for ourselves but for all living species is a staggering thought, but it would be the achievement of t h e Buddhist vow to deliver "all sentient beings" from suffering.

Dr. Alex Comfort, generally regarded as the world's leading gerontologist by his peers (but b e t t e r known to the general public for his lubricious The Joy of Sex), said in 1972,

"I am confident techniques for slowing and reversing t h e aging process are close at h a n d . " 6 1 In 1973, with the synergetic product of another year's worth of life-extension research achieved in laboratories around the world, Dr. Comfort was willing to be more specific than merely saying "close at h a n d . "

He said, in fact, "If the scientific and medical resources of the United States alone were mobilized, aging would be conquered within a decade. " 6 1 (Italics added.) Of course, for every 10 or 20 scientists who will admit they believe in possible longevity, there is only one w h o will go so far as to speak of physical immortality. Nonetheless, every breakthrough in life extension means that some of us will live long enough to be around for the next breakthrough, and the next, until immortality is actually achieved.

Dr. Leary points out in this connection that most of the life-extension talk in scientific circles these days is earth-bound, terracentric, a hangover of what Leary calls "closet Ptole-maicism."

The Lorentz and Einstein equations of space-time relativity leave no d o u b t that a cruise around the galaxy, such as is projected by Leary and Benner in Terra II, might occupy 4 0 0 years elapsed time aboard ship and return to earth circa A.D.

4,500,000,000, Earth-time. Space travel is time travel. If the crew members have life-extension to several hundred years when they blast off early in the n e x t century, they may encounter Higher Intelligences with m o r e advanced life-extension techniques. If n o t , they will return to an Earth-science 123 four-and-one-half billion years in advance of ours, and reap whatever techniques of life-extension, inhibition of aging, cryonics, rejuvenation, etc. that human ingenuity can devise in four thousand million years.

Current research on inhibition of aging or potential immortality includes:

• The cryologists whose slogan "freeze-wait-reanimate" has gained some notoriety in recent years. (This is only the tip of the iceberg.)

• Dr. John Bjorksten, working on proteins in his own lab in Madison, Wisconsin. In 1973, Dr. Bjorksten spoke of finding a drug that would extend human lifespan to 140 years; in 1976, while this chapter was being written, Bjorksten said, in a San Francisco Chronicle interview, that he hoped human life could be extended to 800 years.

• A group at the University of Michigan w h o are already testing a drug that might expand life to 200 years or longer.

• Oak Ridge National Laboratory, which is researching BHT, a chemical that might increase longevity 50%.

• All the organ-transplant people.

• The cyberneticists, who may find a way to " c o d e a total personality, keep it on file in an electronic circuit, and reanimate it at any t i m e . "

• Microwave Instrument Co. in Del Mar, California.

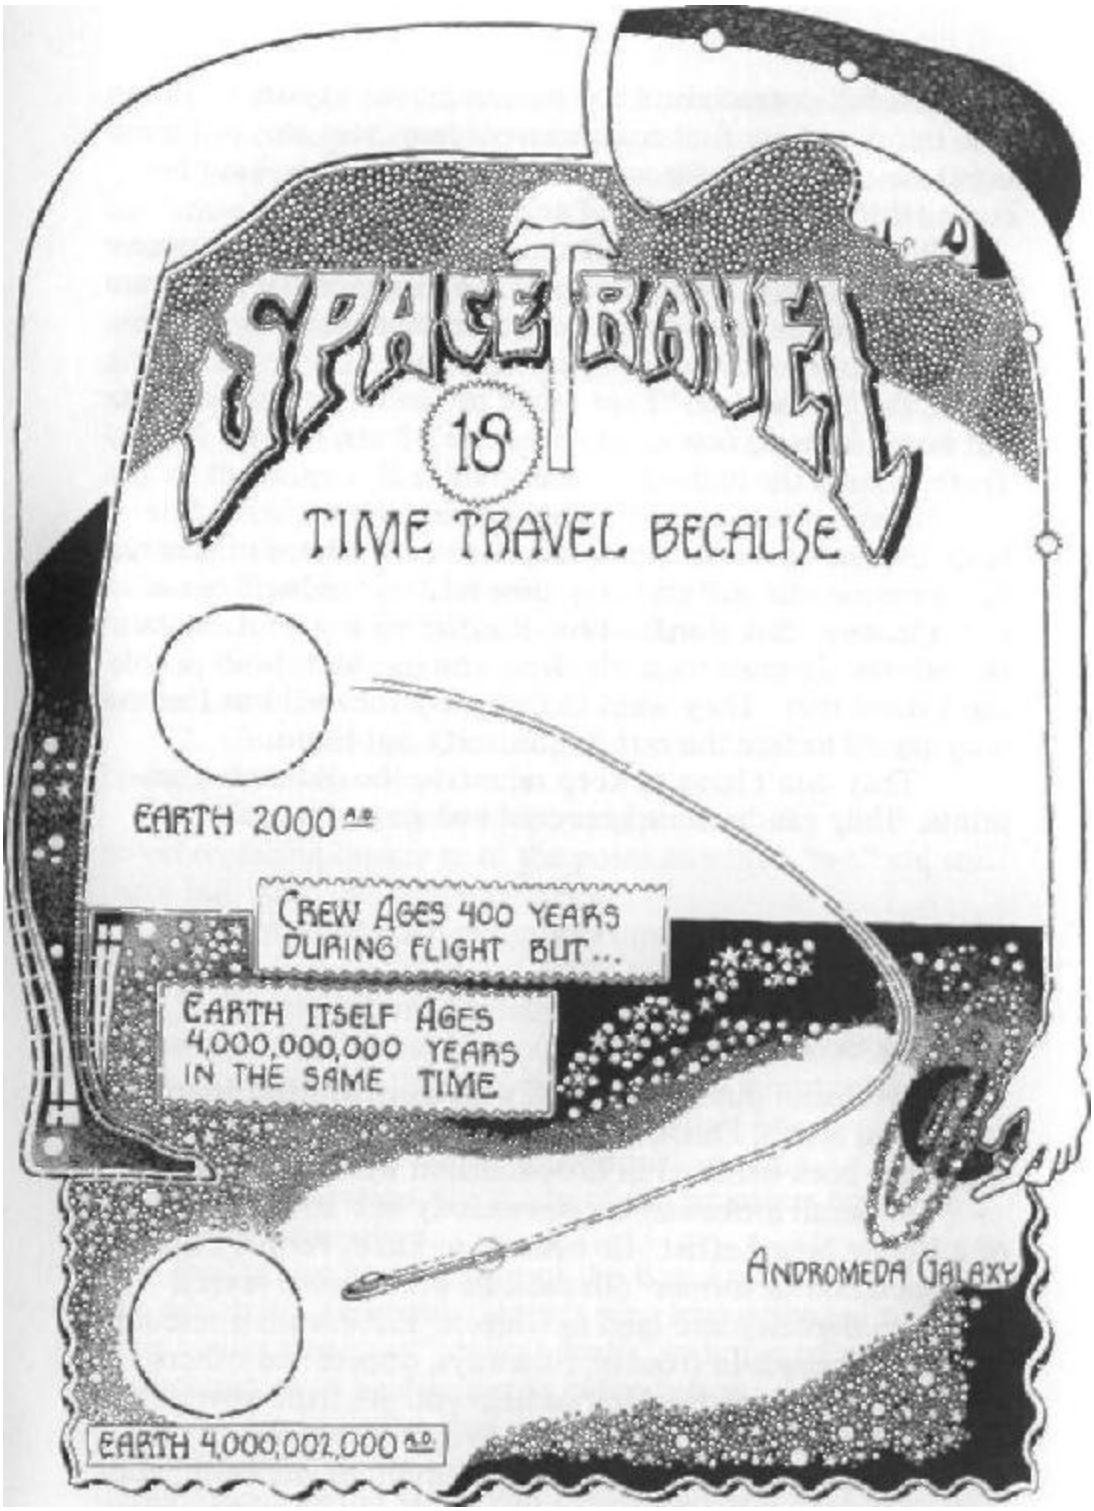
They are researching anti-aging drugs, and might have some on the market in three years.

• The parapsychologists, who are collecting data which challenges the bedrock of physics, indicate t h a t all science may be revolutionized at any time, and thus open possibilities that have previously been unthinkable.

• And, finally, n o b o d y knows how much work the Russians are doing in this field, but we have evidence t h a t they are probably ahead of us.

During another visit to Vacaville, I told Dr. Leary that some of the people who were most enthusiastic a b o u t his drug research in the early '60s are most hostile to his current neurogenetic and cosmic projects.

"I can't help t h a t , " he said. "The drugs were tools to me, microscopes. I used them to change focus in various ways, to 124



The quantum jump from "life extension" to "immortality" is the space-time leap across galaxies. The above illustration shows time-relativity on a 60-year cruise. Terra II plans to travel for 400 years and return to Earth 4 billion years later.

learn the full potentials of the human nervous system. Those w h o imprinted my first transmissions may have stopped growing at, say, the Fifth Circuit, Body Rapture. They have become Hedonic Engineers, and no more.

"But the Turn On is j u s t t h e first step. The message now is that the message keeps changing. Intelligence must increase as consciousness expands, or we get burned-out. I'm j u s t beginning, in the last year, I've j u s t wised up . . . "

" Y e s , " he added, "I got rid of my own fears in the '60s, but now I have no fear of other people's fears. T r u t h . Truth.

Truth. That's the highest circuit of a l l . . . "

He mentioned a prominent counter-culture h e r o : " H e hates me now, because I'm n o t suffering. If I were in misery, he'd love me. He suffers every time he drags himself out of bed, I'm sure. But glorification of suffering is one of the larval reflexes we must lose. I'm free, y o u see, and those people c a n ' t stand that. They want to feel sorry for me. But I'm too busy trying to free the rest of humanity out there.

"They don't have to keep repeating the old misery imprints. They can become immortal and go to the stars . . . "

Stopping the biological clock

Carl Spann put me in touch with another local Immortalist, Paul Segall, Ph.D., a researcher at U.C.-Berkeley. Dr.

Segall has been involved in life-extension work for 17 years.

Dr. Segall looks and dresses exactly like a n y b o d y ' s idea of a Hippie New Leftist. He belongs to Earth People's Park, an association of former '60s radicals which owns several houses in Berkeley and land in Oregon. E.P.P. runs a rescue service for people in trouble, runaways, dopers and others who can't deal with the kind of help y o u get from government offices. In a very real sense, Earth People represents t h e survival, despite the Nixon counter-revolution, of the early, non-violent New Left in all its anarchist idealism and grass-roots Populism.

With one difference. Due to Paul's influence, almost all 126 the Earth People are Immortalists, and many of them have returned to college to seek science degrees.

Paul says he was "drenched in science from the cradle"— his father and an uncle were b o t h engineers, and another uncle was a chemist. Paul himself set o u t to be an engineer—until a Turn-On experience in an art class. As he tells it, "They were showing slides of cave paintings from 30,000 years ago, and I suddenly felt this urgent inner question, 'What the hell am I doing here?' I mean, 'What am I doing with my life?' I became an immortalist then and there, years before I read any of the immortalist literature."

Paul changed his major to biology and set out to find out precisely why every complex organism must die and what he could do about it. Over the past 17 years he has spent time in research on seven approaches to longevity-immortality: 1. Suspended-animation studies, in which life processes are turned off and then restored.

2. Gerontology, the study of the processes of aging on biological and chemical levels.

3. Transplantation, which might eventually allow us to go on replacing organs until the point at which " w e " are still there but " o u r " whole body i s new . . .

4. Prosthetics and cyborgs (human-machine combinations).

5. Resuscitation-literally bringing back the dead. In the last decade this has been moved upward from resuscitation a few seconds after "clinical d e a t h " to five minutes later, and Paul thinks we will soon have it up to a half-hour.

6. Identity-reconstruction through cloning.

7. Regeneration, the study of the processes by which cells renew themselves.

Paul is also an executive of the Bay Area Cryonics Society, which is a group of scientists who have arranged to have their bodies frozen at "clinical d e a t h " in hopes of resuscitation by techniques to be discovered in the future.

In the mid-sixties Paul attended a lecture by Dr. Leary which he found to be a turning point in his own intellectual development. What Leary had communicated, Paul says, was that "everything we experience is hallucination, maya. The reality is a structural-mathematical-logical principle that we 127

d o n ' t see. That is, each person creates his own universe out of his own neurological processes. Science is nothing else but the search for the unseen structural integrities t h a t underlie these appearances."

Paul generalized this Buddhist-scientific synthesis into the theory that we are information.

"The ultimate reason t h a t Immortality is possible," Paul told m e , "is t h a t we are not the stuff we're made of. Literally.

You can trace a chemical through the body with radioactive tracers, but the body goes on after the chemical has left. We are n o t the chemicals b u t the pattern, the mathematical construct. You might say that the formula for Immortality is Cybernetics + DNA. But DNA is itself Cybernetics, the first application of cybernetic information theory to biology.

DNA is entirely an information system, a programming system. Cybernetics is the key, the realization that we are programmed and can be re-programmed."

In recent years, Paul's studies have concentrated on finding the chemical trigger t h a t sets the senescence-death program into action. In fact, he believes he was the first one to introduce the concept of "programmed d e a t h " into scientific literature.

"Back in the ' 6 0 s , " Paul reminisces, "biologists were still regarding aging as a stochastic p r o c e s s - t h e random decay of random cells. One day I m e t a woman I hadn't seen in a year, and the change in her was so complete t h a t I immediately thought of the word 'metamorphosis.' I suddenly realized I might have found what I was looking for. Suppose aging isn't stochastic and random. It might be a definite, pre-programmed metamorphosis j u s t like t h e evolution from fertilized egg to new-born infant, or the biopsychic mutation at puberty, or the tadpole-to-frog or caterpillar-to-butterfly transformation."

Paul developed the theory that all ontogeny is pre-programmed. "I think I was the very first to p u t this idea on paper, and I am delighted that it is the working hypothesis of increasing numbers of investigators," he says.

"Traits are not naturally selected only for individual survival, as Darwin t h o u g h t , " Paul insists. "Some are selected for species survival. Pre-programmed death was an unthinkable concept when we regarded the individual as our m o n a d ; how 128 could natural selection produce such a genetic program if selection is only for t h e advantage of t h e individual? But if some traits are for the advantage of the group, and for group evolution, it all falls into place. T h r o w o u t the '77 models, bring in t h e '78 models. Once again, I found Dr. Leary and Alan Watts, with their holistic trans-ego concepts, very helpful in firming up my thought."

Dr. Segall has found three ways to reverse the aging trigger in experimental rats—to stop aging for periods equal to the normal life-span of the animal and then allow normal aging to begin. He believes that his research will soon isolate the exact trigger that starts or stops aging.

Curiously, all three of Paul's methods deprive the brain of tryptophan, directly or indirectly. He believes this is a significant clue. " T r y p t o p h a n , " he says, "is very closely related to serotonin, the basic brain-bonder, and to the psychedelics like LSD, psilocybin, DMT, mescaline and so forth.

The stopping of time experienced by psychedelic users may be related to tryptophan deprivation while the psychedelic is in the system."

In one optimistic mood, Paul told me t h a t his current work will result "in 15 years m a x i m u m " in extending human life " t o 4 0 0 or 500 years average."

One reason I am so confident that something will come of this kind of research "in 15 years m a x i m u m " is that Paul has so many competitors. (As mentioned a few pages ago, Dr. Johan Bjorksten is currently talking of raising lifespan to 800 years.) Whoever gets there first may pick up a Nobel prize as a result.

The rest of us will get a shot at living long enough for immortality to be achieved.

Consider also the acceleration of scientific breakthroughs: Dr. Isaac Asimov notes, in his The Genetic Code, that there seems to be a 60-year cycle between the first understanding of a new scientific principle and the transformation of the world by applications of that principle. Thus, he instances the discovery of electromagnetic equivalence by Oersted in 1820; 60 years later, in 1880, electrical generators and motors were in wide use and the Industrial Revolution had occurred in the Western nations; the telegraph was also wide-spread and our age of Mass Communications was dawning.

Similarly, in 1883, T h o m a s Edison first noted the so-called "Edison effect," although he never understood it or realized its importance. Within 60 years, by 1943, t h e technology of electronics, as distinguished from electricity—technology based entirely on t h e "Edison effect"—had spread radio everywhere and was already beginning to replace it by television.

Again, in 1896, Becquerel noted the sub-atomic behavior of uranium. Sixty years later, in 1956, two cities had been destroyed by atom bombs and nuclear generating plants were operating in many places.

In 1903, the Wright Brothers got their monoplane off t h e ground for a few minutes. Sixty years later, in 1963, jet-liners carrying over 100 passengers were circling the earth daily.

In 1926, Goddard fired his first rocket into the air; in 1986, obviously, WoManned landings on nearby planets will be commonplace.

Sixty years, Dr. Asimov concludes, is the normal time between a scientific breakthrough and the remaking of t h e world by the new technology derived from that breakthrough.

Since DNA was discovered in 1944, the biological revolution (including longevity, and possibly immortality) should be peaking in 2004. We are n o w three years past the midpoint of t h a t cycle (1974) and the new technology should be coming faster and faster.

Some of the readers of this book—the more determined ones—may never die at all.

Appearances and disappearances

It gets even spookier now.

People who claimed to be messengers of God, of the extraterrestrials, or of various Ascended Masters, began to contact m e , sometimes in weird ways. Most of them were nuts.

Some of them still leave me wondering.

For instance, one chap who claimed to be a representa-130

tive of the real Illuminati, and who struck the Skeptic as quite possibly a professional con-man, took Arlen and me out to dinner at the most expensive restaurant in Berkeley and spent $70 on it. He assured us that he was protecting us at all times, dropped a few hints t h a t he might be God, and slipped me $200 before he left, assuring us t h a t our poverty would n o t continue much longer.

He never came back or tried to exploit the Poor Fool in any way. What kind of con-game is it where the Mark ends up richer instead of poorer?

This skeptic still believes this fellow as a benevolently inclined fellow psychic with a taste for drama and mystery.

I do not believe he was in me real" Illuminati (except for four or five minutes a week, when the Shaman wonders about all the impossible theories he usually screens out as t o o melodra-matic to be true . . .).

In our last meeting at Vacaville Prison, I told Tim Leary,

"Giordano Bruno, the first philosopher in history to suggest that there were Higher Intelligences in this galaxy, used Tantric yoga."

"Yeah, I k n o w , " he said.

" O h , " I asked, "you've read Francis Yates' Giordano Bruno and the Hermetic Tradition?"

" N o , " he said. " I t was obvious from Bruno's own writings. Sex-magic is always the first of the Secrets."

At t h a t meeting, Timothy was exuberant and, for him, strangely secretive. "I'll be o u t s o o n , " he said. " I t ' s all falling into place."

The following week he was moved from Vacaville to Terminal Island, near Los Angeles. Joanna Leary told his friends in the Bay Area that letters to him were pointless, since he would be moved again shortly.

OceanofPDF.com

The Great Silence began.

Weeks passed.

Mike Horowitz, of the Fitzhugh Memorial Library, came to the Poor Fool one night with a strange story. Joanna Leary had appeared at his house with three men who she claimed were from a photocopying company. She had a letter in Timothy's unmistakable handwriting, instructing Mike to turn over Leary's archives for photocopying and permanent storage.

"They were c o p s , " Mike told me. "I could smell i t . "

"What the h e l l . . . "

"I d o n ' t k n o w , " Mike said. "I just d o n ' t k n o w . . ."

We chewed on it for hours. If Timothy was making a deal with the Feds, what sort of deal? Paranoia drifted in and out of the room as we discussed, theorized, reconsidered.

The Oracle did a Tarot divination, at Mike's insistence.

(I distrust my own readings, when personal emotion is involved.) I forget my own interpretations but I remember that the card showing "resultant of the affair" was t h e Star. According to Kenneth Grant's Magical Revival, this card represents Sirius. Coincidence?

I performed another divination on Timothy, for another baffled friend, a week or so later. The Star came up as " t h e resultant" again.

Coincidence again?

In September 1974 paranoia descended in full force.

Leaks began to appear in the Hearst press, planted by the Federal cops, that Timothy was ready to testify against any and all of his former friends to get himself out of jail.

Damnably, those of us who had watched the metamorphoses of Leary from Scientist to Guru, from Guru to Marx-ist Revolutionary, from Revolutionary back to Scientist, knew that he was capable of virtually any further transformation, however unlikely it would appear in ordinary psychology.

The Berkeley Barb printed an undocumented story that Joanna had been busted for cocaine. " A h a , " voices said,

"that's how the Feds got Timothy to crack . . . " But the story wasn't checkable. " I t ' s all a skam," other voices claimed, "the Feds are trying to panic the counter-culture . . . "

Then the Second Wave of rumors began.

The Fiendish Psychologists at Vacaville had tampered with Tim's head, voices said around San Francisco. He was a zombie, like McMurphy at the end of One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest; Kesey, like the true shaman he was, had un-knowingly predicted Leary's fate ten years before it happened.

Watergate was still erupting; even the most resolute anti-paranoids and skeptics about Conspiracy Theories were pushed, more and more, into admitting that the Government was 132

Capable of Anything...

And none of us were able to get a message in to Timothy or an answer o u t . He was totally incommunicado with the Feds.

A lesson in Karma

Lao-Tse says (at least in Leary's translation) that the Great Tao is most often found with parents w h o are willing to learn from their children. This remark was to cause me considerable mental strain and dilation around this time in our narrative, because my children had become very self-directed adolescents and were getting into occultism with much more enthusiasm and much less skepticism than I thought judicious.

For a few years, we could not discuss these subjects without arguing, despite my attempts to remember good old Lao-Tse and really listen to the kids. They believed in astrology, which I was still convinced was bosh; in reincarnation, which I considered an extravagant metaphor one shouldn't take literally; and in that form of the doctrine of Karma which holds, optimistically, that the evil really are punished and the good really are rewarded, which I considered a wishful fantasy no more likely than the Christian idea of Heaven and Hell. Worst of all, they had a huge appetite for various Oriental "Masters" w h o m I regarded as total charlatans, and an enormous disdain for all the scientific methodology of the West.

My own position was identical to t h a t of Aleister Crowley when he wrote:

We place no reliance

On Virgin or Pigeon;

Our method is Science,

Our aim is Religion.

After every argument with one of the kids, I would vow again to listen m o r e sympathetically, less judgmentally, to their Pop Orientalism. I finally began to succeed. I learned a great deal from them.

A "miracle" then happened. I k n o w this will be harder for the average American parent to believe than any of my other weird yarns, but my horde of self-willed and self-directed adolescents began to listen to me. Real communication was established. Even though I was in my 40s and grey-ing in the beard, I was able to talk intelligently with four adolescents about our philosophical disagreements, and our mutual respect for each other grew by leaps and bounds.

This, I think, is the greatest result I have obtained from all my occult explorations, even if the unmarried will not appreciate how miraculous it was.

Luna, our youngest—the one w h o might have levitated in Mexico and who had her first menstrual period synchronistically on the day Tim Leary was busted in Afghanistan-taught me the hardest lesson of all. She had begun to paint in watercolors and everything she did charmed me: it was always full of sun and light, in a way t h a t was as overpowering as Van Gogh.

"What do all these paintings mean?" I asked her one day.

" I ' m trying to show the Clear Light," she said.

Then, returning from school one afternoon, Luna was beaten and robbed by a gang of black kids. She was weeping and badly frightened when she arrived home, and her Father was shaken by the unfairness of it happening to her, such a gentle, ethereal child. In the midst of consoling her, the Father wandered emotionally and began denouncing t h e idea of Karma. Luna was beaten, he said, n o t for her sins, but for the sins of several centuries of slavers and racists, most of whom had never themselves suffered for those sins. "Karma is a blind machine," he said. "The effects of evil go on and on but they d o n ' t necessarily come back on those who start the evil."

Then Father got back on the track and said some m o r e rele-vant and consoling things.

The next day Luna was her usual sunny and cheerful self, just like the Light in her paintings. " I ' m glad y o u ' r e feeling b e t t e r , " the Father said finally.

"I stopped the wheel of Karma," she said. "All the bad energy is with the kids who beat me up. I'm not holding any of i t . "

And she wasn't. The bad energy had entirely passed by, 134 and there was no anger or fear in her. I never saw her show any hostility to blacks after the beating, any more than before.

The Father fell in love with her all over again. And he understood what the metaphor of the wheel of Karma really symbolizes and what it means to stop the wheel.

Karma, in the original Buddhist scriptures, is a blind machine; in fact, it is functionally identical with the scientific concept of natural law. Sentimental ethical ideas about justice being built into the machine, so that those w h o do evil in one life are punished for it in another life, were added later by theologians reasoning from their own moralistic prejudices.

Buddha simply indicated that all the cruelties and injustices of the past are still active: their effects are always being felt.

Similarly, he explained, all the good of the past, all the kind-ness and patience and love of decent people is also still being felt.

Since most humans are still controlled by fairly robotic reflexes, the bad energy of the past far outweighs the good, and the tendency of the wheel is to keep moving in the same terrible direction, violence breeding more violence, hatred breeding more hatred, war breeding more war. The only way to "stop the w h e e l " is to stop it inside yourself, by giving up bad energy and concentrating on the positive. This is by no means easy, but once y o u understand what Gurdjieff called "the horror of our situation," y o u have no choice but to try, and to keep on trying.

And Luna, at 13, understood this far better than I did, at 4 3 , with all my erudition and philosophy . . . I still regarded her absolute vegetarianism and pacifism as sentimentality.

Witchcraft

Another kind of occult experience occurred on April 2 6 , 1974. The Shaman was working a ritual with a group of Bay Area witches, who call themselves the New Reformed Orthodox Order of the Golden Dawn. During the part of the cerem o n y in which the group "raises the Cone of P o w e r " (molds 135 the "astral" or orgone field into a cone which can be seen and directed at will by the members), I had a vision of my son, Graham, who was t h e n in Arizona with some friends. Graham was lying on the ground and cops were walking toward him. I could see no m o r e ; but the Shaman hastily placed a smaller "cone of p o w e r " around him as a protective device and tried to leave a telepathic message that he should p h o n e me in the morning. The F a t h e r was somewhat frightened, imagining that Graham might have been in an auto accident.

The next morning when the phone rang, I said at once,

" T h a t ' s Graham." (I often announce phone calls before answering them, these days.*) He told us of his adventure with

" t h e pigs," as young people call our gallant law-enforcement officers. He and his friends had been sleeping in t h e woods, when some cops drove into the clearing and discovered their car. The kids expected, at the minimum, to be chased out of the woods and sent on their way; more likely, by previous experience, they feared being jailed overnight, until parents of each and every one of them were contacted and it was proven conclusively t h a t none of them were runaways. (Nobody under 21 has any civil liberties in the U.S.A.) The cops walked toward the spot where the kids were sleeping. Those who had awakened, including Graham, watched them come. Then, abruptly, the cops turned around, walked back to their car, and drove away.

We checked t h e times. The incident occurred a few minutes before midnight. So did my astral vision. Whether or not my "cone of p r o t e c t i o n " pushed the police away "astral-l y " is an experimental question to be determined fully only when a lot more rigorous scientific work in this area has been accomplished. I was satisfied, at the minimum, t h a t there is somewhat more to witchcraft than mere self-hypnosis.

I had gotten involved with the witches as part of a con-certed effort to gain initiation into as many shamanic schools as possible, another idea I had acquired from dear old Uncle Aleister. In Liber Aleph, Magick and other books, Crowley urges the student of higher consciousness to become involved with as many gods and goddesses as possible, so as not to fall into the error of monotheism. He himself left us some really superb invocations to various divinities, together with a variety of poetic and prose accounts of his love affairs with Allah, Nuit, Pan, Kali, the Virgin Mary and quite a few others.

Some readers are sure I'm lying like a diplomat. Others believe because they want to. Don't believe or disbelieve. Get Crowley's books and try the experiments.

("Thank God I'm an atheist," he wrote also, in an essay on "The Psychology of Hashish.") My working hypothesis was still that any "luminous being" I contacted was probably subjective, if there was no objective supporting evidence; and possibly extraterrestrials (converted into anthropomorphic form by my nervous system), if they produced objective results like my being in California and Arizona at the same time.

Or sending my "astral b o d y " to Arizona while my physical body was in California. Or however you account for the above experience.

Meanwhile, I was researching other Contactees, n o t just those who got pancakes from the stars, like J o e Simonton, or messages of brotherly love, like the notorious George Adamski, but the myriads who were not normally considered Contactees at all.

Nikola Tesla, secular shaman

The first claims of extraterrestrial communication, I had found, were made by the electronics pioneers Marconi and Tesla. Both were ridiculed and simply stopped discussing the subject.

Tesla is an especially interesting case for our purposes.

Many (including his principal biographer) regarded Tesla as virtually superhuman, and yet he was so naive in practical matters t h a t he was cheated again and again by the business-men to whom he sold his inventions. Tesla's major goal in life was to make abundant energy so cheap that all the world would live in affluence; he came so close to this in his later work that the corporations which had funded him withdrew their support, fearing he would undermine the monopolies which made them rich. He is also one of the only two men to 137 have refused the Nobel Prize (the other was Jean-Paul Sartre).

Tesla's greatest discovery was the mechanism by which alternating current can be electrically generated and used; far more than Edison's direct-current machines, Tesla's A.C. generators unleashed the modern technological revolution. This illumination came to Tesla in a series of quasi-mystical visions during his adolescence. The key events were:

1. The visions themselves, in some of which Tesla literally went into trance and talked to entities n o b o d y else could see.

2. A series of mysterious illnesses between t h e visions.

In some of these, Tesla became acutely sensitive and felt all perceptions as painful (colors were too bright, noises t o o loud, etc.). Several times, Tesla nearly died of an apparent draining-away of life energy which his doctors simply couldn't explain.

3. After the final vision, *in which Tesla "saw" that everything in the universe obeys a law of Octaves, Tesla was transformed into a kind of secular seer. He developed a most peculiar inner vision. He could literally " s e e " in perfect detail any machine he t h o u g h t a b o u t , right down to microscopic measurements and dimensions, as if he were using actual tools to measure an actual machine. He patented dozens of these devices and became a millionaire before he was 3 0 . 6 3

Compare this with t h e experience of Gopi Krishna, a typical yoga adept.

1. Like Tesla, Gopi Krishna had a series of visions and illuminations over a period of years.

2. Like Tesla, Gopi Krishna simultaneously suffered a series of mysterious illnesses, almost died several times, and occasionally became painfully sensitive to all sensations.

3. After the final vision, Gopi Krishna became a psychic prodigy, able to write poetry in several languages which he couldn't read or speak n o r m a l l y . 6 4

We seem to see t h e same mutational process occurring in both cases, slightly modified by cultural influences. Take it on a broader scale:

1. In every tribe there are occasional shamans w h o are prone to visions and illuminations.

We will see the importance of Octaves later.

2. These shamans usually begin having their visions during or right after a prolonged illness which nearly kills them.

3. After recovery, the shaman has odd psychic abilities—

"wild talents," as Charles Fort s a i d . 6 5

The whole process can be condensed to t h e formula, near-death plus "rebirth"on a higher level.

In the course of my investigations, I have undergone a number of occult initiations and have become aware of the basic similarity of such rituals in all traditions. This is the pattern of death-rebirth which even today appears symbolically in the Roman Catholic Mass and the Masonic "raising" ceremony. The Investigator is betraying no secret when we say that, in serious occult orders, such performances are n o t mere rituals but real ordeals. Insofar as possible within the law, the candidate is often brought to a state of terror similar to the emergency condition of the nervous system in near-death crises. What occurs then, and is experienced as rebirth, is a quantum j u m p in neurological awareness. In Leary's terminology, new circuits are formed and imprinted.

Obviously, t h e first shamans had no teachers; they simply went through the illness-rebirth transition accidentally, as it were. Later, schools of shamans developed techniques (psychedelics, rituals of terror, yoga, etc.) to catapult the student into such experience. In most of these schools there is great reliance on an entity or entities of superhuman nature who aid in the initiatory process, sometimes for years. ("A real initiation never e n d s , " Crowley said once.) Tesla, incidentally, remained a strict Materialist all his life. When his biographer pointed o u t to him once t h a t Tesla's own ESP had been demonstrated on numerous occasions, Tesla replied t h a t ESP also had a material medium.

Obviously, the whole shamanic process of near-death and rebirth on a higher level will become commonplace by the 1990s, if Leary is right and we have then b o t h a Simulated Death pill and an Immortality pill.

Other starry signals

In 1927, Jorgen Hals, a Norwegian radio engineer, received signals which have never been explained; in the 1950s, various Russian scientists tried to prove that the Hals signals were of interstellar origin, b u t this theory is still being debated and no consensus has emerged.

In October 1 9 7 1 , L. George Lawrence, an American electronics engineer, was investigating the "Backster effect" (telepathy in plants) in the desert near Mount Palomar, California.

He was using special equipment, designed by himself, considerably more sensitive than Backster's polygraph. To his astonishment, Lawrence picked up signals which seemed to come from the skies, in the region of the Big Dipper. Unwilling to publish such a finding at first, Lawrence spent several months checking his equipment for bugs and redesigning to rule out other possible explanations. In April 1972, the experiment was repeated in the Mojave Desert. The same results were obtained. Lawrence's report to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington says:

An apparent train of interstellar communication signals of unknown origin and destination has been observed. Since interception was made by biological sensors, a biological-type signal transmission must be assumed. Test experiments were conducted in an electromagnetic deep-fringe area, the equipment itself being impervious to electromagnetic radiation.

Follow-up tests revealed no equipment defects. Because interstellar listening experiments are not conducted on a routine basis, the suggestion is advanced that verification tests should be conducted elsewhere, possibly on a global scale. The phenomenon is too important to be ignored.66

Carl Sagan of Cornell University, along with others concerned with interstellar communications, have invested most of their time and energy in radio signal reception. All the current projects of this sort, those funded or seeking funding, are based on the assumption t h a t interstellar communication would involve the radio-wave energies. Lawrence's results suggest that there might be a considerable a m o u n t of cosmic communication going on t h a t involves the "biological" or 140 cellular level of consciousness.

Lawrence is now building a gigantic Stellartron to seek further starry transmissions.

The Backster Effect and other related considerations, Lawrence says, lead to the idea t h a t psi is part of a "paranormal matrix"—a unique communications grid which binds all life t o g e t h e r . 6 7

To accept the possibility of Lawrence's signals is to raise the charge of "electromagnetic chauvinism," which Dr. Jack Sarfatti has made against Carl Sagan and most others who are interested in the search for interstellar signals. Sagan, Sarfatti says, should not assume that such signals must be carried by the electronic technology we already know. This chauvinism, Dr. Sarfatti points o u t , is as naive as assuming advanced races would speak English.

Consider the Higher Intelligence contacted by Jack Parsons, the American rocket pioneer who co-founded Cal Tech and is reputed to have contributed as m u c h basic innovative technology to aerospace as Goddard or von Braun. Parsons, who was a member of the Ordo Templi Orientis, back in the 1930s-40s when Aleister Crowley was still alive and acting as Outer Head, subsequently published The Book of the Anti-Christ—a. strange, beautiful, revolutionary document which, like Crowley's Book of the Law, was allegedly dictated by a Higher Intelligence. This entity is described by Parsons only as "most Holy and beautiful": it urged Parsons to declare war on "all authority that is n o t based on courage and manhood

. .. the authority of lying priests, conniving judges, black-mailing police," and called for " a n end to restriction and inhibition, conscription, compulsion, regimentation and the tyranny of laws."

Part Two of this strange d o c u m e n t urges all truth-seekers to practice Crowleyan sex-yoga: "Concentrate all force and being in Our Lady Babalon. Light a single light on her altar, saying Flame is our Lady; flame is her hair. I am flame." Etc.

Babalon, in Crowley's Tarot, is The Star, which Kenneth Grant says is Sirius.

Grady McMurty, an old friend of Crowley and Parsons, and currently Caliph of the Ordo Templi Orientis in the United States, has kindly placed in my hands various manuscripts of 141

O.T.O. private publications during the 1940s. In one of them Parsons states his devotion to the shamanistic-psychedelic quest in poetic terms that might have seemed extreme even go to Crowley. The poem begins:

I night Don Quixote, I live on peyote, marijuana, morphine and cocaine,

I never know sadness but only a madness that burns at the heart and the brain.

I see each charwoman, ecstatic, inhuman, angelic, demonic, divine.

Each wagon a dragon, each beer mug a flagon that brims with ambrosial wine.

This was printed in the February 2 1 , 1 9 4 3 issue of The Oriflamme, journal of the O.T.O., two m o n t h s before Hofmann discovered LSD.

Parsons died in a laboratory accident in 1949. According to Kenneth Grant, Parsons' last year was devoted to the a t t e m p t , with a mistress, to conceive a moonchild—an entity magickally separated from earth-influence at the instant of conception and from then on dedicated to higher, outer-space influences. (Crowley describes this operation in his novel, Moonchild. To my knowledge, it has not been successfully performed to date.)

Jack Parsons' life, midway between Crowley's and Leary's, was a testament to the faith: it is time to get off this planet. For his countless contributions to aerospace science, Parsons is honored by having a crater on the m o o n named after h i m . 6 8

The footsteps of the Illuminati

One day, browsing in a bookstore, I came upon Gurdjieff: Making a New World, by J.G. Bennett. Guess my state of mind when I came upon the following passage: After Gurdjieff died I was asked by some of the old pupils to write a commentary on Beelzebub. When I had written a few chapters and sent them around for 142 comment, almost all agreed that it would be a mistake to publish them. If Gurdjieff had intended his meaning to be readily accessible to every reader, he would have written the book differently. He himself used to listen to chapters read aloud and if he found the key passages taken too easily—and therefore almost inevitably too superficially—he would rewrite them in order, as he put it, to "bury the dog deeper." When people corrected him and said he surely meant "bury the bone deeper," he would turn on them and say it was not "bones" but the "dog" that you have to find.

The dog is Sirius the dog star, which stands for the spirit of wisdom in the Zoroastrian tradition.69

Sirius again. "Coincidence," says the Skeptic, one more time. Beelzebub's Tales to his Grandson, the book in question, concerns extraterrestrial Higher Intelligences w h o inter-vene repeatedly on Earth to accelerate evolution here. But, of course, that's j u s t a story . . .

Or is it?

J.G. Bennett, in another book on the Gurdjieff teachings called Is There Life on Earth?, claims t h a t Gurdjieff was initiated into a mystic society, unnamed, which began in Babylon around 4 5 0 0 B.C. Grant also traces the Crowley tradition back to Egypt and Babylon around that time.

"Coincidence, coincidence, coincidence," mutters the Skeptic; b u t is there a growing uncertainty in his voice?

Wait. There's a lot more to come. In July 1975,1 published an article about all this in Gnostica, an occult newspaper. A few weeks later, I received a letter from Edward Gardiner of the Detroit Film Collective. Mr. Gardiner wrote that he attended the F o u r t h International Festival of Yoga and Esoteric Sciences in Dallas. Dr. Douglas Baker, in a lecture, said that Sirius is the Ajna center of a galactic being and our sun is the Heart center. Our planetary evolution depends on raising the energy from the Heart (our sun) to the Ajna (Sirius).

Dr. Baker represents the Theosophical Society, founded by Madame H.P. Blavatsky, based on alleged transmissions from a Secret Chief named Koot Hoomi. That Gurdjieff was educated by the Sufis is now generally accepted. Crowley was 143 directed by a Secret Chief named Aiwass. I would estimate t h a t about 90 per cent of the occult groups in the Western world today are wholly or partially derivative from Blavatsky or Gurdjieff or Crowley, w h o together make up the indispen-sable Big Three of 20th century occultism. And now we have all three of them tied in, one way or another, with Sirius.

Of course, if shamans of any school are going to develop delusions about stars, they are likely to pick Sirius, which is the brightest star in t h e sky and hard to ignore. It is also in the constellation of t h e Dog, "man's best friend."

Nevertheless, such is the repressed gullibility of even the most hardened Skeptic, I have found myself wondering once or twice about new meanings in the ancient Zen riddle, "Does a dog have the Buddha-nature?" And, on rereading Joyce's Ulysses for the first time in several years, the Metaprogrammer was struck by the Black Mass in which the souls of all the saved chant " G o o o o o o o o o o o o o o d " while all the souls of the damned chant " D o o o o o o o o o o o o o o g . "

This palindrome (God-Dog) also appears in The Book of the Law, remember, in the question, "Is a god to live in a d o g ? " My fantasy leaped and I asked myself why Joyce set Ulysses in spring 1904, the same time t h a t Crowley was receiving The Book of the Law. (19 + 04 = 23 . . .) The same palindrome, again, appears in Chapter One of Dr. Leary's High Priest, published in 1968. The chapter is titled "Godsdog."

Coincidence? Synchronicity? Higher Intelligence?

Then Brian Hanlon, San Francisco UFOlogist, called my attention to a book called Other Tongues, Other Flesh, by George Hunt Williamson.

Williamson, an early 1950s Contactee, claims to have m e t some flying saucerites from Sirius. He prints vast huge chunks of their language—the " o t h e r tongues" in his title—and I found t h a t a few of the words were almost identical with some words in the "angelic" language used by Dr. John Dee, Aleister Crowley and other magi of the Illuminati tradition. F o r instance, Williamson transcribes one of the words he received as leshtal; Crowley has "lashtal." This is more striking when we remember the two Naval officers who got "affa" (nothing) from the same "angelic" language.70

Williamson also informs us that the Sirians have been in contact with Earth for "several thousand y e a r s " and that their allies here use as insignia the Eye of Horus—the origin of the Illuminati eye-in-triangle design.71

Like every other Contactee, Williamson may, of course, be suspected of hallucinating or just of being a damned liar.

Even the most hard-headed skeptics, however, must be a bit puzzled if we ask a few questions at this point, such as: what are the chances of Williamson, either as a hallucinator or as a hoaxer, picking up words in the "angelic" language, known only to advanced students of Cabala? Well, maybe he could have read a bit of Cabala in his time; sure. But what are the chances, by coincidence or whatever, that two Naval Intelligence officers of high security rating should also, in a separate Contact, get a word in the same language? How could Williamson have known that Crowley was in any way connected with Sirius in 1953, when he wrote his book, since Kenneth Grant was the first to link Crowley and Sirius, in 1973? Was it only by coincidence of lucky guessing t h a t Williamson picked the eye-in-the-triangle (used by Crowley and the Illuminati) as the alleged symbol of the secret society in contact with Sirius? Was it only another coincidence that that symbol was used by Adam Weishaupt and Thomas Jefferson? And is it another coincidence t h a t Dr. Baker, t h e Theosophist, should declare Sirius " t h e third e y e " of a cosmic being?

When Illuminatus was being written (1 9 6 9 - 1 9 7 1) , I had no interest in Sirius at all and no delusions about contact with extraterrestrials. But we now find t h a t b o t h the number 23 and the eye-in-the-triangle m o t i f - t h e two most mysterious enigmas in t h a t novel—have a long history of linkage with the Illuminati-Sirius mystery. I d i d n ' t know that when working on Illuminatus—but evidently something that is part of my mind or in communication with my mind did know it.

Dope and divinity

After all this, I began to restudy Gurdjieff avidly. Beelzebub 's Tales to his Grandson, Gurdjieffs major prose work, concerns interstellar Higher Intelligences w h o seek to aid and advance evolution on Earth. I had previously regarded this framework as mere allegory, a convenient scaffolding for Gurdjieffs serious teachings, b u t now I began to wonder if he were hiding his real secret out in front where n o b o d y would think to look for it. A Purloined Letter from Sirius?

I was even more intrigued by the step diagram of t h e vibratory levels. Above mankind, Gurdjieff placed "angels,"

"archangels" and " t h e Eternal Unchanging." Dr. Kenneth Walker, a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons and a hard-headed scientist, has an odd comment on these higher beings in his book, A Study of Gurdjieffs Teaching: These squares represent higher entities than ourselves of which we have no knowledge at all, and we can call them angels and archangels if we l i k e . . . .

Some other members of the St. Petersburg group had agreed to equate "angels" with planets and "archangels" with s u n s . . . 7 2

If we substitute for " p l a n e t s " and " s u n s " the concept "intelligent, more evolved entities in other solar systems" we have the 1973 Leary theory of interstellar telepathy.

Gurdjieffs system, in brief, holds that human beings are evolving from mammalhood to immortality. Almost all of us, he says repeatedly (and with evident j o y in annoying our self-esteem), are still on the mammalian level —robots controlled by conditioning. We think we are conscious, but we aren't. We are asleep, hypnotized, sleep-walking—the metaphors vary, b u t they all mean that we can't see outside our conditioned reality-tunnel. When we begin to awaken, we perceive that the world is nothing at all like the m y t h s and superstitions our society has imposed on us. And, if Gurdjieffs allegory be taken literally, a group of Interstellar Intelligences, w h o have already evolved to stages less mammalian than ours, are watching us all the time and, occasionally, intervening to accelerate our evolution toward their level.

In this context, let us recall that there are two great 146 mysteries in anthopology, and t h a t they do n o t concern minor matters at all b u t are, rather, t w o of the biggest questions we can ask—namely, how did language begin? and how did civilization begin? There are dozens of theories, b u t not one hypothesis has y e t achieved anything close to majority accept-ance. Talking to anthropologists, I often get the feeling that each of them has a personal theory different from all the others. We simply do not know.

But language and civilization are functions of the symbolizing or semantic faculty, which also produced that other great mystery: shamanism—out of which grew religion and the whole web of artificial (human-made) Ideas which differentiate us from the other land-mammals.

The cumulative evidence in such books as Dr. Andrija Puharich's The Sacred Mushroom, J o h n Allegro's The Sacred Mushroom and the Cross, R. Gordon Wasson's Soma: Divine Mushroom of Immortality, Robert Graves' revised fourth edition of The White Goddess, Professor Peter Furst's Flesh of the Gods, Dr. Weston LaBarre's The Peyote Cult and Ghost Dance: Origins of Religion, Margaret Murray's The Witch Cult in Western Europe, etc., leaves little doubt that the beginnings of religion (awareness of, or at least belief in, Higher Intelligences) is intimately linked with t h e fact t h a t shamans—in Europe, in Asia, in the Americas, in Africa—have been dos-ing their nervous systems with metaprogramming drugs since at least 3 0 , 0 0 0 B.C.

The pattern is the same, among our cave-dwelling ancestors and American Indians, at the Eleusinian feasts in Athens and among pre-Vedic Hindus, in tribes scattered from pole to pole and in the contemporary research summarized by Dr. Walter Huston Clark in his Chemical Ecstasy: people take these metaprogramming substances and they soon assert contact with Higher Intelligences.

According to LaBarre's Ghost Dance, the shamans of North and South America used over 2,000 different metaprogramming chemicals; those of Europe and Asia, curiously, only used about 25 0 . 7 3 Amanita muscaria (the "fly agaric" mushroom) was the most widely used sacred drug in the Old World, and the peyote cactus in the New. Over the past 30-to-40,000 years countless shamans have been trained by older 147 shamans (as anthropologist Carlos Castaneda is trained by brujo— witch-man—Don Juan Matus in the famous books) to use these chemicals, as Dr. Leary and Dr. Lilly have used them, to metaprogram the nervous system and bring in some of the signals usually n o t scanned. (On the visual spectrum alone, it has been well known since Newton t h a t we normally perceive less than 0.5 (one-half of one) per cent of all known pulsations.) It can safely be generalized that the link between such sensitive new scannings and personal belief in Higher Intelligences is the most probable explanation of the origins of religion.

That the turned-on mind is cosmic in dimension is stated directly by Carlos Castaneda's shamanic teacher, D o n Juan Matus, in Tales of Power:

"Last night was the first time you flew on the wings of your perception. A sorcerer can use those wings to touch other sensibilities, a crow's for instance, a coy-ote's, a cricket's, or the order of other worlds in that infinite space. (Italics added.)

When Professor Castaneda asked directly, " D o y o u mean other planets, Don J u a n ? " the old shaman answered without reservation: " C e r t a i n l y . " 7 4

As Captain James T. Kirk once remarked, "Can all this j u s t be an accident? Or could there be some alien intelligence behind i t ? "

The horrors begin

At this point in our adventure, I was entering my second year on Welfare and approaching my 42nd birthday. Illuminatus was still not published. Sometimes when I looked into the mirror I could imagine the words

FAILURE: T O T A L , ABJECT, COMPLETE F A I L U R E written on my forehead. I fully appreciated Mae West's famous verdict: "I've been rich and I've been poor, and rich is better."

I was doing Sufi heart-chakra exercises every day, to 148 open myself more and more to love for all beings. It was n o t that I really wanted, or hoped, to become a saint, b u t merely that, without such self-work, I could easily crumble into t h e bundle of paranoia and self-pity that many a 1960s idealist had become during the Nixon Counter-Revolution. The heart chakra opened, at times, and light poured out, j u s t like it says in the textbooks, and the Mystic loved every living creature.

The whole world was my body. It was gorgeous. Two days later, despite continued work on heart-opening, money worries would overcome the Poor Fool again and I would feel the onset of the classic Anxiety Syndrome—dizziness, wet palms, rapid heartbeat, the whole works.

According to William F. Buckley, Jr., and various other philosophers who have never been poor, this kind of thing is supposed to build character and keep America strong. The Poor Fool saw a lot of other people on Welfare in those months—if y o u live in a poor neighborhood, y o u meet poor people—and I made a detailed study of the kind of character this experience builds. In my j u d g m e n t , they would all have been less paranoid if, instead of being poor seven days a week, they were allowed to be comfortable six days and were subjected to the Chinese Water Torture on the seventh.

The Poor Fool continued his Sufi heart-chakra exercises, concentrating on loving people like Buckley, Nixon and Rockefeller. Meanwhile, he attacked his anxiety symptoms with pranayama, a yogic breathing m e t h o d which Crowley (among others) promises will banish any negative emotion. After a month of doing pranayama for 30 minutes every morning, the anxiety symptoms went away. The heart chakra also became more active and I started falling in love with everybody I met.

Then Kerry Thornley, high priest of Eris, re-entered my life, dragging the Kennedy Assassination horrors with him.

As a result of Thornley's feud with D.A. Jim Garrison in 1967-68, Thornley had entered a belief system in which Garrison was, like Joe McCarthy, an unscrupulous power-seeker willing to defame any number of innocents in order to make headlines and advance his own political career. By the time Garrison's conspiracy theories had collapsed in court (he never convicted a single "conspirator"), everybody, even 149

Garrison's most devout followers in the underground press, was more or less willing to accept that belief and forget all about Garrison's bizarre investigations.

By 1973, Thornley had begun to enter a different belief-system. He was puzzled over many aspects of the case Garrison had tried to manufacture against him, and k e p t brooding over the details. Basically, the case rested upon w h a t ordinary people call coincidences. Jungians and parapsychologists call them synchronicities. Garrison called them "propinquities" and said they proved the existence of "a conspiracy so vast as to stagger the imagination."

Thornley began to believe in the conspiracy. The coincidences-synchronicities-propinquities hadn't "just h a p p e n e d " ; they had been manipulated and therefore Thornley had been set u p , like Oswald, as a fall guy to drive independent investigators (like Garrison) off the real scent.

According to Garrison, these propinquities indicated that Thornley had been part of a conspiracy t h a t managed the assassination and framed Oswald. Thornley, for years, was convinced that it was all coincidence—but then he began to wonder. He and Oswald had b o t h come to the a t t e n t i o n of their superiors in the Marines because they were avowed Marx-ists at t h a t time and were labeled "trouble-makers." Could Naval Intelligence have noted their physical resemblance and started concocting a plot to exploit this resemblance later?

The more Thornley t h o u g h t about this, the m o r e alarm-ing the propinquities (or coincidences) seemed. At one point, he went to a hypnotist to a t t e m p t to discover if Naval Intelligence could have brainwashed him, erased the memory of that, and controlled him for years . . . could he have been part of the plot without knowing it? Naturally, the hypnotist was unable to find a definite yes or no answer to this question.

Then, early in 1975, Thornley remembered an odd conversation in 1963 with a New Orleans man w h o m we will call Mr. M. The subject was—are y o u ready?—how to assassinate a President and get away with it. It was all abstract and theoretical (both Thornley and Mr. M. were aspiring writers, and the idea was to construct a plot t h a t would convince the reader it could work in real life), b u t at one point Mr. M. said that the best technique would be to use individuals w h o didn't 150 even know they were being used.

Thornley later heard rumors t h a t Mr. M. was actually a lower-level member of the New Orleans Mafia.

At the time Thornley remembered this, the latest idea among professional Kennedy Assassination buffs was that the Mafia had collaborated with the C.I.A. on the j o b .

Had the assassination actually been a Mafia-Naval Intelligence j o b , and had Mr. M., in that odd conversation, been testing Thornley to see if any memory of the hypothetical brainwashing lingered near the surface of consciousness?

About that time one of the Assassination Investigation organizations p u t o u t a paper suggesting multiple Oswalds— an elaboration on the " t w o Oswalds" suggested by Professors Popkin (The Second Oswald) and Thompson (Six Seconds in Dallas). According to this model, Oswald either died or was murdered shortly after leaving the Marines, and his I.D. had then been used by Naval Intelligence as a cover for a variety of agents who m o r e or less looked like him.

And some very intelligent, academic and non-paranoid conspiracy researchers began to point out an interesting pattern surrounding the Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr.

assassinations: a series of false trails which were never followed up by the official investigations but which later served to be-fuddle and confuse the numerous citizens' investigations (including Garrison's). Some of these false trails, it was alleged, led to Fidel Castro. All of these red herrings had been dragged across the trail, according to this school, as fail-safes, in case the original "deranged lone assassin" scenario fell a p a r t . 7 5

Thornley began to wonder how much of his life in and after the Marine Corps had been manipulated as part of such a red herring.

Then Thornley read about the case of Robert Byron Watson.

Watson, a convict, has charged that he overheard a plot to kill Martin Luther King Jr. in a shop in Atlanta in 1968.

One of t h e conspirators described by Watson seems to match Thornley's memories of Mr. M.

Watson's story has been investigated and pronounced worthless by the F.B.I. Naturally.

It has also been investigated and pronounced true by 151 black activist, comedian and conspiracy buff Dick Gregory.

Naturally.

You can predict, with about 99% accuracy, w h e t h e r a given individual will believe Watson's story, irrespective of the evidence, or lack of evidence —just on the basis of t h a t individual's political orientation. (Whatever you believe imprisons you.) The one percent whose reaction to Watson's charges cannot be predicted from their previous politics—the one individual in a hundred w h o would like to know what the hell is really going on—are the only persons on Earth not included in Gurdjieff's dismal declaration that this is a planet of conditioned robots.

Thornley, y o u will remember, is one of the inventors of the theology of Discordianism, which is expounded at some length in Illuminatus; and Volume I of the trilogy is dedicated to him (and to Mr. Gregory Hill, another great Discordian theologian). This dedication, it now appears, is unfortunate, because Mr. Thornley, believing he has solved the J o h n F.

Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr. assassinations, is somewhat worried that his attempts to reveal the t r u t h will be mistaken for a publicity gimmick to promote Illuminatus.

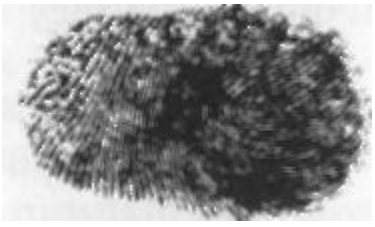
Any public statement by Shea and myself that Thornley's charges are n o t a publicity gimmick for our book will, of course, only increase suspicions about that possibility.

I must point out that two weeks after Thornley first made his charges against Mr. M. (to the Atlanta police) he was robbed, pistol-whipped and had his I.D. taken.

That coincidence (or propinquity) is not funny at all.

Ishtar's Walk: a guided tour of Hell

All conspiracy buffs are persecuted eventually. This is a sociological law on which I would stake my life, because I have seen it confirmed in every conspiracy-seeking group I've ever known. Perhaps the persecution is created by t h e conspiracy-seekers themselves (in the sense that every neurotic creates his own problems), or perhaps the mad satire in 152



Dear Sir,

On August 9th, 1975, twelve days after I delivered a statement to the Atlanta Police supporting allegations made by Robert Byron Watson concerning the assassinations of John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King, two armed men wearing ski masks entered the home of my ex-mate during a party at which I was one of the guests. These masked individuals stole, among other things, all my identification.

This incident was reported to the Antlanta Police who later captured four men who they claim are the 'ski mask bandits.

I had no particular reason - - except for my general knowledge of how the JFK assassins have operated in the past (regarding the imperson-ation-incrimination of Oswald, for example) - - for concluding that anyone had sent these bandits expressly to steal my ID. Nevertheless I did mention to a couple of friends that I was somewhat concerned that my ID - - regardless of why it was stolen in the first place - - might end up in the hands of the Mafia, the CIA, of the Naval Intelligence Command (all three of which groups seem to have been involved in the JFK murder).

Yesterday I was finally able to read - - no thanks to the Atlanta Police

- - Robert Byron Watson's entire statement concerning how he overheard some heroin dealers associated with the syndicate plotting the MLK murder and how, at a later date, he was framed by syndicate and D E A people who sent heroin to his home through the mail, and then busted him, in order to discredit any future testimony he might deliver relative to the King murder.

Watson's statement contains this sentence: 'Just before the heroin was sent to my home through the mail, four armed, ski masked men broke down the back door one night about 9.00 p.m. while my mother and I were watching the T . V . ' These four armed men then robbed Watson and his mother using exactly the same heavy-handed tactics and threats - - such as that they were 'going to blow your goddamn brains out' - - as did the ski masked men who robbed us.

Watson says he was told that his assailants were 'hit men' from the syndicate.

Watson's mother was knocked down; I was pistol whipped, once, under the left eye.

In another part of his statement, Watson mentions that someone was arrested in New Orleans who was using his name and his social security number at a time when he could prove conclusively that he was not in New Orleans.

So I have decided it would be a good idea to warn everyone that there may indeed now be a 'Second Thornley' wandering around. Effective as of the 9th of August I have no ID and anyone who shows up anywhere with my identification (operator's license, student card, social security and library cards, etc.) is an impersonator. I shall not replace my ID as, under such unusual circumstances as these, that will only complicate matters.

Henceforth, my identification shall be my right thumb print.

Kerry Wendell Thornley

6 September 1975

Box 827

Atlanta

GA 30301

A letter distributed to the underground press and various conspiracy investigators by Kerry Thornley after he was beaten and had his I.D.

taken.

Illuminatus is true after all and every conspiracy ever imagined actually exists. The fact remains that those w h o believe t h e world is run by the Jesuits get persecuted as m u c h as those w h o believe it is run by the Elders of Zion; and those w h o believe it is run by the Rockefellers get persecuted in exactly equal measure. People who believe the Air Force is deliberately hiding the facts about the UFOs get persecuted by a special group of sinister beings known as the Men in Black, w h o claim to be Air Force officers—but who are (naturally) denied by the Air Force. There almost seems to be a neurotic-psionic law: whatever y o u fear most will eventually come after y o u .

The shaman, of course, lives through this process on more levels than the ordinary paranoid, because the shaman is determined to confront every terror and conquer it. Many, however, are shamans without knowing it, and invoke their private demons in total ignorance, thinking it is all coming from outside themselves.

Thornley began writing to me regularly about his solution to the assassinations, and insisted more and m o r e often that his life was in danger. I tried to calm him down a bit by reminding him of the difference between theory and proof.

It soon became evident, from his subsequent letters, that he was now half-convinced that / was part of the assassination conspiracy team.

I have a bad leg, from my polio in childhood, and it now began acting up worse than ever. Sometimes, I could n o t walk without a cane. Other times, pains and spasms kept me from writing in the day and from sleeping at night. "This is psychosomatic," I told myself. I quoted a Sufi proverb, "We do n o t walk on our legs b u t on our Will." The leg perversely got worse. I tried yoga, chiropractics, ordinary M.D.s, faith healers, polarity therapy, acupuncture and staying spaced out on pot for days. The leg got worse.

Dell, which had announced publication of Illuminatus, changed their minds and said they wouldn't print it unless we cut 500 pages.

I thought in anguish t h a t we were ruining a masterpiece (such is the artistic ego), b u t we cut the 500 pages. I would rather have a flawed Illuminatus in print in 1975,1 said, than 154 no Illuminatus in print.

Thornley's letters to me became increasingly denuncia-tory. He now believed that the Discordian Society had been infiltrated very early by C.I.A. agents (probably including me) who had used it as a cover for an assassination bureau. The logic of this was brilliant in a surrealistic, Kafkaesque sort of way. Try to picture a jury keeping a straight face when examining a conspiracy that worshipped the Goddess of Confusion, honored Emperor Norton as a saint, had a Holy Book called

"How I Found Goddess and What I Did to Her After I Found Her," and featured personnel who called themselves Malaclypse the Younger, Ho Chih Zen, Mordecai the Foul, Lady L, F.A.B.,* Fang the Unwashed, Harold Lord Randomfactor, Onrak the Backwards, et al. . ..

While the Suspect was receiving these letters and trying to persuade Thornley, gently, that his imagination was growing faster than his evidence, various forms of paranoia were breaking o u t in the local Leary-Starseed group. Every week somebody would come to the Suspect and warn, in urgent whispers, t h a t somebody else in the group was actually a government agent. Often, the person accused one week would be the person coming around to accuse somebody else the next week.

Of course, there must have been at least one real government agent in the group, since it is now established that every piece of mail Leary wrote or received in prison was Xeroxed by the California prison system, the F.B.I., the C.I.A.

and the D.E.A. (What did they think, jointly or severally, about Joshua Norton and the Goddess Eris, n o t to mention extraterrestrials and immortality?)

Around about then Dennis Martino managed to die of murder, suicide and natural causes, all at the same time, in Spain. That is to say, Martino's death was reported by the press first as murder, then as suicide and finally as the result of an accidental overdose of heroin. Martino had been a government agent assigned to infiltrate the Leary defense organization as a spy—a procedure the Supreme Court has found ob-jectionable in other cases. Martino, it is claimed by some persons close to the scene, also spied on the government for t h e Leary defense group. According to Leary, at least two more of his defense staff at the time were also government agents, but these were simultaneously co-conspirators with various paramilitary left-wing terrorist organizations.

The initials refer to Lady L's title, "Fucking Anarchist Bitch," originally given to her by Eldridge Cleaver. "That's me," she said happily.

Mae Brussel, the world's greatest single conspiracy buff, has insisted, over various underground radio stations, t h a t virtually all the terrorist Left is a secret C.I.A. operation to discredit the rest of the Left. More recently, the U.S. Labor Party has taken up the same model and is accusing almost everybody in the Left of being a government agent working to discredit the Left. Although neither Mae Brussell n o r the U.S.L.P. are any better at preparing an evidential case t h a n the late Joseph McCarthy, the Watergate investigations revealed that the FBI's " C O I N T E L P R O " operation did involve agents provocateurs and attempts to divide the Left by inciting crime and spreading paranoia. Maybe all t h e paranoids are right, after all.

Maybe.

The Wilson family was living, like all Welfare families, in a slum apartment building, infested with roaches, and full of o t h e r social rejects. The black woman across the hall had a an 8-year-old boy (illegitimate) who was dying of cancer.

Every so often she would go off her head and start raving at the whole building, saying she wished the child would die and end the agony. The child, of course, heard this. Pity assaulted m e ; I wept.

A man on the second floor abruptly went schizo and began invading our apartment (and all the others) announcing, incoherently, that he was the Grand Master of the Sufi Order, or t h a t the whole building was now a Zen monastery and he was the Abbot, or various other kinds of occult gibberish.

Once, the half-crazy woman across the hall threw this totally crazy man out of her apartment while he was raving in t h a t fashion. He stood in the hall, between her apartment and ours, shouting that he was the Indian Ambassador to the U.N., and had come to Berkeley to feed starving American families.

When the police finally came to take him away, he told them he was the leader of the Weather Underground. Pity tore at me with claws.

Then we discovered an old lady living in the hall closet.

She was an old "crazy w o m a n " well-known around Berkeley, who always lived in halls or parks. She wouldn't apply to Welfare, to get enough money to pay rent somewhere, because she was sane enough to know they'd call her crazy. She was afraid they'd p u t her in a nuthouse.

The manager found her and threw her o u t . For a few nights, she camped in the bushes beside our building, then she moved on.

Pity and horror.

I am living in Gorki's Lower Depths or some ghastly work of naturalistic fiction, I decided. The whole world has turned into a lesson in the futility of human hope. We're all slowly going mad, from poverty and anxiety and mystery. Maybe my whole life was a hallucination; maybe I had never worked for Playboy and had 20 grand a year and eaten dinner with Hugh Hefner; maybe I had just imagined that. Maybe I had always been a Crazy Pauper in the Berkeley slums. It is an easy step from pity to self-pity.

The Crazy Pauper spent a whole day sitting in a chair, not writing, not talking to the family, not moving. Some might say I was catatonic.

At sunset, the Fool got up and went out on t h e porch and watched the sun sinking in the west, doing the Sufi heart-chakra exercise, forcing myself to love all beings. I came back to life.

*** * • • ***

My book review desk at the San Francisco Phoenix the next day had a volume entitled The Day the Dollar Dies by somebody named Willard Cantelon. Flipping through it, I saw that it was about my old buddies, the Bavarian Illuminati.

I read Mr. Cantelon's version of the Illuminati Conspiracy with some interest. It appears that the Illuminati are currently plotting to wreck the international financial system and cause the disruption or fall of all the strong governments in the world. When chaos is complete, contact with Higher Intelligences in outer space will be announced.

But, says Mr. Cantelon, these Higher Intelligences are 157 actually Satan and his fallen angels, who will appear on Earth as superhuman and benign beings; the masses will accept them as saviors, not recognizing their Evil Nature; and then we are done for. Satan will institute One World Government and One World Religion—those twin bugaboos of the extreme Right—after which money will be abolished and a computer-ized credit system will come into effect everywhere.

Everybody will be tattooed on the forehead and wrist with a credit number, and every "purchase" will consist only in having the numbers scanned by computers placed in every store or bank. This is the key to a tyranny that can never be resisted, because any rebel will merely have his credit cut off, and will be unable to b u y food, clothing or shelter.

All this, Mr. Cantelon assures us, is foretold in Revelations, chapter 13, 1 6 - 1 7 :

He causeth all small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand or in their foreheads: and that no man might buy or sell save he that had the mark or the number.

I remembered the famous response of Robert Welch, chairman of the J o h n Birch Society, when told t h a t his conspiracy theories were fantastic: "Yes, but we are living in fantastic times." I laughed o u t loud.

Only after weeks had passed did I begin to think t h a t I had, rather absent-mindedly, passed through what mystics call " t h e dark night of the s o u l , " or "crossing the abyss."

Whatever one calls it, I reached a depth of despair and deliberately decided to love the world instead of pitying myself; and, afterwards, I was no longer afraid of anything.

It didn't even bother me when San Francisco conspiracy buffs, looking at the same picture from a different angle, decided that Leary and I were really the ringleaders of the Illuminati and had masterminded the Kennedy and o t h e r assassinations. When the above-ground mouthpiece of the S.L.A., the Bay Area Research Collective, claimed I was Leary's C.I.A.

"babysitter," I laughed again. When an anonymous bomb threat arrived the week after, the Fool was amused at his own amusement. Sufism had vindicated itself: the heart-chakra exercise works. "Perfect love casteth out fear." I was beginning to emerge on the other side of Chapel Perilous.

158

Mystery Babalon

Crowleymas 1974—October 12, often associated with an Italian navigator who introduced slavery to the New World and syphilis to t h e Old—was celebrated at our apartment house with weird and eldritch festivities. Arlen and I, representing the Discordian Society, together with Stephen upstairs (Reformed Druids of North America), Claire and Carol in another apartment (witches, connected with the New Reformed Order of the Golden Dawn), and the Great Wild Beast F u r t h e r m e n t Society (which is really Stephen and me and another neighbor named Charles), opened all our rooms to a Crowleymas Party and invited nearly 100 local wizards and mystics.

"There are always paranoid vibes at Crowleymas parties,"

Isaac Bonewitz, of the Chasidic Druids of North America, likes to warn people, with an eerie chuckle.

In fact, Crowley has attracted the worst as well as the best elements in the occult world, and a self-declared "Crowleyan" is as likely to be a dangerous kook as a high adept.

The party was just starting when the Shaman was called to the p h o n e , for a bitch of a conversation. My caller was a Dr. H. (not his real initial) who is a very gifted psychiatrist, rather fascinated with Leary and Crowley (and me). It seemed that he was having a bad acid trip, couldn't get control of the anxiety, and wanted my help. The Shaman has a reputation for great healing and tranquilizing vibes in dealing with people on bad acid trips, but he had never done it over the phone before. Twenty minutes later, when Dr. H. was calmed and going off into a good trip, I felt absolutely drained.

The Wizard returned to the living room. Immediately, Tom (another alias) sat down next to me, laughed shrilly, cracked a silly j o k e , and said, "I think I may be going crazy again." (He had been in a n u t house for a few m o n t h s about eight years before.) The Philosopher spent three hours, in the midst of the kind of noisy party y o u find only in Berkeley and 159 only among hippies and witches, practicing psychotherapy without a license. T o m was convinced, finally, that he didn't have to go crazy again, t h a t he was the programmer of his own computer, and that it had only been a hallucination that made him think the computer was starting to program him.

The Wizard was n o w even more drained; and t h e n Jacques Vallee arrived.

I had wanted to talk to Doctor Vallee for several m o n t h s now and I immediately kidnapped him into a room which the other party-goers were not informed a b o u t . On the way, we spotted Hymenaeus Alpha (Grady McMurty), Caliph of the Ordo Templi Orientis, and his wife, Phylis.

T o m , still giggling at inappropriate moments but no longer sure he was going mad, tagged along.

The Skeptic had heard Jacques Vallee talk at a conference on Science and Spirit, sponsored by the Theosophical Society, earlier in the year. He had taken a new approach to the UFO mystery and was systematically feeding all the reports of extraterrestrial contacts into a giant computer. The computer was programmed to look for various possible repeated patterns. Jacques said that the evidence emerging suggested to him that the UFOs weren't extraterrestrial at all, b u t that they seemed to be intelligent systems intent on convincing us they were extraterrestrial.

Now the Skeptic started pumping Jacques a b o u t his evidence that they weren't extraterrestrial. He started to explain t h a t , analyzing the reports chronologically, it appeared that They (whoever or whatever they are) always strive to give the impression that they are something the society they are visiting can understand. In medieval sightings, he said, they called themselves angels; in the great 1902 flap in several states, one of the craft spoke to a West Virginia farmer and said they were an airship invented and flown from Kansas; in 1940s-1950s sightings, they often said they were from Venus; since Venus has been examined and seems incapable of supporting life, they now say they are from another star-system in this galaxy.

"Where do y o u think they come from?" I asked.

Doctor Vallee gave the Gallic form of the classic scientific Not-Speculating-Beyond-The-Data head-shake. "I can 160 theorize, and theorize, endlessly," he said, " b u t is it not better to just study the data more deeply and look for clues?"

" Y o u must have some personal h u n c h , " I insisted.

He gave in gracefully. "They relate to space-time in ways for which we have, at present, no concepts," he said.

"They cannot explain to us because we are not ready to understand."

I asked Grady McMurty if Aleister Crowley had ever said anything to him implying the extraterrestrial theory which Kenneth Grant, Outer Head of another Ordo Templi Orientis, implies in his accounts of Crowley's contacts with Higher Intelligences.

"Some of the things Aleister said to m e , " Grady replied carefully, "could be interpreted as hints pointing t h a t w a y . "

He went on to q u o t e Crowley's aphorisms a b o u t various of the standard entities contacted by Magick. The Abramelin spirits, for instance, need to be watched carefully. "They bite," Aleister explained in his best deadpan am-I-kidding-or-not? style. The Enochian "angels," on the other hand, d o n ' t always have to be summoned. "When y o u ' r e ready, they come for you," Aleister said flatly.

(The Enochian entities were first contacted by Dr. J o h n Dee in the early 17th Century. Dr. Dee, court astrologer to Queen Elizabeth and also an important mathematician, has been controversial from his own time to ours, some writers regarding him as a genius of the first rank and others as a clever lunatic. According to two interesting books, The World Stage and The Rosicrucian Enlightenment, b o t h by a most scrupulous historian, Dr. Francis Yates, Dee was almost certainly a prime mover in the "Illuminati" and "Rosicrucian Brotherhoods" of that time, which played a central role in the birth of modern science. The alleged UFOnaut from Uranus which communicated with the two Naval Intelligence officers gave a n a m e , A F F A , which is a word in t h e "angelic" language used by the entities Dee contacted. It means Nothing.

George Hunt Williamson also got some words in "angelic" from his Space Brothers, remember.)

The outstanding quality of U F O contactees, Jacques Vallee said at this point, was incoherence. "I now have grave reservations about all physical details they supply," he said.

"They are like people after an auto accident. All they k n o w is that something very serious has happened to t h e m . " Only the fact that so many cases involve other witnesses, w h o see something in the sky before the " c o n t a c t e e " has his-her strange experience, justifies the assumption t h a t what happens is more than "subjective."

"Largely," Doctor Vallee summarized, "they come out of it with a new perspective on humanity. A religious perspective, in general terms. But all the details are contradictory and confusing." He regarded green men, purple giant-men, physical craft with windows in them, etc., as falling into the category psychologists call "substitute m e m o r y , " always provided by the ingenious brain when the actual experience is too shocking to be classified.

I asked how many in the room had experienced the contact of what appeared to be Higher Intelligence. Grady and Phylis McMurty put up their hands, as did two young magicians from the Los Angeles area, and myself. Jacques Vallee, curiously, looked as if he might raise his hand, but then evidently changed his mind and did not. I said I inclined to believe the Higher Intelligences were extraterrestrial, and asked what the others thought.

Grady McMurty—Caliph of the Ordo Templi Orientis—said, in effect, that the theory of higher dimensions made more sense to him than the extraterrestrial theory in terms of actual space ships entering our biosphere.

The two Los Angeles magicians agreed.

Tom, who had been a witch for five years and hadn't raised his hand when asked for contactee testimony, said that the Higher Intelligences are imbedded in our language and numbers, as the Cabalists think, and have no other kind of existence. He added t h a t every time he tried to explain this he saw that people thought he was going schizophrenic and he began to fear that they might be right, so he preferred not to talk about it at all. Tom—who is a computer programmer by profession, a witch only by religion-later added a bit to this, saying that all t h a t exists is information and coding; we only imagine we have bodies and live in space-time dimensions.

Doctor Vallee listened to all this with a bland smile, and did not seem to regard any of us as mad.

(A few days later, in discussion with the former Vacaville prison psychologist, Dr. Wesley Hiler, I asked him what he really thought of Dr. Leary's extraterrestrial contacts.

Specifically, since he didn't regard Leary as crazy or hallucinating, what was happening when Leary thought he was receiving extraterrestrial communications? "Every man and woman who reaches the higher levels of spiritual and intellectual development," Dr. Hiler said calmly, "feels the presence of a Higher Intelligence. Our theories are all unproven. Socrates called it his daemon. Others call it gods or angels. Leary calls it extraterrestrial. Maybe it's just another part of our brain, a part we usually d o n ' t use. Who knows?") Since everybody in the room at this point had either had the required experience, or was willing to speculate a b o u t it and study it objectively rather than merely banishing it with the label "hallucination," I went into my rap about the parallels between Leary and Wilhelm Reich. "The a t t e m p t to destroy both Dr. Reich and Dr. Leary reached its most intense peak right after they reported their extraterrestrial contacts,"

I said. "I keep having very weird theories a b o u t what t h a t m e a n s . . . "

Grady McMurty nodded vigorously. "That's the $64,000 question," he said emphatically. " F o r years I've been asking Phylis and everybody else I know: why does the gnosis always get busted? Every single time the energy is raised and large-scale group illuminations are occurring, t h e local branch of the Inquisition kills it dead. Why, why, w h y ? "

Nobody had any very conclusive ideas.

"I'll tell you what I t h i n k , " Grady said. "There's war in Heaven. The Higher Intelligences, whoever they are, aren't all playing on the same team. Some of them are trying to encourage our evolution to higher levels, and some of them want to keep us stuck just where we are."

According to Grady, some occult lodges are working with those nonhuman intelligences who want to accelerate human evolution, but some of the others are working with the intelligences who wish to keep us near an animal level of awareness.

This is a standard idea in occult circles and it can safely be stated, w i t h o u t exaggeration, that every " s c h o o l " or "lodge" of adepts that exists is regarded, by some of the others, as belonging to the Black Brotherhood of the evil path. Grady's own Ordo Templi Orientis, indeed, has been accused of this more often than have most other occult lodges. I have personally maintained my good cheer and staved off paranoia, while moving among various occult groups as student or participant, by always adhering rigidly to t h e standard Anglo-Saxon legal maxim t h a t every accused person must be regarded as innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

This obviously spares me a lot of worry, but the m o r e guarded approach is very well argued by Isaac Bonewitz, t h e author of Real Magick. "Paranoid magicians outlive the o t h e r s , " Isaac says.

Somehow the conversation drifted away from Grady's concept of "war in Heaven." Several times, Grady tried to steer us back there, but each time we wandered on to a different subject. T o m said later t h a t he felt a presence in the room deliberately pushing us away from that topic . . .

Dr. H.—the psychiatrist whose bad acid-trip had started the Crowleymas party off so jumpily for me—dropped by the next day, to thank me for "talking him d o w n " from his anxiety attack.

He also, it soon appeared, wanted to tell me a b o u t his accelerating experiences with magick. It had started over two years earlier, after an intensive seminar at Esalen. Dr. H. suddenly found that he could see "auras." (The aura of the human body, known to shamans and witches since time imme-morial, has been repeatedly rediscovered by scientists, most of whom were thereupon denounced as "cranks." Franz Anton Mesmer called it "animal magnetism," in the 16th century. In the 19th, Baron Reichenbach called it " O D . " In the 1920s, Gurvich named it " t h e mytogenic ray." Wilhelm Reich rediscovered it in the 1930s, called it "orgone energy," and was destroyed by AMA bigots who charged t h a t he was hallucinating it. Kirlian photography has now demonstrated beyond all doubt t h a t this aura exists.) Dr. H. soon found, further, that he could use t h e aura as a diagnostic tool in analyzing new patients. This experience, Leary's books, and a lecture by me on Crowley's magick, led him to further experiments.

On a beach in Sonoma County, after taking LSD the day before and programming an opening of the self to higher beings or energies, Dr. H. (no longer under the direct influence of the drug) had an experience with Something from the sky.

" I t wasn't exactly a Higher Intelligence," he said carefully,

" o r , at least, I d i d n ' t receive that aspect of it, if it was Higher Intelligence. To m e , it was just energy. Terrible energy. My chest was sore for hours afterward. I thought it would kill me, b u t I was absolutely ecstatic and ego-less at the peak of it. If the chest-pain weren't so intense, it would have been a totally positive experience."

(MacGregor Mathers, Outer Head of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, and the first occult teacher of such worthies as Aleister Crowley, poet William Butler Yeats and novelist Arthur Machen, once recorded a meeting with the Secret Chiefs. These ambiguous entities, known in several schools of occult training, are variously believed to be discarnate spirits of the great Magi of the past, living Magi who can teleport themselves about as easily as y o u or I telephone a friend, "angels" in the traditional sense, or merely "beings we cannot understand." In any case, Mathers noted that the meeting, although pleasant, left him feeling as if he'd been "struck by lightning" and he also suffered chest pains and extreme dif-ficulty in breathing. Dr. Israel Regardie has also noted that Alan Bennett, who was Crowley's chief teacher for many years, developed asthma, a chest disease. Crowley developed asthma himself as his contacts with the Secret Chiefs occurred more often; and Regardie finally " c a u g h t " asthma for several years after studying with Crowley, a condition which was only cured when he went through the bio-energetic therapy of Wilhelm Reich.)

Dr. H. went on to describe a second experience of the Energy and Light explosion, about a year after the first. This was also ecstatic and strangely frightening. Since then he has felt "healing p o w e r " in his hands and has experimentally tried a sort of Reichian-Rolfian massage on some of his patients, with favorable results.

It occurred to me that, if less prepared for such experiences and less committed to scientific m e t h o d as a habit of mind, Dr. H. might well have remembered each of these 165 experiences as an encounter with an angel or a UFO . . .

I remembered Crowley's discussion of Jesus, Buddha, Mohammed, St. Paul and Moses in Book One of Magick. Jesus, Crowley points out, says nothing about t h e source of his Illumination; Buddha speaks of being tempted by various demons and then seeing the Clear Light; St. Paul tells us he had been "caught upon into Heaven and seen and heard things of which it is not lawful to speak"; Mohammed claims he was visited by the Archangel Gabriel; and Moses simply says he "beheld G o d . " Crowley comments: Diverse as these statements are at first sight all agree in announcing an experience of the class which fifty years ago would have been called supernatural, today may be called spiritual, and fifty years hence will have a proper name based on an understanding of the phenomenon which occurred.76

Leary emerges from darkness and Sirius rises again My goodness, Toto, I don't think we're in Kansas any more.

—L. Frank Baum

Early in 1975,1 began to receive letters from Dr. Leary again. We communicated at length about many subjects, including the Sirius mystery. Here's a selection of w h a t Tim had to say (and note that only later did he reveal to me t h a t he was being held in solitary confinement during these m o n t h s) : I felt great compassion and affection to realize that you have been worried about me—and that you have trusted me without understanding* . . .

I am only interested in conversation with Higher Intelligence—and know that Higher Intelligence is not the least interested in politics . . .

Dr. Leary is naive here. The Metaprogrammer hadn't exactly "trusted" him but had kept an open mind, balancing the charges of informing made against him with his denials of those charges and deciding that one would gamble with him rather than his accusers. But one always knew one was gambling.

By the way, I have always felt that Crowley's "Do What Thou Wilt" is good . . . The question then becomes "What do we will to do." Most of the Crowleyites I've met (yourself excluded) seem to have decided they will make pompous asses of themselves.

Which is fine with me. But I'm delighted that we've found the three obvious steps that a reasonably educated God takes: SMI2LE.

(S M I 2 L E was Leary's new acronym for the Futurist scenario he had derived from the Starseed Transmissions. It means Space Migration + Intelligence2 + Life Extension.) As soon as Illuminatus was published in September 1975, people started sending me letters a b o u t weird 23s in their own lives; and quite a few thought it worthwhile to inform me that the Morgan Guaranty Trust (an Illuminati h o t b e d , according to Birchers) is at 23 Wall Street. The most interesting of these communications came from an English flying saucer journal, Fortean News, and was forwarded by a Mr. W.N. Grimstad of St. Petersburg, Florida. The context concerns some medium-istic Contactees (persons allegedly in contact with extraterrestrial Higher Intelligences bv means of a trance medium).

Here's the passage that the Wizard enjoyed most:

"An entity that frequently communicated with the group called himself JIRO—a ludicrous appelation of the sort t h a t seems c o m m o n to many contactee accounts. The number 23 was communicated repeatedly b o t h in the writings and through the medium, but the members of the group could never understand why. We listened to one tape that consisted of the medium's transformed voice referring one constantly to 23 and (phonetically) " L e e r " (Lear, Leire, L l y r ?) . . . One entity claimed it came from LEHRA or LE-HAR (Llyr etc. a g a i n) . . . The communications contain references to the numbers 666 and 33 (sometimes 333) as well as 2 3 . "

Shortly after t h e Wizard received this tidbit, Dr. Leary wrote to me from prison t h a t he and a visitor, novelist Ken Kesey, had thrown the / Ching together, asking when Tim would be released from Durance Vile.

They received as answer Hexagram 2 3 , "Breaking Apart."

(6 6 6 , of course, is Crowley's favorite number, the Num-167

ber of the Beast and of the Stele of Revealing. 333 is the Cabalistic number of " t h a t mighty devil, C h o r o n z o n , " who once afflicted Dr. Dee in the 17th Century and gave Aleister himself a rough time in Bou Saada, North Africa, 1909, as recounted in The Vision and the Voice, by Aleister Crowley.

33 has so many mystical meanings in freemasonry t h a t I could write a book about it.)

Mr. W.N. Grimstad, who sent me that clipping about Lear-23-666-333, mentioned in an accompanying letter t h a t Florida anti-Illuminati groups (I assume he means Birchers) are spreading the theory t h a t Illuminatus is a diabolical at-t e m p t to confuse the anti-Illuminati forces and that Shea and I are actually high-ranking Illuminati ourselves.

T h a t did n o t surprise t h e Suspect; I had expected from the beginning that people of a certain cast of mind would regard a satirical t r e a t m e n t of the Illuminati theme as part of the Illuminati's cover-up effort.

Later, Mr. Grimstad sent me a tape, entitled "Sirius Rising," in which he and another conspiracy buff named Downard set forth the most absurd, the most incredible, t h e most ridiculous Illuminati theory of them all. The only trouble is that, after the weird data we have already surveyed, the Grimstad-Downard theory may not sound totally unbelievable to us.

According to "Sirius Rising," the Illuminati are preparing Earth, in an occult manner, for extraterrestrial contact. Part of the magical preparation, which only Illuminated Ones can understand, included:

(a) The founding of Cal Tech at 33° of latitude. (This was actually partially the work of aerospace engineer and occultist Jack Parsons, w h o was indeed a disciple of Crowley, as we have seen. In fact, so many of the scientists at Cal Tech were involved in Crowleyan magick, according to some reports, t h a t the government grew concerned and sent in agents to infiltrate the O.T.O. and find o u t how subversive it might be.

L. Ron Hubbard, founder of Scientology, was admittedly a member of that lodge of the O.T.O. at that time, and later claimed he had infiltrated it for Naval Intelligence.) (b) The assassination of J o h n F. Kennedy at 33° of latitude, to fulfill the alchemical ritual of " t h e killing of the 168 divine king."

(c) The firing of the m o o n rockets from Cape Kennedy, again at 33° latitude.

(d) Arranging t h a t the first man to walk on the m o o n would be a 33° Mason, which Neil Armstrong, it so happens, was. (Mr. Grimstad and Mr. Downard seem to share the notion, widely held by anti-Illuminati buffs, that all 33° Masons are Illuminati initiates.)

I emphatically d o n ' t believe t h a t rigmarole myself, although it is similar to the kind of Cabalistic-numerological magick to which the Illuminati would be inclined, if they really exist. And the locations given are not all exactly on t h e 33° of latitude, although I must admit they are all close.

If y o u want to hear more of the Downard-Grimstad numerological evidence, write to W.N. Grimstad at P.O. Box 14150, St. Petersburg, Florida, and ask how much he wants for the tapes. (He sent me mine free, evidently hoping I would publicize them. See how obliging I am, Mr. Grimstad?)*

The Grimstad-Downard theory shows again how different nervous systems picking up the same signals will organize them into different tunnel-realities. Most curious to me was Grimstad and Downard's rap on the Phoenix, beginning with the facts (already quoted from Kenneth Grant on our page 87) that " P h o e n i x " was Crowley's secret name in the Ordo Templi Orientis and t h a t the Egyptians p u t Sirius in their constellation of the Phoenix. Messrs. Grimstad and Downard find it significant that the bird on the other side of the Great Seal of the United States (behind the Eye in the Pyramid) is identified as a phoenix by some heraldists (most insist t h a t it is merely an eagle). They then find magick meaning in t h e coincidence-synchronicity that one of the Symbionese Liberation Army communiques, when they were holding Patty Hearst prisoner, was released through the San Francisco Phoenix.

That connection is, of course, absurd and, of course, only coincidental. Of course. But it had " m e a n i n g " in the Jungian sense, for me. I had been Book Editor of the San Francisco T h e Suspect also suspects that Mr. Grimstad suspects him of being in the real Illuminati and hopes he will give himself away in commenting on alHhis.

Phoenix when that tape was given to us by the S.L.A., and I was writing an article with Leary about Patty Hearst's brainwashing when the Sirius tapes arrived from Grimstad.

Cosmic Coincidence Control Center is still working overtime on my case, I decided.

The Horus Hawk and Uri Geller

In September 1 9 7 5 , 1 was finally allowed to see Timothy Leary in the flesh again, in the office of a U.S. Marshal.

Timothy was conspicuously unbrainwashed, I would say; although he had been in solitary confinement for 19 m o n t h s , he was still the same high-energy, high I.Q., high-exuberance individual he had been since I first met him in 1964. He seemed more toughened than aged, and had a grim determination about himself and about the Terra 11 goals (space migration, higher intelligence, life extension) that reminded me of other ex-cons and their goals.

" T h e universe is an intelligence test," he said at one point—adding later, "Prison is an intelligence test, t o o . If a m u t a n t can't survive severe testing, it doesn't deserve to instigate the next evolutionary stage. That's a Darwinian l a w . "

Tim has testified against four entrepreneurs w h o he feels betrayed his trust, attempted to implicate him in their own crimes, and exploited him financially. He denies testifying against anyone else, and is emphatic in denying that he testified against Weather Underground ("I k n o w nothing that can be used against them, actually") or against the alleged worldwide drug conspiracy known as "The Brotherhood of Eternal Love." He says his talks with narcotics agents about that

"conspiracy" convinced the Drug Enforcement Administration that it never existed and led to the dropping of charges against himself and others who had been accused of profiting from it. "Nobody has gone to jail because of me, and nobody will," he stated flatly; none of his critics have refuted this by producing a case of a person convicted and sentenced because of Tim's testimony.

The four persons against whom Tim testified could not be sentenced to prison anyway (the statute of limitations on the one crime he could nail them for ran o u t in 1975). Tim was satisfied t h a t these individuals no longer control his finances and that their fear about his testimony caused them to take a public role as leaders of a campaign to discredit him.

That, he says delightedly, prevented them from pretending to be part of his defense staff again.

Five m o n t h s later, in February 1976, the Parole Board met to decide on Dr. Leary's fate. They "downed him for a d e u c e " in the argot of his current peer group—that is, they sent him back for two more years in prison. His next hearing, they ruled, would be in February 1978, when he would be 59-going-on-60 years of age. This, y o u have to admit, is pretty ungrateful treatment if Tim really had testified against myriads of old associates.

At this point, PEN—the Poets, Essayists, and Novelists Club—re-entered the case and drew up a letter to Congress, asking for a Congressional hearing on the Leary case, to investigate charges of conspiracy to violate Leary's civil liberties, which Leary claimed might include high-ranking Justice Department officials. Leary wished Congress to inquire into: why a government agent (Dennis Martino) was placed in Leary's legal defense organization against Supreme Court rulings making such infiltration illegal; why Tim served so much time for an offense usually punished with no more than 6 months; why he was placed in solitary confinement with no charges of violence against him; why government agents cooperated with unfriendly witnesses (the four entrepreneurs) in spreading inaccurate reports that Tim was a wholesale informer who had testified against " h u n d r e d s " of innocents and was about to be assassinated; and evidence that two other members of his defence team (besides Martino) might be government double-agents. These two, Tim claims, have incited left-wing crimes, a COINTELPRO operation since 1968.

COINTELPRO-Counter-Intelligence P r o g r a m - w a s an FBI project t h a t involved infiltrating civil rights groups, peace groups, New Left groups and other dissident organizations, in a deliberate a t t e m p t to incite violence, destroy the reputation of those opposing the Establishment, and spread paranoia 171 against dissidents. Jane Fonda, the Black Panther Party and the Trotskyists, among others, have sued the government for conspiracy to violate their civil rights through COINTELPRO operations. The family of assassinated Black Panther leader Fred Hampton are also suing, claiming to have evidence that the man who drugged Hampton before Hampton was shot was an FBI agent.

" T h e truth is m u c h funnier than the m y t h s , " Tim told me. " I t ' s all exactly like y o u r novel, Illuminatus. At least two of my public representatives were government agents involved with underground terrorist groups also. But that's not anything odd or special—it's quite normal, I've found. The Weather people could surface tomorrow without being prosecuted, because the case against them is equally tainted."

Four weeks after PEN published these charges, t h e Parole Board had an unscheduled meeting, reversed themselves, and ordered Tim released on the following day. He departed for the mountains of New Mexico with Joanna for a vacation and delayed h o n e y m o o n .

The whole story of what actually went on behind the scenes with Leary, the dozens of lawyers involved, the Justice Department, Weather and COINTELPRO are not fully known to me. But Weather has several times since then discussed surfacing, as if convinced t h a t Tim is right and they cannot be prosecuted.

"I've learned a lot about mammalian politics," Tim says.

"I've held my own in dealing with the Justice Department, the narcs, the FBI, the CIA, Weather Underground, Al Fatah in Algiers, the local cops in dozens of states, prison guards and administrators in 29 prisons on 3 continents, and all the prison gangs of the California Archipelago—the Manson crowd, the Aryan Brotherhood, the JDL, the Black Muslims, the Mexican and Sicilian Mafias . . . No other social psychologist has had this kind of practical field experience with groups who will kill you in a minute if y o u show weakness. This has been the greatest educational experience of my life."

Even before Leary was o u t of prison, I began meeting and corresponding with various scientists w h o had been drawn into his SMI2LE scenario despite the potential risk to their own reputations involved in association with an allegedly 172 insane convict. Most of them, like Dr. Paul Segall, were long-time Immortalists and concerned chiefly with life extension research. Others were psychologists fascinated by Tim's neurological model to explain the higher consciousness states.

One group that held special interest for me were California physicists concerned with parapsychology and Leary's work in relation to their own theories on q u a n t u m mechanics.

This group included Dr. Jack Sarfatti (co-author of Space-Time and Beyond), Dr. Fred Wolf, Saul-Paul Sirag and Dr. Nick Herbert.

Sirag, in particular, soon became a close friend.

"I have four quantum models that cover t h a t , " Saul-Paul says whenever I tell him a new occult adventure. And he always does have (at least) three models. Once I asked him if there wasn't one model t h a t he especially likes.

"Well," he said, "maybe it's all happening at once . . . "

By " a l l " he meant the models we had been discussing that evening (extraterrestrials, time-travelers and a mutation in human neurology).

Saul-Paul, when Uri Geller was in the United States in 1973, being investigated, once tried to " c o n t a c t " SPECTRA, the alleged extraterrestrial entity t h a t supposedly communicates through Geller and enables him to read minds and bend metal.

Geller said t h a t Sirag could see SPECTRA, if he were properly attuned, by looking into his (Geller's) eyes.

Sirag looked, and saw Geller's head turn into the head of a bird of prey.

What is provocative about t h a t inconclusive experience is that Sirag d i d n ' t k n o w at the time, and only learned much later, t h a t SPECTRA had previously appeared in hawk-form to Dr. Andrija Puharich.

Dr. Puharich's encounters with the SPECTRA-hawk are described in his book, Uri. It manifested several times in connection with the Arab-Israeli war—weirdly synchronistic conn e c t i o n s . 7 7

Even odder, shortly after Sirag " s a w " the Horus hawk through Geller, Analog Science Fact/Science Fiction magazine featured on its cover a man wearing a hawk-head hat, illustrating a story called "The Horus Errand." The oddity was 173 t h a t the man's face was t h a t of Ray Stanford, a Texas psychic known to Sirag's friend, Alan Vaughn.

A letter to the artist who drew the cover, Kelly Freas, drew a reply saying that Freas had never met Stanford and was not consciously aware, at the time, that he was using Stanford's face in the illustration.

A letter to Stanford drew an even more amazing reply.

Stanford claimed to have been in a car which Geller teleported 30 miles. Stanford also said t h a t a hawk had appeared quite dramatically during another meeting with the remarkable Geller.

All t h a t happened between April and December, 1973.

I received my first Sirius impressions in July 1973 and Leary and Benner received the Starseed signals in August 1 9 7 3 . For a dramatic climax, while I was nearing completion of the first draft of this book in July 1976, Saul-Paul Sirag called me on the phone to tell me t h a t a friend in Southern California had just reported another " t e l e p o r t a t i o n " involving Geller, and another hawk associated with it.

While Saul-Paul was telling me this over the p h o n e I was watching the TV picture in t h e next room. As he mentioned the hawk manifestation, on screen came an advertisement for a new movie, The Shadow of the Hawk, starring Chief Dan George.

Honest.

(More synchronicity: while working on the third draft of this chapter in January 1977,1 received the latest issue (Vol. 5, No. 4) of Gnostica, an occult journal to which I often contribute. Inside, in an article titled "Novus Ordo Sec-l o r u m , " editor-publisher Carl Weschke claims the bird on the Great Seal is neither eagle nor phoenix but hawk— and the Horus-hawk specifically.)

In Crowley's Book of the Law we find such texts as the following:

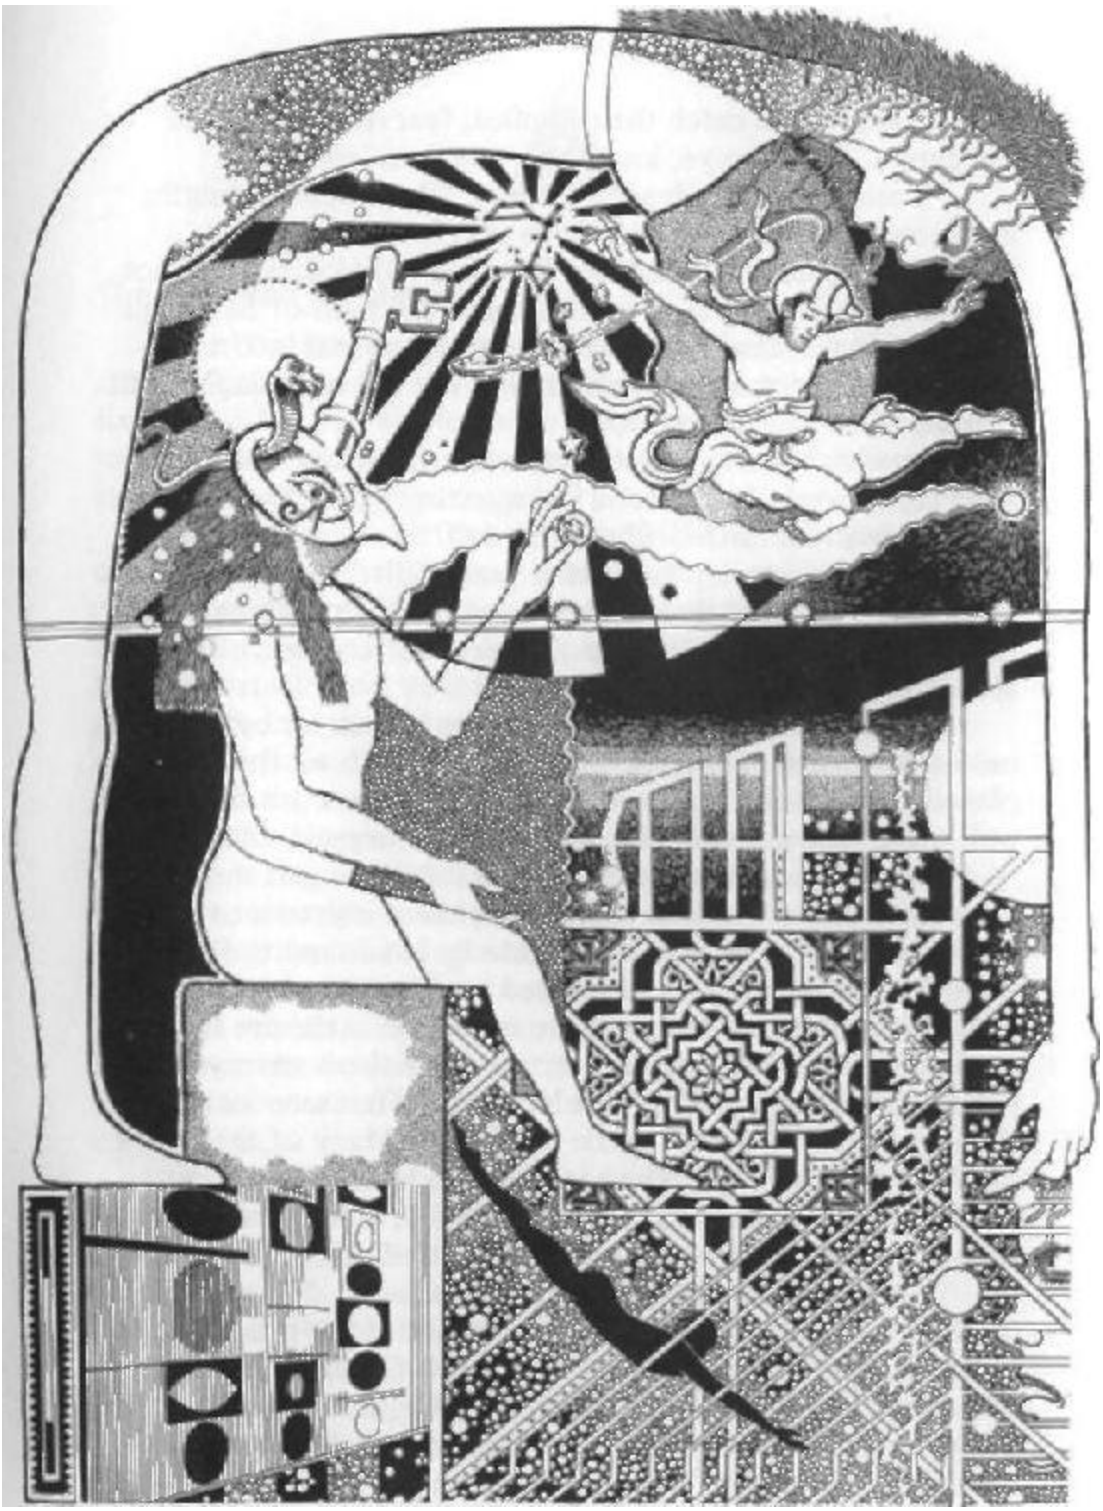
"Ra-Hoor-Khuit hath taken his seat in the East at the Equinox of the G o d s . " (Ra-Hoor-Khuit is another name for Horus, in his Warrior God aspect.)

"Sacrifice cattle, little and big: after a child. But n o t now. Ye shall see t h a t h o u r , O blessed Beast, and t h o u the Scarlet Concubine of his desire! Ye shall be sad thereof. Deem 174



Uri Geller and Dr. Puharich were haunted by the hawk-like SPECTRA so often that they nicknamed it Horus.

n o t too eagerly to catch the promises; fear not to undergo the curses. Ye, even ye, k n o w n o t this meaning a l l . "

"I am the Hawk-Headed Lord of Silence and Strength; my nemyss shrouds the night-blue sky."

The emphasis on Ra-Hoor-Khuit as "hawk-headed," not just hawkish in general, is interesting in the light of Saul-Paul Sirag's vision of the hawk-headed extraterrestrial in Uri Geller's eyes. Sirag was not familiar with the above passages until I called them to his attention.

Crowley's works are always hermetic, coded, inscrutable.

Am I being overly-imaginative in suggesting, possibly, that some readers have committed what Sufis call " t h e error of literal-i s m " and are currently sacrificing "cattle, little and big," in order to prepare for the apotheosis of the Eighties when the Hawk-Headed Lord will cause the earth to "cower. . . and be abased"?

The cattle mutilations have covered 15 states by n o w and, unless we relapse into a supernatural explanation, the only plausible theory is that these sacrifices are the work of a large, well-organized and very distiplined occult organization.

Mike Reynolds, a writer for Oui magazine and the underground press, has been researching these mysterious mutilations for two years now and thinks he has found t h e explanation for the mystery most stressed by sensational tabloids, namely, the fact that many of the mutilated cattle are found in m u d d y areas with no footprints around them. Army-style helicopters, ranchers have told Mike, are often seen leaving t h e scene just before the cattle are found. Many of the animals have broken legs. The explanation, Mike suggests, is that those responsible pick up the cattle in helicopters and then drop them overboard after the mutilations.

Many small ranchers, Mike has also found, blame it all on the major agricultural corporations and think it is a plot to terrorize them out of the cattle business. Others, of course, have tried to link the mutilations to UFOs, to the C.I.A.

(Army-style helicopters are often seen, remember), or to "Bigfoot," the alleged half-ape half-human critter often reported in rural areas.

The sacrifice of cattle was, of course, part of many shamanic traditions throughout history.

The Mothman Prophecies

Our contemporary cattle mutilations began in West Virginia in 1968. At the same time, as recorded by reporter J o h n Keel in his b o o k , The Mothman Prophecies,18 the afflicted parts of West Virginia were also visited by several different kinds of unearthly or paranormal phenomena.

There were over 100 sightings of UFOs, and three "close c o n t a c t " cases, in which people saw "extraterrestrials" or were taken aboard the "spaceships" for testing. There was also an outbreak of those noisy psychic explosions called poltergeist disturbances in the farms of t h e area. To add to the madness there were a b o u t 70 sightings of a traditional bogey of West Virginia, " M o t h m a n " (a monster with giant red eyes, a human form, and huge moth-like wings). Dozens of encounters with the famous Men in Black also were reported.

The MIBs, as UFO investigators call these spooks, always dress in sinister black and drive black Cadillacs. They claim to be U.S. government agents, b u t are denied by all government agencies. They usually scare the blue bejesus o u t of people they visit, often leaving behind the impression t h a t they are either demons or hostile extraterrestrials. They have been described by hundreds of U F O witnesses since the early 1950s.

Obviously, there was a lot of contagious hysteria in West Virginia that year, b u t there were also several objective radar sightings of the UFOs. The cattle mutilations were objective phenomena t o o . Keel received these predictions over and over from the Contactees:

1. The Pope would be stabbed while visiting the Mid-East.

2. Robert Kennedy was in danger, and the danger was in a hotel kitchen.

3. There would be a nationwide power failure on December 24 at n o o n .

The first prophecy had English on it, as they say in baseball. The Pope was not stabbed during his visit to the Mid-177

East. One year later, during a visit to Manila, he was stabbed.

The second prophecy was fulfilled when Kennedy was shot dead in a hotel kitchen.

The third prophecy was false. But at n o o n on December 2 4 , while Keel waited to see if the power failure would occur, a bridge collapsed in West Virginia, in the middle of the UFO-Mothman-poltergeist area. Over 100 people were killed.

"They've done it again," Keel said when he heard the news of the tragedy. "Those lousy bastards have d o n e it again. They knew this was going to happen . . . They just d i d n ' t want me to be able to warn a n y o n e . "

F r o m that time to this, Keel has regarded the "ultra-terrestrials" (his name for the entities behind the U F O phenomena) as malicious and vicious.

Doggiez from Sirius

That innocent dog sleeping by the fire—little do you realize that he's an invader from the Dog Star, Sirius.

—the Firesign Theatre's comedy album,

Everything You Know is Wrong

In 1975,1 m e t a young lady who claimed to be High Priestess of all the Druids in Ireland. In a psychic reading, she told me that I was writing a book about Crowley (I was) and t h a t I am in contact with a Higher Intelligence (I sometimes think I am). She said the Higher Intelligence was the evolved spirit of an ancient Irish bard.

In 1976, in Houston, I m e t another psychic, with the unbelievable name of Penny Loony. She told me t h a t I was writing an article on Atlantis (I was), that the editors would demand some rewrite (they did) and that I would sell it on second submission (I did).

She also told me I'm in contact with a Higher Intelligence, but she described it as the spirit of an ancient Chinese Master. Can It be Irish, Chinese, and extraterrestrial all at once 178

I have tried, experirnentally, taking LSD with the assumption that the Higher Intelligence is actually the fairy-people of ancient Gaelic lore. I had a classic experience of being taken into fairyland, undergoing the usual time-warps characteristic of fairy-lore—I thought I was "over t h e r e " for several hours, but it all happened in a few minutes of the consensus-time of the witches with whom I was working. I even m e t Our Lady of Space in her familiar Celtic guise as La Belle Dame Sans Merci.

Later, I found the whole experience entered as a dream in my diary, two weeks before it occurred. And, of course, all the time I was over there in the Cosmic Fun House they kept trying to tell me something unintelligible about time...

More amusingly, I happened to see the old movie, Harvey, on TV a few weeks later, and began to notice that Elwood P. Dowd, the hero, has the same relation with "Harvey," an invisible white rabbit, as any shaman has with his

"ally." I began to wonder if the author of Harvey might have been an initiate of some witch-coven, Crowleyan lodge or similar psychic group. At this point in the play, a character named Wilson, learning that Harvey is a p o o k a h , looks up pookah in the dictionary. The entry begins, "A Celtic elf or vegetation spirit of mischievous nature . . . " and ends, remarkably, "and how are you tonight, Mr. Wilson?" The actor playing Wilson dropped the book in shock, and I was a bit startled myself.

A bit later, Elwood has a long speech about Harvey's ability to stop time and enter eternity.

One m o r e bit of spookery—a last haunting laugh from the Cosmic F u n House—and we will pass on to Part Two and the search for an explanation of all this.

In late 1976, quite independent of Discordianism, a group of political non-Euclideans, the Natural Surrealist Party, began running a chap named George Papoon for President.

Papoon went around with a paper bag over his head and used the campaign slogan " N o t insane!" Somehow, I got on their mailing list and one day they sent o u t the following press release:

The thing most feared by the people of San Francisco has come to its inevitable head. Office-workers 179 and non-working executives in the prestigious financial district here were startled to see a huge doughnut perched atop the Transarmenia Pyramid Building . . .

No one seems to know why it picked the Pyramid to be its parking place, altho one thing is certain according to Sur/Gen Zippo Klein, the foremost authority on the vehicle and its alleged occupants: "They won't get a ticket up there . . . I'd bet my shoes those are the Doggiez from Sirius, and only Grid knows what they're planning up there . . . "

This was followed by a series of equally h u m o r o u s press releases about the "Doggiez from Sirius," who are allegedly at large in our midst. This is all a joke, of course, just as Illuminatus was when Shea and I first conceived it. Probably, the Papoon people will think I am a bit over-imaginative if I suggest that none of us begin to understand what a j o k e is or where important ideas come from . . .

Of course, Illuminatus fans, at this point, are thinking about the mystery of J o e Malik's disappearing dogs. That riddle was deliberately left unanswered at the end of the trilogy, as one of our time-delay jokes. On rereadings, close students will eventually discover that Malik's dogs did not disappear because they never existed in the first place. They were inferential. The fact was that people heard doggy howls and barks from Malik's apartment, and the dogs never did exist except as a hypothesis. The source was, of course, the Museum of Natural History album, Language and Music of the Wolves.

It is odd, however, t h a t one of the theories discussed by the detectives (Vol. I, p. 4 9) is that Malik's dogs came from the Dog Star, Sirius.

First there is a mountain,

Then there is no mountain,

Then there is.

Part II:

Models and Metaphors

PART II: MODELS & METAPHORS
I SLEPT WITH FAITH
& FOUND A CORPSE IN MY ARMS
ON AWAKENING;
I DRANK & DANCED ALL NIGHT WITH DOUBT & FOUND HER
A VIRGIN IN THE MORNING.
CROWLEY BOOK OF LIES

Models and Metaphors:

FURTHER FABLES AND ALLEGORIES

From the Sufi

A man w h o had studied much in the schools of wisdom finally died in the fullness of time and found himself at the Gates of Eternity.

An angel of light approached him and said, " G o no further, O mortal, until y o u have proven to me your worthiness to enter into Paradise!"

But t h e man answered, "Just a minute, now. First of all, can you prove to me this is a real Heaven and not just the wishful fantasy of my disordered mind undergoing d e a t h ? "

Before t h e angel could reply, a voice from inside the gates shouted:

" L e t him in—he's one of u s ! "

From the Jewish

A young man went to his Rabbi and said, "I have lost F a i t h . "

" S o , " said the Rabbi, "and how did y o u lose F a i t h ? "

"I studied Logic at the university," said the young man,

"and I found out that y o u can prove either side of any case if you're clever e n o u g h . "

" I n d e e d , " said the Rabbi. "Can you prove that you have n o n o s e ? "

"Certainly," said the student. " T o begin w i t h - "

But at this point the Rabbi punched him hard right on the nose.

"What h u r t s ? " the Rabbi asked solicitously.

From the German

Erwin Schrbdinger, Nobel Laureate in physics, propounds 183

the following riddle for theoretical physicists: A cat is in a locked room where it will be killed eventually by a poison gas pellet (or a gun) activated by a quantum decay process. After an interval, t, is the cat dead or alive?

The theoretical physicist cannot go into a laboratory and try this experiment (which only gives the result in one case anyway). He sits down with pen and paper and calculates, by quantum mechanics, what has happened after interval t. He finds that the equations yield a minimum of two solutions.

In one possible universe or eigenstate, the cat is still alive; but in another equally possible universe the cat is dead.

This is the famous Schrodinger's Cat paradox. It is basically asking whether our physical models describe t h e universe objectively or just define the limits of our own knowledge.

The Sirius Evidence

Have real honest-to-God extraterrestrials from Sirius been meddling in the affairs of this backward planet?

Let us review some of our evidence. I became obsessed with the number 23 and the eye-in-the-triangle design years before I found any link between them and Sirius. After July 2 3 , 1973,1 definitely experienced impressions which I thought were communications from Sirius, keyed off by a Crowley ritual. Kenneth Grant, one of Crowley's closest associates in the Ordo Templi Orientis, repeatedly links Crowley with Sirius and seems to be hinting that the "Holy Guardian Angel" contacted by Crowleyan mind-expansion techniques is a denizen of Sirius. J.G. Bennett, one of the closest of Gurdjieffs associates, also tells us of coded references to Sirius in Gurdj i e f f s writings. Sufi historian Idries Shah traces the name of the Illuminati back to a verse in the Koran which mentions a shining star, and Crowley's alternative name for the Illuminati was the Order of t h e Silver Star (Argentum Astrum). George Hunt Williamson, a flying saucer Contactee, claims to have spoken to natives of Sirius who use a language containing some of the same words as the "Enochian" or "angelic" language used by such magicians as Dr. John Dee and Crowley.

Williamson also tells us a secret order on Earth has been in contact with Sirius for thousands of years and that the emblem of that order is the eye of Horus.

We have also seen that there was a certain a m o u n t of telepathy or idea-transference between Dr. Leary and myself in the summer of 1973, before I received permission to correspond with him and visit him. Leary and Benner received the Starseed message during the "dog d a y s " of 1973, when the link between Earth and Sirius is strongest according to Egyptian tradition, synchronizing with my own initial Sirius transmissions. And a separate group of U F O Contactees in England have received jumbled interstellar messages concerning the Discordian 2 3 , the Masonic 3 3 , Crowley's favorite number 666, and variations on the name of Leary.

We have, at minimum, an extraordinary amount of coincidence or propinquity here. F o r some stranger coincidences, let us look at astronomer Temple's Sirius Mystery.

First of all, Temple is scholarly, cautious and honest.

D o n ' t take my word for it; here's what a few reviewers said:

"Well-documented" (Oxford Mail); "honest with his readers, careful with his sources" (Daily Telegraph); " R o b e r t Temple is cautious. He has intellectual integrity." (London Sunday Times); "a work of respectable scholarship" (Manchester Guardian). Temple even claims to be embarrassed to be writing about such a sensational subject (p. 4) and I, for one, believe him, since I am embarrassed myself.

Temple reprints, in full, an anthropological study of the Dogon tribe in Africa, and their knowledge of Sirius is astonishing indeed.

The Dogon k n o w t h a t Sirius has an invisible companion (the white dwarf, Sirius B). Sirius B's existence was not suspected by our astronomers until this century and was p h o t o - graphed successfully only in 1 9 7 0 . 8 0

The Dogon k n o w the exact period of Sirius B, which is 5 0 y e a r s . 8 1

They even k n o w that Sirius B is one of the heaviest stars in the universe.82

In evaluating this knowledge, please keep in mind t h a t Sirius B is not only invisible to the naked eye, but was invis-185 ible to the most powerful telescopes until this very century; and that the determination of its periodicity and its weight involve extremely fine instrumentation and decidedly advanced mathematics. How could a tribe barely advanced beyond the Stone Age k n o w such things? They say they know about it because a visitor from Sirius, several thousand years ago, told them about it. Is it more logical to assert that they are just damned lucky guessers?

Is it possible that the French anthropologists w h o collected the Dogon legends a b o u t Sirius—Professors Griaule and Dieterlen—are a pair of hoaxers? Well, yes, it is possible; b u t is it likely? Every scientific h o a x ever discovered turned out to be the work of one individual, usually with a persecution complex and a grudge against t h e Establishment. Two scholars conspiring together on such a fraud would be unique. It is also worth nothing that Messrs. Griaule and Dieterlen p u b - lished their report on the Dogon in 1950—three years before George Hunt Williamson claimed his contact and 23 years before Kenneth Grant published his revelations about Crowley's links to Sirius.

Amusingly, much of Temple's information has ramifica-tions in areas which he himself has not explored. He has found, for instance, t h a t the Bozo, a tribe neighboring the Dogon, also know about t h e Companion of Sirius and call it tono nalema (Eye S t a r) . 8 3 This is most suggestive when we recall Dr. Baker's claim that the Sirius system is the "third e y e " of the cosmic entity of which our sun is the heart, and George Hunt Williamson's claim t h a t the eye of Horus is t h e symbol of the secret society which is in contact with Sirius.

Temple believes the Contact (which he tends to portray as physical, involving actual space-ships) occurred in Sumeria around 4 5 0 0 B.C. The knowledge thus gained, he argues (and this is the major theme of his book), was passed on via various secret societies of initiates in the Near East, Egypt, Greece and so on, at least until t h e time of the 5th century (A.D.) neo-Platonist Proclus. Thereafter, Temple loses track of it, and suggests that it petered o u t , although he mentions t h a t off-shoots of it appeared in "such bizarre and fascinating figures as Giordano Bruno, Marsilio Ficino, J o h n Dee and even Sir Philip Sidney and the Earl of L e i c e s t e r - n o t to mention the 186 troubadors of Provence, Dante in Italy, and the massacred tens of thousands of Albigensians in France, the Knights Templar and an infinite range of hopeless causes over two and a half millennia . . , " 8 4 Readers of my Illuminatus and Sex and Drugs will easily recognize that this tradition overlaps, or may even be identical with, the secret tradition of Tantra and sex-magick in the West, the tradition of which Crowley was the latest public representative.

Similarly, Temple goes to a great deal of trouble to demonstrate t h a t the phoneme, NU, wherever found in the ancient world, is part of the secret Sirius tradition. He is n o t aware that NUit and ANUbis, two figures he specifically links with Sirius, are still very much alive among those magical lodges currently working the Aleister Crowley system of contacting Higher Intelligence.

Every now and then Temple seems to be toying with the idea that the Contact may be not by space-ship but by some more subtle means; but he does not explore that possibility, despite the fact that all his evidence comes from shamans, mystics, occult initiatory cults and others whose main concern has always been the ceremonial expansion of consciousness.

Over and over, one wishes that Temple had read a little in modern occultism to supplement his seven years of research into the Egyptian and Babylonian mysteries. He spends nearly 50 pages demonstrating that, to the ancient initiates, Isis was a symbol of Sirius and Osiris a symbol of the Dark Companion of Sirius; but he is not aware of Crowley's and Levi's insistence that the traditional secret revealed in the Eleusinian Mysteries was that "Osiris is a black g o d ! " 8 5

Again, Temple demonstrates (from ancient records) that the familiar image of Isis, with a star above her and one of her feet in water and the other on land, is a symbol of the Sirius connection; but he is not aware that that image still appears as Atu X V I I of the T a r o t - T h e Star.

By a detailed examination of the m y t h s concerning Sirius in the Dogon, Egyptian and Babylonian traditions, Temple manages to demonstrate that the Contact probably occurred around 4 5 0 0 B.C. in the Near East, among people at the ap-proximate level of the Dogon. Some of these people carried the tradition across the Sahara, to the modern-day Dogon and 187 has developed over the centuries. Here's a summary of the links suggested by the evidence in the present book. Regard it as a Conspiracy only if you enjoy living in a script where you are one of the underdogs or victims.

Every book on the Illuminati has a chart showing how the "Conspiracy"

Bozo tribes, and some seeded it into the cosmologies of Egypt and Babylon. As we have already seen, Kenneth Grant traces the Crowley tradition back to 4 5 0 0 B.C. in t h e Near East, and J.G. Bennett traces the Gurdjieff tradition back also to that time and t h a t place. Neither Grant nor Bennett could have anticipated that Temple would demonstrate, with a great deal of archaeological evidence, that some sort of Contact with Sirius did occur at t h a t time, at t h a t place. Yet b o t h of them assert secret teachings concerning Sirius were passed on by Crowley and Gurdjieff.

Temple also demonstrates t h a t the whole Egyptian calendar revolved around the movements of Sirius—the year began with the "dog d a y s " when Sirius started to rise behind the sun (July 23 in our calendar; the date on which I had my first Sirius experience); that the earliest hieroglyphic for Osiris (the Dark God, Sirius B) was an eye plus a throne; and t h a t the most secret of the rituals of Osiris, the "black r i t e , " is described in one Hermetic text as being so cryptic in its total meaning that men will only understand it fully when they pursue the stars " u n t o the height"—which may mean when we travel to the s t a r s . 8 6

The most obvious and economical explanation of all this seems to be t h a t an Earth-Sirius communication has occurred, at least once, probably several times.

ERP and Bell's Theorem

Let us try another perspective on the problem; let us see what modern physics has to offer. The flow-chart on the following page, by Saul-Paul Sirag, represents the main problems in quantum theory and the directions of current speculation.

The Einstein-Rosen-Podolsky demonstration (ERP, for short) indicated that, if quantum mechanics is true, some particles are in instantaneous contact even if at opposite ends of the universe. (This is only true of particles that were once in physical contact, but that is a technical point that doesn't matter in this context.) The trouble with ERP is t h a t (a) such 189 instantaneous communication across galaxies has no physical explanation and is hard to think about anyway and (b), even worse, such instantaneous communication is forbidden by Special Relativity, which allows no instantaneous effects, everything being limited by the speed of light.

The intent of ERP was a reductio ad absurdum of quant u m theory. ERP is deduced by rigorous mathematics from quantum mechanics, and appears to be false for the two reasons given above. In math, if the conclusion is false, then the antecedent is false. Ergo, quantum mechanics is n o t true.

This was a happy thought to Einstein, Rosen and Podolsky, all of whom had grave reservations about t h e random element implicit in all quantum equations—reservations summed up in Einstein's famous maxim, "God does n o t play dice."

Alas, ERP was promulgated in 1935 and everything since then—the greatest period of experimental work in t h e history of physics, there being more physicists alive today than in all previous history—indicates that quantum mechanics is not false at all. It works beautifully. Ergo, if the antecedent is true, the conclusion is true, and ERP effects must exist—even if they are forbidden by Special Relativity.

Now, physicists are not particularly happy with this conclusion, since they wish to preserve both quantum mechanics and Special Relativity. Something has to be done about the ERP paradox—but what?

In 1964, Bell's Theorem suggested three possible interpretations of the ERP effect, all of them controversial. Bell's Theorem appears (as this is written, 1977) solid as steel, so at least one of the alternatives must be included in the new paradigm, when physics finally does produce a new paradigm. Let us look at the three alternatives.

Q u a n t u m mechanics fails . . .

and/or

Objectivity fails . . .

and/or

Locality fails . . .

If quantum mechanics fails, it is going to fail radically and totally. The Clauser experiment (Berkeley 1974) showed 191 that attempting to redefine quantum connections would not get around Bell's Theorem, so quantum theory as known must be revolutionized totally if we take this path. This means we are in for a bigger epistemological revision than that connected with Relativity and Quantum Theory themselves; probably, we are in for the biggest redefinition of reality in the history of science. This mindboggling event will be the biggest revolution in scientific history because almost everything in modern physics depends on the truth of quantum theory. Giving up quantum mechanics is equivalent to a religious person's giving up God; everything— not just a few things— will then change in our thinking.

Saul-Paul Sirag laconically sums this alternative up as "New Ball G a m e " at the right of the chart.

and/or

If Objectivity fails, we are in for an equally gigantic revolution in thought, but we can at least suggest what form it will take. Objectivity, in this context, means the doctrine that the universe exists apart from the ideas or the will of the investigator. Two models have been developed without the doctrine of Objectivity. The first is the "participatory universe" or "observer-created universe" of Nobel Laureate Werner Heisenberg and Dr. J o h n A. Wheeler of Princeton.

In Heisenberg's version, q u a n t u m events exist in potentia before human measurement and in reality only after such measurement has occurred. "Weirdness," Heisenberg says, is the characteristic of potentia; time flows forward and backward there, and none of the usual laws of physics apply. Those laws only come into action after human intervention (measurement) has occurred.

and/or

Wheeler's observer-created universe, like Heisenberg's, portrays "reality" as the result of human-quantum interaction, b u t adds the possibility t h a t ERP transmissions may effect this result even before measurement is made. This, of course, leads directly to the possibility of psychokinesis (magick . . .) and might explain all sorts of eerie events, from religious

"miracles" to Uri Geller's alleged metal-bending. A slight extension of this hypothesis will allow us to consider all my 23s 192 as the result of quantum interactions between my brain and the events I have intersected since becoming interested in 2 3 .

We are very close to Jano Watts's " N e t " here, and to the old shamanic belief-system which Sir James Frazer called " t h e Law of Contagion." Crowley called it " t h e magickal link."

and/or

The second non-objective model is the parallel-worlds idea long used by science-fiction writers. A mathematical formulation of this has been devised by Wheeler (the same Wheeler as above) with Everett and Graham. This leads to the concept that there are l O 1 0 0 * universes existing "simultaneously" in different dimensions. (1 0 1 0 0 + is only an estimate, but it means 10,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000, 000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000, 000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 universes-ten million million, million, million, million, million, million, million, million, million, million, million, million, million universes at least.) Each of these universes is as complete, and as vast in time and space, as our own, and we exist in each of them, but in different ways.

In other words, everything that can happen does happen.

As Saul-Paul Sirag explains this model, " I n the universe next door, P m still a physicist but working at a different area of research. A few universes over, I.m an actor who dropped out of physics and never came back to it. In another universe, I died in the concentration camp and d o n ' t exist in the 'present' at all."

Most physicists can't take this model seriously, and it is rumored that Wheeler, Everett and Graham, who created it, d o n ' t believe in it. Yet it is one legitimate interpretation of t h e problem raised by Bell's Theorem.

and/or

If Locality fails, we are in a particularly interesting pre-dicament. Locality has a rather technical meaning in physics, but basically y o u can think of it this way: The local universe, to any intelligent being, is bounded by the speed of light. That is, any signal received is traveling at, or at less than, the speed of light. This " l o c a l " universe—everything we can detect moving within the limiting velocity of light—is the only universe, 193 according to Special Relativity. A "non-local" universe would be one outside that limitation. By Special Relativity, such a non-local universe is metaphysical and "meaningless," in t h e sense that, even if it did exist, we could never possibly detect it.

However, if we interpret ERP and Bell's Theorem to mean that quantum events are, after all, in instantaneous communication, then we can contact a non-local universe on the medium of the q u a n t u m communication net. This is virtually indistinguishable from saying that we can be in California and Arizona at the same time, or in California and the Sirius double-star system at the same time, or in t h e past, present and future "at the same t i m e . "

A possible way of looking at this rather incomprehensible thought has been developed by Dr. Jack Sarfatti, who assumes that ERP transmissions (faster-than-light) are information without transportation. Limiting our view to a local universe—to transmissions at, or at less than, the speed of light—is "electromagnetic chauvinism," Sarfatti has proposed.

Information without transportation is information w i t h o u t energy, without "signals" in the ordinary sense. The rule of Special Relativity is, thus, n o t challenged b u t merely reduced to a definition of locality; it applies only to signals and energy systems. Pure information can take the form of ERP transmissions not limited by signals or the speed of light.

This superluminal information (ERP transmission), Sarfatti argues, might underlie the interstellar ESP which has been claimed by recent writers (myself included) as well as ordinary planetside ESP.

and/or

Superluminal information might also, Sarfatti and Sirag have proposed elsewhere, account for the damnable and mindboggling phenomena of synchronicity; e.g., my 23 space-time hologram. Synchronicity, as formulated by Jung and Pauli, merely describes what happens: coincidences form into patterns that are acausal b u t meaningful. Superluminal information transfer on the q u a n t u m level might explain how this happens. Every sub-atomic system in the universe, or in the multiverses, adjusts instantaneously into conformity with the 194 whole, by synergetic feedback faster-than-Mght. Here we approach Dr. Capra's "Bootstrap T h e o r y " which makes everything the cause of everything, as in I Ching or Taoism.

We have constructed, within these alternative models at the forefront of physics, a series of partial explanations of the weird data I have offered.

If q u a n t u m mechanics fails, then all my data—however incompatible with current reality-maps—is merely a series of events which will be explained later, when physics has advanced a few decades (or centuries, or millennia).

If objectivity fails and there is a world of potentia underlying the world of measured reality, then all my data and all the data of shamanism from the beginning of humanity's history are just records of abrupt interference between potentia and reality. Heisenberg's concept of potentia does, indeed, sound a lot like " t h e other world": the nagual described in Castaneda's books, the "astral" realms of Cabala, the "fairyl a n d " of the Celts, the " S i d e " of witchcraft. In raw potentia, literally anything can happen, forward or backward or side-ways in time; only in measured reality are we limited by the laws of physics.

If objectivity fails and there are parallel worlds, maybe as many as l O 1 0 4 * of them, it is easy to see how communications from here to there could be bedeviled by incoherence and confusion. Various humans who had turned on to the universe next d o o r or to various universes two or more quant u m j u m p s away might carry back signals which they would organize i n t o such Gestalts as "I talked to G o d , " "I traveled in t i m e , " "I m e t an extraterrestrial," etc. In particular, they might bring back both prophecies t h a t succeed and prophecies that fail, our universe being tangent to the parallel universes at some points but not at all points.

The " M o t h m a n Prophecies" of J o h n Keel, remember, worked out this way:

Prophecy #1: The Pope will be stabbed fatally in the Near East in 1968.

Result: The Pope was stabbed, non-fatally, in Manila, in 1969.

Prophecy #2: Robert Kennedy was in danger in a hotel 195 kitchen.

Result: Robert Kennedy was shot to death in a hotel kitchen.

Prophecy #3: All the power in the U.S. will fail at noon on December 2 4 , 1968.

Result: The power d i d n ' t fail, but a bridge in t h e center of Mothman territory collapsed at that m o m e n t , killing 100.

Keel interprets this mindfuck to mean t h a t the communicating entities were mischievous, had a nasty sense of humor, and are deliberately misleading and tormenting those who get involved with them. Although he calls them "ultra-terrestrials," his concept of them is not much different from what earlier centuries meant by " d e m o n s . "

In terms of the multi-universe model, however, the entities could be totally honest. All of their predictions came true, in one universe or another. Keel just happens to be in one of the universes at a tangent to theirs, where only part of the prophecies came true.

Interestingly, Dr. Vallee has found a similar pattern of prophecies partially succeeding and partially failing among many alleged C o n t a c t e e s . 8 7 // locality fails, and faster-than-light information really exists, we are in a Jung-Pauli universe in which synchronicity is at least as important as linear causality.

And, //locality fails, and some advanced races are using superluminal information as casually as we use electricity, some of it must intersect this planet occasionally, although most of it is not on wavelengths usually picked up by us. This is Dr. J o h n Lilly's " N e t w o r k . "

It seems, in short, t h a t there is nothing in Part One of this book, however incredible to the ordinary reader, which cannot be accounted for within the possibilities of the growing edge of quantum theory.

196

Tunnel-Realities and Imprints Let's try Dr. Leary's perspective on these mysteries.

To understand neurological space, Dr. Leary assumes that the nervous system consists of eight potential circuits, or

"gears," or mini-brains. Four of these brains are in the usually active left lobe and are concerned with our terrestrial survival; four are extraterrestrial, reside in the "silent" or inactive right lobe, and are for use in our future evolution. This explains why the right lobe is usually inactive at this stage of our development, and why it becomes active when the person ingests psychedelics.

We will explain each of the eight " b r a i n s " briefly.

I. The bio-survival circuit. This invertebrate brain was the first to evolve (2 to 3 billion years ago) and is the first activated when a human infant is born. It programs perception o n t o an either-or grid divided into nurturing-helpful Things (which it approaches) and noxious-dangerous Things (which it flees, or attacks). The imprinting of this circuit sets up the basic attitude of trust or suspicion which will last for life. It also identifies the external stimuli which will ever after trigger approach or avoidance.

I I . The emotional circuit. This second, more advanced bio-computer formed when vertebrates appeared and began to compete for territory (perhaps 500,000,000 B.C.). In the individual, this bigger tunnel-reality is activated when the DNA master-tape triggers the metamorphosis from crawling to walking. As every parent knows, the toddler is no longer a passive (bio-survival) infant b u t a mammalian politician, full of physical (and psychic) territorial demands, quick to med-dle in family business and decision-making. Again t h e first imprint on this circuit remains constant for life (unless brainwashed) and identifies the stimuli which will automatically trigger dominant, aggressive behavior or submissive, cooperative behavior. When we say that a person is behaving emotionally, egotistically or "like a two-year-old," we mean t h a t s/he is blindly following one of the tunnel-realities imprinted on this circuit.

I I I . The dexterity-symbolism circuit. This third brain was formed when hominid types began to differentiate from other primate stock (circa 4 - 5 million B.C.) and is activated 197 when the older child begins handling artifacts and sending/receiving laryngeal signals (human speech units). If the enviro n m e n t is stimulating to the third circuit, the child takes a

" b r i g h t " imprint and becomes dextrous and articulate; if the environment is made of stupid people, the child takes a

" d u m b " imprint, i.e., remains more or less at a 5-year-old stage of artifact clumsiness and symbol-blindness.

In popular speech, the first circuit tunnel-reality is generally called "consciousness" per se: the sense of being heren o w , in this body, oriented to the survival of the b o d y . (When y o u are "un-conscious," the first circuit is anesthetized and doctors may perform surgery on y o u or enemies may attack y o u , and y o u will not evade them or flee.) The second circuit, in the same vernacular language, is called " e g o . " So-called

"ego" is the second circuit mammalian sense of status (importance-unimportance) in the pack or tribe. The third circuit is what we generally call "mind"—the capacity to receive, inte-grate and transmit signals produced by the hominid hand (artifacts) or the hominid 9 laryngeal muscles (speech).

The imprinting of these three circuits determines, by about age the basic degree and style of trust/distrust that will color "consciousness," the degree and style of assertive-ness/submissiveness that will determine "ego"-status, and the degree and style of cleverness/clumsiness with which " m i n d " will handle tools or ideas.

In evolutionary terms, first brain "consciousness" is basically invertebrate, passively floating toward n u r t u r e and retreating from danger. Second brain " e g o " is mammalian, always struggling for status in the tribal pecking-order. Third brain " m i n d " is paleolithic, hooked into human culture and dealing with life through a matrix of human-made gadgets and human-created symbolism.

The fourth brain is post-hominid, specifically characteristic of Homo sapiens, the "domesticated" WoMan. This is: IV. The socio-sexual circuit. This fourth brain was formed when hominid packs evolved into societies and programmed specific sex-roles for their members, circa 30,000

B.C. It is activated at p u b e r t y , when the DNA signals trigger the glandular release of sexual neurochemicals and the metamorphosis to adulthood begins. The first orgasms or mating 198 experiences imprint a characteristic sex-role which, again, is biochemically bonded and remains constant for life, unless some form of brain-washing or chemical re-imprinting is accomplished.

In daily speech, fourth circuit imprints and tunnel-realities are known as the "adult personality."

Masters and Johnson have demonstrated that specific sexual "dysfunctions"—so-called "perversions," "fetishes," low-or-no performance conditions like premature ejaculation, impotence, frigidity, etc., or imprints defined as "sinful" by the local tribe—are determined by specific experiences in early adolescent mating. The same is true of the equally robotic behavior of the " n o r m a l , " "well-adjusted" person. The sex-role of the human is as rote and repetitious as that of any other mammal. (Or bird or fish or insect.)

These four circuits are normally all t h e networks of the brain ever activated. It should now be clear why Leary calls them terrestrial. They have evolved on, and have been shaped by, the gravitational, climatic and energy conditions determining survival and reproduction on this kind of planet circling this variety of Type G star. Intelligent organisms born in outer space, not living at the b o t t o m of a 4,000-mile gravity well, not competing for territory on a finite planet-surface, not limited by the forward-back, up-down, right-left parameters of earthly life, would inevitably develop different circuits, imprinted differently, and n o t so inflexibly Euclidean.

Forward-back is the basic digital choice programmed by the biocomputer operating on Circuit I: Either advance, go forward, sniff it, touch it, taste it, bite it—or retreat, back away, flee, escape.

Up-down, the basic gravitational sense, appears in all ethological reports of animal combat. Rear up, swell t h e body to maximum size, growl, howl, shriek—or cringe, drop the tail between the legs, murmur softly, skulk away, crawl and shrink the body size. These are domination and submission signals common to iguana, dog, bird, and the Chairman of the Board of the local bank. These reflexes make up Circuit II " e g o . "

Right-left is basic to the polarity of body-design on t h e planetface. Right-hand dominance, and associated preference 199 for the linear left-lobe functions of the brain, determine our normal modes of artifact-manufacture and conceptual thought, i.e., third circuit " m i n d . "

It is no accident, then, t h a t our logic (and o u r computer-design) follows the either-or, binary structure of these circuits. Nor is it an accident that our geometry, until the last century, has been Euclidean. Euclid's geometry, Aris-totle's logic and Newton's physics are meta-programs synthesizing and generalizing first brain forward-back, second brain up-down and third brain right-left programs.

The fourth brain, dealing with the transmission of tribal or ethnic culture across generations, introduces the fourth dimension, time.

Since each of these tunnel-realities consists of biochemical imprints or matrices in the nervous system, each of them is specifically triggered by neuro-transmitters and other drugs.

To activate the first brain take an opiate. Mother Opium and Sister Morphine bring y o u down to cellular intelligence, bio-survival passivity, t h e floating consciousness of the new-born. (This is why Freudians identify opiate addiction with the desire to return to infancy.)

To activate the second tunnel-reality, take an abundant quantity of alcohol. Vertebrate territorial patterns and mammalian emotional politics immediately appear when the booze flows, as Thomas Nashe intuitively realized when he charac-terized the various alcohol states by animal labels: "ass drunk,"

"goat d r u n k , " "swine d r u n k , " "bear d r u n k , " etc.

To activate the third circuit, try coffee or tea, a high-protein diet, speed or cocaine.

The specific neurotransmitter for circuit four has n o t been synthesized yet, but it is generated by the glands after pubescence and flows volcanically through the bloodstreams of adolescents.

None of these terrestrial drugs change basic biochemical imprints. The behaviors which they trigger are those which were wired into the nervous system during the first stages of imprint vulnerability. The circuit II drunk exhibits the emotional games or cons learned from parents in infancy. The circuit I I I " m i n d " never gets beyond the permutations and combinations of those tunnel-realities originally imprinted, or 200 abstractions associated with the imprints through later conditioning. And so forth.

But all this Pavlovian-Skinnerian robotism changes dras-tically and dramatically when we turn to the right lobe, the future circuits and extraterrestrial chemicals.

The four evolving future " b r a i n s " are: V. The neurosomatic circuit. When this fifth "body-brain" is activated, flat Euclidean figure-ground configura-tions explode multi-dimensionally. Gestalts shift, in McLuhan's terms, from linear visual space to all-encompassing sensory space. A hedonic turn-on occurs, a rapturous amusement, a detachment from the previously compulsive mechanism of the first four circuits. I turned this circuit on with pot and Tantra.

This fifth brain began to appear about 4,000 years ago in the first leisure-class civilizations and has been increasing statistically in recent centuries (even before the Drug Revolution), a fact demonstrated by the hedonic art of India, China, Rome and other affluent societies. More recently, Ornstein and his school have demonstrated with electroencephalograms that this circuit represents the first j u m p from the linear left lobe of the brain to the analogical right lobe.

The opening and imprinting of this circuit has been the preoccupation of "technicians of the o c c u i t " - T a n t r i c shamans and hatha yogis. While the fifth tunnel-reality can be achieved by sensory deprivation, social isolation, physiological stress or severe shock (ceremonial terror tactics, as practiced by such rascal-gurus as Don Juan Matus or Aleister Crowley), it has traditionally been reserved to the educated aristocracy of leisure societies w h o have solved the four terrestrial survival problems.

OceanofPDF.com

About 2 0 , 0 0 0 years ago, the specific fifth brain neurotransmitter was discovered by shamans in the Caspian Sea area of Asia and quickly spread to other wizards throughout Eurasia and Africa. It is, of course, cannabis. Weed. Mother Mary Jane.

It is no accident that the pot-head generally refers to his neural state as " h i g h " or "spaced-out." The transcendence of gravitational, digital, linear, either-or, Aristotelian, Newtonian, Euclidean, planetary orientations (circuits I-IV) is, 201 in evolutionary perspective, part of our neurological preparation for the inevitable migration off our home planet, now beginning. This is why so many pot-heads are Star Trek freaks and science-fiction adepts. (Berkeley, California, certainly the Cannabis Capital of the U.S., has a Federation Trading Post on Telegraph Avenue, where the well-heeled can easily spend $500 or more in a single day, buying Star Trek novels, magazines, newsletters, bumper stickers, photographs, posters, tapes, etc., including even complete blueprints for t h e starship Enterprise.)

The extraterrestrial meaning of being " h i g h " is confirmed by astronauts themselves; 85% of those w h o have entered the free-fall of zero gravity describe "mystic experiences" or rapture states typical of the neurosomatic circuit. " N o p h o t o can show how beautiful Earth looked," raves Captain Ed Mitchell, describing his Illumination in free-fall. He sounds like any successful yogi or pot-head. No camera can show this experience because it is inside the nervous system.

Free-fall, at the proper evolutionary time, triggers the neurosomatic mutation, Leary believes. Previously this mutation has been achieved "artificially" by yogic or shamanic training or by the fifth circuit stimulant, cannabis. Surfing, skiing, skin-diving and the new sexual culture (sensuous massage, vibrators, imported Tantric arts, etc.) have evolved at the same time as part of the hedonic conquest of gravity.

The Turn-On state is always described as "floating," or, in the Zen metaphor, " o n e foot above the g r o u n d . "

VI. The neuroelectric circuit. The sixth brain consists of the nervous system becoming aware of itself apart from imprinted gravitational reality-maps (circuits I-IV) and even apart from body-rapture (circuit V). Count Korzybski, the semanticist, called this state "consciousness of abstracting."

Dr. J o h n Lilly calls it "metaprogramming," i.e., awareness of programming one's programming. This Einsteinian, relativistic contelligence (consciousness-intelligence) recognizes, for instance, t h a t the Euclidean, Newtonian and Aristotelian reality-maps are just three among billions of possible programs or models for experience. I turned this circuit on with Peyote, LSD and Crowley's " m a g i c k " metaprograms.

This level of brain-functioning seems to have been re-202

ported first around 500 B.C. among various " o c c u l t " groups connected by the Silk Route (R o m e - N o r t h India). It is so far beyond the terrestrial tunnel-realities t h a t those w h o have achieved it can barely communicate a b o u t it to ordinary humanity (circuits I - I V) and can hardly be understood even by fifth circuit Rapture Engineers.

The characteristics of the neuroelectric circuit are high velocity, multiple choice, relativity, and the fission-fusion of all perceptions i n t o parallel science-fiction universes of alternate possibihties.

The mammalian politics which monitor power struggles among terrestrial humanity are here transcended, i.e., seen as static, artificial, an elaborate charade. One is neither coercively manipulated into another's territorial reality nor forced to struggle against it with reciprocal emotional game-playing (the usual soap-opera dramatics). One simply elects, consciously, whether or not to share the other's reality-model.

Tactics for opening and imprinting the sixth circuit are described and rarely experienced in advanced rajah yoga, and in the hermetic (coded) manuals of the medieval-Renaissance alchemists and Illuminati.

No specific sixth circuit chemical is yet available, but strong psychedelics like mescaline (from my 1 9 6 2 - 6 3 "sacred cactus," peyotl) and psilocybin (from the Mexican "magic m u s h r o o m , " teonactl) open the nervous system to a mixed-media series of circuit V and circuit VI channels. This is appropriately called "tripping," as distinguished from straight-forward fifth circuit "turning o n " or "getting high."

The suppression of scientific research in this area has had the unfortunate result of turning the outlaw drug culture back toward fifth circuit hedonics and pre-scientific tunnel-realities (the occult revival, solipsism, Pop Orientalism).

Without scientific discipline and methodology, few can successfully decode the often-frightening (but philosophically crucial) sixth circuit metaprogramming signals. Such scientists as do continue to study this subject dare n o t publish their results (which are illegal) and record ever-wider tunnel-realities only in private conversations-like the scholars of the Inquisitorial era. (Voltaire announced the Age of Reason two centuries t o o soon. We are still in the Dark Ages.) Most 203 underground alchemists have given up on such challenging and risky self-work and restrict their trips to fifth circuit erotic tunnels.

The evolutionary function of the sixth circuit is to enable us to communicate at Einsteinian relativities and neuroelectric accelerations, not using third circuit laryngeal-manual symbols but directly via feedback, telepathy and computer link-up. Neuro-electric signals will increasingly replace "speech" (hominid grunts) after space migration.

When humans have climbed out of the atmosphere-gravity well of planetary life, accelerated sixth circuit contelligence will make possible high-energy communication with "Higher Intelligences," i.e., ourselves-in-the-future and other post-terrestrial races.

It is charmingly simple and obvious, once we realize that the spaced-out neural experiences really are extraterrestrial, that getting high and spacing out are accurate metaphors.

Circuit V neurosomatic rapture is preparation for t h e next step in our evolution, migration off the planet. Circuit VI is preparation for the step after that, interspecies communication with advanced entities possessing electronic (post-verbal) tunnel-realities.

Circuit VI is the "universal translator" often imagined by science-fiction writers, already built into our brains by the DNA tape. Just as the circuits of the future butterfly are already built into the caterpillar.

V I I . The neurogenetic circuit. The seventh brain kicks into action when the nervous system begins to receive signals from within the individual neuron, from the DNA-RNA dialogue. The first to achieve this mutation spoke of "memories of past lives," "reincarnation," "immortality," etc. T h a t these adepts were recording something real is indicated by the fact that many of them (especially Hindus and Sufis) gave marvelously accurately poetic vistas of evolution 1,000 or 2,000 years before Darwin, and foresaw Superhumanity before Nietzsche.

The "akashic records" of Theosophy, the "collective unconscious" of Jung, the "phylogenetic unconscious" of Grof and Ring, are three modern metaphors for this circuit. The visions of past and future evolution described by those who 204 have had "out-of-body" experiences during close-to-death episodes also describes the trans-time circuit V11 tunnel-reality.

Specific exercises to trigger circuit V I I are not to be found in yogic teaching; it usually happens, if at all, after several years of the kind of advanced rajah yoga that develops circuit VI facility.

The specific circuit V I I neurotransmitter is, of course, LSD. (Peyote and psilocybin produce some circuit V I I experiences also.)

Circuit V I I is best considered, in terms of 1977 science, as the genetic archives, activated by anti-histone proteins. The DNA memory coiling back to the dawn of life. A sense of the inevitability of immortality and interspecies symbiosis comes to all circuit V I I mutants; we can now see that this, also, is an evolutionary forecast, since we stand right now on the door-step of extended longevity leading to immortality.

The exact role of the right-lobe circuits and the reason for their activation in the 1960s cultural revolution now becomes clear. As sociologist F.M. Esfandiary writes in Upwingers,

"Today when we speak of immortality and of going to another world we no longer mean these in a theological or metaphysical sense. People are now traveling to other worlds.

People are now striving for immortality. Transcendence is no longer a metaphysical concept. It has become r e a l i t y . " 8 8

The evolutionary function of the seventh circuit and its evolutionary, aeon-spanning tunnel-reality is to prepare us for conscious immortality and interspecies symbiosis.

V I I I . The neuro-atomic circuit. Hold on to y o u r hats and breathe deeply —this is the farthest-out that human intelligence has yet ventured:

Consciousness probably precedes the biological unit or DNA tape-loop. "Out-of-body experiences," "astral project i o n , " contact with alien (extraterrestrial?) " e n t i t i e s " or with a galactic Overmind, etc., such as I've experienced, have all been reported for thousands of years, n o t merely by the ignorant, the superstitious, the gullible, but often by the finest minds among us (Socrates, Giordano Bruno, Edison, Buckminster Fuller, etc.). Such experiences are reported daily to parapsychologists and have been experienced by such scientists 205 as Dr. John Lilly and Carlos Castaneda. Dr. Kenneth Ring has attributed these phenomena to what he calls, very appropriately, " t h e extraterrestrial unconscious."

Dr. Leary suggests t h a t circuit V I I I is literally neuro-atomic— infra, supra and mew-physiological—a q u a n t u m mechanical communication system which does not require a biological container. The a t t e m p t to construct a q u a n t u m model of consciousness and/or a conscious model of quantum mechanics by the turned-on physicists discussed previously (Prof. J o h n Archibald Wheeler, Saul-Paul Sirag, Dr. Fritjof Capra, Dr. Jack Sarfatti, etc.) indicates strongly t h a t the

" a t o m i c consciousness" first suggested by Leary in " T h e Seven Tongues of G o d " (1962) is the explanatory link which will unite parapsychology and paraphysics into the first scientific empirical experimental theology in history.

When the nervous system is turned on to this quantum-level circuit, space-time is obliterated. Einstein's speed-of-light barrier is transcended; in Dr. Sarfatti's metaphor, we escape

"electromagnetic chauvinism." The contelligence within the q u a n t u m projection b o o t h is the entire cosmic " b r a i n , " just as the micro-miniaturized DNA helix is the local brain guiding planetary evolution. As Lao-tse said from his own Circuit V I I I perspective, " T h e greatest is within the smallest."

Circuit V I I I is triggered by Katamine, a neuro-chemical researched by Dr. J o h n Lilly, which is also (according to a wide-spread but unconfirmed rumor) given to astronauts to prepare them for space. High doses of LSD also produce some circuit V I I I quantum awareness.

This neuro-atomic contelligence is four mutations beyond terrestrial domesticity. (The current ideological struggle is between circuit IV tribal moralists-or-collectivists and circuit V hedonic individualists.) When our need for higher intelligence, richer involvement in the cosmic script, further transcendence, will no longer be satisfied by physical bodies, not even by immortal bodies hopping across space-time at Warp 9, circuit V I I I will open a further frontier. New universes and realities. "Beyond theology: the science and art of Godmanship," as Alan Watts once wrote.

It is therefore possible t h a t the mysterious " e n t i t i e s "

(angels and extraterrestrials) monotonously reported by 206

circuit V I I I visionaries are members of races already evolved to this level. But it is also possible, as Leary and Sarfatti m o r e recently suggest, t h a t They are ourselves-in-the-future.

The left-lobe terrestrial circuits contain the learned lessons of our evolutionary past (and present). The right-lobe extraterrestrial circuits are the evolutionary script for our future.

Thus far, there have been two alternative explanations of why the Drug Revolution happened. The first is presented in a sophisticated way by anthropologist Weston LaBarre, and in an ignorant, moralistic way by most anti-drug propaganda in the schools and the mass media. This explanation says, in essence, that millions have turned away from the legal down drugs to illegal high drugs because we are living in troubled times and m a n y are seeking escape into fantasy.

This theory, at its best, only partially explains the ugli-est and most publicized aspect of the revolution—the reckless drug abuse characteristic of the immature. It says nothing about the millions of respectable doctors, lawyers, engineers, etc., who have turned away from second circuit intoxication with booze to fifth circuit rapture with weed.

Nor does it account at all for the thoughtful, philosophical sixth circuit investigations of persons of high intelligence and deep sensibility, such as Aldous Huxley, Dr. Stanley Grof, Masters-Houston, Alan W. Watts, Carlos Castaneda, Dr.

John Lilly and thousands of scientific and lay researchers on consciousness.

A more plausible theory, devised by psychiatrist Norman Zinberg out of the work of Marshall McLuhan, holds that modern electronic media have so shifted the nervous system's parameters that young people no longer enjoy "linear" drugs like alcohol and find meaning only in "non-linear" weed and psychedelics.

This is certainly part of the t r u t h , b u t it is too narrow and overstresses TV and computers w i t h o u t sufficiently stressing the general technological picture—the ongoing Science-Fiction Revolution of which the most significant aspects are Space Migration, Increased Intelligence and Life Extension, which Leary has condensed into his S.M.I2.L.E. formula.

Space Migration plus Increased Intelligence plus Life Ex-2 0 7 tension means expansion of humanity into all space-time.

S.M. + I 2 . + L.E. = oo.

Without totally endorsing Charles Fort's technological mysticism ("It steam-engines when it comes steam-engine t i m e ") , it is obvious that the DNA metaprogram for planetary evolution is far wiser than any of our individual nervous syst e m s - w h i c h are, in a sense, giant robots or sensors for DNA.

Early science-fiction pulps; the crudities of Buck Rogers; the sophisticated science-fiction of brilliant writers like Stapled o n , Clarke, Heinlein; Kubrick's 2001—all were increasingly clear DNA signals transmitted through the intuitive right lobe of sensitive artists, preparing us for the extraterrestrial mutation.

It is scarcely coincidental t h a t mainstream " l i t e r a r y " intellectuals-the heirs of the Platonic-aristocratic tradition t h a t a gentleman never uses his hands, monkeys with tools or learns a manual craft—despise both science-fiction and the dope culture. Nor is it coincidental that the Whole Earth Catalogs— created by Stewart Brand, a graduate of Ken Kesey's Merry Pranksters—are the New Testament of the rural drop-out culture, each issue bulging with tons of eco-technological information about all the manual, dextrous, gadgety know-h o w that Plato and his heirs consider fit only for slaves. Not surprisingly, Brand's latest publication, Co-Evolution Quarterly, has been largely devoted to publicizing Prof. Gerard O'Neill's space-habitat, L 5 .

Nor is it an accident that dopers seem to prefer science-fiction to any other reading, even including the extraterrestrial-flavored Hindu scriptures and occult-shamanic circuit V I - V I I I trip-poets like Crowley and Hesse.

The circuit VI drugs may have contributed m u c h to the metaprogramming consciousness that has led to sudden awareness of "male chauvinism" (women's liberationists), "species chauvinism" (ecology, Lilly's dolphin studies), "type-G star chauvinism" (Carl Sagan), even "oxygen chauvinism" (the CETI conference), etc. The imprinted tunnel-realities which identify one as "white-male-American-earthian" etc. or "black-female-Cuban" etc. are no longer big enough to enclose our exploding contelligence.

As Time magazine said on November 2 6 , 1973, "Within 208 ten years, according to pharmacologists, they will have perfected pills and cranial electrodes capable of providing life-long bliss for everyone on E a r t h . " The 1960s hysteria about weed and acid was just the overture to this fifth circuit breakthrough. Nathan S. Kline, M.D., predicts real aphrodisiacs, drugs to speed up learning, drugs to foster or terminate any behavior. Those w h o were burned or jailed at the beginning of the 17th century (Bruno, Galileo, etc.) were forerunners of the Revolution of Outer Technology. Those who were jailed or beaten by cops in the 1960s were forerunners of the Revolution of Inner Technology.

Star Trek is a better guide to the emerging reality than anything in t h e New York Review of Books. The life-support and defense-system engineer, Scotty (circuit I), the emotional-sentimental Dr. McCoy (circuit I I) , the logical science-officer Mr. Spock (circuit I I I) and the alternately paternalistic and romantic Captain Kirk (circuit I V) are perpetually voyaging through our future neurological history and encountering circuit V, V I , V I I , and V I I I intelligences, however crudely presented.

In short, the various levels of consciousness and circuits we have been discussing, and illustrating, are all biochemical imprints in the evolution of the nervous system. Each imprint creates a bigger tunnel-reality. In the Sufi metaphor, the donkey on which we ride becomes a different donkey after each imprint. The metaprogrammer continually learns more and is increasingly able to be aware of itself operating. We are thus evolving to intelligence-studying-intelligence (the nervous system studying the nervous system) and are more and more capable of accelerating our own evolution.

Leary now symbolizes intelligence-studying intelligence by the mark, I 2 .

On the lower levels, you see with one " I , " so to speak.

On the higher levels, y o u see with many " I " s .

And space-time shifts from three Euclidean dimensions to non-Euclidean multi-dimensionality.

209

The Octave of Energy

The Law of Octaves was first suggested by Pythagoras in ancient Greece. Having observed that the eight notes of the conventional Occidental musical scale were governed by definite mathematical relationships, Pythagoras proceeded to create a whole cosmology based on 8s. In this octagonal model Pythagoras made numerous mistakes, because he was generalizing from insufficient data. However, his work was the first a t t e m p t in history to unify science, mathematics, art and mysticism into one comprehensible system and as such is still influential. Leary, Crowley and Buckminster Fuller have all described themselves as modern Pythagoreans.

In China, roughly contemporary with Pythagoras, the Taoists built up a cosmology based on the interplay of yang (positive) and yin (negative), which produced the eight trigrams of the I Ching, out of which are generated the 64 hexagrams.

In India, Buddha announced, after his illumination under the Bodlii tree, the Noble Eightfold Path. Patanjali subsequently reduced the science of yoga to eight " l i m b s " or, as we might say, eight " s t e p s . "

The game of chess appeared, somewhere in t h e East, with a grid based on 8 x 8 (64) squares.

Kepler discovered the laws of planetary m o t i o n serendipitously, while trying to make the planets fit into the Pythagorean octave.

In the 1860s, English chemist John Newland showed that all the chemical elements fall into eight families. Since Pythagorean mysticism was unfashionable at that time, Newland was literally laughed at and rejected by the Royal Chemical Society. In the 1870s, with much more detail than Newland, the Russian chemist Mendeleyev proved once and for all that the elements d o , indeed, fall into eight families. His Periodic Table of the Elements, an octave of hauntingly Pythagorean harmony, hangs in every high-school chemistry class today.

(The Royal Society later apologized to Newland and gave him a Gold Medal.)

We have already seen that Nikola Tesla, in t h e visions from which he deduced the mechanism of alternating current, also intuited a basic Law of Octaves governing universal energy.

Modern geneticists have found that the DNA-RNA "dia-210 logue"—the molecular information system governing life and evolution—is transmitted by 64 (8 x 8) codons.

R. Buckminster Fuller, in his Synergetic-Energetic Geometry, which he claims is the "co-ordinate system of Universe," reduces all phenomena to geometric-energetic constructs based on the tetrahedron (4-sided), the octet truss (8-sided) and the coupler (8-faceted with 24 phases). Fuller argues specifically t h a t the 8-face, 24-phase coupler underlies the 8-fold division of the chemical elements on the Mendeleyev Periodic Table.

In 1973, unaware of Fuller's coupler— which I called to his attention later —Dr. Leary began to divide his 8 circuits into a 24-stage Periodic Table of Evolution (see diagram).

Leary also began attempting to correlate this with the Periodic Table of Elements in chemistry.

The eight families of elements are:

1. Alkalis.

2. Alkalines.

3 . Borons.

4. Carbons.

5. Nitrogens.

6. Oxygens.

7. Halogens.

8. Noble gases.

The first four families, Leary argues, are terrestrial; t h a t is, they are heavy and tend to fall to Earth. The second four families are extraterrestrial; t h a t is, they tend to float off into space. Similarly, he says, the first four circuits of the nervous system are terrestrial; their function is to control survival and reproduction at the b o t t o m of the 4,000-mile gravity well in which we presently live. The second four circuits, then, are extraterrestrial; they will come into full play only when we live normally in zero-gravity—in free space.

If the higher circuits have been appearing (partially and in rare mutants) for a few thousand years, this is because the DNA blueprint is gradually modifying us for future evolution.

If higher circuit functions are increasing at an accelerating rate—as many parapsychologists think—it is because we are now mutating rapidly toward extraterrestrial migration.

Mathematically, the first four circuits are Euclidean-211

THE PERIODIC TABLE OF EVOLUTION

CIRCUIT

DENDRITIC

CELL BODY

AXONIC

(Input)

(Integrative)

(Output)

FUNCTION

FUNCTION

FUNCTION

Neuro-Atomic

Cosmic

Cosmic

Cosmic

(Metaphysio-

Consciousness

Engineering

Fusion

logical)

Neurogenetic

DNA

DNA

DNA

Awareness

Engineering

Fusion

(Longevity)

(Ecological Symbiosis)

Neuro-Electric

ESP

The

"The Conscious

Precognition

Neurologician

Circle of (the shaman)

Humanity"

Neurosomatic

Hedonic

Hedonic

Hedonic

Passivity

Engineering

Synergy

(Yoga)

(Tantra)

Domestic

The Adolescent

The Parent

Centralized

(Socio-Sexual) (Barbarian (Patriarchal

Socialism

Bands) Civilization)

(Hive-Unity)

Laryngeal-

The Learning

The Skillful

The Creative

Manual

Child

Child

Child

(Symbolic)

(Paleolithic)

(Neolithic)

(Bronze Age)

Emotional-

The Toddler

The Fighting

The Political

Territorial

(trickster

Child

Child

mammal) (predator

(pack-bonding)

mammal)

Bio-Survival

The Newborn

The Demanding

Mother-Child

(unicellular

Infant

bonding consciousness)

(marine (amphibian consciousness)

consciousness)

Read from the bottom up. Every infant begins at "The Newborn"; every adult arrives at least at "Centralized Socialism" (although the Control Center or major input may be back at "The Toddler" or 'The Fighting Child" or in any slot). So-called geniuses, mystics or weird people with wild (psionic) talents are post-larval and may reach any slot from "Centralized Socialism" to "Cosmic Fusion."

Newtonian, orienting us to the 3-dimensional space and 1-dimensional time of planetary life. The second four circuits are Fullerian-Einsteinian, orienting us to interstellar zero-gravity.

It is possible to see the development of an individual (if s/he evolves all the way to the 8th circuit) and the development of life itself as the working o u t of this Octave of Evolution. Thus:

Individual

Life

Circuit I

infant bio-survival

uni-cellular life

passivity

Circuit II

"toddler" emotional vertebrate life, territorial-politics (Ego)

ity, hierarchy

Circuit III

student Mind

hominid languages and tool-making

Circuit IV

post-pubescent

urbanized civilization

domesticity

Circuit V

neurosomatic

free-fall (extraterrestrial rapture migration)

Circuit VI

neuroelectric

I2

metaprogramming

Circuit VII

neurogenetic

immortality

consciousness

Circuit VIII Satori

Cosmic Union

But this is strikingly similar to the teachings of Gurdjieff (which may be. according to many, the secret inner teachings of Sufism). The Gurdjieff vibration numbers and the levels of consciousness, as named by Gurdjieff, fit the table as follows: 384 Movement center

Circuit I

Invertebrate reality

192 False emotional center

Circuit II

Mammalian reality

96 False intellectual center

Circuit III

Paleolithic reality

48 False personality

Circuit IV

Civilized reality

24 Magnetic Center

Circuit V

Hedonic reality

12 True Emotional Center

Circuit VI

Psionic reality

6 True Intellectual Center

Circuit VII

Immortal reality

3 The Essence

Circuit VIII Cosmic reality

Leary began to divide the 8 circuits into 24 phases when 213 he became convinced that each circuit has an input phase, a decision-making phase, and an o u t p u t phase. (On t h e synap-tic level, this appears as dendrites, receiving signals; cell-bodies, making decisions; and axons, transmitting signals.) This 24-stage chart can be correlated with the Hebrew alphabet, thereby casting new light on the Cabala; with the Tarot cards (a Sufi invention, it is claimed); and with the Zodiac (if we allow 12 extraterrestrial types to complete the 12 terrestrial types of traditional astrology). These correlations are n o t indicated on the diagram; a full explanation will be found in two later books.*

Working independently of Leary and myself, Prof. Peter Flessel of the University of San Francisco has begun developing correlations between the 8 x 8 codons of the genetic code and the 8 x 8 hexagrams of the I Ching, which he will be publishing soon. It is to be hoped that in further work on the Leary Periodic Table, Flessel's correlations and Fuller's 24-phase geometric coupler, science will eventually find a " R o - setta S t o n e " by which the traditional symbols of occultism can be decoded in modern, operational, scientific categories.

It will be seen by the thoughtful reader that this emerging synthesis evades entirely the usual dichotomy of "spiritu a l " versus "material," being purely geometric-energetic. It is thus in the same philosophical category as the unitary systems of the East (Zen, Taoism, Vedanta, etc.) and outside the dualisms of Greek logic and Christian theology. Any a t t e m p t to describe this octave as "mystical" or as "materialistic" misses the real point of Leary's work.

The law of acceleration

In t h e 1890s, Henry Adams became convinced that technology was following a geometric or exponential law. That is, basic advances do n o t follow a linear sequence such as:

The Periodic Table of Evolution,* by Timothy Leary and Robert Anton Wilson, 88 Books, San Diego, 1977; The Game of Life, Leary and Wilson, 88 Books, San Diego, 1977.

214

2 4 6 8 10 12 14 16 etc.

b u t rattier an exponential sequence like:

2 4 8 16 32 64 128 256 etc.

Adams calculated that, projecting forward the acceleration from Galileo's time to his own, we would have infinite energy at our disposal in the 1920s. Obviously, he was somewhat inaccurate in his calculations.

But he was not entirely wrong. Korzybski, Buckminster Fuller, Alvin Toffler and others have shown, with countless examples, t h a t many things in technology are advancing exponentially, and the one general tendency is clearly t h a t there will be more basic breakthroughs (both in scientific theory and in technological applications) in each generation than in any previous generation.

As Toffler in particular emphasizes, there are more scientists alive in the 1970s than in all previous history added together. Thus, this generation should witness more breakthroughs than all previous history added together. In this context, Leary's SMI2LE scenario (Space Migration + Intelligence2 + Life Extension) is only the overture to a planetary (and extra-planetary) Awakening that we can only dimly begin to discern.

This, indeed, is the thesis of a remarkable book offering the final set of models and metaphors which we shall be discussing— The Invisible Landscape, by Terrence L. McKenna and Dennis J. M c K e n n a . 8 9

The McKenna brothers, who between them have a background t h a t includes anthropology, biology, chemistry and botany, conducted a metaprogramming experiment in the Upper Amazon Basin, using the local "magic m u s h r o o m , " which contains psychedelics in the psilocybin family. For 37 days they experienced a high level of ESP, the usual intensifi-cation of coincidence-synchronicity, and the presence of an

"alien" insectoid entity which seemed to be an anthropologist from the future. Twentieth century history appeared as a frantic (although unconscious) effort to build a craft to escape Earth and return to Galactic Center. This occurred in March of 1971. (Leary and Benner received the Starseed transmissions, urging return to Galactic Center, in July-August 1973.

Since the McKennas did n o t publish an account of their experience until 1976, it could not have influenced Leary and Benner.)

In the six years since the Amazon Basin experience the McKennas have been developing a model to account for the action of psychedelics in general and their own experience in particular. This model is detailed and specific in more ways than I can summarize here and suggests numerous experiments in neuro-psychology, chemistry and quantum physics, which might prove of crucial importance to science as a whole.

Briefly, the McKennas regard our universe as a hologram, created by the interaction of two hyper-universes, j u s t as an ordinary hologram is created by the interaction of two lasers.

One consequence of this model is t h a t , if our universe is a hologram, every part contains the information of the whole, as in normal holography. As we have seen, the Sarfatti interpretation of Bell's Theorem and the Leary theory of eighth circuit consciousness also lead to this conclusion, which, in effect, means that every atom contains the " b r a i n " of the whole universe.

This is also the basic axiom of magick and was originally stated in the Table of Hermes in the famous sentence,

" T h a t which is above is in t h a t which is below." Alchemists and occultists have usually referred to it as the principle that

" t h e macrocosm is within the microcosm."

But the McKenna theory goes far beyond this. There are 64 time-scales in the hologram of our universe, they say, and each one is related to one of the 64 (8 x 8) hexagrams of the / Ching. What we call " m i n d " or "consciousness" is a standing wave form in these 64 time-systems. As the two hyper-universes making up the hologram of our known universe interact in time, " m i n d " manifests further in our continuum. This means, in concrete physical terms, t h a t the q u a n t u m bonds of the DNA are evolving faster and faster.

We are riding not one but 64 evolutionary waves all mounting toward a cosmic Awakening something like the Omega Point suggested by palaeontologist Teilhard de Chardin.

The action of psychedelics, in the model, opens the quant u m information system within the DNA to inspection by the higher neural centers. When Dr. John Lilly says he has trav-216 eled in time with LSD, and then adds that this is " o n l y " a metaphor, he is perhaps too modest. If the McKennas are right in their basic theory, every psychedelic trip is literally a voyage through the q u a n t u m information system at faster-than-light velocity, i.e., outside " t i m e " in the local (Einsteinian) universe.

This sounds much like a more scientific formulation of the incoherent ideas about time t h a t many U F O Contactees have tried to communicate.

The natural question, of course, is just when are the McKennas' 64 time-scales reaching their peak in our linear time?

The McKennas have programmed a computer with their 64 / Ching time systems and the answer is that everything goes jackpot around A.D. 2 0 1 2 .

(For some perspective on this rather apocalyptic notion, consider one of the regular studies performed by the McGraw-Hill Publications Company, in which a cross-section of scientists are asked to predict the technology of the n e x t quarter-century. In the latest McGraw-Hill poll, the majority predicted that by A.D. 2 0 0 0 we will have:

drugs to cure cancer artificial eyesight for the blind drugs to permanently increase intelligence chemical control of aging chemical control of senility successful cryogenic preservation.)90

The McKenna scenario is somewhat more dramatic than the exponential accelerations suggested by Henry Adams, Korzybski, Fuller, Toffler and even Leary, because, within the McKenna theory, all of the 64 time-scales peak together.

That is, they assert:

a 4,300-year cycle from urbanization to the dawn of modern science;

a 384-year cycle in which science has caused more upsurge of novelty than in t h a t 4,300-year cycle; a 67-year cycle (from the technological breakthroughs of the 1940s, including nuclear energy and DNA, to the peak in 2012) in which there will be more acceleration than there was between Galileo and Hiroshima; 217 a 384-day cycle in 2 0 1 1 - 2 0 1 2 when there will be more transformations than in all the previous cycles; a 6-day cycle at the end of that in which things will move even faster; and so on, down to a grand climax in which, as they say, in the last 135 minutes, 18 such barriers (i.e., barriers comparable to the appearance of life, the invention of language or the achievement of immortality—

R.A.W.) will be crossed, 13 of them in the last 75 x 1 0 4 seconds.91

That is, in the last two hours before Peak, we will achieve 18 extensions of consciousness and power, each one comparable to the passing from sea to land or from Earth to Space.

And in the last .0075 seconds of the Great Cycle we will pass through 13 such transformations.

On a recent lecture tour, I have spoken to literally hundreds of scientists about the SMI2LE scenario, and the majority of them agree that we can indeed have Space Migration, Intelligence2 and Life Extension by the 1990s. Some agree with Leary's optimistic claim that we can have them by the 1980s, if we try hard enough.

By the turn of the next century, then, we will be a completely new species in many dimensions: living in space, n o t on a planet; able to program our nervous systems for any degree of any function we wish; possessing a lifespan in centuries, and well on our way to Immortality. Between 2 0 0 0 and 2012, if the McKenna scenario can be trusted, the real Cosmic Action will begin. As the McKennas say, it is hard to avoid hyperbole in trying to contemplate what this means.

Part III:

Trigger

PART III : TRIGGER
EACH MAN'S DEATH DIMINISHES ME FOR I AM INVOLVED IN HUMANITY.
John Donne

Trigger:

A FINAL F A B L E

F r o m the Egyptian

The goddess Isis married her older brother Osiris, whom she loved very much. Set, the old serpent of envy, hated their happiness and murdered Osiris by stealth. Then, to prevent all possibility of resurrection, Set dismembered the body of Osiris and scattered the pieces up and down the Nile River.

When Isis learned what had been d o n e , She called upon Thoth, god of Eternity, to stop the flow of Time, so that she could find all the parts of Osiris before the sun set. And Thoth stopped the wings of time, and the universe stood still, and Isis went forth weeping and griefstricken to h u n t one by one for the pieces of the dead Lord Osiris. And when she had found all of them, she performed the Black Rite, and eternity gave birth to Time again, and Osiris was alive.

And the secret of the Black Rite is the Secret of Secrets, and even those who k n o w it do not know it fully; b u t it will be revealed when we pursue Isis and Osiris u n t o the heights, yea, into the starry infinity above us.

Sirius Rises Again

Three more bits of data have come to me recently. Alan Vaughn, a well-known West Coast occultist and editor of Psychic magazine, read a draft of this book and immediately phoned me in high excitement. Mr. Vaughn also had the impression of being contacted by Sirius in 1973—January 1973, to be exact. Those who want to confirm this, or get more details, can contact Mr. Vaughn at Psychic, 680 Beach Street, 221

San Francisco.

The second datum is most striking when we notice that, whether we approach the Sirius Mystery from the modern end and work backward from Aleister Crowley, or start from the ancient end and work forward from the Egyptians, we continually collide with the mysterious and enigmatic history of Freemasonry. I recently acquired Morals and Dogma of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, by General Albert Pike 33°. Standard references agree in consid-dering Pike the highest initiate in 19th century American freemasonry. Concerning Sirius, he says:

To find in the BLAZING STAR of five, points an allusion to Divine Providence is also fanciful; and to make it commemorative of the Star that is said to have guided the Magi is to give it a meaning comparatively modern. Originally, it represented SIRIUS, or the Dog Star.92

This blazing star appears in every Masonic lodge, needless to say.

My third new clue comes from a rather sensational book called The Curse of the Pharaohs, by Phillip Vandenberg.

According to Vandenberg, an archeologist named Duncan MacNaughton discovered in 1932 that the long dark tunnels in t h e Great Pyramid of Cheops function as telescopes, making the stars visible even in the daytime. The Great Pyramid is oriented, according to MacNaughton, to give a view, from the King's Chamber, of the area of the southern sky in which Sirius moves throughout the y e a r . 9 3

Despite my skepticism and my alternative models, I can't help wondering: but what if it's true? What if Earth and Sirius do have some strange cosmic link? As Robert K.G. Temple says in his Sirius Mystery:

I would even venture that we may be under observation or surveillance at this very moment, with an extraterrestrial civilization based at the Sirius system monitoring our development to see when we will ready ourselves for their contacting us . . . Would they think that [this book] was their cue? If what I propose in this book really is true, then am I pulling a cosmic trigger?94

Sirius is only 8.6 lightyears away. The British Interplanetary Society already has a design for a starship t h a t could be sent to Barnard's Star (6 lightyears away) in 2 0 0 0 . The first O'Neill space cities will be orbiting the earth by then, and by 2004, according to Dr. Asimov's calculations, the biological revolution will be producing DNA for any purpose we want, possibly including immortality. In 2 0 1 2 , if the McKenna scenario is right, comes the Omega Point. In t h a t case, Dr.

Temple, we are all pulling a cosmic trigger.

Blood of the Gods?

Recently, Ancient Astronauts magazine printed an article claiming that a n u m b e r of prominent occultists and consciousness-researchers were interstellar hybirds—descendants of the matings between normal humanity and von Daniken's space-gods. I was pleased to find myself on t h e list of Godlings. The article asserted that what all of us have in common, besides a proclivity for the higher states of consciousness, is Rh-negative blood.

It is a charming theory. The only thing wrong with it is that your humble Narrator happens to have Rh-positive blood.

Sorry about t h a t . . .

Weirdness and synchronicity continue to haunt me.

("Beyond a certain p o i n t , " Crowley wrote, " t h e whole universe becomes a continuous Initiation.") When the psychic lady with the incredible name, Penny Loony, gave me the prophecies mentioned on page 178, she added that within a year I would be traveling to Europe and diving into the ruins of Atlantis. I d i d n ' t put much faith in either of those forecasts, especially n o t the second, since I d o n ' t believe in Atlantis.

But on November 2 3 , 1976—a sacred Discordian holy day, b o t h because of the 23 and because it is Harpo Marx's birthday—a most ingenious young Englishman named Ken Campbell premiered a ten-hour adaptation of Illuminatus at the Science-Fiction Theatre of Liverpool. It was something 223 of a success (the Guardian reviewed it three times, each reviewer being wildly enthusiastic) and Campbell and his part-ner, actor Chris Langham, were invited to present it as the first production of the new Cottesloe extension of the National Theatre, under the patronage of Her Majesty the Queen.

This seemed to me the greatest Discordian j o k e ever, since Illuminatus, as I may n o t have mentioned before, is the most overtly anarchistic novel of this century. Shea and I quite seriously defined our purpose, when writing it, as trying to do to the State what Voltaire did to the C h u r c h - t o reduce it to an object of contempt among all educated people. Ken Campbell's adaptation was totally faithful to this nihilistic spirit and contained long unexpurgated speeches from the novel explaining at sometimes tedious length just w h y everything government does is always done wrong. The audiences d i d n ' t mind this pedantic lecturing because it was well integrated into a kaleidoscope of humor, suspense, and plenty of sex (more simulated blow jobs than any drama in history, I believe). The thought of having this totally subversive ritual staged under the patronage of H.M. the Queen, Elizabeth I I , was nectar and ambrosia to me.

The National Theatre flew Shea and me over to London for the premiere and I fell in love with the whole cast, especially Prunella Gee, who emphatically has my vote for Sexiest Actress since Marilyn Monroe. Some of us did a lot of drink-ing and hash-smoking together, and the cast told me a lot of synchronicities connected with the production. Five actors were injured during t h e Liverpool run, to fulfill the Law of Fives. Hitler had lived in Liverpool for five m o n t h s when he was 23 years old. The section of Liverpool in which the play opened, indeed the very street, is described in a dream of Carl Jung's recorded on page 223 of Jung's Memories, Dreams, Reflections. The theatre in Liverpool opened the day Jung died. There is a yellow submarine in Illuminatus, and the Beatles first sang "Yellow Submarine" in that same Liverpool Theatre. The actor playing Padre Pederastia in the Black Mass scene had met Aleister Crowley on a train once.

The cast dared me to do a walk-on role during the National Theatre run. I agreed and became an extra in the Black Mass, where I was upstaged by the goat, w h o kept sneezing.

Nonetheless, there I was, bare-ass naked, chanting " D o what thou wilt shall be the whole of the l a w " under the patronage of Elizabeth I I , Queen of England, and I will never stop wondering how much of that was programmed by Crowley before I was even b o r n .

And so Penny Loony's prediction t h a t I would travel t?

Europe came true, and Crowley and the Illuminati were involved in it.

As for the prediction that I would dive into the ruins of Atlantis: after I got back from England, an occultist named Alve Stuart contacted me and invited me to join an expedi-tion to the Bermuda Triangle to investigate various legends, including the idea t h a t part of Atlantis was down there, and reports from natives of the area that UFOs are often seen rising from the waters. I declined, partly because of competing projects t h a t seemed even more bizarre and amusing, and partly because I wanted to see what would happen if I refused " T h e i r " evident desire to get me to Atlantis.

A m o n t h later, Charles Berlitz claimed to have found a sunken pyramid in the Bermuda Triangle. He said it was twice the size of the pyramid of Cheops, and t h a t was really amusing, because Shea and I had put a pyramid "twice the size of the pyramid of C h e o p s " right there, in Illuminatus, but we thought we were writing fiction at the time.

As we go to press, I hear from Carl Weschcke, an occult publisher who has printed many of my articles in his magazine, Gnostica, t h a t Berlitz has joined forces with Alve Stuart, the man w h o wanted to take me to Atlantis. The two of them are down there now, hoping to bring back photos of t h a t damned pyramid Shea and I think we invented, and of the UFOs rising into the stars. Lovely. I am still living in Jung-land. I turned on TV last night and picked up an ad for a film called Airport 77. The ad began with a radar operator shouting "Flight 23 is d o w n in the Bermuda Triangle."

I have by now encountered the " r e a l " Head of the " r e a l "

Illuminati several times. (The fellow who gave me $200 when I was on Welfare did not claim to be the Head of the Illuminati, only an agent.) The first real Head I m e t was Rev. Thomas Patrick McNamara of San Francisco. He is a charming and witty person. The second real Head is Robert Shell of Roanoke, 225

Virginia. I haven't m e t him in person yet, but we've corresponded quite a bit, and he seems charming and witty also.

The third real Head is an individual in southern California w h o shall be nameless and who is neither charming nor witty.

He threatened to sue me for a put-on letter I had written to an occult journal, Green Egg, in which I had jokingly pretended / was the real Head of the Illuminati. I sent him back a form saying his letter would not program into my computer and would he please resubmit it in Fortran; I haven't heard from his since. Another real Head of the Illuminati is a chap called Frater Paragranis, in Switzerland, who registered his claim to t h a t title in Francis King's book, Sexuality, Magick and Perversion.

I have also been corresponding for a year now with a 33° freemason in Texas. Part of the time I think he's the real Real Head of the Illuminati. Part of the time I think t h a t he thinks I'm the Real Head. And part of the time I think he just likes to correspond with professional writers about occult subjects.

Recently, English playwright Heathcote Williams sent me a Xerox of There Is No More Firmament, a one-act play written by the pioneer surrealist, Antonin Artaud, back in the early 1920s. This strange, weirdly suggestive drama certainly deserves to be mentioned as part of the Sirius Mystery.

There Is No More Firmament begins with discordant music indicating "a far-off cataclysm." The curtain rises on an ordinary street scene, with actors coming and going rapidly.

There are bits of ordinary conversation ("Wines . . . window-glass . .. gold's going d o w n ") , suggestions of violence and insanity ("He's undressing me. Help, he's ripping my dress off .. ." " I ' m on fire, I'm burning, I'm going to j u m p ") and, finally, the word "Sirius" repeated in every tone of voice and every pitch of the scale: SIRIUS . . . SIRIUS . . . SIRIUS . . .

SIRIUS . . . Then a loudspeaker thunders, " T H E GOVERNMENT URGES YOU TO REMAIN CALM."

Actors rush about claiming that the sun is getting bigger, the plague has broken o u t , there is thunder w i t h o u t lightning, e t c . A reasonable voice tries to explain: " I t was a magnetic phenomenon . . . " Then the loudspeaker tells us:

"STUPENDOUS DISCOVERY. SKY PHYSICALLY

ABOLISHED. EARTH ONLY A MINUTE AWAY FROM

SIRIUS. NO MORE FIRMAMENT."

One actor claims it is the end of the world. Another says it is two worlds ramming each other.

Tom-toms beat and a chorus sings the Internationale.

Communist and anarchist slogans are shouted. One actor suggests, "There, y o u see, it was the Revolution." There is a chant, hailing the new ruler, King Mob.

A group of scientists appear and disagree with each other vehemently about what is happening, while a Revolutionary objects, " I t isn't science any more, it's immoral." Another promises us, not very reassuringly, "We w o n ' t see the Anti-christ y e t . " Finally, one scientist comes forth to explain to the audience, " T h e molecular grouping in Sirius is everything.

These two forces, ours and theirs, had to be p u t in touch with each o t h e r . "

The curtain falls and violent percussion instruments and sirens create a din as the audience leaves.

(For the curious, t h e whole text of this play can be found in Antonin Artaud, Collected Works, Vol. I I . Calder and Boy-ars: London, 1971.)

Artaud went " i n s a n e " about ten years after writing this play, and spent the World War II years in a mental hospital.

After the war ended, he regained his " s a n i t y " and lived his final years in Paris as a hero to the young intelligentsia, who regarded him as a prophet. The people w h o were allegedly

" s a n e " during the years of Artaud's hospitalization spent most of their time trying to blow up as much as possible of the civilized world.

The Dark Companion

On July 2 3 , 1976—the third anniversary of my original Sirius experience —I made an a t t e m p t to duplicate the effect, which is certainly interesting and suggestive, however one explains it. This time I did a formal invocation of Hadit, the Intelligence identified with Sirius in Crowley's symbology, using all the paraphernalia of ceremonial magick. I was assisted by Isaac Bonewits, author of Real Magick, and Charles Hixson, a computer programmer with an interest in Cabala.

Neither Isaac nor Charles experienced anything out of the ordinary. I got into a high, spaced-out " m y s t i c a l " state, but with no objective phenomena immediately forthcoming, even though I had focused my energy on producing some sort of objective effect.

The next week, however, Time magazine ran a full-page review of Temple's The Sirius Mystery. I found this, quite simply, infuriating: it was so easy to see it as an answer to my ritual, and it was equally easy to dismiss it as a " m e r e coincid e n c e . " Somewhere, I seemed to hear a mocking laugh and a cryptic whisper, "We're going to keep y o u guessing a while longer."

Another full-page item that week, alas, was even more suggestive and even less conclusive. Rolling Stone had a dis-play ad for a new rock group called Rameses, which came from Germany and featured a singer named Winifred. That was weird by itself, because in t h e novel Illuminatus, The Illuminati turn out to be run by a German rock group (called not Rameses but the American Medical Association) featuring a singer named Winifred. What was really provocative, however, was that this group was being promoted in this country by Annuit Coeptis records and the ad featured the eye-on-the-pyramid design which we have seen so many times linked with the Illuminati and with Sirius.

Several readers of Illuminatus actually cut t h e ad out of Rolling Stone and sent it to me, asking how I had "managed" this trick. I told them it was magick.

Saul-Paul Sirag has suggested recently, perhaps with some whimsy, that t h e SMI2LE scenario will eventually, as science works on the theory of interstellar propulsion, result serendipitously in time-travel. Some time in t h e 1990s, he told me, some of us will be involved in the first experiments on a time-machine. Like all prototypes, this will have some bugs in it, and it will create, unintentionally, a series of wrinkles or weirdnesses in the time-flow, which rolling backwards will create the " o c c u l t " events which drew so many of us into the Starseed scenario in the late 1960s and early 1970s. The Higher Intelligence behind all this is, t h e n , literally 228 ovirselves-in-the-future.

Was all that Sirius material just a red herring then? Oddly enough, perhaps n o t ; perhaps, if we are to have time-travel, Sirius will be intimately involved in it. Astronomer A.T. Lawton and journalist Jack Stonely, in their book CETI, point out that rotating Black Holes, produced by collapsing neu-tron stars, would theoretically make fine time-machines. The closest dwarf star we might use for this purpose, they point out, is the Dark Companion of Sirius.95

This reminds me that Osiris, the Dark Companion of Sirius in Egyptian mythology, was the God of Resurrection and of Eternal Life. I cannot help recalling a Hermetic treat-ise quoted by Temple which says that the Dark Rite of Osiris (granting Immortality) will n o t be fully understood until we "pursue the stars u n t o the heights." As Temple remarks, that does seem to mean going out there in spaceships.

Via Dolorosa

In September 1976,1 was teaching a seminar on these ideas with physicists Sirag and Sarfatti, psychologist Jean Millay and mathematician Michael Mohle. Jean Millay, in the course of her presentation of bio-feedback instruments, demonstrated how to harmonize the brain-waves of all the participants. When we entered the alpha state simultaneously, I recognized it at once; it was the state in which I find myself whenever my ESP suddenly kicks into action. I wondered if I would get a flash of that sort, and immediately it told me that my son, Graham, would die soon.

Everybody who gets involved in parapsychology at all eventually realizes, with some anxiety, t h a t you are likely to get that kind of precognition at any time. I threw myself, by concentration m e t h o d s learned from Crowley, into a high-energy state and banished fear and anxiety.

Then, superstitiously, and feeling t h a t I was finally suc-cumbing to the gullibility I have seen capture many occult investigators, I set out on a course of rituals, in the following 229 weeks, to protect Graham. Since I was aware that, according to magick theory, this might only deflect the calamity slightly, I included rituals to protect the rest of my family also.

The Dark Rite of Osiris (granting Immortality) will only be understood when we pursue the gods to their home in the Stars.

I also prayed, for the first time in my adult life, for the strength to bear it, if I could not deflect it.

On October 2, Luna—she who had perhaps levitated once, and who had most certainly taught me much about the Wheel of Karma—came to my room while I was writing and asked me to recommend a novel for her to review for a class at school. While we were discussing this, I was suddenly moved to say to her, " I ' m awfully busy these days and we hardly ever talk together. I hope y o u k n o w I love y o u as much as ever."

She gave me t h a t wonderful Clear Light smile of hers, and said, "Of course I know t h a t . "

That was our last conversation, and I will always be grateful for the impulse that led me to tell her one last time how much I love her.

On October 3, Luna was beaten to death at t h e store where she was working after school, in the course of a burglary.

I was sleeping (taking a very uncharacteristic afternoon nap) when Officer Butler, a Berkeley policeman, came to the door and asked to speak to b o t h my wife and myself. It has occurred to me t h a t , because I never nap in t h e afternoons normally, my unconscious might have known and was preparing me with extra rest.

" I t ' s a b o u t y o u r daughter, L u n a , " the officer said.

"Please sit d o w n . "

We sat down.

"I'm sorry," he said. He was black and had the most pained eyes I have ever seen. " Y o u r daughter is dead."

"Oh, God, n o , " I said, starting to weep and thinking how trite my words were: the Author w h o writes is always watching the human who lives, in my case. Horribly, I empathized totally with Officer Butler's pity and embarrassment; I had lived this scene many times, 20 years ago, when I was an am-bulance attendant and medical orderly. But in those cases I had played the role of the pitying and embarrassed witness to t h e grief of a suddenly bereaved family; now, abruptly and unbelievably, I was on the other side of the drama.

231

The next hour is very vague. I remember telling Arlen,

"We were very, very lucky to have that Clear Light shining within our family for 15 years. We must never stop being grateful for that, even in our grief." I was thinking of Oscar Ichazo's luminous remark t h a t "nobody is truly sane until he feels gratitude to the whole universe," and beginning to understand what Oscar meant.

I remember sitting in the living room, talking very rationally with Graham, my son, and Karuna, my oldest daughter, and thinking, "Hell, grief isn't so bad. I'll get through this"; and a minute later I was sobbing uncontrol-ably again.

Late in the evening, I realized fully with total horror t h a t this was going to be worse, much worse, than any other bereavement I have known. Having lost my father, my brother and my best friend in the last few years, I t h o u g h t I was acquainted with grief and could distance myself from it by the Crowley techniques of breaking any emotional compulsion.

But this was of a different order of hellishness than other griefs: losing parents or brothers or friends j u s t does not compare with losing a child y o u have adored since infancy. I am going to suffer as I have never suffered before, I thought, almost in awe; and I remembered Tim Leary's gallantry in prison and determined to bear my pain as well as he h a d borne his.

Then the phone rang and my dear friend, cyberneticist Michael McNeil asked me, gently, if we had considered cryonic preservation for Luna's body, in the hope that future science would be able to resurrect her.

I was off Welfare by then, and earning decent cash regularly from my writing, b u t it was impossible. "We d o n ' t have that kind of m o n e y , " I said.

"We can raise i t , " Michael said. "Paul Segall and all t h e people at the Bay Area Cryonics Society will donate their labor free. I've got pledges for enough money to cover the first year's expenses . . . "

"Pledges? Who?" I said stupidly.

"People who appreciate your writings on longevity and immortality, and want to help you n o w . "

I was stunned. It seemed to me t h a t my writings were 232 still, even with the success of Illuminatus, known only to small coteries in places like Texas and Missouri. By national standards, I was still very much an u n k n o w n .

"Hold o n , " I said, and went to talk to Arlen. It was an excruciating moment. We had b o t h felt t h a t cryonic preservation was impossible on our income, and we were trying to accept the death of Luna with all the stoicism and forbearance we could muster. Would it be an unnecessary cruelty to ask Arlen to consider the long-range hope of resurrection?

Within a few seconds, after I had stumbled through an explanation, Arlen said, "Yes. Even if it doesn't work for Luna, every cryonic suspension contributes to scientific knowledge. Somebody, some day, will benefit."

"Oh, my darling," I said, beginning to weep again. Like Luna, Arlen was teaching me one more time how to stop the Wheel of Karma, how to take bad energy and turn it into good energy before passing it on.

The next day was a melodrama, since Luna had not died naturally and we were creating a precedent: n o b o d y , anywhere, had ever before tried to cryonically preserve a murder victim. Michael McNeil and Dr. Segall consulted a lawyer before confronting the coroner and the D.A. directly; one false move and we might have lost the gamble, snared in bureaucratic red tape and police business-as-usual. Fortunately, the coroner turned out to be a most broad-minded man and was immediately captured by t h e idea of the cryonic gamble.*

Then, when all was going well, the n e x t blow fell. Paul Segall called to inform me, haltingly, t h a t Luna's body had decomposed so far between the murder and the time she was found that cryonic preservation seemed virtually pointless.

"I suggest preservation of the brain," he said.

I understood at once: that gave us two chances that were thinkable at this time (brain transplant and/or cloning), and who-knows-how-many other scientific alternatives in the future that we cannot imagine now.

"Do i t , " I said.

Prof. R.C.W. Ettinger has written a detailed mathematical proof of the obvious: however you calculate the odds on cryonic preservation, and whatever way you estimate scientific advances, you come out with a chance above zero. Burial or cremation give you a chance of exactly zero.

And so Luna Wilson, who tried to paint the Clear Light and was the kindest child I have ever known, became the first murder victim to go on a cryonic time-trip to possible resuscitation. We are the first family in history to a t t e m p t to cancel the God-like power which every murderer takes into his hands when he decides to terminate life. Understanding fully the implications of what we were doing, I knew the answer to those who would ask me, as they did in later m o n t h s , " D o y o u still oppose capital p u n i s h m e n t ? " The reply is, of course, t h a t I oppose it more vehemently than ever. I have made a basic choice for life and against death and my whole psychology has changed in the process. If I still remember that all realities are neurological constructs and relative to the observer, I am nonetheless committed now to one reality above all alternatives: the reality of Jesus and Buddha, in which reverence for life is the supreme imperative.

I found myself remembering, over and over, the famous lines from Macbeth:

Most sacrilegious murder hath broke ope

The Lord's annointed temple

These lines had puzzled me once, in high school; Duncan was murdered in his bedroom, not in a church. Later, of course, I learned t h a t Shakespeare was employing t h e medieval metaphor that the body is the temple of the soul. In t h a t metaphor, all murder is sacrilegious: for the body is the Lord's dwelling and to kill it is to dispossess God, a bit, from the universe.

Sacrifice cattle, little and big: after, a child.

And I recalled poor J o h n Keel when the bridge collapsed, killing one hundred Godlings, most of them asleep and not aware of their Godliness: "The lousy bastards have done it again. They knew this was going to h a p p e n . "

Luna was so beautiful t h a t she could tell macho adolescent hoods to stop shoplifting because stealing makes more bad Karma, and they would s t o p . Even the cops loved her.

And how many fathers and mothers, in this cruelly insane century, have wept over murdered children as Arlen and I wept t h a t night, and the next day, and many days.

Most sacrilegious murder. ..

The most elegant formulation of Bell's Theorem, Saul-234

Paul Sirag was telling me the other day, is t h a t there is no true separation anywhere. "Send not to ask for w h o m the bell tolls; it tolls for t h e e . "

When the king of Wu sent Confucius into exile, many disciples followed the philosopher, but in later years one of them said he wished he could see his h o m e again. "How is it far," Confucius asked, "if y o u can think of i t ? "

Those words ran through Ezra Pound's mind in the death-cells at Pisa, where he watched a man hanged every morning and waited to learn if he, too, would be sentenced to death.

The words of Confucius appear, b o t h in Chinese and English, in The Pisan Cantos, which Pound wrote in those horrible m o n t h s , usually associated with t h e images of the diamond that is not destroyed in the avalanche and t h e "rose in the steel-dust," the visible form created by an invisible magnetic field.

How is it far, if you can think of it?

The police caught the killer in a few days. He was a Sioux Indian, well-known around Berkeley, given to threats of suicide, c o n s t a n t alcoholism and grandiose claims that he would do something " g r e a t " for his people some day. I suppose, in his mind, he was getting even for Wounded Knee when he beat my daughter to death. The guys who dropped the napalm on the Vietnamese children thought they were protecting their homes from the barbarian hordes of " g o o k s . "

Gurdjieff used to say, "Fairness? Decency? How can y o u expect fairness and decency on a planet of sleeping p e o p l e ? "

And during the first World War, he said, "Of course, if they were to wake u p , they'd throw down their guns and go h o m e to their wives and families."

In the following week, I often found myself in a room, going somewhere, without knowing how I had gotten there, or what I was looking for. I would think, almost with humor,

" O h , yes, y o u ' r e in Shock."

I spent hours sitting on the sundeck, looking down over the cities of Berkeley, Oakland, San Francisco and Daly City, and musing on t h e Zen paradox t h a t every man, woman, and child down there thought they were as important as me, and they were all correct. I tried to write down or write out some of my feelings on the fourth day, b u t all I typed was " T h e 235 murder of my child is no worse than the murder of anybody's child; it only seems worse to the Ego."

Meanwhile, literally hundreds of people came b y , to express their own grief or to contribute to expenses. Over 100 merchants of Telegraph Avenue, where Luna was especially known and loved, contributed generously, w i t h o u t being asked.

Tim Leary offered to cancel his lecture tour and come stay with us for a week, to help. I told him t h a t it was more important to spread the SMI2LE message; but he called frequently on the phone thereafter to offer words of help to each of us in the family. One day he sent a telegram saying: YOU ARE SURROUNDED BY A NETWORK OF

LOVE AND GRATITUDE. WE A R E A L L WITH

YOU AND SUPPORT YOU.

A network of love . . . the phrase struck me hard; after all, I had spent at least ten years asking if the occult matrix in which I was embroiled was a conscious Network or just a quantum Net of synchronicity. A network of love was what the Christians mean by the Communion of Saints, the Buddhists by the Sangha, occultists by the Secret Chiefs, Gurdjieff by the Conscious Circle of Humanity.

The Berkeley Barb called and asked if I could pick out a few of Luna's poems for a memorial page they were doing.

(Over and over, t h a t first week, I was to be astonished to find how many people outside the family realized what I had thought only we knew: how special Luna was, h o w rare and loving. . .)

Going through Luna's notebook, I picked o u t five poems to send to the Barb. Among them was

The Network

Look into a telescope to see what I can see:

baffled by the sight of constellations watching me.

I was overwhelmed by the coincidence-synchronicity 236 with Leary's telegram (YOU A R E SUPPORTED BY A NETWORK OF LOVE .. .) and my long years of speculation about the Net or the Network. I took a new imprint, Tim would say; I entered a belief system in which the Network of Love was n o t one hypothesis among many but an omnipresent Reality.

Once my eyes were truly open to it, the Network was everywhere, in every tree, every flower, in the sky itself, and the golden merry light that had been Luna was part of it.

Once, such is the power of Will and Imagination, She spoke to me and said " F o o t d o o t . " That had been among Her first spoken words and we had heard it daily for about a year, in 1963; it meant "fruit juice," which She always preferred to milk.

It is absurd for a 45-year-old man to sit at a typewriter weeping over the words " F o o t d o o t . "

Among Luna's papers, Arlen found a n o t e Tim Leary had sent Her from Vacaville Prison in 1974, when She asked for a personal message in Tim's handwriting. He had written: Beloved Satellite,

We will be coming to join you in outer space It is four m o n t h s since Luna entered cryonic suspension.

I am now a Director of the Prometheus Society, a Maryland-based group engaged in lobbying Congress to create a National Institute of longevity and immortality research. Tim Leary and I are b o t h deeply involved with the L5 Society, a group of scientists w h o are determined to send out the first space-city (designed by Prof. Gerard O'Neill of Princeton) by 1990.

Working also with the Physics Consciousness Research Group and Jean Millay and other bio-feedback investigators, I am convinced t h a t Intelligence2~a planetary rise in intelligence-will also be achieved in our time. The Starseed Signals, however y o u explain them, did indeed contain the evolutionary imperative awaiting our generation.

Looking out my window down at the vast urban sprawl of the Bay Area, I sometimes recall t h a t somewhere down there another young girl lies beaten to death, another poor cop is breaking the news to another pair of bereaved parents.

We still have one murder every 14 minutes in this mad society.

I k n o w , truly, that I have been a lucky man, and my family has been lucky, compared to what happened to t h e Jews (and most of Europe) in the 1930s and 1940s, or to the colored races on this continent for three centuries, or to the nightmare horror in Vietnam between 1940 and 1973. Or compared to most of human history, which is still, as Joyce said, a nightmare from which we are seeking to awake.

Tim Leary was here last week, lecturing at UC-Berkeley.

The news arrived t h a t his appeal had been rejected by the New Orleans court and he might have to go back to jail again. Tim didn't let anybody k n o w about this (I found o u t from the only person in the r o o m when the news came on t h e phone); Tim continued to radiate h u m o r , cheer and optimism.

Arlen had a conversation with Tim, in which she expressed gratitude for the example he had given us during the last three years of his confinement. " Y o u convinced us t h a t it is possible to transcend suffering," she said, "and t h a t helped us more than anything else in the first weeks after Luna's d e a t h . "

Tim said, "That's the whole point of all my work on brain change!" He hugged her excitedly. " T h a t ' s it! You've got it! Positive energy is as real as gravity. I've felt i t . "

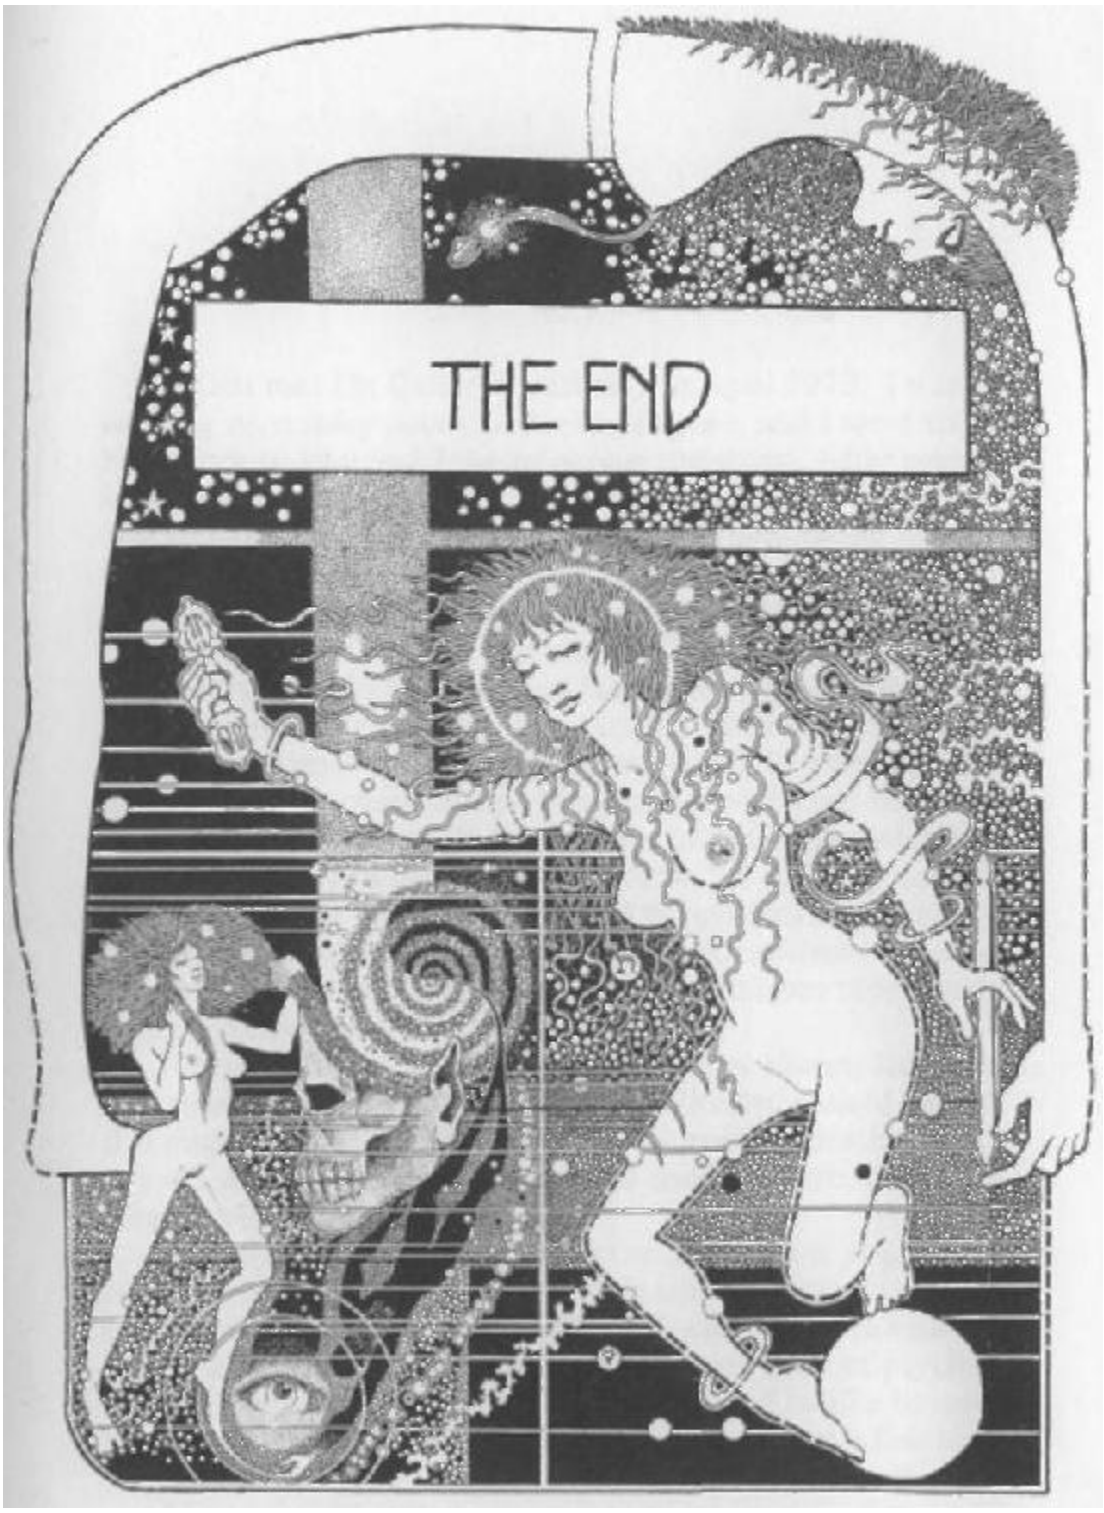
Two hours later, at the door, Tim was stopped by one of our guests with a final question before he left.

"What do y o u d o , Dr. Leary, when somebody keeps giving you negative energy?"

Tim grinned t h a t special grin of his t h a t so annoys all his critics. "Come back with all the positive energy you have,"

he said. And then he dashed off to the car, to the airport, to the next lecture .. . and to God-knows-what fate in the four-teenth year of his struggle with the legal system.

And so I learned the final secret of the Illuminati.



AFTERWORDS

by Saul-Paul Sirag

I first m e t Uri Geller in Berkeley in April 1973. I was working on a story about Geller for Esquire, and I went to New York in May and June to pursue the story. After several interviews with Geller and Dr. Andrija Puharich, b o t h in the city and at Puharich's house in Ossining (where Geller often stayed), they began mentioning the extraterrestrial aspects of their story. They spoke of a computer-like entity which had communicated with them and claimed it was "millions of light-years into the f u t u r e " (and Puharich was quite aware that light-year is a distance, not a time). They snowed me a typical U F O p h o t o t h a t Geller was supposed to have shot from a plane window over France. They told me of a red laser-like thing that identified itself as one form of the communicating entity. ("Now y o u can see how we l o o k , " it allegedly said.) They mentioned tapes t h a t recorded themselves and, even more miraculously, subsequently erased themselves—a fantastic yarn that weirdly foreshadowed the Watergate tape erasures many m o n t h s later.

I was intrigued by these extraterrestrial claims, although I regarded them as pretty far-fetched. Finally, I asked Geller if it might be possible for me to see the communicating entity if I were in an expanded state of consciousness due to some psychedelic.

Puharich was already famous (or infamous if y o u will) for psychedelic research in the 1950s and had written a book on ESP experiments he had conducted with Amanita muscaria, called The Sacred Mushroom. Uri was wary of psychedelics, but he said he wondered what it would be like to see me in a psychedelic state. And so I came to spend a few hours with Uri Geller while tripping on LSD. The experiment was conducted in a friend's apartment in Manhattan, and the friend remained straight so we could compare notes later.

At one point in the evening, I felt that the time was right 241 and asked Geller if it would now be possible for me to see the Entity. He told me to look into his eyes and tell him what I saw.

My first thoughts were, "This is no way to do it. I'll only see those red lights they've been telling me about.

Doesn't he realize t h a t ' s all I'll see? Of course, he d o e s - i t ' s j u s t a psychological trick. When I see the red lights, he'll tell me I've seen the Entity t o o , but it w o n ' t prove a damned t h i n g . "

Instead, when I looked into Uri's eyes, they became quite bird-like, and suggested a bird of prey. Then his nose became a beak, and his entire head sprouted feathers,down to his neck and shoulders.

I jumped back a bit, startled. "Uri, y o u look j u s t like an eagle!" I exclaimed, and I must have sounded awestruck.

Uri became very excited—as only Uri can. But he wouldn't comment about what I had seen; he was very mysterious about it. Instead, we became involved in telepathy and bending things. I had to put my Eagle experience into the IDUNNO file. I d i d n ' t know what to make of it—it was hardly how I expected an extraterrestrial to look.

My memory of the event went active again only in November of that year. I had returned to Berkeley in June and had become a research associate at the Institute for the Study of Consciousness. (To show how convoluted this whole business is, I might mention that Arthur Young, founder of the Institute, was the one w h o originally turned Robert Temple on to the idea of trying to find out how the Dogon tribe knew so much about t h e dark companion of Sirius. And Arthur Young, in turn, had first heard of this tribal lore from Harry Smith, a film maker, who claims to be a son of Aleister Crowley . . .)

Anyway, in November 1973 I started to hear a b o u t Ray Stanford's teleportation stories from Alan Vaughn, w h o had gone to Texas to interview Stanford for Psychic magazine.

Stanford claimed to have been teleported in his car twice during the Fall of 1973. Each time the teleportation occurred, Stanford said, he had been driving to the airport to pick up Uri Geller.

Stanford attributed the teleportations to S P E C T R A - the name Geller and Puharich were now using to refer to the extraterrestrial entity. By this time Puharich had written his book, Uri, which has a chapter on SPECTRA, but I had not heard either Geller or Puharich use this term nor refer to SPECTRA as a hawk. To Ray Stanford, SPECTRA was a very powerful being who came to him in the form of a hawk.

Stanford, y o u must understand, is a psychic w h o has long been involved in U F O research and, long before hearing of Geller, had associated UFO experiences with hawk-like entities. In fact, before the teleportations Stanford had some rather strange hawk-infested dreams in which he was invited to join forces with SPECTRA.

In this context, my "eagle" experience with Geller began to take on a certain significance.

Then in mid-December 1973, the January 1974 issue of Analog hit the stands with a cover story called " T h e Horus Errand." The cover illustration showed a man in a white-and-gold uniform with a hawklike helmet and the Eye of Horus over his left breast pocket. Over his right breast pocket was his name tag, which was (are y o u ready?) Stanford.

This was, to me, an incredible Jungian synchronicity, and I called Alan Vaughn to tell him a b o u t it. He rushed out to buy t h a t issue of Analog and called me back with the news that t h e figure on the cover even looked like Ray Stanford.

The synchronicity was getting heavier—and we d i d n ' t know, yet, about Timothy Leary and Robert Anton Wilson and their synchronicitous links with all this.

Vaughn wrote to the artist w h o had done the " H o r u s " illustration for Analog— Kelly Freas, one of t h e best in the science-fiction business. It turned o u t t h a t Freas had never m e t Ray Stanford, and had not been consciously using Stanford's face in the illustration. There was a link, however.

About ten years earlier, Freas had had a psychic reading done by Stanford via mail. In the reading, Stanford claimed that Freas had been some sort of illustrator in a past life in ancient Egypt. For t h a t reason Freas uses Egyptian symbols whenever he gets the chance—as he did in illustrating " T h e Horus E r r a n d . " The Egyptian themes are very minor in the story itself, and the hero's helmet, for instance, is never described beyond its white and gold colors. Freas had turned it 243 into a hawk's head because Horus, the hawk-headed Lord of Force and Fire, was the oldest known Egyptian god.

Freas also said that he h a d n ' t made any conscious connection between the Stanford in the story and the Ray Stanford who had given him a psychic reading by mail ten years earlier. He emphasized t h a t he didn't know what Ray Stanford looked like.

Another unusual feature of the Analog cover, Freas said, was that he usually paints human figures from either photos or live models, but in this case he had simply painted from imagination.

The Analog cover also shows a red laser-beam streaming off the top of a pyramid-shaped building directly behind the figure of Stanford. The story mentions no such laser-beam, b u t that was what I had expected to see in Uri Geller's eyes There is a further dimension to this whole story. Geller and Puharich had first described the extraterrestrial entity to me as a spacecraft computer. By November of 1973 I had learned that they were also describing the entity as a hawk and calling it SPECTRA. In Puharich's book, Uri (published in 1974), SPECTRA is described as a giant computer which occasionally projects a hawk-like entity o n t o this planet.

People tell me that the name, SPECTRA, smacks of grade B science-fiction. While that's true, it is also true that RCA used to manufacture a large computer called Spectra-70. RCA suddenly went out of the computer business entirely in October 1971 under mysterious circumstances. Two m o n t h s later, in December 1 9 7 1 , SPECTRA came through to Geller and Puharich as a mechanical sounding voice claiming to be a spacecraft-computer "53,069 light-ages" away.

Later SPECTRA came in the form of a hawk. Of course, Dr.

Puharich has a long background in electronics and the name of the RCA computer, Spectra-70, was undoubtedly buried somewhere in his conscious or unconscious. But that does not explain my own bird-of-prey experience with Geller, or Ray Stanford's hawk-SPECTRA dreams, or the teleportations t h a t Stanford (and others) have claimed occur around Geller.

Since meeting Robert Anton Wilson, I have been learning the occult 'ore of Horus, and have discovered t h a t synchro-244 nicities are to be found everywhere. F o r instance, after Illuminatus was published, I half-jokingly told Wilson t h a t he should have put San Francisco into his conspiracy -my thos since San Francisco, like the Illuminati, was founded in 1776.

We both laughed about that. Then a few m o n t h s later I came across the fact t h a t Phi Beta Kappa was founded in 1776, and suggested that Wilson include t h a t if he ever writes a sequel to Illuminatus.

Later, just to check, I looked into Heckethorn's The Secret Societies of All Ages and Countries. There was the flat statement that Phi Beta Kappa was a Bavarian Illuminati order introduced to the United States on December 5, 1776. Their m o t t o , incidentally, was Philosophy is the Rule of Life.

The most comprehensive conspiracy theory I know of is the interpretation of quantum mechanics devised by Sir Arthur Eddington. (Remember that Wilson claims that every time he tells me something weird I can find a model in quant u m theory that might explain it—so here goes . . .) Eddington says that the lesson from physics and especially from q u a n t u m mechanics is that insofar as we can describe the world at all we are necessarily describing the structure of our own minds. In case y o u think I'm over-simplifying Eddington's view, let me quote from his Philosophy of Physical Science, page 148:

The starring point of physical science is knowledge of the group-structure of a set of sensations in a consciousness. When these fragments of structure, contributed at various times and by various individuals, have been collated and represented according to the forms of thought that we have discussed [i.e. group structure] . . . we obtain the structure known as the physical universe.

In case Eddington's meaning is n o t perfectly clear to y o u , I will quote a slightly more poetic version, from an essay of his reprinted in The World of Mathematics, edited by James Newman, page 1104:

We have found a strange foot-print on the shores of the unknown. We have devised profound theories, one after another, to account for its origin. At last, we have succeeded in reconstructing the creature that made the foot-print. And Lo! It is our own.

245

Recently, I have been using Eddington's approach to derive the proton-electron mass ratio. (Actually, I'm using a slight modification of Eddington's approach, to be exact.) From Eddington's group-theoretical point of view, creatures to whom space-time has four dimensions will find algebraic structures having 10 elements and 136 elements playing a very fundamental role.

Eddington attempted, unsuccessfully, to derive the proton-electron mass ratio from the two numbers 10 and 136, together with the number of unity, 1. I have pointed out that if y o u have 136 elements and want to order them two at a time (e.g., one for the p r o t o n , one for the electron), y o u will have 18,360 ways to order these 136 things. (This h o l d s true, of course, whatever the 136 things are.) Since I want to do something with Eddington's 1 0 , 1 divide our ways of ordering into 10 parts (for the 10 dimensions of curvature in space-time).

We then obtain 1,836—which is very close to the desired proton-electron mass ratio.

Like much of the data in this book, this might seem like

"mere coincidence." But after making this calculation, I found in an old Scientific American (May 1963) an article by P.A.M. Dirac, which states that ' T h e gravitational field is a tensor field with 10 components. One finds that six of the components are adequate for describing everything of physical importance and the o t h e r four can be dropped out of the equation. One cannot, however, pick o u t the six important components from the complete set of 10 in any way that does n o t destroy the four-dimensional s y m m e t r y . "

Dirac, one of the founders of q u a n t u m t h e o r y , was here attempting to marry q u a n t u m mechanics to general relativity and was running into trouble. His extremity was my opportunity. I had gotten the proton-electron mass ratio by divid-ing 10 into 18,360. So from what Dirac proposed, I decided to see what would happen when I divided 18,360 by 9, by 8, by 7 and by 6. What I got was the electron mass numbers of the other Baryons, the Lambda, the Xi, the Sigma and the Omega.

Dirac had complained t h a t when one uses fewer than 10 tensors one destroys space-time symmetry; but t h a t is just what I want. The reason is t h a t , since Dirac wrote in 1963, it 246 has been discovered that mass splittings can come about by breaking an underlying gauge symmetry. This is h o w the weak force is gotten out of the electromagnetic force by Ste-ven Weinberg and various other physicists much in vogue today. I am n o w preparing a paper in which I get the strong force out of the gauge symmetry of general relativity. (Actually, this has already been done by Abdus Salam and Jack Sarfatti. I'm j u s t giving them more ammunition.)*

But things begin to look positively contrived when one notices that Eddington's 1, 10 and 136 are members of a well-known mathematical series that goes 1, 10, 4 5 , 136, 325 . . .

etc.

The next number in that series is 666.

Berkeley, California

Summer, 1977

For those who wish to see the entire mathematical derivation, see "A Combina-torial Derivation of Proton-Electron Mass Ratio," by Saul-Paul Sirag, published in Nature, FaU, 1977.

247

NOTES and INDEX

NOTES

Prolog: Thinking About the Unthinkable

1. The best single reference on the Illuminati in fact and legendry is The Illuminoids, by Neal Wilgus, Sun Press: Albuquerque, New Mexico, 1977. Seventeen mutually contradictory and quite typical anti-Dluminati books or pamphlets are quoted in Volume I of Illuminatus (The Eye in the Pyramid, by Robert J. Shea and Robert Anton Wilson, Dell: New York, 1975).

2. The Book of Lies (falsely so called) by Aleister Crowley, Samuel Weiser: New York, 1952.

3. A typical work linking Crowley with the Illuminati conspiracy is The Trail of the Serpent by "Inquire Within," Christian Book Club of America: Hawthorn, Cal., 1969. "Inquire Within" was the pen name of Carolyn Stoddard who, like Crowley himself, was a former member of the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, a secret occult order active in England and America from 1888 to the present. Crowley, Carolyn Stoddard and Dr. Israel Regardie (The Eye in the Triangle, Llewellyn: St. Paul, 1970) have all traced the Golden Dawn order back to a mysterious Anna Spreng-er of Bavaria, possibly an initiate of the original Bavarian Illuminati.

4. The Illuminoids, op. cit., p. i.

5. The Sirius Mystery, by Robert K.G. Temple, St. Martin's Press: New York, 1976.

6. Simonton's pancakes are discussed in 77ze Edge of Reality, by J.

Allen Hynek and Jacques Vallee, Regnery: Chicago, 1975, pp.

147-154.

7. The experience of the two Naval Intelligence officers is recounted in The Invisible College, by Jacques Vallee, Dutton: New York, 1976, pp. 72-76. A Pentagon official confirmed this story on a Rod Serling "UFO Report" on NBC-television during 1976. Both officers are still with Naval Intelligence and regarded as sound and sane by their superiors.

8. The two visits to Lanalus are recounted in The Mothman Prophecies, by John Keel, Dutton: New York, 1975. Keel also reports several dozen other Contactees who got the same "message" as these two, but with dozens of conflicting details about the Con-251 tacting entities and their physical appearance, mode of transport, time elapsed, etc.

Part One. The Sirius Connection

9. Gems from the Equinox, by Aleister Crowley, Llewellyn: St. Paul, 1974, p. 277.

10. The Teachings of Don Juan, by Carlos Castaneda, Ballantine: New York, 1968, pp. 97-98 and 148 ff.

11. The Peyote Cult, by Weston LeBarre, Schocken: New York, 1969.

12. The Secret Life of Plants, by Peter Tompkins and Christopher Bird, Avon: New York, 1973. For Steiner and Goethe see pp. 293-300, 381-83,122-35.

13. Secret Life of Plants, op. cit.,pp. 150-57,135-40.

14. Secret Life of Plants, op. cit., pp. 43^t4.

15. The Roots of Coincidence, by Arthur Koestler, Vintage: New York, 1973. The Challenge of Chance, by Koestler etai, Vintage: New York, 1975.

16. Forum of Contemporary History, July 2, 1973.

17. "Tim Leary: A Personal Appraisal," by Walter Huston Clark, Association for Humanistic Psychology Newsletter, April 1976, pp. 1-2.

Dr. Clark also offers his professional opinion, as a theologian, on the case of Dr. Leary and his critics. Clark opines that Leary is unusually honest, contrary to his media image as a con-man, and has all four of the positive traits of sainthood, contrary to his image as a scoundrel. Dr. Clark possesses advanced degrees in both theology and psychology.

18. Sex and Drugs, by Robert Anton Wilson, Playboy Press: New York, 1973, pp. 230-232.

19. The Invisible College, op. cit., pp. 161-74.

20. The Tao of Physics, by Fritjof Capra, Shambhalla: Berkeley, 1975, pp. 286-299.

21. Ten Faces of the Universe, by Fred Hoyle,W.H. Freeman: San Francisco, 1977, pp. 120-128.

22. The Challenge of Chance, op. cit., pp. 215-216.

23. Millbrook, by Art Kleps, Bench Press: Oakland, Cal., 1977, pp.

137-138.

24. LSD, ed. by David Solomon, Putnam: New York, 1964.

25. Out of print. To be republished in Neuro-Politics, by Timothy Leary, 88 Books: San Diego, 1977.

26. The Book of Lies, op. cit, pp. 148—19. The book as a whole is simultaneously an account of Crowley's love affair with a mistress and a commentary of the Cabalistic Tree of Dfe. Like Joyce, Crowley loved to pack seven levels of meaning into one sentence.

252

27. Sex and Drugs, op. cit, pp. 77-92,110-42. See also my Book of the Breast, Playboy Press: New York, 1976, pp. 97-131.

28. This Timeless Moment, by Laura Archera Huxley, Celestial Arts: Millbrae, Cal., 1975, p. 236. The sentence was found in a book of literary criticism, Coloquio de Buenas Aires, edited and published by the P.E.N. Club of Argentina.

29. The source for Huxley's 1929 peyote trip with Crowley is Sexuality, Magic and Perversion, by Francis King, Citadel Press: New York, 1974, p. 118.

30. In My Own Way, by Alan Watts, Vintage Books: New York, 1973, pp. 141-42.

31. The Sufis, by Idries Shah, Jonathan Cape: London, 1969, pp. 244-48,380-81. Shah also links Sufism with Masonry proper; Crowley's Ordo Templi Orientis claimed to carry on the tradition of the Templars, to have the secret lost by other Masonic groups (including the mysterious Mason Word) and to have been founded by a Sufi, Mansur el Hallaj.

32. Uri, by Andrija Puharich, Bantam: New York, 1974. The extraterrestrial communications occur in nearly every chapter.

33. The Center of the Cyclone, by John Lilly, M.D., Bantam: New York, 1972,pp.23-25,37,231.

34. Terra II, by Timothy Leary and L. Wayne Benner, Imprinting Press: San Francisco, 1973. Chapter 19.

35. Intuition, by R. Buckminster Fuller, Anchor Books: Garden City, New York, 1973, pp. 159-65,167-70.

36. "Faster than a Speeding Photon," City (San Francisco), October 7, 1975.

37. The Magical Revival, by Kenneth Grant, Weiser: New York, 1973, p. 15.

38. Ibid., p. 50.

39. Tantra: The Yoga of Sex, by Omar Garrison, Avon Books: New York, 1973, pp. 69,122.

40. "Life After Life," Readers Digest, January 1977, pp. 192-215.

4 1 . The Invisible College, op. cit, p. 26.

42. The Books of Charles Fort, Henry Holt & Co.: New York, 1941, pp. 861-62. Fort's source is the New York World, July 27,1908.

43. Invisible College, op. cit, pp. 122-23.

44. Aleister Crowley and the Hidden God, by Kenneth Grant, Weiser: New York, 1975, pp. 36-37.

45. Ibid., p. 37.

46. Flying Saucers, by Carl Jung, Harcourt Brace: New York, 1959, p.

xii. Jung says that the appearance of UFOs worldwide indicates "changes in the constellation of psychic dominants, of the arche-253 types, or 'gods' as they used to be called, which bring about, or accompany, long-lasting transformations of the collective psyche."

He then compares them to the "signs and wonders" that accompanied the transition from paganism to Christianity 2,000 years ago.

47. The Edge of Reality, op. cit, pp. 63-65.

48. History of Secret Societies, by Akron Daraul, Pocket Books: New York, 1961. Manual of Sex Magick, by Louis Culling, Llewellyn: St. Paul, 1971. Secret Rituals of the 0. T.O., by Francis King, Weiser: New York, 1975. The Sufis, by Idries Shah, op. cit 49. The Dermis Probe, by Idries Shah, Dutton: New York, 1971, p. 9.

50. The Law is For All, by Aleister Crowley, edited by Israel Regardie, Llewellyn: St. Paul, 1976; The Eye in the Triangle, by Israel Regardie, Llewellyn: St. Paul, 1970. See also Confessions of Aleister Crowley, Bantam: New York, 1971, pp. 413-27.

51. All quotations from the Book of the Law are from The Law is For All, op. cit, pp. 45-65.

52. The Center of the Cyclone, op. cit, p. 231.

53. The quotes from Senator Humphrey and the Abolish Death Committee are from undated newspaper stories in the Immortalist Archives of Mr. Carl Spann of San Francisco.

54. San Francisco Phoenix, July 11, 1974, article titled "Immortalist Revolution Wins the Bay Area."

55. The Immortality Factor, by Osborn Segerberg, Jr., Dutton: New York, 1974, pp. 358-63.

56. The Eternal Man, by Louis Pauwels and Jacques Bergier, Avon Books: New York, 1972, p. 14.

57. Extended Youth: The Promise of Gerontology, by Robert Prehoda, Putnam: New York, 1968, p. 86.

58. Quoted in Prolongevity, by Albert Rosenfeld, Knopf: New York, 1976, p. 5.

59. Prolongevity, op. cit, p. 6.

60. Prolongevity, op. cit, p. 182.

61. Dr. Comfort is quoted in No More Dying, by Joel Kurtzman and Philip Gordon, Tarcher,Inc.: Los Angeles, 1976, p. 3.

62. No More Dying, op. cit, p. 3.

63. Prodigal Genius: The Life of Nikola Tesla, by John C. O'Neill, Neville Spearman: London, 1968, pp. 23-49.

64. Kundalini, by Gopi Krishna, Shambhalla: Berkeley, 1970.

65. 77ie Invisible Landscape, by Terrence and Dennis McKenna, Sea-bury Press: New York, 1975, pp. 8-17.

66. Secret Life of Plants, op. cit, p. 61-65.

67. Ibid., p. 73.

68. Details on the life of Jack Parsons are from the works of Francis King and Kenneth Grant, op. cit., and from personal reminiscences by Grady McMurty.

69. Gurdjieff: Making A New World, by J.G. Bennett, Turnstone Books: London, 1973, p. 274. On the following page, 275, Bennett defines Gurdjieffs goal as a writer: "to place the reader constantly in the unaccustomed perspective of an extraterrestrial observer."

70. Other Tongues, Other Flesh, by George Hunt Williamson, Amherst Press: Amherst, Wise, 1953, p. 72.

71. Other Tongues, Other Flesh, op. cit., pp. 88, 219,227.

72. A Study of Gurdjieffs Teachings, by Kenneth Walker, Jonathan Cape: London, 1967, p. 167.

73. Ghost Dance: Origins of Religion, by Weston LeBarre, Doubleday: New York, 1970.

74. Tales of Power, by Carlos Castaneda, Simon & Schuster: New York, 1974, p. 270.

75. See "From Dallas to Watergate," by Peter Dale Scott in Government by Gunplay, ed. by Sid Blumenthal, American Library: New York, 1976, pp. 113-29.

76. Magick, by Aleister Crowley, Samuel Weiser: New York, 1974, p. 5.

77. Uri, op. cit., p. 116ff.

78. The Mothman Prophecies, op. cit.

OceanofPDF.com

Part Two: Models and Metaphors

79. Book of Lies, op. cit., p. 100.

80. The Sirius Mystery, op. cit., p. 2-3.

81. Sirius Mystery, op. cit., p. 3.

82. Sirius Mystery, op. cit., p. 15.

83. Sirius Mystery, op. cit., p. 49.

84. Sirius Mystery, op. cit., p. 229.

85. Sirius Mystery, op. cit., pp. 55-100; The Book of Thoth, by Aleister Crowley, Level Press: San Francisco, 1974, p. 118.

86. Sirius Mystery, op. cit, pp. 79-81.

87. The Invisible College, op. cit, passim.

88. Upwingers: A Futurist Manifesto, by F.M. Esfandiary, John Day Co.: New York, 1973, p. 4.

89. The Invisible Landscape, op. cit.

90. No More Dying, op. cit, p. 4.

91. The Invisible Landscape, op. cit., p. 184.

Part Three: Trigger

92. Morals and Dogma of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, by Albert Pike, Supreme Council of the Southern 255

Jurisdiction: Washington, D.C., 1871, pp. 14-15.

93. The Curse of the Pharoahs, by Phillip Vandenberg, Pocket Books: New York, 1977, p. 205.

94. Sirius Mystery, op. cit., p. 221.

95. CETI: Communication with Extra-Terrestrial Intelligence, by Jack Stonely and A.T. Lawton, Warner Books: New York, 1976, p.

200.

INDEX

Abolish Death Committee of Berkeley,

Aphrodisiacs, 209

121

Aphrodite, 84

Abrahms, Judith, 59

Archetypes, 24, 25, 27, 3 2 , 4 2 , 77, 83

Abramelin spirits, 161

Argentum Astrum, 75,184

Acceleration, Law of, 214-218

Argyle-Smith, Philip Campbell, 5

Acid. See LSD; see also Drugs Aristotelian logic, 16, 200, 201, 202

ACLU, 55

Armstrong, Neil, 169

Adams, Henry, 214-215, 217

Artaud, Antonin, 226-7

Adamski, George, 137

Aryan Brotherhood, 172

Africa, 9 , 1 0 , 111, 185-7,201

Asimov, Isaac, 129,130, 223

See also Egyptian mysteries and

Asthma, 165

mythologies; Dogon tribe; Bozo tribe

Astral projection, 93, 137, 205

Agape, 110

Astrology, 8 1 , 8 7 , 1 3 3 , 214

Aging, 120-4, 126-30,217

Astronauts, 97, 117, 202, 206. See also Airport 77 (movie), 225

names of specific astronauts

Aiwass, 106, 110, 144

Astronomy, prehistoric knowledge of,

Al Fatah, 172

9 , 1 1 1 , 185-9

Albigensians, 187

Atlantis, 4 , 1 7 8 , 223, 225

Alchemists, 168-9, 216

Auras, 25, 164

Medieval, 203

Aurobindo, Sri, 15

Modern, 83, 204

Alcohol and alcoholism, 4 8 , 5 0 , 200,

B„ = B0 + Pn + MS, 119-20

207

Babylonian mysteries and mythology,

Aleister Crowley and the Hidden God

9, 187, 189

(Grant), 95

Backster, Cleve, 23

Allah, 75, 85,137

Backster effect, 140-1

Allegro, John, 147

Baker, Douglas, 143, 145,186

Allen, Woody, 120

Barnard's Star, 223

Alpert, Richard, 23, 39

Barritt, Brian, 103,115

Alpha state, 121,229

Baum, L. Frank, 166. See also Wizard Amanita muscaria, 4 2 , 1 4 7 , 241

ofOz

Analog Science Fact/Science Fiction,

Bavarian Illuminati. See Illuminati, 173, 242-4

Bavarian

Ancient Astronauts (journal), 223

Bay Area Cryonics Society, 28, 127,

"Angelic" language, 1 3 , 1 4 4 , 1 4 5 , 161, 232

184-5

Bay Area Research Collective, 158

Angels, 9, 24, 90, 9 1 , 111, 118,146,

Bean, Alan L., 97

1 6 0 , 1 6 1 , 1 6 3 , 1 6 5 , 1 6 6 , 2 0 6

Beatles, 224

Ankh-f-na-Khonsu, 111

Becquerel, Henri, 130

Anthropology, 10, 147

Beelzebub's Tales to his Grandson

Anti-Illuminati propaganda. See Illumi-

(Gurdjieff), 142-3,146

nati, anti-Illuminati propaganda

Behaviorists, 37

Anti-Masonic Party, 5

Bell's Theorem, 14-16,189-96, 216, 234

Anubis, 187

Benares, Camden, 59

257

Bending metal. See Telekinesis Buck Rogers, 208

Benner, L. Wayne, 94, 9 5 , 1 0 5 , 123,

Buckley, William F., Jr., 21, 6 3 , 1 4 9

174, 185,215

Buddha, 5 1 , 5 2 , 5 3 , 135, 144, 166, 210, Bennett, Alan, 165

234

Bennett, Frank, 84

Buddhists and Buddhism, 7 9 , 1 1 9 , 1 2 3 , Bennett, J.G., 142-3, 184, 189

135, 236. See also Zen

Bergier, Jacques, 122

Burbank, Luther, 25

Berkeley, George, 13

Burroughs, William S., 4 3 - 1 , 59

Berkeley Barb (newspaper), 132, 236

BVM. See Blessed Virgin Mary Berlitz, Charles, 225

Bermuda Triangle, 225

Cabala, 1 3 , 4 7 , 6 8 , 1 0 1 , 1 1 0 - 1 1 , 1 1 6 , BHT, 124

145,162, 168,169, 195,214

Bigfoot, 176

Cabalistic Dictionary (Crowley), 47

Bio-feedback, 229, 237

Cabals, 102-3

Birch, John, Society. See John Birch Cagliostro, Allessandro, 70

Society

Cal Tech, 141, 168

Birchers. See John Birch Society California Medical Facility. See Leary, Bird of prey. See Hawk; Eagle Timothy and imprisonment

Bjorksten, John, 124,129

Campbell, Ken, 223-4

Black holes, 229

Cancer research, 48

Black Mass, 64

Cannabis. See Marijuana

Black Muslims, 172

Cantelon, Willard, 157-8

Black Panther Party, 7 8 , 1 1 6 , 172

Cape Kennedy, 169

Black Rite, 221

Capital punishment, 234

Blake, William, 89

Capra, Fritjof, 44, 195,206

Blavatsky, Helena Petrovna, 144

Carpenter, Scott, 97

Blessed Virgin Mary, 4 1 , 42, 76, 77, 84, Carver, George Washington, 25

137

Castaneda, Carlos, 24-5, 66, 148,195,

Bohr, Niels, 15

206, 207

Bonewitz, Isaac, 159,164, 228

Castro, Fidel, 151

Book of Changes. See / Ching Cattle mutilation and sacrifice, 174,

Book of Lies (Crowley), 7, 68

175, 176, 177,234

Book of the Anti-Christ (Parsons), 141

Cell regeneration, 127

Book of the Damned (Fort), 95

Celts, 195

Book of the Dead (Tibetan), 34, 38

Center of the Cyclone (Lilly), 111

Book of the Law (Crowley), 106-10,

CETI (Lawrence and Stonely), 229

1 4 1 , 1 4 4 , 1 7 4

CETI (Communication with Extrater-

Bootstrap theory, 44, 195

restrial Intelligence) Conference,

Bosch, Hieronymus, 70

208

Boulak Museum (Egypt), 107

Challenge of Chance (Koestler), 32,44

Bozo (tribe), 9 , 1 0 , 1 8 6 , 1 8 9

Chapel Perilous, 6-8, 1 0 , 1 2 , 1 4 , 1 6 , Brahma, 84

2 0 - 2 7 , 3 2 , 6 3 , 8 9 , 1 5 8

Brain. See Circuits

Chapman, Allan, 62

Brand, Stewart, 208

Charlemagne, 64

Brigit, Saint, 76

Charly (movie), 45

British Interplanetary Society, 223

Chassidic Druids of North America, 159

Broadbent, Bill, 100-1

Chauvinism

Brotherhood of Eternal Love, 170

electromagnetic, 194, 206

Brothers and Sisters of the Free Spirit, human, 31

70 male, 208

Bruno, Giordano, 7 0 , 1 3 1 , 186, 205, species, 208

209 type-G star, 208

Brussel, Mae, 156

oxygen, 208

258

Chemical Ecstasy (Clark), 147

Crowley, Aleister (continued)

Chess, 210

and Cabalah, 110, 111

Choronzon, 168

and concentration methods, 224

Christians, 236

and emotional techniques, 7 1 , 2 3 2

CIA, 39, 50, 151, 155,156, 158, 172, and Illuminati, 64

176 and Invocation, 83, 85, 87

Circuits, 15, 23, 68, 70, 100,109, 116,

and Leary, 103,115-7

117,118, 119, 1 2 6 , 1 3 9 , 197-209, and magick, 6 6 , 7 2 , 1 0 0 , 1 6 4 , 193, 211-14

202

Clark, Captain, 43

and meditation, 78

Clark, Walter Huston, 3 9 , 1 4 7 and mind expansion techniques, 7 1 ,

Clarke, Arthur C, 26, 121, 208

184

Clauser experiment, 191-2 and numbers, 110-11,167,185

Clear Light, 134, 166, 231, 232, 234 and occultism, 9

Cleaver, Eldridge, 116,155

and Pythagoras, 210

Cloning, 127, 233

and rituals, 184

Cocaine, 132,142, 200

and sex-magick, 66, 68, 187

Co-Evolution Quarterly, 208

and Sirius mystery, 88, 184, 186, 222,

Coincidence, 8, 12, 13,16, 27-8, 31, 32,

227

4 4 , 4 5 , 5 6 , 6 4 , 7 4 , 7 5 , 7 7 , 8 1 , 8 9 , and Sufism, 104

103, 110,114, 1 3 2 , 1 4 3 , 144,145, and Tantric sex, 7-8, 66, 68, 75, 84,

1 5 0 , 1 5 2 , 1 6 9 , 1 8 5 , 1 9 4 , 215, 236, 8 8 , 9 9 , 141,187

246. See also Synchronicity and teachings, 10

COINTELPRO, 156, 171, 172

and writings, 176, 2 0 8 , 2 2 3 , 224

Cole, Jonathan, 54

and Yoga, 149

Collective unconscious, 24, 25, 26, 42, books about, 66, 95, 178

96, 204

exercises, 70-72

Comfort, Alex, 123

quotes, 17, 133

Communion of Saints, 236

Crowley, Rose, 106-7

Cone of Power, 135-7

Crowleyan groups, 179

Confessions of a Hope Fiend (Leary), Crowleymas, 159-64

116

Cryobiology, 121

Confucius, 235

Cryonics, 124, 232, 233, 234, 237

Conrad, Charles. Jr., 97

Cryonics Society of Michigan, 28

Conscious Circle of Humanity, 236

Culling, Louis, 6 8 , 1 0 0

Consciousness, 21, 28, 30, 5 3,187, 198

Culpepper, Walter, 94

Contactees. See UFO contacts and con-Curse of the Oval Room (Leary), 54-5

tactees

Curse of the Pharaohs* (Vandenberg), 222

Contagion, Law of, 193

Cybernetics, 121,128

Cooper, Gordon, 97

Cyborgs, 127

Cosmic Coincidence Control Center, 32,

47, 114,170

Dante (Alighieri), 187

Cosmic Giggle Factor, 63, 65

Daraul, Akron, 8, 100

Cosmic Union, 2 1 2 , 2 1 3

Dark Companion of Sirius. See Sirius B

Coupler, 24-phase, 211, 214

Dark Rite of Osiris, 189, 221, 229

Crick, Francis Harry, 120

Dark Star. See Sirius B

Crop fertility, 25

Darwin, Charles, 128-9, 204

Crowley, Aleister, 3, 7, 62, 66-72, 74,

Darwinism, 170

7 5 , 7 7 , 7 9 , 8 1 , 8 4 , 9 6 , 106-10, Davis, Elizabeth Gould, 79

1 3 6 - 7 , 1 3 9 , 1 4 1 , 1 4 2 - 5 , 1 5 9 , 1 6 1 , Day the Dollar Dies (Cantelon), 157

1 6 5 , 1 6 6 , 1 6 9 , 1 8 9 , 1 9 3 , 201, 224, DEA. See Drug Enforcement Admini-225, 242

stration (DEA)

and asthma, 165

Death, 85, 9 1 , 1 0 9 , 1 1 8 , 1 2 0 - 4 , 127, Einsteinian theory, 36, 37, 40, 202, 128,130, 205,217

2 0 4 , 2 0 6 , 2 1 3 , 217

Death-rebirth ritual, 139, 201

Electroencephalograms, 201

Dee, John, 7 0 , 1 1 8 , 1 4 4 , 161, 168, 185, Eleusianian Mysteries, 7 0 , 1 4 7 , 187

186 elHallaj.Mansur, 100

Dermis Probe* (Shah), 100

Energy

Diary of a Dope Fiend* (Crowley), 116

negative, 238

Dieterlen, Germaine, 186 positive, 238

Dirac, P.A.M., 246

Enochian angels, 161, 184-5

Discordian Society, 6 3 , 1 0 2 , 155,159

Equinox* (journal), 74

Discordianism, 31,56-60, 61-3, 64-5,

Eris, 57-59, 60,155

7 1 , 9 2 , 1 0 3 , 1 5 2 , 1 7 9 , 1 8 5 , 2 2 3 , ERP demonstration (Einstein-Rosen-224

Podolsky), 189-96

first law, 62

Esalen, 164

mystic sign, 64, 65

Esfandiary, F.M., 205

DMT, 129

ESP, 73, 78, 8 0 , 9 0 , 9 1 , 9 3 - 4 , 9 9 , 1 0 0 , DNA, 47, 8 4 , 9 4 , 105-6, 109, 120, 128, 107, 118, 139, 194, 212, 215, 229,

130, 197,198, 204, 205, 206, 208,

241

2 1 0 , 2 1 1 , 2 1 2 , 2 1 6 , 2 1 7 , 2 2 3 interstellar, 9, 80, 89, 9 4 , 1 1 8 , 1 9 4

Dog Star. See Sirius

See also* Telepathy

Dogon tribe (Africa), 9 , 1 0 , 111, 185-7, Eternal Man (Pauwels and Bergier), 122

242

Ettinger,R.C.W., 120, 233

Dollarbill, 3

Euclidean geometry, 4 5 , 1 1 7 , 1 9 9 , 200, Don Juan, 66, 148,201

2 0 1 , 2 0 2 , 2 0 9 , 2 1 1 - 2

Doors of Perception* (Huxley), 21

Exo-psychology, 6 0 , 1 1 9

Drug Enforcement Administration

Extended Youth* (Prehoda), 122

(DEA), 155,170

Extraterrestrial contacts. See UFO con-Drugs (see also names of specific drugs), tacts and contactees

20-24, 33, 34, 38-40, 73, 9 9 , 1 0 5 ,

Extraterrestrial migration, 211, 213

109, 1 1 8 , 1 2 1 , 1 2 4 , 1 4 7 , 200, 203, Extraterrestrial visitors, 9 , 1 0 , 1 1 , 1 4 , 207, 209,215-6, 241-2

2 4 - 7 , 4 0 - 4 2 , 79, 9 1 - 3 , 111, 155, life extension, 124. See also Immor-177, 184, 186, 241-1. See also

tality pill

UFOnauts

Druids, 159,178

Eye in pyramid symbol. See Eye in triangle symbol

Eagle symbolism, 1 6 9 , 1 7 4 , 242, 243.

Eye in the Triangle (Regardie), 66

See also Hawk symbolism

Eye in triangle symbol, 66, 76, 145,

Earth People's Park, 126-7

169, 184,228

Eckhart, 84

Eye of Horus symbol, 114, 145, 186,

Ecology, 208

243. See also Horus

Eddington, Arthur, 245, 246, 247

Edge of Reality (Hynek and Vallee), 97

FAB, 155

Edison, Thomas, 2 5 , 1 3 0 , 138 , 205

Fables

Ego, 6, 35, 38, 7 1 , 198, 199, 213

Sufi, 1 9 , 2 9 , 5 9 , 6 2 , 7 2 , 1 8 3

Egyptian calendar, 189

Zen,19-20

Egyptian mysteries and mythologies, 9,

Babylonian, 19

4 2 , 7 0 , 7 7 , 7 9 , 8 4 , 8 7 - 8 , 101, Jewish, 183

106-14, 169,185, 187, 222, 229,

German, 183-4

243. See also names of Egyptian

Egyptian, 221

gods and goddesses

Fact* (journal), 33, 34

Einstein, Albert, 3 6 , 4 4 , 1 0 3 , 119, 123, Fairies, 26

189

Fang the Unwashed, 155

and ERP, 189-96

Fatima, 42

260

FBI, 151,155, 156, 171, 172

Genetic Code* (Asimov), 129

Fechner, Gustav, 25

Gerontology. See Aging

Federation Trading Post, 202

Ghost Dance: Origins of Religion

Feiffer, Jules, 32

(LaBarre), 147

Fertility rites, 25

Ginsberg, Allen, 78

Festival of Yoga and Esoteric Sciences,

Ginzburg, Ralph, 33, 34

143

Giordano Bruno and the Hermetic Tra-

Finnegans Wake* (Joyce), 48

dition* (Yates), 131

Firesign Theatre, 1,178

Glenn, John, 97

First Sex* (Davis), 79

Gnostic Christianity, 75

Fitzhugh Ludlow Memorial Library,

Gnostica* (journal), 143, 174, 225

104,131

Gnosticism,4, 70, 100, 101, 111

Fives, law of, 59, 65, 224

God, 20, 27, 2 9 , 5 7 , 6 0 , 1 1 0 , 192,195

Flash Gordon, 9

Goddard, Robert M., 130,141

Flesh of the Gods* (Furst), 147

Goethe, Johann Wolfgang von, 25

Flessel, Peter, 214

Gospel According to Fred* (Thornley), Flying Saucers. See UFOs

65

Folsom Prison. See Leary, Timothy

Grant, Kenneth, 87, 9 5 , 9 6 , 132, 141, and imprisonment

142, 145, 1 6 1 , 1 6 9 , 1 8 4 , 186,189

Fonda, Jane, 172

Graves, Robert, 4 2 , 1 4 7

Fort, Charles, 9 3 , 9 5 , 96, 139, 208

Gravity, 238. See also Free fall Fortean News (journal), 167

well, 1 9 1 , 2 0 4 , 2 1 1

Foundation for Research on Immortality, zero, 202, 211

122

Great Seal (U.S.), 169,174

Four hundred and eighteen (418), 110-11 Great Pyramid of Cheops, 222, 225

Frazer, James, 32, 7 7 , 1 9 3

Great Wild Best Furtherment Society,

Freas, Kelly, 174, 243, 244

159

Free fall, 117, 202, 213. See also Gravity Green Egg (journal), 226

Freemasons. See Masons

Gregory, Dick, 152

Freud, Sigmund, 30, 3 2 , 5 1 , 52

Griaule, Marcel, 186

Freudians and Freudianism, 3 7 , 5 3 ,

Grimstad, W.N., 167-70

98, 200

Grimstad-Downard theory, 168-9

Fuck God Up the Ass* (Sanders), 63

Grof, Stanley, 204, 207

Fuller, Buckminster, 4 1 , 80, 205, 210,

Group therapy, 36, 37-8

2 1 1 , 2 1 5 , 2 1 7

Guanine, 105

Fullerian concepts, 213

Gurdjieff, George I., 7 5 , 1 0 3 , 104, 135, Fundamentalist, 14

1 4 2 - 4 , 1 4 6 , 1 8 4 , 189, 213, 236

Furst, Peter, 147

Gurdjieff: Making a New World* (Ben-

Futurists and Futurism, 3,167

nett), 142

Gurvich, Aleksandr, 164

Gabriel (archangel), 166

Hadit, 227

Galactic Center, 109, 215

Hallucinogens, 21. See also names of Galileo, 55, 209, 215, 217 specific drugs

Game theory, 36, 37-8

Hallucination, 1 1 , 1 2 , 1 3 , 20, 2 1 , 23, Gandhi, Mohandas, 84

24, 2 7 , 4 1 , 4 2 , 1 0 5 , 1 2 7 , 1 4 5 , 160, Gardiner, Edward, 143

163, 164

Gardner, Martin, 101

Hals, Jorgen, 140

Garrison, Jim, 61-3, 64, 65, 74,

Hampton, Fred, 172

144-50

Hanlon, Brian, 144

Garrison, Omar, 88

Harold Lord Randomfactor, 155

Gee, Prunella, 224

Harrington, Alan, 122

Geller, Uri, 3, 79, 9 1 , 170, 173, 174,

Harvey* (movie and play), 179

176, 192,241-4

Hashish, 1 0 0 , 1 2 1 , 1 3 7 , 2 2 4

261

Hashish, 1 0 0 , 1 2 1 , 1 3 7 , 2 2 4

I 2 . See Higher intelligence Hawk symbolism, 3 , 1 0 7 , 1 7 0 , 173,

I Ching*, 4 4 , 4 5 , 167,195, 210, 213, 174, 176, 2 4 2 , 2 4 3 , 244. See also 2 1 4 , 2 1 6 , 2 1 7

Horus; Geller, Uri

Ichazo, Oscar, 232

Hearst, Patty, 169-70

Idea-transference. See ESP; Telepathy Heart-chakra exercises, 148, 149, 157,

Illuminati, 7, 14, 64, 6 6 , 7 0 , 7 5 , 7 6 , 88, 158

9 6 , 9 9 , 100, 111, 1 3 1 , 1 4 2 , 144, Heckethorn, 245

145,158, 161, 1 6 7 , 1 6 8 , 1 6 9 , 1 8 4 , Hefner, Hugh, 4 3 , 4 8 , 1 5 7

203,225-6, 2 2 8 , 2 3 8 , 2 4 5

Heinlein, Robert, 208

anti-Illuminati propaganda, 4, 8 , 1 5 7 , Heisenberg, Werner, 192,195

168

Herbert, Nick, 173

Bavarian. 3-8, 62-3, 83, 96, 157, 245

Hermetic Brotherhood of Light, 96 symbol (eye in triangle), 66, 76, 145,

Heroin, 155

228

Hesse, Herman, 103, 208

Illumination, 89, 166

Hidalgo, Father Miguel, 76, 77

Illuminatus* (Wilson and Shea), 3, 8, 31, High IQ Bulletin (journal), 5

3 2 , 4 5 , 5 6 , 5 7 , 6 4 , 6 6 , 7 1 , 7 3 , 9 5 , High Priest (Leary), 144

98, 99, 145,148, 152, 154, 155,

Higher intelligence, 16,147, 148, 162,

1 6 7 , 1 6 8 , 1 7 2 , 180,187, 223-4,

167, 170,178-9, 187, 207-8, 209,

225,228, 233,245

2 1 3 , 2 1 5 , 2 1 8 , 2 2 8 - 9 , 2 3 7

Illuminoids, The* (Wilgus), 8

extraterrestrial and/or interstellar, 89,

Immortalist* (journal), 120

143, 1 4 6 , 1 4 7 , 1 5 7 , 1 6 1 , 1 6 2 , 165, Immortalist (Harrington), 122

166,167,204

Immortalists, 3, 28, 127, 173

Hiler, Wesley, 104,163

Immortality, 28, 105, 109, 118,120-6,

Hill, Gregory,56,59,64,73, 100-1,

126-30, 146, 155, 204, 205, 213,

103, 152

2 1 7 , 2 1 8 , 2 2 3 , 2 2 9 , 2 3 7

Hilliard, David, 116

Immortality Factor* (Segerberg), 118

Hindus and Hinduism, 8 4 , 1 1 6 , 1 1 9 , Immortality pill, 109,118, 139, 209

147, 204,208

Imprinting, 2 1 , 35, 38, 39-40, 50, 85,

History of Secret Societies (Daraul), 100

118, 126, 1 9 7 - 2 0 1 , 2 0 8 , 2 3 7

Ho Chih Zen, 155

Institute for the Study of Consciousness,

Hoffman, Abbie, 62

242

Hofmann, Albert, 142

International Psychoanalytic Society,

Hologram, 28, 89, 216

53

Hoover, J. Edgar, 64

Interpersonal Diagnosis of Personality

Horowitz, Mike, 104, 131-2

(Leary), 35

Horus, 107, 110, 111, 114, 145, 170,

Interstellar communication

173, 174, 185,186, 243, 244. See biological signals, 140-1

also* Hawk symbolism; Eye of Horus.

radio signals, 140-1

"How I Found Goddess and What I Did

See also* UFOs

to Her After I Found Her," 155

Invisible College* (Vallee), 111

How the West Was Lost* (HiU), 64

Invisible Landscape* (McKenna), 215-8

Hoyle, Fred, 44

Is There Life on Earth?* (Bennett), 143

Hubbard, L. Ron, 168

Ishmaelian sect, 100

Hume, David, 13

Ishtar, 19

Humphrey, Hubert, 120-1

Isis, 187,221

Huxley, Aldous, 2 1 , 2 2 , 5 4 , 7 1 , 73, 74, 207

Jackson, Donald, 54

Huxley, Laura Archera, 73

Japanese people, 106

Hynek, J. Allen, 11-12,97-8

JDL. See Jewish Defense League Hypnosis, 51, 8 3 , 1 1 1 , 1 5 0

Jefferson, Thomas, 4, 64, 88,145

self-hypnosis, 136

Jehovah,84

262

Jesuits, 4 , 5 , 6 4 , 7 6 , 1 5 4

L5, 2 0 8 , 2 3 7

Jesus, 13, 24, 9 1 , 166, 234

LaBarre, Weston, 207

Jewish Defense League (JDL), 172

Lady L, 155, Lady of Guadalupe

John Birch Society, 158, 167,168. See Lady of Guadalupe, 7 6 , 7 7 , 7 9 . See also also Welch, Robert

BVM; Peyote woman; Nuit; Space

Johnson, L. Baines, 63

Lady; etc.

Joy of Sex* (Comfort), 123

Lady of Space. See Space Lady Joyce, James, 43, 144, 238

Laing, R.D., 49

Jumped by Jesus* (Sirag), 10

Lanalus, 13, 27

Jumper, Dean F., 123

Lane, Mark, 61

Jung, Carl, 25, 27, 3 1 , 3 2 , 4 2 , 44, 77, Langham, Chris, 224

8 1 , 9 6 , 97, 194, 196

Lao-tse, 133,206

Jungian Archetypes. See Archetypes.

Larry Blake's Pub (Berkeley), 98

Jungian Collective Unconscious. See Lawrence, L. George, 140-1

Collective Unconscious

Lawton, A.T., 229

Jungian Synchronicity. See Synchron-Leary, Joanna, 9 4 , 1 0 4 , 1 0 5 , 1 3 1 , 1 3 2 , icity

172

Jungians and Jungianism, 8, 37, 80, 83,

Leary, Timothy, 23, 33-40, 4 7 - 5 0 , 5 3 - 6

9 6 , 1 5 0 , 1 6 9

68, 74, 75, 109, 111, 127, 129, 134,

1 3 9 , 1 4 2 , 144,148, 158, 159, 164,

Kaballa. See Cabala

1 6 6 , 1 7 0 - 4 , 2 3 8 , 2 4 3

Kali, 84,137

and Behavior Change, 39-40

Karma, 1 3 3 - 5 , 2 3 1 , 2 3 3 and circuits, 15, 117-8, 197-209,

Kast, Eric, 54

2 1 1 - 4 , 2 1 6

Katamine, 206

and Crowley, 103,115-6

Katz, Martin, 54

and drug synergetic theory (dosage, set,

Keel, John, 1 4 , 9 7 , 9 8 , 1 7 7 , 1 7 8 , 1 9 5 - 6 , setting), 35-6, 38, 4 0 , 5 0 , 54

234 and idea-transference, 185

Kennedy, Edward, 49-50

and immortality, 122-6

Kennedy,John

and imprisonment (Folsom, Vacaville, assassination of, 3, 3 1 - 3 , 5 6 , 61-3, etc.), 4 0 , 7 7 - 8 , 8 0 , 8 1 - 3 , 9 3 - 5

7 4 , 1 4 9 - 5 2 , 1 5 4 , 158, 168-9

1 0 2 - 6 , 1 1 4 - 2 0 , 1 2 4 - 6 , 1 3 1 , 1 3 2 , Kennedy, Robert, 177,178, 195-6

133, 155, 170-72,237

Kepler, Johannes, 210

and interstellar telepathy, 8 0 , 1 4 6 ,

Kesey.Ken, 1 3 2 , 1 6 7 , 2 0 8

163

KGO, 5-6

and marijuana connection, 55

King, Francis, 7 , 1 0 0 , 226 and neurological relativism, 60, 61

King, Martin Luther, Jr.,

and Periodic Table of Evolution, assassination of, 151, 152, 154, 158

2 1 0 - 1 4 , 2 1 6 , 2 1 7

Kirk, Russell, 2 1 , 2 2 , 7 4

and Pythagoras, 210

Kirlian photography, 164

and Reich, 163

Kline, Nathan S., 209

and SMI2LE, 167, 172, 218, 236

Knights Templar, 4, 7 0 , 1 8 7 and Starseed Transmissions, 110, 155

Koestler, Arthur, 3 2 , 4 4 and Two Commandments, 38,40

Kohoutek (comet), 106

and Wilson family, 232, 236, 237

Koot Hoomi, 143

LcBarre, Weston, 147

Koran,* 75, 184

Lehrman, Nat, 98

Korzybski, Alfred, 1 6 , 5 2 , 2 0 2 , 215

Lenin, 64

Krassner, Paul, 3 4 , 5 2

Leprechauns, 27, 28, 31

Krishna, Gopi, 15,138

Levitation, 7 8 - 9 , 9 4 , 134, 231

Kropotkin, Peter A., 78

Liber Aleph* (Crowley), 136

Kubrick, Stanley, 208

Libertarianism, 5 6, 7 1 , 9 0

Liddy, G. Gordon, 34, 77

263

Life extension, 167, 170,173, 207-8, Marijuana, 5 1 - 2 , 5 5 , 6 8 , 1 1 7 , 121,142, 215, 218. See also Immortality, 1 5 4 , 2 0 1 , 2 0 2 , 2 0 7 , 2 0 9

Death; etc.

Mars, 107

Light, speed of, 4 4 , 1 9 3 , 1 9 4 , 206, 241

Martino, Dennis, 155,171

Lilly, John, 21, 29, 3 2 , 4 7 , 79, 83, 85, Marx, Harpo, 223

8 7 , 1 1 1 , 1 1 4 , 1 4 8 , 1 9 6 , 202, 206, Mary, Virgin. See Blessed Virgin Mary 2 0 7 , 2 0 8 , 2 1 6 - 7

Masons, 4 , 5 , 7 , 6 4 , 7 0 , 7 6 , 139,168, Linear causality, 196

169, 185, 222, 226. See also Thirty-Locality, Doctrine of, 1 9 1 , 1 9 3 - 4 , 1 9 6

three (33)

Longevity. See Immortality; Death;

anti-Masonic Party, 5

Aging; etc.

Massage, 202

Loony, Penny, 178, 223, 225

Masters and Johnson sex research, 53,

Lorentz, Hendrik, 123

199

Los Angeles Free Press (newspaper), 64

Materialism, 6 0 , 1 0 1 , 1 3 9

Lourdes, 42

Mathers, MacGregor, 165

Lovecraft, H.P., 3, 95-6,

Matus, Don Juan. See Don Juan Loyola, Saint Ignatius, 72

Maya (hallucination), 5 1 , 5 2, 127. See LSD, 35, 38, 3 9 - 4 0 , 4 8 , 4 9 - 5 0 , 5 1 , 5 3 , also Hallucination

5 4 , 68, 83, 85, 1 1 7 , 1 1 8 , 1 2 0 , 121, Mechanical Bride (McLuhan), 15

129, 142, 1 5 9 , 1 6 5 , 1 7 9 , 202, 205, Meditation, 70, 78,85

206, 2 0 9 , 2 1 7 , 2 4 1 - 2

and sex, 68

LSD (Solomon), 54

Memories, Dreams, Reflections (Jung), 224

McAuley, Stephen, 90

Man Against Mortality (Jumper), 123

Macbeth (play), 234

Men in Black, 154, 177

McDivitt, Jim, 97

Mcndeleyev, Dimitri, 210

McGraw-Hill Publications poll, 217

Mendeleyev Periodic Table, 210-11

McKenna, Dennis, 215-8

Merry Pranksters, 208

McKenna, Terrence, 215-8

Mescaline, 2 1 , 8 5 , 129,203

McKenna Theory, 215-8, 223

Mescalito, 24-6, 27, 28, 29, 42

McLuhan, Marshall, 15-16, 201, 207

Mesmer, Franz Anton, 164

McMurty, Grady, 141-2,160, 161, 162,

Metaprograms and metaprogramming,

163, 164

2 1 , 2 4 , 2 9 - 3 0 , 3 4 , 4 7 , 5 9 , 6 2 , 7 3 , McMurty, Phylis, 1 6 0 , 1 6 2 , 1 6 3

7 9 , 8 9 , 9 2 , 9 9 , 111, 120, 147, 148, McNamara, Thomas, 225

2 0 2 , 2 0 3 , 2 0 8 , 2 0 9 , 2 1 3 , 2 1 5

MacNaughton, Duncan, 222

Mickey Mouse, 103

McNeil, Michael, 232, 233

Microwave Instrument Company, 124

Machen, Arthur, 165

Millay, Jean, 114, 229,237

Magical Revival* (Grant), 8 7 , 1 3 2

Millbrook Ashram, 34, 3 6 , 4 0 , 4 8

Magick, 26-27, 66, 70, 75, 78, 8 1 , 87,

Miller, Arthur, 78

9 0 , 1 0 0 , 1 0 6 , 1 0 7 , 1 1 0 , 1 6 1 , 1 6 4 , Mind, 198, 199-200, 213. See also Cir-168, 169, 192,193,216, 228, 231

cuits; Perception; Reality

Magick* (Crowley), 136,166

Mini-brains. See Circuits

Magickal diary, 81, 87,179

Miracles, 4 2 , 76, 79, 134, 192

Magick in Theory and Practice,* 84

Mr. M., 150-1, 152

Malaclypse the Younger (see also Hill, Mitchell, Ed, 117-8,202 Gregory), 6 4 , 7 3 , 155

Mitrinovic, 75

Malik, Joe, 180

Mohammed, 166

Manson Group, 172

Mohle, Michael, 229

Manual of Sex Magick* (Culling), 68

Moody, Raymond, 91

Marconi, Guglielmo, 137

Moonchild, 142

"Manual for Discordian Evangelists"

Moonchild* (Crowley), 142

57-9

Moon rockets, 121,169

264

Moidecai the Foul, 155

Oak Ridge National Laboratory, 124

Morgenstern, Oscar, 36

Oannes, 111

Morning of the Magicians* (Pauwels and Objectivity, Doctrine of, 191,192,195

Bergier), 122

Occult, The* (Wilson, C) , 8

Morphine, 142, 200

Octaves, Law of, 138, 210-14

Moses, 166

Oersted, Hans, 129

Mothman, 177, 178,195-6

01sen,Hal,95

Mothman Prophecies* (Keel), 177

Omega Point, 216, 223

Multi-model approach, 15-16

One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest

Murray, Margaret, 147

(Kesey), 132

O'Neill, Gerard, 56, 208, 223, 237

NASA, 97. See also Astronauts; and Onrak the Backwards, 155

names of specific astronauts

Operation Mindfuck, 32, 59, 64

Nashe, Thomas, 200

Opiates. See names of specific drugs.

Nasrudin, Mullah, 19, 2 9 , 5 9 , 62, 72,

Opium, 200

209

Oral sex, 68

National Guardian (newspaper), 32-3

Ordo Templi Orientis, 87, 95, 96, 100,

National Review (journal), 2 1 , 22

1 4 1 - 2 , 1 6 0 , 1 6 1 , 1 6 2 , 1 6 4 , 1 6 8 , Native American Church, 24

169, 184

Natural Surrealist Party, 179-80

Orgasm, polyphase, 68

Net, 3 1 , 3 2 , 3 3 , 4 4 , 7 4 , 7 5 , 193, 196, Orgone, 25, 66, 136, 164

236,237.

Oriflamme (journal), 142

quantum communication net, 194

Osiris, 23, 1 8 7 , 1 8 9 , 2 2 1 , 2 2 9

Network. See Net

Osmond, Humphrey, 2 1 , 5 4

Network (poem), 236

Oswald, Lee Harvey, 31, 3 2 , 5 6 , 61, 64, New Libertarian (journal), 5 6

7 4 , 1 5 0 , 151

New Reformed Orthodox Order of the

Other Tongues, Other Flesh (Williamson), Golden Dawn, 135,159

144

New York Review of Books, 209

Our Lady of Space. See Space Lady; New York Times (newspaper), 114

Blessed Virgin Mary; Peyote Woman;

Newburg, Victor, 7

etc.

Newland, John, 210

Newman, James, 245

Pan, 83, 8 4 , 137

Newport, Robert, 59

Pancakes, 3, 11-12, 27, 28, 93, 137

Newton, Isaac, 148

Papoon, George, 179-80

Newtonian physics, 37, 44, 117, 200,

Paracelsus, 25

2 0 1 , 2 0 2 , 2 1 1 - 2

Paragranis, Frater, 226

Nietzsche, Friedrich, 30, 204

Parallel worlds, 193,195

Ninety-three (93), 110

Paraphysics, 206

Nitrous Oxide, 68

Parapsychology, 2 7 , 1 1 8 , 124,150, 173, Nixon, Richard Milhous, 11,54, 63, 78,

206,229

9 8 , 9 9 , 1 1 6 , 1 2 1 , 126,149

Parcifal, 100-1, 111

Noetic Studies, Institute for, 118

Parker, Quanah, 24

Nommo, 111

Parsons, Jack, 141-2,168

Norton, Joshua, 102-3, 155

Patanjali, 210

Norton 1,102-3, 155

Paul, Saint, 166

Nuestra Senora de Guadalupe. See Lady Pauli, 194 of Guadalupe

Pauwels, Louis, 122

Nuit,42,77, 8 4 , 1 0 9 , 111, 114, 137,

Pavlovian responses, 201

187

Payne, Ruth, 31

PCP, 85

Numbers (5, 23, 88, 666, etc.). See specific number

Pederastia, Padre, 224

PEN. See Poets, Essayists and Novelists

265

Club (PEN)

Psilocybin, 85, 129, 203, 205, 215

Pentagon, 65

Psychedelics, 24, 35, 38-9, 7 3 , 7 4 , 1 1 7 , Perception, 28, 148, 152,162, 197. See 129, 139, 197, 203, 207, 215, 216,

also* Reality

217, 241-2. See also names of spe-

Periodic Table of Evolution, 210-14

cific drugs

Peyote, 21, 22, 23, 24, 27, 31, 33, 35,

Psychic* (journal), 221, 242

7 4 , 8 5 , 1 4 2 , 1 4 7 - 8 , 2 0 2 , 205

Psychokinesis, 7 3 , 1 9 2

Peyote Cult* (LaBarre), 147

"The Psychology of Hashish" (Crowley), Peyote Woman, 42

137

Phi Beta Kappa, 245

Psycho-pharmacology, 3 6 , 4 8

Philosophy of Physical Science* (Edding-Puharich, Andrija, 79, 9 1 , 1 4 7 , 1 7 3 , ton), 245

2 4 1 , 2 4 3 , 2 4 4

Phoenix

PURSE, 63

as bird, 169,174

PUTZ, 63

as constellation, 169

Pyramid, Great, of Cheops. See Great as name, 87,169

Pyramid of Cheops

as newspaper, 120, 157, 169-70

Pythagoras, 210

Physics, 14-16, 3 7 , 4 4 , 1 8 9 - 9 6 , 216, 245-7

Quantum Inseparability Principle, 44

Physics Consciousness Research Group,

Quantum mechanics, 3, 173, 184,

237

189-96, 206, 216, 245-7. See

Pike, Albert, 222

also ERP; Physics

Pisan Cantos* (Pound), 235

Quantum models, 173, 206, 245

Plato, 208

Playboy* (journal), 4 3 , 4 7 , 4 8 , 5 0 - 5 1 , Rabelais, Francois, 110

5 2 , 7 6 , 98-9,157

Ra-Hoor-Khuit, 174-5. See also Horus Podolsky, Boris. See ERP

Rameses (rock group), 228

Poets, Essayists and Novelists Club

Randolph, P.B., 96

(PEN), 171,172

Rasputin, 103,104

Poltergeist disturbances, 73, 177, 178

RCA, 244

Pookah, 179

Real Magick* (Bonewitz), 164

Pooler, Margaret, 41-2

Realist, The* (journal), 3 4 , 5 2

Pope Paul VI, 177-8, 195-6

Reality, 2 8 , 5 1 , 5 2 , 60, 6 1 , 62, 72, 79, Popkin, 31,151

1 5 2 , 1 6 2 , 1 9 2 , 195, 203. Seealso Potentia, 192, 195

Perception

Pound, Ezra, 235

Recidivism, 39

Prehoda, Robert, 122

Reformed Druids of North America, 159

Principia Discordia* (Hill), 5 9 , 6 5 , 7 3

Regardie, Israel, 66, 116-7, 165

PROBE, 94

Reich,Wilhelm,25,53,55-6, 6 6 , 1 6 3 ,

Proclus, 186

164,165

Programmed death, 128-9,

Reichenbach, Baron, 164

Programming and Metaprogramming

Re-imprinting. See Imprinting

the Human Biocomputer* (Lilly), 111

Reincarnation, 88, 116, 118, 133, 204

Project Cyclops, 119

Relativity, 192, 246-7

Projection, 3 0 , 5 1 , 5 2

special, 191,194

Prometheus Society, 28, 237

Reprogramming. See Metaprograms and Propinquities. See Coincidences; Syn-Metaprogramming

chronicity

Resuscitation (of dead), 127, 234

Prospects of Immortality* (Ettinger), Revelations (Bible), 158

120

Reynolds, Mike, 176

Prosthetics, 127

Rh blood factor, 223

Proteins, anti-histone, 205

Rinehart, Keith Milton, 73, 74

Proton-electron mass ratio, 246

Ring, Kenneth, 204, 206

266

RNA, 9 4 , 9 5 , 2 0 4 , 2 1 0

Serotonin, 129

Rockefeller, Nelson, 149

Set, 221

Rockefeller Family, 6 , 1 5 4

Seven Tongues of God* (Leary), 206

Rolling Stone* (journal), 228

Sex and Drugs* (Wilson), 187

Roosevelt, F. Delano, 64

Sex and meditation, 68

Roots of Coincidence* (Koestler), 32

Sex-cycles, 88

Rosen, Nathan. See ERD

Sex-magick. See Crowley, Aleister and Rosicrucian Enlightenment (Yates), 161 sex-magick

Roshi, Suzuki, 85

Sex-repression, 53-4, 56

Rosicrucians, 7 0 , 1 6 1

Sex-role, 198, 199

Roubecek, 38

Sexual yoga. See Yoga, Tantric; Crowley, Rowan, Jack, 8 3 , 8 8

Aleister and Tantric sex

Rush to Judgment* (Lane), 61

Sexuality, Magick, and Perversion, 226

Russell, Bertrand, 62

Shadow of the Hawk* (movie), 174

Ryan, Richard, 65

Shah, Idries, 75, 100,184

Shakespeare, William, 234

Sacred Mushroom* (Puharich), 147, 241

Shamans and shamanism, 23, 24-5, 26,

Sacred Mushroom and the Cross* (Alle-4 2 , 6 6 , 8 3 , 1 1 7 , 1 1 8 , 1 3 8 - 9 , 1 4 7 - 8 , gro), 147

1 5 4 , 1 6 4 , 1 7 6 , 179,187, 193,195,

Sagan, Carl, 118-9, 1 4 0 , 1 4 1 , 2 0 8

2 0 1 , 202. See also Don Juan Salam, Abdus, 247

Shea, Robert J., 3 , 8 , 59, 64, 71, 98,

Samadhi, 84, 116,121

1 5 2 , 1 6 8 , 1 8 0 , 2 2 4 , 2 2 5

San Francisco (city), 245

Shell, Robert, 225

San Francisco Chronicle* (newspaper), Shiva, 84

124

Sidney, Philip, 186

San Francisco Examiner-Chronicle (news-Silver Star, Order of the, 7 5 , 96, 184 paper), 9

Simonton, Joseph, 11-12, 27, 28,137

Sanders, Ed, 63

Sirag, Saul-Paul, 10, 8 0 , 1 7 3 , 1 7 4 , 176, Sangha, 236

189, 192,193, 194, 206, 228, 229,

Santayana, George, 33

234-5,241-7

Sarfatti, Jack, 8 0 , 1 4 1 , 1 7 3 , 1 9 4 , 206, Sirius, 3, 8, 9 - 1 0 , 1 1 , 1 4 , 4 2 , 75,77, 207,216, 229,247

87, 88, 89, 9 5 , 9 6 , 1 0 2 , 1 0 5 , 1 0 9 , Sartre, Jean-Paul, 138

1 1 1 , 1 3 2 , 1 4 1 , 1 4 3 , 1 4 4 , 145,146, Satori, 7, 2 0 , 1 2 1 , 2 1 3

166,168, 169, 170, 180, 184,185-9,

Savage, Charles, 54

1 9 4 , 2 2 1 - 3 , 2 2 6 - 7 , 2 2 8 - 9

Schirra, Walter, 97

Sirius B, 10,185-9, 229, 242

Schrodinger, Erwin, 184-5

SiriusMystery (Temple), 111, 185, 222, Schrodinger's Cat paradox, 184

228

Science fiction, 202, 204, 208

Sirius Transmissions, 8 , 1 1 , 13, 87-8,

Science-Fiction Theatre (Liverpool),

93, 105,174,185

223-4

Six hundred and sixty-six (666), 107,

Scientific American* (journal) 246

167-8, 185,247

Scientology, 168

Six Seconds in Dallas* (Thompson), 151

Seal of the United States. See Great Skin-diving, 202

Seal (U.S.)

Skinner, B.F., 3 7 , 4 0 , 7 1

Second Oswald* (Popkin), 31,151

Skinnerian responses, 201

Secret Chiefs, 236

SLA, 158, 169-70

Secret Societies of All Ages and Coun-

Slack, Charles, 34

tries* (Heckethorn), 245

Slaughterhouse Five (Vonnegut), 20

Seed (journal), 94

SMPLE, 167, 172, 207-8, 215, 218,

Segal], Paul, 34, 126-9, 173, 232, 233

228, 236

Segerberg, Osborn, Jr., 118,121

Smith, Harry, 242

Seisel, Hans, 47

Socrates, 205

267

Solomon, David, 54

Synchronicity (continued)

Soma: Divine Mushroom of Immortality

196, 215, 223, 224, 236, 243, 244-5.

(Wasson), 147

See also Coincidence

Sothis. See Sirius

Space Lady, 42, 60, 76, 106-14, 179.

Tale of Two Cities (play), 45

See also Blessed Virgin Mary; Peyote Tales of Power (Castaneda), 148

Woman

Tammuz, 19

Space Migration, 167,170, 204, 207-8,

Tantra: The Yoga of Sex* (Garrison), 88

215,218

Tantric sacramental sex. See Crowley, Spaceships, 13, 26, 162,177, 186, 187,

Aleister and Tantric sex

229. See also UFOs

Tao of Physics* (Capra), 44

Space-time, 33, 36, 37, 85, 161, 206,

Taoists and Taoism, 44, 75, 195,210,

246

214

Space-Time and Beyond* (Sarfatti), 173

Tarot, 6, 71, 8 0 , 1 1 5 - 6 , 1 3 2 , 1 8 7 , 214

Space travel, 123,189, 205. See also Teachings of Don Juan (Castaneda), 24

UFOs

Teilhard de Chardin, Pierre, 216

Spann, Carl, 120,121,126

Telekinesis, 173, 242

SPECTRA, 1 7 3 , 2 4 2 - 3 , 2 4 4

Telepathy, 13, 1 4 , 5 1 , 1 0 7 , 1 3 6 , 1 8 5 , Spectra-70, 244

242. See also ESP

Speed, 200

interstellar, 8, 1 0 , 1 3 , 80, 102, 105, Stanford, Ray, 174, 242-4

146

Stapledon, William Olaf, 208 human-plant, 23, 2 5 - 6 , 1 4 0 - 1

Starseed, 93, 94-5, 228

Teleportation, 242, 243, 244

Starseed Transmissions, 104, 105-6,

Temple, Robert K.G., 9-10, 111,185,

110, 155,167, 174,185, 215, 237

187, 189, 2 2 2 , 2 2 3 , 2 2 9 , 2 4 2

Star Trek* (television program), 2 7 , 1 4 8 , Ten Faces of the Universe (Hoyle), 44

202, 209

Terra II* (Leary), 95, 104, 1 0 5 , 1 1 8 , 1 2 2 , Stehler, Bernard, 122

123, 170

Steiger, Brad, 72, 98

Terrill, James, 54

Steiner, Rudolph, 25

Tesla, Nikola, 137-9,210

Stele of Revealing, 107, 111, 114,168

Thelema, 110

Stellartrcn, 141

Theory of Games and Eeconomic Behav-

Stonely, Jack, 229

ior* (Morgenstern and von Neumann),

STP, 85

36

Stuart, Alve, 225

Theosophical Society, 143,160

Study of Gurdjieffs Teaching* (Baker), Theosophy and Theosophism, 145, 204

146

There is No More Firmament* (play),

Sufis and Sufism, 19, 29, 33, 75, 85, 89,

226-7

9 8 - 1 0 1 , 1 0 3 , 1 0 4 , 1 1 1 , 119,143, Theta states, 121

148, 149, 154, 157,158, 176, 204

Thirty-three (33), 1 6 7 - 9 , 1 8 5 . See also 2 0 9 , 2 1 3 , 2 1 4

Masons

European, 70,75

This Timeless Moment* (Huxley, L.), 73

medieval, 100

Thomism,59, 6 0 , 6 1

Superluminal information transfer, 194,

Thompson, J osiah, 151

196

Thornley, Kerry, 31, 3 2 , 5 6 , 5 7 - 9 , 61-2, Surfing, 202

6 5 , 7 4 , 1 4 9 - 5 2 , 1 5 4 , 1 5 5

Suspended animation, 127

Thoth, 221

Symbols. See names of specific symbols Three hundred and thirty-three (333), (Hawk, Winged Globe, Eye in Triangle,

167,168

etc.)

Tibetan Book of the Dead, 34, 38

Synchronicity, 8, 16, 31, 3 2 , 4 4 , 5 6 , 64, Time, 19, 9 1 , 1 7 9 , 200, 217, 221

7 4 , 7 5 , 7 9 , 80, 81, 90, 9 6 , 1 0 3 , 107, Time travel, 123, 195, 228, 229

134, 144, 1 5 0 , 1 6 9 , 1 7 3 , 1 7 4 , 1 9 4 , Toffler, Alvin, 215, 217

268

Transplantation, body organs, 127, 233

Weinberg, Stevan, 247

Trotskyists, 171

Weishaupt, Dr. Adam, 4,145

Tryptophan, 129

Welch, Robert, 158

Twenty-three (23), 4 3 - 7 , 5 9 , 65, 73, 74, Weschke, Carl, 174, 225

85, 87, 88, 9 0 , 9 1 - 2 , 1 0 2 , 1 4 4 , 1 4 5 , West, Mae, 148

167, 168,184, 185, 1 8 9 , 1 9 2 - 3 ,

Wheel of Karma. See Karma

194, 223, 224, 225

Wheeler, John A., 192, 193, 206

2001* (movie), 208

White, Robert, 97

White Goddess* (Graves), 4 2 , 1 4 7

UFO contacts and contactees, 11-13,

Whole Earth Catalogs,* 208

2 7 , 4 0 - 2 , 7 2 , 9 1 - 3 , 9 7 , 111,137, Wilgus, Neal, 8

1 4 4 , 1 6 1 , 1 6 2 , 1 7 7 , 184,185, 187, Williams, Heathcote, 226

195,196,217

Williamson, George Hunt, 1 4 4 - 5 , 1 6 1 , children, 4 1 , 4 2 , 76

1 8 4 , 1 8 5 , 1 8 6

UFOnauts, 12, 28, 9 1 - 3 , 1 0 1 , 178, 206.

Wilson, Arlen, 2 2 , 4 5 , 51, 8 1 , 90, 100, See also Extraterrestrial visitors

131, 159, 2 3 1 - 4 , 2 3 7 , 2 3 8

UFOs, 3 , 9 , 1 1 - 1 6 , 2 7 , 2 8 , 4 0 - 4 2 , 7 2 , Wilson, Colin, 8

9 1 - 3 , 9 7 - 8 , 111, 1 5 4 , 1 6 0 , 1 6 1 , Wilson, Graham, 4 1 , 4 2 , 7 8 , 1 0 0 - 1 , 1 3 6 , 166, 176,177, 1 7 8 , 2 2 5 , 2 4 1 , 2 4 3

2 2 9 , 2 3 1 , 2 3 2

Ultra-terrestrials, 178,196. See also Wilson, Jyoti, 78

UFOnauts

Wilson, Karuna, 80-1, 232

Ulysses* (Joyce), 15,144

Wilson, Luna, 7 8 - 9 , 8 1 , 134-5, 231-8

Unger, Sanford, 4 8 , 5 4

Wilson, Robert Anton, 243, 244-5

U.S. Labor Party (U.S.L.P.), 156

Wilson family, 22, 33,40, 5 1 , 78, 99,

Upwingers (Esfandiary), 205

156. See also specific names

Uranus (planet), 12-13,161

Winged globe symbol, 107, 111

Uri (Puharich). 173, 243. 244

Winifred, 228

Vacaville. See Leary, Timothy and im-Witch Cult in Western Europe (Murray), prisonment

147

Valle,Jacques,8,9, 1 2 , 4 1 , 4 2 , 76,

Witchcraft, 7 0 , 8 4 , 135-7,195

97-8, 111, 160-62, 196

Wizard of Oz (book and movie), 42

Vandenberg, Phillip, 222

Wolf, Fred, 173

Vaughn, Alan, 221, 242, 243

Wolf, Jane, 84

Vedanta, 214

Women's liberation, 79, 208

Vegetation spirits, 25. See also Mescalito World of Mathematics (Newman), 245

Venus (planet), 160

World Stage* (Yates), 161

Vibrators, 202

Wright Brothers, 130

Vidal, Gore, 122

Virgin Mary. See Blessed Virgin Mary Yang and Yin, 210

Vision and the Voice, The* (Crowley), 168 Yates, Francis, 131,161

Vogel, Marcel, 2 5 , 2 6

Yeats, William Butler, 85,165

Voltaire, Jean Francois, 76, 203, 224

Yippies, 65

von Braun, Werner, 141

Yoga, 5 2 , 7 0 , 78, 85, 138,139, 149,

von DanHcen, Erich, 9 , 1 1 , 223

154, 202, 2 0 5 , 2 1 0 , 2 1 2

von Neumann, John, 36

Bhakti yoga, 72

Vulcan, 5

Hatha yoga, 66, 68, 84, 201

Rajah yoga, 203, 205

Walker, Kenneth, 146

Suficyoga, 111

Walton, Joe, 97

Tantric yoga, 70, 88, 94, 99, 131, 201.

Warren Report, 33

2 0 2 , 2 1 2

Wasson, R. Gordon, 147

Young, Arthur, 242

Watergate, 54, 55, 96, 9 9 , 1 3 2 , 1 5 6 , 241

Watson, James D., 4 7 , 1 2 0

Zen, 10, 19-20, 29, 3 1 , 5 9 , 75, 144,

Watson, Robert Byron, 151-2

180, 2 0 2 , 2 1 4 , 2 3 5

Watts, Alan, 31, 3 2 , 5 2 , 5 4 , 66, 74-5, Zen Without Zen Masters (Benares), 59

129, 206, 207

Zenji, Dogen, 29

Watts, Jano, 3 2 , 4 4 , 6 6 , 7 4 , 1 9 3

Zinberg, Norman, 207

Watzlavik, Paul, 48

Zion, Elders of, 63,154

Weather Underground, 64, 156,170,

Zodiac, 214

172

Zoesser, Hans, 88-9

269

TRAJECTORIES

T h e Journal o f F u t u r i s m a n d H e r e s y Edited by R o b e r t A n t o n Wilson

In recent issues:

Z e n and Virtual Reality H a r d w a r e

J a p a n e s e plans for hotel in space

832 PSI tests validated

Nanotechnology and the Hillis Connection M a c h i n e W a l t Disney as futurist

T h e electromagnetic ' V Effect and the ' P a r a n o r m a l '

T h e Immortalist Party

Father Fox and Creation Spirituality

Extraterrestrial theories of evolution

' M i n d - B o d y ' Relations and Recent Neurochemical Discoveries Psychics Smites C S I C O P

M i n d Machines and H e a d H a r d w a r e B u c k y Fuller's Global Energy Grid in Russia, Central A m e r i c a and G e r m a n y

Cyber-Terrorism and C o m p u t e r Pathologies N o t e s on longevity research

Sex, Satanism and S o d o m i z e d D o g s in Southern California Interviews with Dr. Linus Pauling, Norman Spinrad and Barba Marx Hubbard

Contributions by Dr. Tim Leary and George Carlin $20 for four issues (one year)

$35 for eight issues (two years)

M a k e checks payable to:

P e r m a n e n t Press

P . O . Box 700305

S a n J o s e , CA 9 5 1 7 0

OceanofPDF.com